

From: Jane Button
Sent: 29 August 2013 20:26
To: CineworldCityScreen
Subject: Picturehouse Cinema Bury St Edmunds

I am writing in regard to the possible sale of this cinema. The Picturehouse offers a unique experience with the showing of foreign films, minority interest films and showings aimed at special audiences, the cultural importance of this cannot be underestimated, the two cinemas offer a very different viewing experience and attract completely different audiences,, When Cineworld took over the Picturehouse we were concerned that the very special nature of it would be changed but in fact they have just finished restoring the building and making it delightful to attend. Of course the Cineworld is also important to the community but I believe appeals to a younger audience. The prices are acceptable as they are and joining as a Picturehouse member offers reductions. I for one would only rarely attend the cinema if this was to go as I by far prefer the atmosphere of the smaller cinema and I am sure others feel the same so nothing would be gained. Please do not let anything happen to our special cinema. There is plenty of room for both in this town,

Jane Button