Dear Sir or Madam,

I have just heard that the Cambridge Picturehouse, recently purchased by Cineworld, is facing possible closure. I would like to object to this from the bottom of my heart. The Picturehouse is a vital Cambridge institution. It is an essential prerequisite in a university city, the only cinema in the old town centre, maintains a varied and well thought through mix of new releases and older films, runs a film festival, and we love it.

Regards,
