- IV.1574. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Ballast was higher than the tender submitted by Mansell, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.1575. In addition, Ballast Nedam admitted that Ballast engaged in bid rigging on this tender. Both Parties have therefore admitted to their involvement in this Infringement.
- IV.1576. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and Ballast. The OFT also concludes that Mansell supplied a figure to Ballast for a cover bid.
- IV.1577. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.1562 to IV.1576 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁰²¹ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Mansell to Ballast was not unilateral⁴⁰²², and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁰²³
 - (b) Ballast can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Mansell (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁰²⁴ and
 - (c) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Ballast (i.e. that Ballast did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁰²⁵

IV.1578. In its response to the Statement, Balfour Beatty stated 'The OFT has adduced no evidence that the giving of a cover was taken into account by Balfour Beatty and Mansell when pricing its tenders nor is there any evidence that the giving of a cover had any effect on these parties' pricing of the tender'.⁴⁰²⁶ The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁴⁰²⁷ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Balfour Beatty has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept Balfour Beatty's assertion that the cover pricing did not affect its actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1580. As explained in paragraphs II.1475 to II.1476 above, where the OFT would not have been aware of the bid rigging activities in relation to a particular tender but for the information provided by a leniency party, that party shall have 100 per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.1581. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 49: New Build of a Medical Centre, Two Storey Doctors Surgery, Pharmacy and Dental Surgery, Car Park and Landscaping at the New Medical Centre, Lawley, Telford – 16 March 2001

Client: Gould Singleton Architects Limited
Parties: Thomas Vale and Arthur M Griffiths

IV.1582. On 14 February 2001 Gould Singleton Architects Limited ('Gould Singleton'), sought tenders for the new build of a medical centre, two-storey doctor's surgery, pharmacy and dental surgery, car park and landscaping at the New Medical Centre, Lawley, Telford. The following six companies were invited to tender: Arthur M Griffiths, Frank Galliers, Thomas Vale, Harper, Mansell, and Lemmeleg. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 16 March 2001.⁴⁰²⁸

IV.1583. Gould Singleton received the following tender returns:⁴⁰²⁹

Arthur M Griffiths	Post 09:00 16 March 2001	£671,234.00	Yes
Frank Galliers	Post 09:00 16 March 2001	£683,568.71

IV.1585. The Tender Status spreadsheet was maintained at Thomas Vale's head office by Christopher Keith Trickett ('CKT'), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, who kept a *'little black book'*⁴⁰³¹ of contacts, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Within this contact list, there is an entry for Arthur M Griffiths plus names and a telephone number.⁴⁰³²

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.1586. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1587. At Annex 14⁴⁰³³ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale's legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 48 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2001 tenders is the following entry:⁴⁰³⁴

IV.1589. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁴⁰³⁵ and 'A M Griffiths' appears on this list.

IV.1590. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.1592. CKT admitted that the initials 'CKT', which appear in the estimator column for this tender, were his own and that the letter 'B', which appears in the column marked 'DIV', stands for Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager.⁴⁰³⁶ In interview, CKT referred to the entry for this tender in the Tender Status spreadsheet as follows: 'Yeah, the category there actually is a B, which, as you're aware from previous interviews was the revised category from a C to a B, which indicated a cover. Tender return date 12 March 2001, Thomas Vale's submitted tender £688,886, and the contractors named on the right hand side, the bold figure, bold lettering is against Griffiths of Wolverhampton, which indicates that we got a cover from AM Griffiths'.⁴⁰³⁷ CKT said that his contact within Arthur M Griffiths at the time would have been either Maurice Walsh ('MW'), Managing Director, or Gary Wildsmith ('GW'), Commercial Director.

Evidence from leniency applicant Arthur M Griffiths

IV.1593. As part of its leniency application, Arthur M Griffiths provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.182 to IV.188 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1594. Following the issue of the Statement, Arthur M Griffiths did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

IV.1595. In respect of this tender, in interview MW, on being shown by the OFT the relevant entry from Thomas Vale's Tender Status spreadsheet, said 'Again, I know nothing about that. You know, I'm not going to admit to something that I don't know about'.⁴⁰³⁸ have been the estimator, but I certainly didn't provide Thomas Vale anything'.⁴⁰³⁹

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.1598. Thomas Vale and Arthur M Griffiths each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.1599. Arthur M Griffiths completed the estimating process for this contract and it submitted a tender with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the facts that it submitted the lowest price and that it won the tender.

IV.1600. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicated that a cover price was sought.

IV.1601. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT, records four competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely Arthur M Griffiths, Mansell, Harper and Frank Galliers. Arthur M Griffiths is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated as soon as the tender had been arranged by CKT. Thomas Vale's bid to the client on the Tender Status spreadsheet is £688,886 which matches the amount recorded by the client Gould Singleton.

IV.1602. Gould Singleton also received a tendered amount of £671,234 from Arthur M Griffiths, which is lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Arthur M Griffiths to Thomas Vale.

IV.1603. The OFT notes that although four competitors have been recorded on Thomas Vale's Tender Status spreadsheet, only one of these is highlighted in bold, i.e. Arthur M Griffiths. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate Arthur M Griffiths from the other three competitors. In addition, the fact that the tender had been allocated to CKT, who was responsible for the maintenance of the spreadsheet, means that it is likely that the entry was accurate and that CKT had personal knowledge of the decision to receive a cover price and make contact with Arthur M Griffiths at the time. It also indicates that CKT himself made contact with Arthur M Griffiths.

IV.1604. Thomas Vale admitted that 'A M Griffiths' was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. In interview, CKT confirmed that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet indicates that a cover price had been received from Arthur M Griffiths and he had an entry for Arthur M Griffiths in a contact book he used to telephone other contractors for the purpose of obtaining cover prices. He also named MW and GW as contacts from Arthur M Griffiths.

IV.1605. Although Arthur M Griffiths does not recall that it engaged in this bid rigging activity on this tender, the OFT considers that the contemporaneous evidence, together with Thomas Vale's admission and explanation of that evidence, shows that Arthur M Griffiths did indeed engage in bid rigging on this tender.

IV.1606. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and Arthur M Griffiths, and that Arthur M Griffiths supplied a figure to Thomas Vale in order that it could submit a bid to the client that was not intended to win the contract.

IV.1607. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.1584 to IV.1606 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁰⁴⁰ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Arthur M Griffiths to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁴⁰⁴¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁰⁴²
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Arthur M Griffiths (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁰⁴³ and
- (c) Arthur M Griffiths can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁰⁴⁴

IV.1608. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Thomas Vale and Arthur M Griffiths in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for the new build of a medical centre, two-storey doctor's surgery, pharmacy and dental surgery, car park and landscaping at the New Medical Centre, Lawley, Telford, tender deadline 16 March 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1610. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.1611. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Arthur M Griffiths' involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by

IV.1616. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has indicated that the handwritten annotations '£574300' and 'EASTWOODS' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴⁰⁴⁹ JR also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.1617. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations '© FROM US RING A. TRANTER FRI AM.' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴⁰⁵⁰ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1618. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1619. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT a 'Tender Analysis – Schedule of Covers taken & given' since March 2000.⁴⁰⁵¹ In respect of the tender for '12 no Flats Castle Street Mansfield, Notts', Bodill confirmed that it gave one cover price in relation to this tender.⁴⁰⁵²

IV.1620. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

IV.1621. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Adam Eastwood

IV.1622. During an interview conducted on 21 February 2007 in connection with its leniency application, Adrian Tranter ('AT'), Managing Director of Adam Eastwood, stated 'The lead of Stepping Stones [its name for the client] lived opposite Chris Stubbs ... Chris' [s] neighbour became somewhat too involved for our liking. He was always knocking on Chris' [s] door every night. ... Chris came to see me so he was very uncomfortable that if we won the work that this guy would be on his doorstep morning, noon and night ... to save a certain amount of integrity for Chris we took a cover rather than just sending it back'.⁴⁰⁵³ AT confirmed that he received a cover price from Bodill on the basis of the documentary evidence shown to him during the interview with the OFT.⁴⁰⁵⁴

IV.1623. In its response to the Statement, Adam Eastwood reiterated that it took a cover price from Bodill in respect of this Infringement.⁴⁰⁵⁵

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.1625. Bodill and Adam Eastwood each accepted an invitation to tender for 12 new self-contained flats and staff accommodation at Mansfield Woodhouse.

IV.1626. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. Bodill wanted to win the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work, shown by the fact that it submitted the lowest tender and subsequently won the contract.

IV.1627. Adam Eastwood has stated that it did not want to win this contract. One of its estimators was being bothered by the client at home and felt that if Adam Eastwood won the tender, the situation would only get worse.

IV.1628. Bodill's tender sheet records '© FROM US' against 'EASTWOODS'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £574300 against Adam Eastwood, a figure that was identical to the tender that Adam Eastwood submitted for the work. Bodill's tender sheet states 'RING A TRANTER FRI AM'. 'A TRANTER' was the Managing Director of Adam Eastwood, AT, interviewed by the OFT. The OFT assumes that 'FRI AM' referred to the morning of the day of the deadline for submission of tenders, consistent with the pattern of exchanging a cover price at the last minute, on the day a tender was due.

IV.1629. During interview, AT recalled taking a cover price on this contract and confirmed on the basis of the documentary evidence shown to him (i.e. the Bodill tender sheet) that Adam Eastwood obtained a cover price from Bodill. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Bodill and Bodill's admission and explanation of that contemporaneous evidence, and AT's recollection and admission, that Bodill supplied Adam Eastwood with a cover price for this tender.

IV.1630. The OFT also notes that the tender submitted by Adam Eastwood was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided by Bodill.

IV.1631. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Adam Eastwood and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied a figure to Adam Eastwood for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Bodill to Adam Eastwood was not unilateral⁴⁰⁵⁷, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁰⁵⁸
- (b) Adam Eastwood can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁰⁵⁹ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Adam Eastwood (i.e. that Adam Eastwood did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁰⁶⁰

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1634. As explained in paragraphs II.1475 to II.1476 above, where the OFT would not have been aware of the bid rigging activities in relation to a particular tender but for the information provided by a leniency party, that party shall have 100 per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.1635. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.1640. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £444,847.⁴⁰⁶⁴

IV.1641. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has indicated that the handwritten annotation '£475900', under the section headed 'Tenderers' was made by him.⁴⁰⁶⁵ JR also confirmed that this annotation was made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.1642. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations 'Tel [...] [C] T DENMAN © FROM US P. HARGRAVES WILL RING 11/4/01' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴⁰⁶⁶ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1643. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1644. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁴⁰⁶⁷ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave a cover price to T Denman.⁴⁰⁶⁸

IV.1645. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1646. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – T Denman

IV.1647. The OFT wrote to T Denman on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that T Denman had participated in bid rigging on this tender.

IV.1648. Subsequently protracted correspondence was entered into, whereby Mr W B Cragg, the Managing Director of T Denman, appeared initially to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer. In an email of 18 May 2007 he made the following statements:⁴⁰⁶⁹

'What we do know is the practice of contractors pricing themselves out of work, when they are too committed to price a project in the given time and in order not to have themselves inadvertently removed from client lists by returning a tender invitation, has been an inherent known part of construction industry practice for many years and as a long established small business we have participated in this practice on occasions in previous years, although have no records of particular events'

'It would therefore be apparent that we are involved in these matters by implication and on a commercial basis alone we should be responsible people and mitigate the financial and commercial damage to this company by any actions within our means and therefore accept your offer of leniency in every case.'

IV.1649. However the OFT's offer was subsequently formally declined by letter, dated 24 July 2007⁴⁰⁷⁰ received from Berryman Shacklock LLP, acting for and on behalf of T Denman.⁴⁰⁷¹

IV.1650. In its response to the Statement, however, T Denman stated 'T Denman has no means of challenging the evidence now presented by the OFT in support of its allegations in relation to cover pricing, and therefore admits liability for the cover pricing infringements alleged by the OFT'.⁴⁰⁷²

IV.1652. Bodill and T Denman each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.1653. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and submitted a bid in the hope of winning the work.

IV.1654. T Denman was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

⁴⁰⁷¹ Response from T Denman, OFT Document Reference 13010. This followed an earlier response dated 29 June 2007 from Berryman Shacklock LLP which stated the following:

'As you are aware, the practise of "cover pricing" has been endemic in the construction industry over many decades. Against that background, our client does acknowledge that it has engaged in cover pricing activity on a limited number of projects'.

⁴⁰⁷² Written representations of T Denman, 27 June 2008, paragraph 6.

IV.1655. In regard to T Denman, Bodill's tender sheet records 'T. DENMAN © FROM US £475900 P. HARGRAVES WILL RING 11/4/01'. Bodill has confirmed that this indicates that it gave the company in question a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £475,900, a figure that was only £30 different from the tender that T Denman submitted for the work. Bodill's tender sheet also records the name and telephone number of a T Denman estimator, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. This is further corroborated by the telephone number on T Denman's letterhead, '[...] [C]⁴⁰⁷³', which is the same as the handwritten contact number for T Denman on Bodill's tender sheet.

IV.1656. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by T Denman was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.1657. Both Parties have now admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.

IV.1658. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between T Denman and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied a figure to T Denman for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Bodill to T Denman was not unilateral⁴⁰⁷⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁰⁷⁶
- (b) T Denman can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁰⁷⁷ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from T Denman (i.e. that T Denman did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁰⁷⁸

IV.1660. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between T Denman and Bodill, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for a new build extension, Dowager House at Belvoir Rest Home, Widmerpool, Nottinghamshire, tender deadline 17 April 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1661. As explained in paragraphs II.1475 to II.1476 above, where the OFT would not have been aware of the bid rigging activities in relation to a particular tender but for the information provided by a leniency party, that party shall have 100 per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.1662. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 53: Classroom Extension, Sudbury Primary School, Ashbourne, Derbyshire – 19 April 2001
Client: Derbyshire County Council
Parties: Bodill, Admiral, E Manton

IV.1663. On 20 March 2001, Derbyshire County Council ('Derbyshire CC') sought tenders for a classroom extension at Sudbury Primary School, Ashbourne, Derbyshire. The return date for the tender was 11:00 on 19 April 2001 and four companies were invited to tender: County Property Division, Admiral, Bodill and E Manton.⁴⁰⁷⁹

IV.1664. Derbyshire CC received the following tender returns by 11:00 on 19 April 2001:⁴⁰⁸⁰

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the contract
County Property Division	Unable to tender
Admiral	By 19 April 2001	£145,499
Bodill	By 19 April 2001	£129,570
E Manton	By 19 April 2001	£133,333

IV.1665. Derbyshire CC allocated an 'anticipated value' to this project of £100,000.⁴⁰⁸¹ The three tenders received (all of which were from companies engaging in bid rigging) were all designated as 'price not acceptable' by Derbyshire CC.

IV.1666. Derbyshire CC therefore abandoned this first tender exercise and re-tendered for the contract, dispatching re-tender invitations on 26 April 2001.⁴⁰⁸² Four companies were invited to tender this second time, including only Bodill out of the original three. For the second tender exercise, the lowest price submitted was close to the original 'anticipated value' at £107,567, and this company was awarded the contract.⁴⁰⁸³

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from Bodill – tender sheet

IV.1667. In Bodill's original tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following handwritten entries have been made:⁴⁰⁸⁴

1. BODILL

2. E. MANTON © FROM US
£140504 J PORTER [...] [C] P.MORRIS S. HUGHES

3. ADMIRAL CONSTRUCTION © FROM US
£145499 [...] [C] M.SAVAGE'.

IV.1668. The tender sheet states that Bodill's tender figure was £129,570.⁴⁰⁸⁵

IV.1669. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has indicated that the handwritten annotations '£140504' and '£145499', under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴⁰⁸⁶ JR also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.1670. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations '© FROM US', '[...] [C] P.MORRIS S. HUGHES' and 'ADMIRAL CONSTRUCTION © FROM US [.....] [C] M.SAVAGE' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴⁰⁸⁷ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1671. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1672. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁴⁰⁸⁸ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave cover prices to Admiral and E Manton.⁴⁰⁸⁹

IV.1673. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1674. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant Admiral

IV.1675. As part of its leniency application, Admiral provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.166 to IV.173 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1676. In particular, Admiral provided to the OFT an analysis of its projects since January 2000 and in respect of this tender, Admiral confirmed that it received a cover price.⁴⁰⁹⁰

IV.1677. Following the issue of the Statement, Admiral did not contest its participation in this Infringement.⁴⁰⁹¹

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Admiral

IV.1678. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Admiral's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.166 to IV.173 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1679. Andrew Clarkson ('AC'), Estimating Director at Admiral, confirmed in interview in respect of this tender, 'I know that we didn't price it, and we took a cover on it'.⁴⁰⁹² AC could not recall the company from whom Admiral obtained a cover, but on being shown by the OFT the Bodill tender sheet for this tender he said, 'that suggests to me that this is the company that we rang and asked them if they could help us out with a, a figure'.⁴⁰⁹³ AC also confirmed in respect of Bodill's tender sheet that it was Admiral's telephone number and that the price handwritten against Admiral was the tender figure that Admiral submitted.⁴⁰⁹⁴ In respect of the reference to 'M.SAVAGE' on the Bodill tender sheet AC said that 'it looks as if, at the time that they did it, it looks as if I wasn't in and that Matthew [Savage] took the cover call'.⁴⁰⁹⁵ Keith Roebuck confirmed in interview, 'Matthew Savage; that's Stephen Savage[']s, son; he worked over a period of several years, leaving us a good number of years ago'.⁴⁰⁹⁶ Stephen Savage also said in respect of this tender, 'That we would have just taken a cover on it'.⁴⁰⁹⁷

Evidence from other companies – E Manton

- IV.1680. The OFT wrote to E Manton on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty it might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that E Manton had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, E Manton admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party / parties involved'.⁴⁰⁹⁸ E Manton's legal representatives, Irwin Mitchell, confirmed that 'staff remain ... in the Small Works division and employee recollections confirm that the company was involved in cover pricing in 4 of the contracts as noted'.⁴⁰⁹⁹ This was one of those four contracts.
- IV.1681. In its response to the Statement, and despite its original admission being based on the recollections of its employees as noted in the previous paragraph, E Manton suggested that there might be alternative explanations for the contemporaneous and witness evidence set out above, although it was unable to provide anything to support those alternative explanations and at its highest, presented a case that it was 'impossible to conclude with any degree of certainty what really happened'.⁴¹⁰⁰ Since it was unclear whether E Manton was withdrawing its earlier admission of bid rigging in respect of this infringement, the OFT wrote to E Manton on 23 December 2008 requesting confirmation of its position. In response, E Manton stated that it '...wishes to maintain its earlier admission of participation in cover pricing in relation to all tenders particularised in the the [sic] OFT's original offer. My client does not wish to withdraw the admission made in relation to [this Infringement]'.⁴¹⁰¹

- IV.1682. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.
- IV.1683. Bodill, Admiral and E Manton each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.1684. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for the contract. It appears that Bodill wanted to win the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.
- IV.1685. Admiral and E Manton were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.
- IV.1686. In regard to Admiral, Bodill's tender sheet records '£145499 ADMIRAL CONSTRUCTION © FROM US [.....] [C] M.SAVAGE' against Admiral. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £145,499 against Admiral, a figure that was identical to the tender that Admiral submitted for the work.

- IV.1687. Bodill's tender sheet also records the name of an Admiral employee and the Admiral telephone number, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. Admiral, as part of its leniency application, admitted that it took a cover on this tender before being shown the OFT's evidence. When the specific evidence from Bodill in relation to this tender was put to AC in interview, he admitted that Admiral took a cover from Bodill, as described in paragraph IV.1679 above.
- IV.1688. In regard to E Manton, Bodill's tender sheet records 'E. MANTON © from us J PORTER [.....] [C] P.MORRIS S. HUGHES' against E Manton. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £140,504 against E Manton, while E Manton submitted a tender figure of £133,333. There are a number of possible reasons for the discrepancy, such as that Bodill informed E Manton of its own tender figure as well as the proposed cover figure of £140,504, and that E Manton chose a figure between Bodill's figure and the cover price provided by Bodill, to submit as its tender for the work. In light of both Parties' admissions, the discrepancy does not undermine the case that a cover bidding arrangement was made, a price was communicated and both Parties acted on the market in knowledge of that arrangement. Rather, the OFT considers that this provides additional corroboration that the handwritten annotation '£140504' was made prior to the tender submission, as the post tender information would have indicated that E Manton's tender figure was in fact £133,333.
- IV.1689. In any event, both Bodill and E Manton have confirmed that a cover price was communicated, so it is irrelevant that the amount tendered by E Manton differed from the price communicated.
- IV.1690. Bodill's tender sheet also records the names of estimators and the telephone number of E Manton, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. Information obtained from Thomas Vale, a list of competitors⁴¹⁰², names for E Manton 'John Porter, Phil Morris [...] [C]' as people with whom it also engaged in cover pricing.
- IV.1691. E Manton admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007. E Manton's admission was based on recollections of cover pricing in relation to this tender by its employees. E Manton subsequently confirmed its admission to engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in an email dated 10 December 2008.
- IV.1692. The OFT notes in addition that the tenders submitted by Admiral and E Manton were both higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided by Bodill.
- IV.1693. The OFT further notes that no other company submitted a bid lower than Bodill's bid, and that only Bodill could therefore have given E Manton a cover in respect of this tender.
- IV.1694. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Admiral and Bodill and E Manton and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied figures to each of Admiral and E Manton for cover bids. The OFT notes that all three of the tenders submitted for this work at a primary school were the subject of bid rigging, and that even the lowest tender was some £30,000 above the client's 'anticipated value' of the project. The OFT further notes that when the project was re-tendered to different companies due to the original prices being 'not acceptable', the lowest bid was over £20,000 lower than the original lowest bid.

IV.1695. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.1667 to IV.1694 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴¹⁰³ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Bodill to each of Admiral and E Manton was not unilateral⁴¹⁰⁴, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴¹⁰⁵
- (b) Admiral and E Manton can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own respective conduct in the tendering process;⁴¹⁰⁶ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Admiral and E Manton (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴¹⁰⁷

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1698. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.1699. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Admiral's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. Admiral will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Admiral will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.1702. Bodill's original tender sheet⁴¹¹¹ relating to the toilet refurbishment at CPS, King Edward Court, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, has a 'C' within a circle in the top right hand corner of the page, together with, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries, all of which are handwritten:

1. Bodill
 2. Loach
 * 3. Thorndyke. Ian Thorndyke
 £ 79863 [.....] [C] will ring Thurs.'

IV.1703. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £85,490.00.

IV.1704. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, has indicated that he made the handwritten annotation '£79863'.⁴¹¹²

IV.1705. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotation 'Ian Thorndyke [.....] [C] will ring Thurs.' was made by him.⁴¹¹³

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1706. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1707. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT a *'Tender Analysis - Schedule of Covers taken & given'*⁴¹¹⁴ since March 2000, which records that Bodill did receive a cover on this tender and entered a token tender, but does not name the provider.

IV.1708. Bodill also provided to the OFT a 'Tender Analysis - Tender Sheets March 2000 – November 2004'.⁴¹¹⁵ This confirmed that Bodill received a cover price from Thorndyke in respect of this tender.

IV.1709. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1710. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1711. During the interview of JR this tender was specifically mentioned and the Bodill tender sheet⁴¹¹⁶ shown to him. When asked if Bodill had taken a cover he replied, 'Yes, yes, certainly'.⁴¹¹⁷ Questioned as to the figure for the cover price he said 'Well our figure is the figure at the bottom there', indicating the figure '£ 85490:00'. Referring to the figure '£79863' he said, 'That's my writing, but the 85490 at the bottom is not mine, that's, I think that's David's, and I can't, I can't remember how we got hold of that figure ... Thorndike's might have said, well, our figure is 79863, keep yourselves out of the way'.⁴¹¹⁸

IV.1712. When questioned as to whether the inclusion of the figure '£ 79863' was possibly post tender market intelligence from the client, he replied 'Yeah, thinking about it, yeah, it's a possibility, but I really don't recall, I mean, it's so long ago now'.⁴¹¹⁹ It was then suggested to him, based on the appearance of the tender sheet, the absence of any tender build up analysis, the lower figure next to Thorndyke's name and a higher figure from Bodill as the tender figure, that this was not market research, but more likely, a cover taken. JR answered, 'Yes, yeah'.⁴¹²⁰

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Loach – tender spreadsheets

IV.1713. During the OFT’s search of Loach’s premises, three printed spreadsheets were found, two of these spreadsheets⁴¹²¹ contained the following entry:

	Contract	Sum	Margin	%	Won	Note	Job No.	Opposition

IV.1714. A third spreadsheet, headed ‘Small Works Tenders’ and marked 2001, contained the following entry:⁴¹²²

	Contract	Sum	Margin	%	Won	Note	Winner	Var %	Job No.	Opposition
27-Apr	Toilet refurbishment CPS King Edward Court, Nottingham	84,898	12,000	14.13%						THORNDYKE / HillBros/ Bodill

Evidence from leniency applicant Loach

IV.1715. As part of its leniency application, Loach’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁴¹²³ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.453 to IV.469 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1716. In its response to the Statement, Loach stated ‘Loach took a cover on this tender due to a lack of estimating resources and the inability to return the tender for future marketing considerations’⁴¹²⁴ in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Loach

IV.1717. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Loach’s employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing, and subsequent alteration of tender sheets. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.453 to IV.469 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1718. Andrew Arbon-Davis (‘AA’), Chief Estimator at Loach at the time of this tender, was further interviewed on 19 April 2007, and specific reference was made to the CPS, King Edward Court tender. When questioned as to why the name Thorndyke was in capital letters on the tender spreadsheets he replied, ‘ think they're in capital letters because they secured the job'.⁴¹²⁵ Asked if it was a method of recording whether or not they had given Loach a cover he answered, 'No ... I mean, we obviously took a cover on that job so we've taken it from somebody. So we may well have taken it from them and they may still have been successful in winning the job'.⁴¹²⁶ Having taken a cover, Loach has not retained any documentation in respect of this tender, which would assist in identifying the provider. It was suggested to AA that of the three named contractors on their tender spreadsheet the cover had more likely come from Thorndyke. He replied. '... it could well be that it was Thorndyke that gave us a cover, yes...there would be confidence to get a cover price from them if we wanted to'.⁴¹²⁷

Evidence from other companies - Thorndyke

IV.1719. The OFT wrote to Pricewaterhouse Coopers LLP, the appointed liquidator for Thorndyke, on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Thorndyke had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT received no response to that letter, and in a follow-up call Pricewaterhouse Coopers LLP confirmed that they understood that the OFT would treat the absence of a response as a rejection of its offer.⁴¹²⁸

IV.1720. Following the issue of the Statement, Thorndyke did not submit any written or oral representations.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.1722. Bodill, Loach, and Thorndyke each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract to refurbish the toilets at the CPS, King Edward Court, Nottingham.

IV.1723. Bodill and Loach were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.1724. With regard to the handwritten annotations on the Bodill tender sheet, *'£79863. * 3. Thorndyke. Ian Thorndyke [...] [C] will ring Thurs.'*, the ''* next to Thorndyke indicates that Bodill received a cover from that company.⁴¹²⁹ DW admitted writing the reference 'Ian Thorndyke [.....] [C] will ring Thurs'.⁴¹³⁰ The telephone number is that listed to Thorndyke⁴¹³¹ and Thursday is the day before the deadline for submission of tenders. This indicates that contact took place between the two tenderers prior to the submission of Bodill's tender and that it is unlikely that these annotations were made as a result of post tender market intelligence. The figures '£79863' and '£85490:00' are confirmed by Donaldsons as the figures submitted by Thorndyke and Bodill respectively.

- IV.1725. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Bodill was the same as that recorded in Bodill's tender sheet and that Bodill submitted a tender which was higher than the tender submitted by Thorndyke, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.1726. With regard to Loach, Loach's tender spreadsheet⁴¹³² indicates a cover was taken and this is confirmed by AA in his interview, although there is no record of the company that provided it.
- IV.1727. Loach submitted a price of £84,898.00, approximately six per cent above that of Thorndyke. This is consistent with a cover price having also been provided by Thorndyke. The information received from Donaldsons is that the contract was won by Sandell, with Thorndyke coming second.
- IV.1728. With regard to Loach's inability to confirm with certainty the origin of the cover price, the OFT notes that the only possible providers of cover to Loach were Thorndyke and Sandell, given that these were the only companies that submitted tenders lower than Loach. Loach admitted that it would have been confident in receiving a cover price from Thorndyke (see paragraph IV.1718 above). Loach made no contemporaneous mention of Sandell in the 'Opposition' section of its tender register, nor is Sandell mentioned in the lists⁴¹³³ provided by Loach of companies believed to be involved in cover pricing. The OFT considers that in the absence of any evidence against Sandell and in the light of the admissions by Bodill and Loach of cover pricing in this tender that their tender spreadsheet and tender sheets provide corroborating evidence that Thorndyke supplied both Bodill and Loach with cover prices for this tender.
- IV.1729. The OFT further notes the implausibility of AA's suggestion that 'THORNDYKE' was in capital letters on the tender spreadsheets 'because they secured the job'. Thorndyke did not win this tender.
- IV.1730. The OFT also considers it significant that Loach, having been made aware of the OFT's visits to other companies involved in this investigation, subsequently drew up a second, amended tender spreadsheet⁴¹³⁴, in which all references to cover pricing were removed, which is significant to this particular tender. This demonstrated that Loach knew that its conduct was wrong and decided to destroy evidence of such conduct.
- IV.1731. The OFT considers that the alteration of the tender spreadsheets is evidence that the original spreadsheet⁴¹³⁵ containing the reference 'cover' recorded against this tender is an accurate contemporaneous note of Loach's action on receipt of the application to tender.
- IV.1732. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Loach was the same as that recorded in Loach's tender sheet and that Loach submitted a tender which was higher than the tender submitted by Thorndyke, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.1733. In respect of Thorndyke, although it has not admitted engaging in this bid rigging activity, the OFT considers that the contemporaneous evidence from Bodill together with Bodill's admission and explanation of that evidence, and the evidence from Loach, confirms that Thorndyke did in fact engage in bid rigging activity on this tender.

IV.1734. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Bodill and Thorndyke, and between Loach and Thorndyke, and that Thorndyke supplied figures to both Bodill and Loach for cover bids.

IV.1735. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.1702 to IV.1734 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴¹³⁶ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Thorndyke to each of Bodill and Loach was not unilateral⁴¹³⁷, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors,⁴¹³⁸
- (b) Bodill and Loach can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Thorndyke (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁴¹³⁹ and
- (c) Thorndyke can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bodill and Loach (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴¹⁴⁰

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1738. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.1739. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Loach's bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28. Loach will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender.

⁴¹³⁶ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

However, Loach will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 55: Alteration and Extension to Front Entrance, Cantrell Primary School, Bullwell, Nottingham – 27 April 2001
Client: Nottingham City Council
Parties: Bodill and John Cawley

IV.1740. In 2001, Nottingham City Council sought tenders for the alteration and extension to front entrance at Cantrell Primary School, Bullwell, Nottingham. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 27 April 2001 and six companies were invited to tender: Bodill, Herbert Baggaley, John Cawley, Thomas Long, Nottingham City Building Works and G F Tomlinson.⁴¹⁴¹

IV.1741. Nottingham City Council received the following tender returns prior to the tender expiry date on 27 April 2001:⁴¹⁴²

Company	Date and time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender
Bodill	Information not available	£93,526
Herbert Baggaley	Information not available	£228,729*
John Cawley	Information not available	£105,962
Thomas Long	Information not available	£214,397*	Yes
Nottingham City Building Works	Information not available	£91,250
G F Tomlinson	Information not available	£86,877

IV.1742. This tender exercise was advertised at the same time as another tender for Cantrell Primary School, mobile classroom replacement, which had the same tender deadline of 27 April 2001 (see paragraphs IV.1776 to IV.1811 below).⁴¹⁴³ Herbert Baggaley and Thomas Long (each marked above with an asterisk) submitted combined bids for both Cantrell Primary School tenders while the other tenderers priced up each tender separately.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.1743. In Bodill's original tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entries for Bodill, Thomas Long and Cawley:⁴¹⁴⁴

IV.1744. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £123,712.⁴¹⁴⁵

IV.1745. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has indicated that the handwritten annotations 'A £131688' and 'B £105962' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴¹⁴⁶ JR also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.1746. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations '© FROM US' and 'N.GREENE [.....] [C]' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴¹⁴⁷ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1747. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1748. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁴¹⁴⁸ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave a cover price to John Cawley.⁴¹⁴⁹ Bodill stated on a separate analysis sheet⁴¹⁵⁰ that it gave two cover prices for this tender. The OFT considers that this referred to the fact that it offered two cover prices to John Cawley, one for this part of the two tenders if priced separately (£131,688) and one for this part of the two tenders if priced together (£105,962). Bodill apparently offered different cover prices to John Cawley for this tender because savings were able to be made by the amalgamation of the works. There is no indication that Bodill gave a cover price to anyone else for this tender.

IV.1749. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1751. In respect of this tender, JR explained the relationship with the associated tender for the mobile classroom replacement at Cantrell Primary School, JR explained that ‘... they [the client] said right, well, what is your price for each job being done in isolation and how much would you want for each job, if the jobs were carried out simultaneously, at the same time’.⁴¹⁵¹ JR further explained that, ‘if the two jobs were done together, then that element [the preliminaries element] would be cheaper [for the works to the front entrance] because the preliminaries element was already included in that job [the mobile classroom replacement]’.⁴¹⁵² JR confirmed that the reason for the two different figures marked against John Cawley on Bodill’s tender sheet for the alteration and extension to the front entrance at Cantrell Primary School was to indicate a cover price for each job done in isolation and a cover price if both jobs were carried out simultaneously.⁴¹⁵³

IV.1752. On the project list, provided by John Cawley to the OFT as part of its leniency application, is typewritten:⁴¹⁵⁴

Evidence from leniency applicant John Cawley

IV.1753. As part of its leniency application, John Cawley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.441 to IV.452 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1754. Following the issue of the Statement, John Cawley did not submit any written or oral representations.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant John Cawley

IV.1755. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, John Cawley's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.441 to IV.452 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1756. In respect of this tender Nicholas Greene ('NG'), Director of John Cawley, could not recall it specifically, but on being shown by the OFT the Bodill tender sheet for this tender, NG said in respect of the entry 'A £131688 B £105962 Cawley® FROM US N.GREENE [.....] [C]' that '..again we've taken the cover but why it's A and B I've got no idea'.⁴¹⁵⁵

IV.1757. In respect of the particular circumstances of this tender along with the associated tender for the mobile classroom replacement at Cantrell Primary School, NG said, 'I remember we talked about this with my father [Richard Greene] and he knows that the way that that job was procured with three or four different tenders within one tender was silly, and so pretty confusing at the time....normally it's just one price, that's it, all encompassing'.⁴¹⁵⁶

IV.1758. Richard Greene ('RG'), a director of John Cawley, on being shown by the OFT the Bodill tender sheet for this tender, confirmed that the special nature of this tender influenced John Cawley's decision as to whether it wanted to win the work and that it approached Bodill for a cover.⁴¹⁵⁷

IV.1759. RG also confirmed in respect of the details entered on John Cawley's project list for this tender, that the spelling 'Carhill' under the column headed 'Project Title Description' should have read Cantrell.⁴¹⁵⁸

IV.1764. Bodill and John Cawley each accepted an invitation to tender for this tender.

IV.1765. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. It appears that Bodill wanted to win the tender for this contract and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. John Cawley was unable to submit a tender by the tender return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.1766. In regard to John Cawley, Bodill's tender sheet records 'A £131688', 'B £105962'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave John Cawley cover prices for this tender. Bodill recorded these two figures on the tender sheet and one of these figures, '£105962', was identical to the tender price that John Cawley submitted for this tender. It is also noted that both of the figures provided by Bodill to John Cawley for this tender have been entered in the 'AMOUNT' column in John Cawley's project list, namely for 'EST NO 95' the figure '£131688' and for 'EST NO 96' the figure '£105962'.

IV.1767. Bodill's tender sheet also records 'Cawley © FROM US N.GREENE [.....] [C]' and the OFT notes more specifically that this indicates that Bodill was to contact NG at John Cawley in order to give it a cover price, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. Furthermore, on being shown Bodill's tender sheet, both NG and RG of John Cawley accepted that John Cawley was provided with a cover price by Bodill.

IV.1768. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by John Cawley was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. Both parties have admitted to bid rigging in respect of this tender.

IV.1769. [...] [C]

⁴¹⁶³ [...] [C]

⁴¹⁶⁴ [...] [C]

[...] [C]

IV.1770. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between John Cawley and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied a figure to John Cawley for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Bodill to John Cawley was not unilateral⁴¹⁶⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴¹⁶⁷
- (b) John Cawley can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴¹⁶⁸ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from John Cawley (i.e. that John Cawley did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴¹⁶⁹

IV.1772. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between John Cawley and Bodill, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the alteration and extension to front entrance at Cantrell Primary School, Bullwell, Nottingham, tender deadline 27 April 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1774. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

⁴¹⁶⁵ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁴¹⁶⁶ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁴¹⁶⁷ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁴¹⁶⁸ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁴¹⁶⁹ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.1775. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of John Cawley's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. John Cawley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, John Cawley will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.1778. This tender exercise was advertised at the same time as another tender for Cantrell Primary School, alteration and extension to the front entrance, which had the same tender deadline of 27 April 2001 (see paragraphs IV.1740 to IV.1775 above).⁴¹⁷² Herbert Baggaley and Thomas Long (each marked above with an asterisk) submitted combined bids for both Cantrell Primary School tenders while the other tenderers priced up each tender separately.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.1779. In Bodill's original tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entries for Bodill, Thomas Long and Cawley:⁴¹⁷³

IV.1780. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £159,728.⁴¹⁷⁴

IV.1781. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has indicated that the handwritten annotations 'A £173210.00', 'B £173210.00' and '~~FROM US~~', under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴¹⁷⁵ JR also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.1782. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations '© ~~FROM US~~' and 'N.GREENE [.....] [C]' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴¹⁷⁶ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1783. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1784. As part of its leniency application, Bodill also provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁴¹⁷⁷ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave a cover price to John Cawley.⁴¹⁷⁸ Bodill stated on a separate analysis sheet⁴¹⁷⁹ that it gave two cover prices for this tender. The OFT considers that this referred to the fact that it offered two cover prices to John Cawley, one for this part of the two tenders if priced separately (£173,210) and one for this part of the two tenders if priced together (also £173,210 in this instance). For the other part of the two tenders, the works on the front entrance, Bodill apparently offered different cover prices to John Cawley because savings were able to be made by the amalgamation of the works. There is no indication that Bodill gave a cover price to anyone else for this tender.

The OFT notes that both JR and DW have claimed authorship of the comment '~~FROM US~~' – the writing is, however, consistent with that of DW elsewhere on this document and on the tender sheet for the Alteration and Extension to the Front Entrance, and does appear to be that of DW.

IV.1785. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1787. In respect of this tender JR explained the relationship with the associated tender for the alteration and extension to the front entrance at Cantrell Primary School, '...they [the client] said right, well, what is your price for each job being done in isolation and how much would you want for each job, if the jobs were carried out simultaneously, at the same time'.⁴¹⁸⁰ JR further explained that, 'if the two jobs were done together, then that element [the preliminaries element] would be cheaper [for the works to the Front Entrance] because the preliminaries element was already included in that job [the Mobile Classroom replacement]'.⁴¹⁸¹ JR confirmed that for this tender for the mobile classroom replacement, the cover prices given to John Cawley were identical at £173,210, because the savings to be made for combining the two tenders were incorporated in the cover price for the other tender for the works to the front entrance.⁴¹⁸²

IV.1788. On the project list, provided by John Cawley to the OFT as part of its leniency application, is typewritten:⁴¹⁸³

Witness evidence from leniency applicant John Cawley

IV.1791. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, John Cawley's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.441 to IV.452 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1792. In respect of this tender Nicholas Greene ('NG'), Director of John Cawley, could not recall the specific details of this tender, but on being shown by the OFT the Bodill tender sheet for this tender, NG said in respect of the entry 'A £173210.00', 'B £173210.00' Cawley © ~~FROM~~ US N.GREENE [.....] [C]', that '*...I don't recall it but it would be us just taking a cover, yes. And that's their details recording our name*⁴¹⁸⁴ and '... we took a cover from Bodill's'.⁴¹⁸⁵

IV.1793. In respect of the particular circumstances of this tender along with the associated tender for the alteration and extension to the front entrance at Cantrell Primary School NG said, 'I remember we talked about this with my father [Richard Greene] and he knows that the way that that job was procured with three or four different tenders within one tender was silly, and so pretty confusing at the time....normally it's just one price, that's it, all encompassing'.⁴¹⁸⁶

IV.1794. Richard Greene ('RG'), a director of John Cawley, on being shown by the OFT the Bodill tender sheet for this tender, said in respect of the entry 'A £173210.00', 'B £173210.00' Cawley © ~~FROM~~ US N.GREENE [.....] [C]', 'yeah, it rings a bell. It was silly really.....Because it meant a lot of extra work, splitting it all up, instead of sending to each subcontractor, you had to send them four little packages.....and then, if you don't know whether you're going to get all the job or one of them, it affects the way you price it....No well, I'll keep out of this'.⁴¹⁸⁷ RG confirmed that the special nature of this tender influenced John Cawley's decision as to whether it wanted to win the work and that it approached Bodill for a cover.⁴¹⁸⁸

IV.1795. RG also confirmed in respect of the details entered on John Cawley's project list for this tender, that the decimal point had been entered incorrectly under the column 'Amount' for the figure '17321.00', and that it should have read £173,210 and that the spelling 'Carhill' under the column headed 'Project Title Description' should have read Cantrell.⁴¹⁸⁹

IV.1800. Bodill and John Cawley each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.1801. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. It appears that Bodill wanted to win the tender for this contract and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. John Cawley was unable to submit a tender by the tender return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.1802. In regard to John Cawley, Bodill's tender sheet records 'A £173210.00', 'B £173210.00'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave John Cawley cover prices for this tender. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £173,210, a figure that was identical to the tender price that John Cawley submitted.

IV.1803. Bodill's tender sheet also records 'Cawley © ~~FROM~~ US N. GREENE [.....] [C]' and the OFT notes more specifically that this shows that Bodill was to contact NG at John Cawley in order to give it a cover price, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. Furthermore, on being shown Bodill's tender sheet, both NG and RG of John Cawley accepted that John

Cawley was provided with a cover price by Bodill. NG specifically said on being shown the Bodill tender sheet that 'that's their details recording our name' and '... we took a cover from Bodill's'.

IV.1804. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by John Cawley was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. Both parties have admitted to bid rigging in respect of this tender.

IV.1805. [...] [C]

IV.1806. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between John Cawley and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied a figure to John Cawley for a cover bid.

IV.1807. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.1779 to IV.1806 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴¹⁹⁶ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Bodill to John Cawley was not unilateral⁴¹⁹⁷, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴¹⁹⁸
- (b) John Cawley can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴¹⁹⁹ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from John Cawley (i.e. that John Cawley did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴²⁰⁰

IV.1808. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between John Cawley and Bodill, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for a mobile classroom replacement at Cantrell Primary School, Bullwell, Nottingham, tender deadline 27 April 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1810. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.1811. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of John Cawley's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. John Cawley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, John Cawley will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.1819. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bramall’s employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.243 to IV.273 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1820. During an interview on 27 March 2007, Neil Baxter (‘NB’), Managing Director, was asked what he could recall in relation to this contract. NB stated, ‘The only entry that we had in our tender log book for this one was from Wildgoose and that suggests that it could have been a cover but not the type of work that we would have wanted to carry out it was school work’.⁴²¹⁰ NB confirmed that it is possible that Wildgoose provided Bramall with a cover price for this tender.⁴²¹¹

Witness evidence from leniency applicant - Wildgoose

IV.1822. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Wildgoose’s past and present employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.726 to IV.742 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1823. During an interview on 17 April 2007, Richard Hubble (‘RH’), a senior estimator for Wildgoose from 2000 to September 2002, was asked if he could recall anything about this contract. RH replied, ‘... no ... by the looks of it I priced it but I can’t remember the job’.⁴²¹³ RH confirmed that he was the estimator for this contract as confirmed by ‘RH’ [Richard Hubble’s initials] handwritten on the enquiry register in the ‘EST’ column of the Enquiry Register.⁴²¹⁴

IV.1824. The OFT showed RH the Tender Finance Statement for this contract, and asked him to explain the entries on page four, headed ‘competition’. RH stated, ‘... top one Bramall Construction, they’ve rung us and asked for some help’.⁴²¹⁵ RH confirmed that the tender register showed this *‘because of the ‘C’ next to it, we’ve helped them out. And then the rest of it’s the competition, Seddons from Stoke, Totty Construction, DLO the direct labour organisation, obviously ourselves, and Marshalls, I’ve heard of and G. - IV.1826. Wildgoose and Bramall each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for the construction of a new extension at Aughton Nursey School.
- IV.1827. Both companies submitted a tender. Wildgoose completed the estimating process for the tender and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.
- IV.1828. Bramall did not have the time to complete the estimating process and/or it did not want to win the contract, due to the type of work involved.
- IV.1829. Wildgoose's 'Tender Finance Statement' records 'BRAMALL C', handwritten in the competition box. RH confirmed that this shows that Wildgoose gave a cover price to Bramall. He said, 'Bramall Construction, they've rung us and asked for some help ... we've helped them out'.⁴²¹⁷ The OFT notes that no 'C' is recorded against any of the other competitors written on the 'Tender Finance Statement'.
- IV.1830. Bramall's Tender Register records 'Wildgoose' in the 'Competition Bids' box. NB confirmed that this shows that Bramall possibly took a cover price from Wildgoose and that this was a type of work which Bramall did not usually want to carry out. The OFT considers it significant that Bramall named Wildgoose as the company with which it possibly engaged in cover pricing, without being shown the OFT's existing evidence in respect of Wildgoose. In the light of the contemporaneous evidence from both Wildgoose and Bramall, and RH's and NB's explanation of the contemporaneous evidence, the OFT considers that Wildgoose supplied Bramall with a cover price for this tender.
- IV.1831. In addition the OFT notes that the tender submitted by Bramall was higher than the tender submitted by Wildgoose, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.1832. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Wildgoose and Bramall. The OFT also concludes that Wildgoose supplied a figure to Bramall for a cover bid.
- IV.1833. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.1814 to IV.1832 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴²¹⁸ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Wildgoose to Bramall was not unilateral⁴²¹⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴²²⁰
 - (b) Bramall can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Wildgoose (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴²²¹ and
 - (c) Wildgoose can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bramall (i.e. that Bramall did not intend to submit a

IV.1835. In its response to the Statement, Bramall disputed the OFT's finding that Bramall took into account the information it received from Wildgoose when determining its conduct, asserting instead that '...Bramall's conduct was determined at a very preliminary stage, i.e. when Bramall decided not to allocate time and staff to the estimation process and therefore before any alleged contact with Wildgoose'.⁴²²³ The OFT does not accept Bramall's interpretation of events as it is clear from Bramall's admission of taking a cover price that Bramall did in fact take account of the information it received from Wildgoose by submitting a bid at or around the level communicated to it by Wildgoose.

IV.1836. In their responses to the Statement, both Wildgoose and Bramall disputed the OFT's finding that Wildgoose would have taken account of Bramall's intention to not submit a competitive bid when determining its conduct. Bramall asserted that the '...fact that shortly before the tender submission deadline [Wildgoose] might have been informed that one of the possible competitors might not intend to win the tender but there were other genuine competitive prices returned, could not have affected its decision in terms of what conduct to adopt when it received the tender invitation and started the estimation process'.⁴²²⁴ Wildgoose stated that it 'continued to price the project as competitively as it could'.⁴²²⁵

IV.1837. The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁴²²⁶ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Wildgoose or Bramall has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept the assertion that the cover pricing did not affect Wildgoose's actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition.

Immunity and leniency assessment

per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.1839. Wildgoose informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Wildgoose will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.1840. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Bramall's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Wildgoose. Bramall will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Bramall will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.1844. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1845. At Annex 14⁴²³¹ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale's legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 55 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2000 tenders is the following entry:⁴²³²

Tender No	Date	Client	Comments	Cover Given/Taken	Evidence
T4793	30 April	Antler Homes Midlands Ltd	Residential Development, The Toll House, Stratford upon Avon	Taken (Greswolde)	Yes (Tender Spreadsheet)

IV.1846. The Tender Spreadsheet in the last column is the Tender Status spreadsheet referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above.

IV.1847. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application.⁴²³³ The name 'Greswold' appears on this list.

⁴²³¹ Leniency application, OFT Document Reference 4568.

⁴²³² Leniency application, OFT Document Reference 4568, page 55.

IV.1848. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.1849. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, Christopher Keith Trickett ('CKT'), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, gave a detailed explanation of the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet to record cover prices from its competitors.

IV.1850. As indicated by the letter 'P' in the Tender Status spreadsheet, this tender was allocated to the Special Projects Division, based at Thomas Vale's head office. CKT explained that all tenders at the head office were booked through him but estimators in different divisions would have been aware of the requirement to either update the spreadsheet themselves or inform CKT of what had occurred once the tender had been submitted, including where assistance had been sought from other contractors. CKT also said that the initials 'AJB' in the estimator column were for Anthony (Tony) Bastable ('AJB'), who left Thomas Vale's employment in 2005.⁴²³⁴ In interview, CKT referred to the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet for this tender as follows: 'Yes, it's tender return date of the 30th of April 2001, contract figure, or tender figure of £1,298,520. Greswolde are in bold letters which indicates we went to Greswolde for a cover figure'.⁴²³⁵ CKT confirmed that AJB would have made contact with Greswolde for a cover price 'because they generally dealt with their own cover figures in the projects division'.⁴²³⁶

Evidence from other companies – Greswolde

IV.1851. The OFT wrote to Greswolde on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Greswolde had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response Greswolde, through their legal representatives, admitted engaging 'in bid rigging activities on this tender with THOMAS VALE CONSTRUCTION'.⁴²³⁷

IV.1852. The OFT subsequently wrote to Greswolde's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Mantisson, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Greswolde's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Mantisson jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Greswolde in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Mantisson did not make any comment.⁴²³⁸

⁴²³⁸ Response from Mantisson, OFT Document Reference 13986.

IV.1853. In their response to the Statement, Greswolde and Mantisson stated 'Greswolde is not...challenging the OFT's substantive allegations in relation to each of the Alleged Infringements and maintains its acceptance of the terms of the Fast Track Offer'.⁴²³⁹

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.1855. Thomas Vale and Greswolde each accepted an invitation to tender for the new build of residential development at The Toll House, Stratford upon Avon.

IV.1856. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicated that a cover price was sought.

IV.1857. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT and available to estimators at Thomas Vale's head office, including AJB within Special Projects Division, records two competitors for this tender, namely Greswolde and 'Crosbie and Atkins'. Greswolde is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated by Special Projects Division. Thomas Vale's bid is recorded by the client as £1,298,520 which matches the figure recorded by Thomas Vale on the Tender Status spreadsheet.

IV.1858. Antler Homes Midlands Ltd also received a tendered amount of £1,244,899 from Greswolde, which is lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Greswolde to Thomas Vale.

IV.1859. The OFT notes that although two competitors have been recorded on Thomas Vale's Tender Status spreadsheet, only one company is highlighted in bold, i.e. Greswolde. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate Greswolde from the other competitor.

IV.1860. Thomas Vale admitted that Greswolde was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. In interview, CKT confirmed that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet shows that a cover price had been received by Thomas Vale from Greswolde and AJB would have obtained the cover price.

IV.1861. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Greswolde admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Thomas Vale, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Thomas Vale was involved. This provides independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.1862. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and Greswolde. The OFT also concludes that Greswolde supplied a figure to Thomas Vale for a cover bid.

⁴²³⁹ Written representations of Greswolde and Mantisson, 27 June 2008, paragraph 2.5.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Greswolde to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁴²⁴¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴²⁴²
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Greswolde (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴²⁴³ and
- (c) Greswolde can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁴²⁴⁴

IV.1864. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Thomas Vale and Greswolde in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for the new build at The Toll House, Stratford upon Avon, tender deadline 8 May 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1866. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant – Strata

IV.1872. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Strata’s past and present employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.617 to IV.634 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant - Simons

IV.1873. In its response to the Statement, Simons confirmed its support for ‘...*the OFT’s desire to eradicate cover pricing and, unlike some parts of the construction industry, does not seek to excuse it or to minimise its potential effects on competition. Rather Simons Group acknowledges that cover pricing is unlawful (and distorts competition), and accepts responsibility for the failings of its subsidiaries SCL [Simons] and Wrights [Wrights (Lincoln)] in taking cover prices in the three bid situations [including this Infringement] described in the [Statement]...’.*⁴²⁵²

Witness evidence from leniency applicant – Simons

IV.1874. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Simons’ employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.567 to IV.592 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1875. Also during an interview with the OFT on 15 March 2007, conducted in connection with Simons’s leniency application, Phil Bowers (‘PB’), Regional Manager of Simons’s York office, provided further information regarding the tender for this contract. PB stated that ‘... *It doesn’t mean anything to me at all. However it is in our tender book at York and obviously it went through the York office’.*⁴²⁵³ PB was shown the BOB sheet found at Strata⁴²⁵⁴ and asked whether Strata was a company with whom Simons would have exchanged cover prices in the past, to which PB replied, ‘*It’s possible. I can’t remember but it’s possible, yes’.*⁴²⁵⁵ PB confirmed that Strata’s admission that it gave a cover price to Simons, based on the evidence found at Strata, could well be accurate and could be confirmed by comparing the price Simons submitted, as recorded on its tender register, with the figure Strata recorded on the BOB sheet.⁴²⁵⁶

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.1877. Strata and Simons each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for alterations, improvements and an extension to Burnholme College, York.

IV.1878. Both companies submitted a tender. Strata completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a genuine bid. This is shown by the price submitted by Strata being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.1879. Simons did not have the time to complete the estimating process and/or it did not want to win the contract.

IV.1880. Strata's contract information sheet records '7.6680967 SIMONS (C) 1765000' typed in the tender results box. Paul Throssell ('PT'), an Estimator at Strata, confirmed that a (C) written next to a competitor's name alongside a figure and a percentage difference shows that Strata gave a cover price to the company noted, as in this case. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Strata, PT's explanation of how covers given were recorded and PB's acceptance based on Strata's admission that Strata gave a cover price to Simons, that Strata supplied Simons with a cover price for this tender.

IV.1881. In addition the OFT notes that the tender submitted by Simons was higher than the tender submitted by Strata, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. The OFT does not consider it significant that the figure eventually submitted by Simons, £1,795,608, differs from the amount shown against Simons, £1,765,000, on Strata's BOB sheet. It is likely that Simons was made aware by Strata of the amount Strata intended to bid, and that Simons selected its own figure for a cover bid that differed from Strata's recommended amount but was even more comfortably above Strata's bid, to avoid winning the contract.

IV.1882. The OFT notes that both Parties have admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.

IV.1883. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Strata and Simons. The OFT also concludes that Strata supplied a figure to Simons for a cover bid.

IV.1884. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.1869 to IV.1883 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴²⁵⁷ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Strata to Simons was not unilateral⁴²⁵⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴²⁵⁹

⁴²⁵⁶ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 12819, page 10.

⁴²⁵⁷ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) Simons can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Strata (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴²⁶⁰ and
- (c) Strata can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Simons (i.e. that Simons did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴²⁶¹

IV.1885. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Simons and Strata, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for alterations, improvements and extensions to Burnholme College, York, tender deadline 8 May 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1887. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit to Strata under section 28 on 6 and 7 July 2005. Strata will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Strata in respect of this infringement.

IV.1888. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Simons' involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit to Strata's offices under section 28 on 6 and 7 July 2005. Simons will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Simons will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence from other companies – Baggaley & Jenkins

IV.1895. The OFT wrote to Baggaley & Jenkins on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Baggaley & Jenkins had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Baggaley & Jenkins admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁴²⁶⁷

IV.1896. In its response to the Statement, Baggaley & Jenkins confirmed '...it had already admitted to engaging in cover pricing in relation to the 3 tenders identified by the OFT [including this Infringement] ... Baggaley & Jenkins wishes to state at the outset that it regrets its past involvement in cover pricing and has taken, and will continue to take, appropriate measures to ensure that the practice has ceased and will not be repeated'.⁴²⁶⁸

IV.1898. Strata and Baggaley & Jenkins each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for fire safety works to two tower blocks at Gleadless & Jordonthorpe Sheffield.

IV.1899. Both companies submitted a tender. Strata completed the estimating process for this tender and submitted a tender with the hope of winning the contract. Baggaley & Jenkins was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.1900. Strata's contract information sheet records '3.9442503 BAGGALEY ^ JENKINS (C 529628' typed in the tender results box. Paul Throssell ('PT'), an Estimator at Strata, confirmed that a (C) written next to a competitor's name alongside a figure and a percentage difference shows that Strata gave a cover price to the company noted, as in this case. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Strata, PT's explanation of how covers given were recorded and Baggaley & Jenkins's admission that it received a cover price, that Strata supplied Baggaley & Jenkins with a cover price for this tender.

IV.1901. In addition, the OFT notes that the tender submitted by Baggaley & Jenkins was higher than the tender submitted by Strata, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. The OFT further notes that the figure recorded against Baggaley & Jenkins by Strata on its BOB sheet, £529628, is the same as the bid submitted by Baggaley & Jenkins. PT confirmed generally in interview that this was the figure that Strata would have given (to Baggaley & Jenkins, in this instance) as a cover price.

IV.1902. The OFT notes that both Parties have admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.

IV.1903. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Strata and Baggaley & Jenkins. The OFT also concludes that Strata supplied a figure to Baggaley & Jenkins for a cover bid.

IV.1904. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.1891 to IV.1903 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴²⁶⁹ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Strata to Baggaley & Jenkins was not unilateral⁴²⁷⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴²⁷¹
- (b) Baggaley & Jenkins can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Strata (i.e the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴²⁷² and
- (c) Strata can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Baggaley & Jenkins (i.e. that Baggaley & Jenkins did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴²⁷³

IV.1905. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Baggaley & Jenkins and Strata, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for fire safety works to two tower blocks at Gleadless & Jordonthorpe, Sheffield, tender deadline 29 May 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1907. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 6 and 7 July 2005. Strata will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Strata in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 62: General Building/Fit-out of John Street Market, Bradford – 6 June 2001
Client: City of Bradford Metropolitan District Council
Parties: Irwins and Lotus

IV.1908. Bovis Lend Lease undertook the tendering process on behalf of the City of Bradford Metropolitan District Council ('Metropolitan M.B.C').⁴²⁷⁴ On 26 April 2001, Bovis Lend Lease sought tenders for the general building/fit-out of John Street Market.⁴²⁷⁵ The following four companies were invited to tender: Irwins, Lotus, EPH Ltd and Adana Construction Ltd.⁴²⁷⁶ The deadline for receipt of tenders was originally 12:00 noon on 18 May 2001, but this was changed to 12:00 noon on 6 June 2001.⁴²⁷⁷

IV.1909. Bovis Lend Lease received the following tender returns:⁴²⁷⁸

Company	Time & Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Lotus	12:00 noon 6 June 2001	£853,879.00	Yes
Irwins	12:00 noon 6 June 2001	£970,669.00

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Irwins – Tender Register

IV.1910. During the OFT's search of Irwins' premises a Tender Register was found. The tender register contained the following entry in respect of this tender:⁴²⁷⁹

Evidence from leniency applicant – Irwins

IV.1911. As part of its leniency application, Irwins' legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁴²⁸⁰ The evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1912. In addition to its leniency application, Irwins provided to the OFT two schedules, one each for 'Covers Taken' and 'Covers Given', which detail projects/contracts identified by the company during the course of an internal investigation conducted by Ivan Peter Nelson ('IPN'), Estimating Director, into potential cover prices. At number 49 of the 'Covers Taken' schedule is the following entry:⁴²⁸¹

IV.1913. Irwins also provided to the OFT a schedule listing its competitors' contact details. The name of Lotus appears on the list and 'Malcolm White' is named as the contact point with a telephone number of [...] [C].⁴²⁸²

IV.1914. Irwins further provided to the OFT its tender return/Form of Tender for this contract. This Form of Tender states that it was for a refurbishment project at John Street Market. The Form of Tender was signed on 1 June 2001 and the figure Irwins submitted was £970,669.00.⁴²⁸³

IV.1915. Following the issue of the Statement, Irwins did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Irwins

IV.1916. During an interview with the OFT on 8 March 2007, conducted in connection with Irwins leniency application, IPN provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1917. Also during this interview, IPN was shown the 'Tender Register'⁴²⁸⁴ and in particular the reference to the entry for General Building works at John Street Market, Bradford and was asked if he could recall anything about that contract. IPN replied 'Yeah. ... Although it says City of Bradford, this was actually for Bovis. They were the main contractor'.⁴²⁸⁵ IPN confirmed that the presence of a 'C' in the fifth column on the tender register shows that Irwins took a cover in relation to that contract.⁴²⁸⁶ IPN further confirmed that on the basis that 'Lotus' is handwritten in the final column on the tender register, Irwins received a cover price from Lotus, 'I think Lotus on them, yeah'.⁴²⁸⁷

Evidence from other companies – Lotus

IV.1918. The OFT wrote to Lotus on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Lotus had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Lotus admitted that 'we engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other parties involved'.⁴²⁸⁸

IV.1919. Following the issue of the Statement, Lotus confirmed that '...Lotus is compelled... to accept its participation in the Alleged Infringements...'.⁴²⁸⁹

⁴²⁸⁹ Written representations of Lotus, 26 June 2008, paragraph 7.3.

IV.1921. Irwins and Lotus each accepted an invitation to tender for the general building of John Street Market, Bradford. Irwins was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.1922. Irwins' Tender Register records 'Lotus' handwritten in the final column. Lotus is the only competitor named on Irwins' Tender Register for this tender. IPN confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from the company noted.

IV.1923. Also a 'C' is handwritten in the fifth column of the tender register. IPN confirmed that the C in this column shows that Irwins sought a cover price in relation to this contract. Both Parties have accepted that they participated in this Infringement. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Irwins and IPN's admission and explanation of the contemporaneous evidence and the admission by Lotus, that Lotus supplied Irwins with a cover price for this tender.

IV.1924. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Irwins was higher than the tender submitted by Lotus, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.1925. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Irwins and Lotus. The OFT also concludes that Lotus supplied a figure to Irwins for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Lotus to Irwins was not unilateral⁴²⁹¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴²⁹²
- (b) Irwins can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Lotus (i.e the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴²⁹³ and
- (c) Lotus can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Irwins (i.e. that Irwins did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴²⁹⁴

IV.1927. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Irwins and Lotus, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for general building works at John Street Market, Bradford, tender deadline 6 June 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1928. As explained in paragraphs II.1475 to II.1476 above, where the OFT would not have been aware of the bid rigging activities in relation to a particular tender but for the information provided by a leniency party, that party shall have 100 per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.1929. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 21 March 2006. Irwins will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Irwins in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 63: 13 Flats, Charnwood House, Brant Hill Road, Woodhouse Eaves, Leicestershire – 29 June 2001

Client: Western Range Ltd

Parties: J H Hallam, Linford and K W Brookes

IV.1930. On 11 May 2001, Western Range Ltd sought tenders for the refurbishment and conversion of the existing building and the addition of an attached new build block to create 13 flats at Charnwood House, Brant Hill Road, Woodhouse Eaves, Leicestershire. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 29 June 2001 and five companies were invited to tender: GW Deeley Ltd, Adam Eastwood, J H Hallam, K W Brookes, and Linford.⁴²⁹⁵

IV.1931. Western Range Ltd received the following tender returns on 29 June 2001:⁴²⁹⁶

Company	Date tender received	Time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the contract
GW Deeley Ltd	Withdrew 21.05.01
Adam Eastwood	29 June 2001	11:05	£1,796,028.69	Yes
J H Hallam	29 June 2001	11:10	£1,898,942.54
K W Brookes	29 June 2001	10:15	£1,989,857.00	Tender Withdrawn 04.07.01

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant J H Hallam – Incoming Tender/Individual Tender Report Sheet

IV.1932. During the OFT's search of J H Hallam's premises, an Incoming Tender/Individual Tender Report Sheet was recovered in relation to this tender. In the top right hand corner it allocates the tender a unique number E844. To the top left of the sheet in the box marked Estimator Allocated it has the initials 'WJP' which stand for William Packer ('WP'), the Chief Estimator at J H Hallam.

1	LINFORD (COVER)

IV.1933. Linford stated in its response to the Statement in respect of the document referred to in the previous paragraph, '... Linford would comment that there is no guarantee that it has not been created or at least edited retrospectively. Linford refers the OFT to the fact that the document was submitted by a leniency applicant which has every motivation to provide the OFT with documentation that indicates the involvement of its competitors in cover pricing'.⁴²⁹⁸

IV.1934. The OFT does not accept Linford's assertion that the Incoming Tender/Individual Tender Report Sheet was submitted by J H Hallam to implicate its competitors.

IV.1935. First, as stated in the Statement and in paragraph IV.1932 above, this document was not submitted by J H Hallam in the first instance, but was recovered by the OFT during an unannounced search of J H Hallam's premises. The document was then re-submitted by J H Hallam as part of its leniency application.⁴²⁹⁹ At the time, J H Hallam had not yet applied for leniency and J H Hallam would not have had the opportunity to tamper with the document as Linford suggests. Nor would it have had any reason to make the alterations suggested by Linford in the period between the date of the Infringement and the date of the OFT's search of its premises.

IV.1936. Linford also suggested that the OFT's interview with Spencer Robinson ('SR') supported its contention of retrospective amendment, stating: '...Linford would draw the OFT's attention to the comments of Spencer Robinson, an estimator at J H Hallam. He comments, in relation to the inclusion of a "C" on an Incoming Tender Report Sheet, that "...I assume John's [John Richards at J H Hallam] written that on there to pass the information to you, because that wouldn't have been done – you know it's more likely I've taken the information ...yeah, that's what I'd assume that is, is obviously when he's been trawling through all this information to forward to yourself he's then handwritten that in there...'.⁴³⁰⁰ The OFT notes that the responses of SR quoted by Linford were given when he was being questioned on a document related to a Board Meeting on a tender which is not the subject of this Decision. That document was provided by J H Hallam after making its application for leniency, rather than obtained on the search. The OFT therefore does not accept that SR's comments on another document unrelated to this Infringement affect the conclusions it is able to draw from this particular document in any respect.

⁴²⁹⁸ Written representations of Linford, 26 June 2008, paragraph 6.24.

⁴²⁹⁹ The OFT notes that document 5036 contains additional pricing information not included in document 2872, however the evidence referred to in IV.1932 remains unchanged.

⁴³⁰⁰ Written representations of Linford, 26 June 2008, paragraph 6.25.

IV.1937. However, the OFT has nonetheless reviewed the later manuscript additions to that unrelated document and has compared them to the handwritten entries on the Tender Report Sheet described in paragraph IV.1932. The manuscript entries which refer to Linford on that Tender Report Sheet do not bear a resemblance to the later manuscript additions referred to by SR. The style of handwriting matches the remainder of the entries on the Tender Report Sheet. The OFT therefore considers that there is no reason to believe that the reference to 'Linford (Cover)' is not contemporaneous to the completion of the remainder of the Tender Report Sheet. The OFT does not therefore accept there is any other basis for Linford's assertion that the Incoming Tender/Individual Tender Report Sheet was edited retrospectively.

IV.1938. Linford's response to the Statement advanced two alternative explanations for the 'LINFORD (COVER)' entry in the Incoming Tender/Individual Tender Report Sheet: (i) '...J H Hallam intended to win this tender and, if required, planned to provide a cover price to other participating tenderers, Linford (and K W Brookes)...'⁴³⁰¹ and (ii) '... [t]he inclusion of "(COVER)" next to the names of the competitors it was aware were invited to tender therefore referred to the fact that these would be companies which J H Hallam could contact to request a cover price, in the event that it decided not to competitively price the tender'.⁴³⁰²

IV.1939. The OFT does not consider that the alternative explanations put forward by Linford are supported by the interviews with J H Hallam's employees (see below) or the pattern of bid price submitted. It also notes the absence of any argument by Linford that it actually did price the bids, either with or without any supporting evidence such as its own contemporaneous bid workings or estimates, or witness evidence from its own employees, which might have supported such alternative inferences being drawn from the contemporaneous documents.

Evidence from leniency applicant J H Hallam

IV.1940. As part of its leniency application, J H Hallam provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁴³⁰³ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.420 to IV.430 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1941. In particular, J H Hallam provided to the OFT a schedule entitled 'Projects Involving Cover Pricing March 2000 – June 2005'. Examination of the entry relevant to this tender shows that J H Hallam gave cover prices to Linford and K W Brookes.⁴³⁰⁴

IV.1942. In its response to the Statement, J H Hallam stated 'JH Hallam does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁴³⁰⁵

Witness evidence from leniency applicant J H Hallam

IV.1943. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, J H Hallam's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.420 to IV.430 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1944. Additional evidence in relation to this tender comes from the interview of WP, the estimator allocated to this tender. His response to questions concerning this tender was as follows:⁴³⁰⁶

Q. 'It's 13 Flats, Charnwood House, Woodhouse Eves

A. Right

Q. Hallams have admitted okay a cover to K W Brookes and Linford and the client was Western Range Limited. Again I have your incoming tender report

A. Which was me

Q. Exhibit 5036

A. Yes

Q. And you confirm that in the top right corner look is WJP which you established is yourself

A. Yes

Q. And the other highlighted area on this particular copy shows Linford and K H Brookes [sic] with words cover in brackets next to them

A. Right

Q. So your interpretation or explanation of that would be that...

A. We gave a cover price to those two people

Q. Now it doesn't actually show figures on this for Linford and K H Brookes [sic] would that have been recorded anywhere

A. I don't think so in actual fact, There is a sheet afterwards which gives a list of prices

Q. No, but you couldn't be sure

A. I couldn't be sure which one of those went to Linfords or Brookes.

Q. But they did get covers

Q. Is that the list provided by the client

⁴³⁰⁶ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 12756, page 10.

A. That's the list submitted by the client'

IV.1945. Linford's response to the Statement referred to the OFT's interview of WP, stating that '[h]e [WP] offers no reply to the OFT question whether a cover price was actually given...'⁴³⁰⁷

IV.1946. The OFT does not accept Linford's assertion. The OFT points out not only that WP stated in the above extract, 'We gave a cover price to those two people' but also that WP stated in the same interview:⁴³⁰⁸

Q. '...Right. So in fact you admitted to me giving or taking a cover in four jobs [including 13 Flats, Charnwood House, Brant Hill Road, Leicestershire] in total in the last few minutes.

A. Right

Q. On what basis do you make the admission. Is it based on the documents that you have seen [or] recollection of individual contracts.

A. I think on both instances yes.

Q. You are quite satisfied that what you said is the accurate truth.

A. I am'

IV.1947. Linford also stated in its response to the Statement in respect of this Infringement that *'...[d]espite William Packer being the person responsible for this tender, he provides no detail on when and between whom any actual contact on cover prices between J H Hallam and Linford (or K W Brookes) may have taken place...'*⁴³⁰⁹

IV.1948. Although WP did not recall this contract specifically, the OFT considers that WP's responses, by way of explanation of the contemporaneous documentation referred to above, provide strong evidence that a cover price 'was actually given' to Linford in respect of this Infringement. Although WP could not recall with whom he discussed the cover price, he did confirm that the contemporaneous Incoming Tender/Individual Tender Report Sheet document would be an accurate record of what took place. His answers, in respect of the process by which J H Hallam generally gave cover prices, and in respect of this particular Infringement, do not support Linford's suggested alternative explanations for the Incoming Tender/Individual Tender Report Sheet.

Evidence from other companies – Linford

IV.1949. The OFT wrote to Linford on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Linford had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT's Fast Track Offer was formally declined by letter, dated 30 April 2007⁴³¹⁰ received from lawyers Pinsent Masons acting on behalf of Linford.

IV.1950. The OFT subsequently wrote to Linford's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, F & E V Linford, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Linford's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold F & E V Linford jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Linford in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. The OFT spoke to a representative of F & E V Linford Limited on 11 December 2007 who stated that Linford 'does not wish to make any comments regarding the second fast track letter at this stage'.⁴³¹¹

IV.1951. Linford concluded in its response to the Statement in respect of this Infringement '...Linford submits that the OFT's conclusions are imprecise, speculative and unproven, failing to take into account plausible alternative explanations and without any corroboration from sources except J H Hallam itself...'.⁴³¹² For reasons given above, the OFT does not accept Linford's conclusions.

IV.1952. In its response to the Statement, Linford argued that the Tender Return Document referred to in paragraph IV.1931 above 'is an apparently contemporaneous document created by Western Range Limited with details of the tenders including those of Linford and K W Brookes. It contains no reference to any cover prices and merely records the tenders from those invited to tender, making it of no evidential value whatsoever in relation to the OFT's assertions...'.⁴³¹³ The OFT does not rely on this document itself in support of any allegation of cover pricing. The document clearly does not indicate whether cover prices were given. However, the OFT considers it is good evidence of the bids which were received by Western Range Ltd for this contract. And, the OFT considers that those bids themselves may support further inferences. In this case, the level of the bids evidenced by this document are consistent with the pattern of a cover price having been accepted by Linford.

IV.1953. Indeed, Linford itself seeks to draw an equivalent inference from this document, namely from the indication that K W Brookes withdrew its tender which it suggests 'does not fit with the pattern of a company which has allegedly obtained a cover price'.⁴³¹⁴ The OFT does not accept this particular inference. The submission of a tender is in no way inconsistent with K W Brookes having received a cover price from J H Hallam, and neither is the withdrawal of that tender five days post-submission. In any event, the OFT is not proceeding against K W Brookes for reasons given below and therefore does not need to speculate as to what the withdrawal of that company's tender may signify – it does not undermine any inferences that may be drawn in respect of Linford.

IV.1954. Linford further stated in its response, '[i]t is also pertinent to the OFT's claims that Linford's own tender price is 5 per cent above J H Hallam's, which is *outside the range of "2-4 per cent" which Hallam stated it applied for cover pricing (OFT interview with Spencer Robinson)'.*⁴³¹⁵ The OFT does not consider that this alters the OFT's analysis of the evidence. The OFT points out that SR stated in the same interview:⁴³¹⁶

Q. 'You said two or three percent, was there a specific formula?

A. No-

Q. Always x number of percent, or just?

A. No, I mean we arrived at a tender figure and it was a million pounds I'd look at it and think, I probably wouldn't even put a percent on, I'll shove 40 grand on, something like that...'

IV.1955. The OFT considers that the above responses of SR outline practices that are consistent with J H Hallam having provided Linford with a cover price five per cent above its own submitted price. A cover price of five per cent more than the provider's bid price is also consistent with industry practice as outlined at IV.65 to IV.69 and IV.75 to IV.77 above.

Evidence from other companies – K W Brookes

IV.1956. K W Brookes ceased trading on 28 July 2005.⁴³¹⁷ The company was placed into administration with Mazars LLP, Lancaster House, 67, Newhall Street, Birmingham, B3 1NG. The matter was dealt with by Mr A.S. Wood. On 12 July 2007, in response to an enquiry from the OFT as to the status and assets of the company the following reply was received stating *'...I can confirm that no part of the above company's business was transferred to any third part following my appointment as Administrator. All construction contracts ceased prior to our appointment. The only assets realised were motor vehicles that were sold by private treaty...'*⁴³¹⁸

IV.1957. A search of Companies House records shows that the company K W Brookes was formally dissolved on 5 May 2007.⁴³¹⁹ In the light of the foregoing, the OFT has no basis on which to pursue K W Brookes, for bid rigging in relation to this tender.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.1958. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.1959. J H Hallam, Linford, and K W Brookes each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

⁴³¹⁵ Written representations of Linford, 26 June 2008, paragraph 6.31.

⁴³¹⁹ Companies House registry, OFT Document Reference 12170.

IV.1960. Linford and K W Brookes were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.1961. In regard to Linford, the contemporaneous document discussed in paragraph IV.1932 above, confirms that J H Hallam gave a cover price to Linford. This is identified by means of the handwritten entry 'LINFORDS (COVER)' in the opposition box. J H Hallam confirmed in the schedule enclosed with its leniency application that it gave a cover price to Linford in respect of this tender. Further confirmation comes from the interview of WP which states:

Q. 'And the other highlighted area on this particular copy shows Linford and K H Brookes [sic] with words cover in brackets next to them

A. Right

Q. So your interpretation or explanation of that would be that...

A. We gave a cover price to those two people'

IV.1962. The OFT notes that Linford submitted a bid of £1,997,562, which was higher than J H Hallam's and is consistent with the pattern of a cover price having been received. The OFT similarly notes that K W Brookes submitted a bid of £1,989,857, which was higher than J H Hallam's and is consistent with the pattern of a cover price having been received.

IV.1963. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between J H Hallam and Linford. The OFT also concludes that J H Hallam supplied a figure to Linford for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from J H Hallam to Linford was not unilateral⁴³²¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴³²²
- (b) Linford can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from J H Hallam (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴³²³ and
- (c) J H Hallam can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Linford (i.e. that Linford did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴³²⁴

IV.1965. Accordingly, having considered Linford's submissions, in particular in respect of each piece of evidence individually, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above, considered as whole, establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between J H Hallam and Linford in breach of the Chapter I prohibition. This had the object of bid rigging, in relation to the tender for the refurbishment and conversion of the existing building and addition of an attached new build block, to create 13 flats at Charnwood House, Brant Hill Road, Woodhouse Eaves, Leicestershire, date of tender 29 June 2001.

IV.1966. The OFT has uncovered evidence that K W Brookes entered into bid rigging activities contrary to the Chapter I prohibition. However, as K W Brookes has been dissolved since the date of the Infringement, and as the OFT has been unable to identify a successor undertaking, there is no legal entity that can be held liable for K W Brookes' conduct. The OFT therefore does not intend to take any action against K W Brookes in respect of this tender.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1967. As explained in paragraphs II.1475 to II.1476 above, where the OFT would not have been aware of the bid rigging activities in relation to a particular tender but for the information provided by a leniency party, that party shall have 100 per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.1968. J H Hallam informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender as part of its leniency application and was granted immunity from penalty in respect of those activities. The OFT now notes that it did in fact have some information on the bid rigging activities from documents obtained on its earlier visit to J H Hallam's premises (see paragraph IV.1932 above), but noting the contents of the Statement and the OFT's leniency agreement with J H Hallam, and the fact that this is not one of J H Hallam's most recent three Infringements, the OFT will not impose a penalty on J H Hallam in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 64: Priestnall CDT Extensions and Alterations – 9 July 2001
Client: Metropolitan Borough of Stockport
Parties: Strata (formerly known as Weaver) and P Casey

IV.1969. On 18 June 2001, the Metropolitan Borough of Stockport sought tenders for an extension and alterations at Priestnall High School. The following five companies were invited to tender: John Turner & Sons Ltd, Weaver, Whitfield & Brown, P Casey & Co Ltd and Walter Carefoot & Sons.⁴³²⁵ The deadline for receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 9 July 2001.⁴³²⁶

IV.1970. The Metropolitan Borough of Stockport received the following tender returns:⁴³²⁷

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

IV.1971. During the OFT's search of Strata's premises a ring binder file marked 'Covers from Jan 2000 to Dec 2001' containing various documents, mostly Form of Tenders and result letters, was found. A Form of Tender found within this file contained the following handwritten entry on the top right hand corner:⁴³²⁸

IV.1972. The Form of Tender also stated that Strata's figure was £317,649.

Evidence from leniency applicant - Strata

IV.1973. As part of its leniency application, Strata provided to the OFT a list of covers prepared by reference to its contract information sheets, the file 'Covers from Jan 2000 – Dec 2001' and 'contracts in hand' documents. The entry for this tender stated as follows:⁴³²⁹

09/07/2001	Priestnall CDT Extns & Alts for Stockport MBC	T80/01

Cover to	Cover from	Company Name	Company Address	Contract Secured
	✓ OFT:BXM/107	Casey & Co	PO Box 54 Rydings Rd, Wardle Rochdale, Lancs OL12 9PS

IV.1974. Following the issue of the Statement, Strata did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant – Strata

IV.1975. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Strata's past and present employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.617 to IV.634 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.1976. The OFT wrote to P Casey on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that P Casey had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter P Casey admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging (cover pricing) activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party involved'.⁴³³⁰ P Casey added that *'The company has few hard copy documents relating to the suspect tenders and does not maintain electronic tender documents. The estimator employed during the period of the suspect tenders emigrated to New Zealand in 2005 and has been unable to provide any reliable recollections of the tenders in question. For these reasons, the company has only been able to consider incomplete records and it neither has evidence to indicate that cover pricing activity occurred nor an evidential basis upon which to challenge the allegations...'*⁴³³¹

IV.1977. The OFT subsequently wrote to P Casey's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, The Casey Group, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on P Casey's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold The Casey Group jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by P Casey in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter The Casey Group admitted *'We engaged in bid rigging (cover pricing) activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved. We have no actual knowledge nor evidence of cover pricing having occurred in relation to this tender ...'*⁴³³² The Casey Group also stated 'We also submit that all of the tenders should fall to be dealt with by The Casey Group Limited as the relevant parent company'.⁴³³³

IV.1978. In its response to the Statement, P Casey stated that it had '... not been able to establish any further facts concerning the alleged infringements referred to in the [Statement, including this Infringement] and consequently can provide no additional assistance to the Office of Fair Trading'.⁴³³⁴

IV.1980. Strata and P Casey each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for an extension and alterations at Priestnall High School.

IV.1981. P Casey completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears they submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by P Casey being the lowest received and that they won the contract.

- IV.1982. Strata was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.
- IV.1983. Strata's Form of Tender records 'from Casey' handwritten in the top right hand corner. Strata confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from the company noted. This Form of Tender was also found in the file marked 'Covers from Jan 2000 to Dec 2001', which Strata confirmed contained documents and records of covers taken. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Strata and Strata's admission and explanation of the contemporaneous evidence and P Casey's admission of cover pricing activity in relation to this tender, that P Casey supplied Strata with a cover price for this tender.
- IV.1984. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Strata was higher than the tender submitted by P Casey, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided
- IV.1986. The OFT notes that both Parties have admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.
- IV.1987. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Strata and P Casey. The OFT also concludes that P Casey supplied a figure to Strata for a cover bid.
- IV.1988. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.1971 to IV.1987 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴³³⁵ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from P Casey to Strata was not unilateral⁴³³⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴³³⁷
 - (b) Strata can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from P Casey (i.e the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴³³⁸ and
 - (c) P Casey can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Strata (i.e. that Strata did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴³³⁹
- IV.1989. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between P Casey and Strata, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for an extension and alterations at Priestnall High School, tender deadline 9 July 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.1990. As explained in paragraphs II.1475 to II.1476 above, where the OFT would not have been aware of the bid rigging activities in relation to a particular tender but for the information provided by a leniency party, that party shall have 100 per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.1991. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 6 and 7 July 2005. Strata will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Strata in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 65: Consolidation Works at Fairham Community College, Clifton, Nottingham – 9 July 2001

Client: Nottingham City Council

Parties: Bodill, Baggaley & Jenkins and Craske

IV.1992. In 2001, Nottingham City Council ('Nottingham CC') sought tenders for consolidation works at Fairham Community College, Clifton, Nottingham. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 9 July 2001 and five companies were invited to tender: Nottingham City Building Works, Bodill, Craske, Herbert Baggaley and Baggaley & Jenkins.⁴³⁴⁰

IV.1993. Nottingham CC received the following tender returns on or by 12:00 noon on 9 July 2001:⁴³⁴¹

IV.1997. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations '© FROM US (1) RING JAMES MON AM' next to 'B & J' and '© FROM US (2) RING DAVE MON AM' next to 'CRASKE', under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴³⁴⁵ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.1998. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2004. During the two OFT visits to Baggaley & Jenkins, under section 27 on 19 November 2004 and section 28 on 14 June 2005, no information was obtained in relation to this tender. The OFT wrote to Baggaley & Jenkins on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty it might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Baggaley & Jenkins had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.2013. Bodill, Baggaley & Jenkins and Craske each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2014. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Bodill being the lowest received and that it won the contract.

IV.2015. Baggaley & Jenkins and Craske were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.2016. In regard to Baggaley & Jenkins, Bodill's tender sheet records '3. B & J © from us (1) £729995 RING JAMES MON AM' against Baggaley & Jenkins. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. The tender sheet also has '(1)' recorded against Baggaley & Jenkins to indicate that Baggaley & Jenkins was the first party to be given cover by or to request cover from Bodill. Bodill has confirmed that these numbers indicate the order in which Bodill was approached by other companies for a cover price and that the first to approach would get the lowest price and so on. The OFT notes that Baggaley & Jenkins submitted a lower tender figure than the second company to be given a cover price, Craske. Furthermore, Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £729,995 against Baggaley & Jenkins, a figure that was identical to the tender that Baggaley & Jenkins submitted for the work.

- IV.2017. Bodill's tender sheet also records the name of a Baggaley & Jenkins estimator, 'James', providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. This is corroborated by an organisational chart obtained from Baggaley & Jenkins which names J M Ward as Director, Estimating and Buying.⁴³⁵⁸ Additionally, information obtained from both Loach, a list of competitors⁴³⁵⁹, and W R Bloodworth, a list of contacts for cover prices⁴³⁶⁰, names James Ward at Baggaley & Jenkins with a telephone contact number of [...] [C].
- IV.2018. Bodill's tender sheet records that Bodill was due to telephone Baggaley & Jenkins on Monday morning. The OFT takes this to mean the morning of Monday 9 July 2001, the date for return of tenders, and notes that this is consistent with the pattern of cover pricing (with transmission of figures frequently taking place at the last minute).
- IV.2019. Finally, Baggaley & Jenkins admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.
- IV.2020. In regard to Craske, Bodill's tender sheet records '5. CRASKE. © from us (2) £740100 RING DAVE MON AM' against Craske. Bodill has confirmed that this indicates that it gave the company in question a cover price. The tender sheet also has '(2)' recorded against Craske to indicate that Craske was the second party to be given cover by or to request cover from Bodill. Bodill has confirmed that these numbers indicate the order in which Bodill was approached by other companies for a cover price and that the first to approach would get the lowest price and so on. The OFT notes that Craske submitted a higher figure than the first company to be given a cover price, Baggaley & Jenkins. Furthermore, Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £740,100 against Craske, a figure that was identical to the tender that Craske submitted for the work.
- IV.2021. Bodill's tender sheet also records the name of a Craske estimator, 'Dave', providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. Information obtained from W R Bloodworth, a list of contacts for cover prices⁴³⁶¹, names Dave Rollinson at Craske with a telephone contact number of [...] [C].
- IV.2022. Bodill's tender sheet recorded that Bodill was due to telephone Craske on Monday morning. The OFT takes this to mean the morning of Monday 9 July 2001, the date for return of tenders, and notes that this is consistent with the pattern of cover pricing (with transmission of figures frequently taking place at the last minute).
- IV.2023. Although Craske, which is now dissolved, has not admitted engaging in this bid rigging activity, the OFT considers that the strong and compelling evidence in respect of the other parties involved in bid rigging activities for this tender, all of whom admit to those activities, reinforces the backdrop of collusion and strengthens the weight of the evidence against Craske set out in the preceding paragraphs.

IV.2024. The OFT notes in addition that the tenders submitted by Baggaley & Jenkins and Craske were both higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided by Bodill.

IV.2026. [...] [C]

IV.2027. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Baggaley & Jenkins and Bodill and between Craske and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied figures to each of Baggaley & Jenkins and Craske for cover bids.

IV.2028. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.1994 to IV.2027 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴³⁶² In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Bodill to each of Baggaley & Jenkins and Craske was not unilateral⁴³⁶³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴³⁶⁴
- (b) Baggaley & Jenkins and Craske can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own respective conduct in the tendering process;⁴³⁶⁵ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Baggaley & Jenkins and Craske (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴³⁶⁶

IV.2029. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that agreements and/or concerted practices were in place between Baggaley & Jenkins and Bodill and between Craske and Bodill, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, each of which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for consolidation works at Fairham Community College, Clifton, Nottingham, tender deadline 9 July 2001.

IV.2030. The OFT has uncovered evidence that Craske entered into bid rigging activities contrary to the Chapter I prohibition. However, as Craske has been dissolved since the date of the Infringement, and as the OFT has been unable to identify a successor undertaking, there is no legal entity that can be held liable for the Infringement entered into by Craske. The OFT therefore does not intend to take any action against Craske in respect of this Infringement.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2031. As explained in paragraphs II.1475 to II.1476 above, where the OFT would not have been aware of the bid rigging activities in relation to a particular tender but for the information provided by a leniency party, that party shall have 100 per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.2032. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 66: New Assembly Hall – Seely Church Primary School Nottingham
– 13 July 2001

Client: Hall Grey Architects

Parties: Loach, Bodill, Beaufort and Peter Baines

IV.2033. On 18 June 2001, Hall Grey Architects ('Hall Grey'), on behalf of the Seely Church Primary School, sought tenders for the construction of a new assembly hall at Seely Church Primary School, Burnstump Hill, Arnold, Nottingham.⁴³⁶⁷ The following five companies were invited to tender: Loach, Bodill, Beaufort, Peter Baines and Wheatley Construction.⁴³⁶⁸ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on Friday 13 July 2001.

IV.2034. Hall Grey received the following tender returns:⁴³⁶⁹

Company	Date and time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Bodill	13 July 2001 12:00 noon	£417,815	Yes
Loach	13 July 2001 12:00 noon	£443,819
Beaufort	13 July 2001 12:00 noon	£459,654
Peter Baines	13 July 2001 12:00 noon	£462,100
Wheatley Construction	Did not return tender

IV.2035. The contemporaneous documentation for this project states 'The approved building works total for this project is £294,725.00. The lowest tender received is that submitted by Bodill & Sons Contractors in the sum of £417,815.00, which is £123,090.00 in excess of the approval'.⁴³⁷⁰

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.2036. Bodill's original tender sheet⁴³⁷¹ relating to this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, has under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries, all of which are handwritten with the exception of the name 'Bodill':

'	1. Bodill
£ 443819 ✓	2. LOACH © FROM US RING	①
	JOHN ROWE [...] [C]
	3. BEAUFORT © MICK THOMSETT	②
£ 459654 ✓	513700 [...] [C] or Darren
£ 462100 ✓	4. PETER BAINES ©	③
	Steve BAINES [...] [C]'

IV.2037. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £417,815.00.⁴³⁷²

IV.2038. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations on Bodill's tender sheet, '£443819 ✓', '①' £ 459654 ✓ © MICK THOMSETT ② 513700 [.....] [C] or Darren', '③', and '£462100 ✓' under the heading 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴³⁷³ JR also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.2039. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations on Bodill's tender sheet, '© FROM US RING JOHN ROWE [.....] [C]' and '© Steve BAINES [.....] [C]' were made by him.⁴³⁷⁴ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.2040. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2041. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT a 'Tender Analysis of Covers taken and given since March 2000'⁴³⁷⁵, which records that Bodill gave out three cover prices on this tender.

IV.2042. Bodill also provided to the OFT a 'Tender Analysis - Tender Sheets March 2000 – November 2004'.⁴³⁷⁶ This confirmed that Bodill gave cover prices to Loach, Beaufort and Peter Baines in respect of this tender.

IV.2043. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.2044. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill’s employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Loach – tender spreadsheets

IV.2045. During the OFT’s search of Loach’s premises, two printed spreadsheets were found, one in paper form⁴³⁷⁷ and the other retrieved from one of the company computers⁴³⁷⁸, both made reference to this tender.

IV.2046. The two spreadsheets found on the search contained the following entry:⁴³⁷⁹

13 - Jul	New Assembly Hall, Seely Church School, Arnold	443,819				Cover		Bodill

IV.2047. As part of its leniency application, Loach provided two further printed spreadsheets, one a copy of those referred to in paragraph IV.2045 above,⁴³⁸⁰ and the other containing similar information, with the omission of the reference to ‘cover’. This spreadsheet, headed ‘Small Works Tenders’ and marked 2001, contained the following entry:⁴³⁸¹

	Contract	Sum	Margin	%	Won	Note	Winner	Var %	Job No.	Opposition
13 - Jul	New Assembly Hall, Seely Church School, Arnold	443,819	45,000	10.14%						Bodill

IV.2048. As part of its leniency application, Loach’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.453 to IV.469 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2049. In its response to the Statement, Loach stated *'Loach took a cover from Bodills on this tender due to a lack of estimating resources and the inability to return the tender for future marketing considerations'*⁴³⁸² in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2050. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Loach's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing, and the subsequent alteration of tender sheets to remove any reference to 'cover'. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.453 to IV.469 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2051. Andrew Arbon-Davis ('AA'), Chief Estimator at Loach at the time of this tender, was interviewed on 19 April 2007, and specific reference was made to the tender for the new Assembly Hall at Seely Church School. He immediately confirmed that Loach had taken a cover, *'Yep. Cover'*⁴³⁸³ and when shown copies of the spreadsheets referred to in paragraph IV.2046 above, he said. 'Well, I was going to say that was probably one of the clearer ones from the information we've got. In all probability as there was only one name there and we took a cover, we took a cover from that one name. That just confirms that'.⁴³⁸⁴

IV.2052. AA confirmed that the alteration to the spreadsheet shown in paragraph IV.2046 to remove the references to 'Cover' was made at his instigation and the reasons are explained in full in paragraphs IV.463 to IV.464 above.

Evidence from other companies - Beaufort

IV.2053. The OFT wrote to Beaufort on 22 March 2007, offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Beaufort had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Beaufort replied through Elliot Mather LLP, by letter dated 18 April 2007, confirming its involvement in bid rigging activities in general and accepting the offered reduction.⁴³⁸⁵ In relation to this specific tender, Beaufort stated 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁴³⁸⁶

IV.2054. The OFT subsequently wrote to Beaufort's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Beaufort Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Beaufort's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Beaufort Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Beaufort in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Beaufort Holdings said 'The company confirms that it shall not be making any comments on either its subsidiary, Beaufort Construction (S-IN-A) Limited's response to the reduced penalty offer, nor your proposed actions'.⁴³⁸⁷

IV.2055. In their response to the Statement, Beaufort and Beaufort Holdings confirmed their acceptance of the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁴³⁸⁸

Evidence from other companies – Peter Baines

IV.2056. The OFT wrote to Peter Baines on 22 March 2007, offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Peter Baines had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Peter Baines replied in general by letter dated 24 April 2007, 'In light of the fact that we can neither prove nor disprove the Company's involvement in taking a cover price and the likely cost of trying to defend this position, we feel that it is prudent to accept the reduction of penalty offer in order to enable us all to close this matter off as soon as possible'.⁴³⁸⁹ With particular reference to this tender, Peter Baines stated 'We engaged in bid rigging activities in this tender but cannot recall details of the other parties involved'.⁴³⁹⁰

IV.2059. Bodill, Loach, Beaufort and Peter Baines each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2060. Loach, Beaufort and Peter Baines were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender. It appears that Bodill completed the estimating process for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Bodill being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.2061. With regard to Loach, Loach's tender spreadsheet shows that a cover was taken from Bodill and this is confirmed by AA in his interview. The Bodill tender sheet records '£443819 ✓ 2. LOACH © FROM US RING JOHN ROWE [.....] [C] ①'. Bodill has confirmed that the number ① refers to the order in which cover prices were given to competitors.⁴³⁹² The OFT notes in this connection that Loach's tender price was the next highest after Bodill. The telephone number recorded is that of Loach and John Rowe is employed by Loach as an estimator.⁴³⁹³ Loach's submission was £443,819.00, an amount identical to that recorded on Bodill's tender sheet.

IV.2062. The OFT also considers it significant that Loach, having been made aware of the OFT's visits to other companies involved in this investigation, subsequently drew up a second, amended tender spreadsheet⁴³⁹⁴, in which all references to cover pricing were removed. This demonstrated that Loach knew that its conduct was wrong and decided to destroy evidence of such conduct.

IV.2063. The OFT considers that the alteration of the tender spreadsheets is evidence that the original spreadsheets⁴³⁹⁵ containing the reference 'cover' recorded against this tender are an accurate contemporaneous note of Loach's action on receipt of the application to tender.

IV.2064. Loach has admitted to bid rigging in respect of this tender.

IV.2065. With regard to Beaufort, Bodill's tender sheet records '£459654 ✓ 3. BEAUFORT © MICK THOMSETT ② 513700 [.....] [C] or Darren'. Bodill has confirmed that the number ② refers to the order in which cover prices were given to competitors.⁴³⁹⁶ The OFT notes in this connection that Beaufort's tender price was the next highest after Loach. Beaufort submitted a price of £459,654.00, an amount identical to that recorded on Bodill's tender sheet. The list of 'Contacts for Cover Prices'⁴³⁹⁷ produced by W R Bloodworth in its leniency application shows Mike Thomsett as a contact at Beaufort with the contact number of [...] [C].

IV.2066. Beaufort has admitted to bid rigging in respect of this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.2067. With regard to Peter Baines, Bodill's tender sheet records '£462100 ✓ 4. PETER BAINES © ③ Steve BAINES [.....] [C]'. Bodill has confirmed that the number ③ refers to the order in which cover prices were given to competitors.⁴³⁹⁸ The OFT notes in this connection that Peter Baines's tender price was the next highest after Beaufort. Peter Baines submitted a price of £462,100.00, an amount identical to that recorded on Bodill's tender sheet. The telephone number, '[.....] [C]' is that of the offices of Peter Baines and Stephen Baines is the managing director, verified on the company headed paper.⁴³⁹⁹

IV.2068. Peter Baines has admitted to bid rigging in respect of this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.2069. The OFT notes in addition that Loach, Beaufort and Peter Baines all submitted tenders which were higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, the pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided.

IV.2070. All four companies have admitted to bid rigging in respect of this tender. The OFT notes that Hall Grey did not receive any tenders from companies not involved in bid rigging, and that all received tenders were therefore affected by the bid rigging process for this tender. The OFT also notes Hall Grey's comment that the lowest tender received for these primary school works was more than £120,000 higher than its original approved price.

IV.2071. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Bodill and Loach, between Bodill and Beaufort, and between Bodill and Peter Baines. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied figures to each of Loach, Beaufort and Peter Baines for their respective cover bids.

IV.2072. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2036 to IV.2071 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁴⁰⁰ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Bodill to each of Loach, Beaufort and Peter Baines was not unilateral⁴⁴⁰¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁴⁰²
- (b) Loach, Beaufort and Peter Baines can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁴⁰³ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from each of Loach, Beaufort and Peter Baines (i.e. that none of them intended to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁴⁰⁴

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2075. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.2076. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. Loach will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Loach will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 67: Robert Mellors Primary School, Nottingham – 25 July 2001
Client: Nottinghamshire County Council
Parties: P Waller and Hill

IV.2077. On 11 July 2001, Nottinghamshire County Council (NCC) sought tenders for disabled access works at Robert Mellors Primary School, Bonnington Drive, Arnold, Nottinghamshire.⁴⁴⁰⁵ The following four companies were invited to tender: Hill, P Waller, Gedling Construction Limited, and Ramsdale Building Services Limited.⁴⁴⁰⁶ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 10:00 on Wednesday 25 July 2001.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant P Waller - Diaries

IV.2079. During the OFT's search of P Waller's premises, a number of desk diaries were found belonging to Philip Waller ('PW'), Managing Director of P Waller, and Hilary Jane Waller, referred to throughout as Jane Waller ('JW'), Director and Company Secretary of P Waller. The 2001 diaries in respect of both parties are relevant to this tender.

IV.2080. JW's 2001 diary contained the following entry:⁴⁴⁰⁸

 Wednesday 25
 Ring Jeff at Hill Bros. re cover
 ✓ for Robert Mellors School 10 am
 [.....] [C]'

IV.2081. PW's 2001 diary contains two references to Robert Mellors Primary School on 24 and 25 July:
 Tuesday 24 July 2001⁴⁴⁰⁹

' QUOTE ST GILBERT'S CHURCH
 —"—— ROBERT MELLORS SCHOOL ✓' and Wednesday 25 July 2001⁴⁴¹⁰

' ROBERT MELLORS

IV.2082. During the OFT's search a blue folder marked 'Tenderers'⁴⁴¹¹ was found belonging to JW, later referred to by PW as JW's 'tender book notes'⁴⁴¹², the pages are divided into columns, one entitled 'Name of Contractor', containing a list of company names, contacts and contact numbers, and the other columns headed with the names of different tenders. One page⁴⁴¹³ contains a column headed 'Rob Mellor' and a reference to 'Hill Bros' and 'Hill Bros – Jeff'. The tender book notes were used by JW, in a similar manner to her diaries, to show which companies she had approached for a cover price and from whom she succeeded in obtaining such cover prices.⁴⁴¹⁴

Evidence from leniency applicant P Waller

IV.2083. As part of its leniency application, P Waller provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁴⁴¹⁵ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.517 to IV.526 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2084. In addition, P Waller produced a schedule of 'Tenders Received'⁴⁴¹⁶, which lists the Robert Mellors School tender as one in which P Waller took a cover price from Hill.

IV.2085. Following the issue of the Statement, P Waller did not submit any written or oral representations.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant P Waller

IV.2086. During the interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, P Waller's directors provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.517 to IV.526 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2087. During the interview of PW, this tender was specifically mentioned and the extract from JW's diary shown to him. When asked to explain the entry he replied, 'We took a cover from Jeff at Hill Brothers for this project'.⁴⁴¹⁷ Asked about the existence of documents relating to this tender, PW said, 'if we took a cover we had no interest in the contract it would be kept for a month maybe, but then we would literally destroy the documents. So we would struggle to know anything about some of these contracts because we just kept no details'.⁴⁴¹⁸

Evidence from other companies – Hill

IV.2088. During the OFT's visit to Hill under section 27 on 24 January 2007, no information was produced in relation to this contract.

IV.2089. The OFT wrote to Hill on 26 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Hill had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Hill replied by letter dated 27 April 2007, 'We do not accept that we are guilty of any offence under the act as alleged' and declined the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁴⁴¹⁹

⁴⁴¹⁹ Response from Hill, OFT Document Reference 10409.

IV.2090. However, in its response to the Statement, Hill stated that it had not accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer because it lacked documentary records from which to determine whether any infringement may have been committed. It submitted that this was 'part corroborated' by the fact that the OFT's inspections found no relevant documentation. Hill stated '[i]n light of the information now provided, Hill Bros. accepts the alleged infringements are infringements, and apologises for its wrongdoing'.⁴⁴²⁰

IV.2092. P Waller and Hill both accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2093. P Waller was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender. It appears that Hill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Hill being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.2094. The OFT considers that the handwritten entries in the diaries and the tender book notes, referred to in paragraphs IV.2079 to IV.2082 above, provide evidence that P Waller obtained a cover price from Hill.

IV.2095. The handwritten entry on 25 July 2001 in JW's diary 'Ring Jeff at Hill Bros. re cover for Robert Mellors School 10 am [...] [C]⁴⁴²¹ relates to the date and time of the deadline for the submission of tender documents, and the number '[...] [C]⁴⁴²² is the telephone number for Hill. It is noted that one of the directors of Hill at that time was Eric Geoffrey Wilkinson, who is likely to be the 'Jeff' in question.⁴⁴²³

IV.2096. The entry in JW's diary is ticked, which JW confirmed in interview means that P Waller was successful in obtaining a cover price from the company mentioned.⁴⁴²⁴

IV.2097. PW confirmed that P Waller took a cover price from Hill and that all documentation (other than the diary and tender book notes) relating to tenders where a cover had been taken or where the tender had not been won was destroyed within a month.

IV.2098. The OFT notes that P Waller submitted a price of £2,480, a figure above that of Hill, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been taken from Hill. The OFT also notes that Hill's bid was the only one below P Waller's and therefore concludes that P Waller could not have obtained a cover price from any other company. In addition, the OFT considers in the light of the admission by P Waller of cover pricing in this tender, that the diaries and tender book notes provide corroborating evidence that Hill supplied a cover price to P Waller.

- IV.2099. The OFT notes that both parties have now accepted liability in respect of this Infringement.
- IV.2100. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between P Waller and Hill and that Hill supplied a figure to P Waller for a cover bid.
- IV.2101. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2079 to IV.2100 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁴²⁵ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Hill to P Waller was not unilateral⁴⁴²⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁴²⁷
 - (b) P Waller can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Hill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁴²⁸ and
 - (c) Hill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from P Waller (i.e. that P Waller did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁴²⁹
- IV.2102. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between P Waller and Hill in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the disabled access works at Robert Mellors Primary School, Bonnington Drive, Arnold, Nottinghamshire, tender deadline 25 July 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

- IV.2104. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to P Waller on 6 July 2005. P Waller will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, P Waller will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Schedule

IV.2107. During the OFT's search of Derwent Valley's premises, a tender schedule containing handwritten entries was discovered. Within this tender schedule was the following entry:⁴⁴³²

Tender No.	Return Date	Tender Details	Opposition	Tender
05/07/01	30/7/01	PRE-WAR IMPROVEMENTS 2001/02 – REPLACEMENT KITCHENS, SWADLINCOTE FOR SOUTH DERBYSHIRE DISTRICT COUNCIL	Manton (C) Greenwood (C)	380,606.00	3rd

Evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.2108. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

⁴⁴³⁰ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 9212.

⁴⁴³² Tender schedule, OFT Document Reference 1912, page 26.

IV.2109. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2001 to January 2005 where Derwent Valley had given a cover price to a competitor for that tender, marked as 'DVC1 List of Covers Given'. The information in the summary was based on the tender schedule kept by Pat Tunncliffe ('PT'), an ex-estimator at Derwent Valley, and contained the following extract:⁴⁴³³

Date	Contract	Company Involved
July 2001	Replacement kitchens Swadlincote for SDDC	Manton, Greenwoods

IV.2110. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a 'List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices'. The name 'Greenwood Bldg Cont (Msfld) Ltd' appears on this list with the name 'Ken Taylor' as a contact the name 'Manton' is also on this list.⁴⁴³⁴

IV.2111. Following the issue of the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.2112. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors and an ex-employee provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2113. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with Derwent Valley's former estimator PT who dealt with this tender. PT confirmed during interview that he kept and maintained the tender schedule referred to in paragraphs IV.309 to IV.317 above. PT went on to refer to the tender schedule in respect of this tender saying 'it certainly wasn't a job that I was particularly interested in' and 'I can't honestly remember giving the covers out, although I do know Greenwood and chances are I would have phoned them up if we were giving a cover'. Referring to Greenwood and E Manton, PT confirmed that he gave covers to these two companies.⁴⁴³⁵

IV.2114. David Stone ('DS'), Managing Director of Derwent Valley, was also interviewed in regard to this tender. Although he could not specifically recall it, DS referred to the entry for the tender in the schedule and the letter 'C' after Greenwood and E Manton and commented 'my own personal thought would think that there's been a cover there'.⁴⁴³⁶

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from other companies – Greenwood

IV.2115. During the OFT's initial visit to the premises of Greenwood a tender enquiry list was obtained. This list contained the following entry:⁴⁴³⁷

Evidence from other companies – Greenwood

IV.2116. The OFT wrote to Wilson Pitts, the administrator for Greenwood, on 22 March 2007 offering Greenwood a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Greenwood had participated in bid rigging on this tender. A response was received from Begbies Traynor informing the OFT that ‘... we have now ceased to act as administrators pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 84 of schedule B1 of the Insolvency Act 1986 which facilitates the ending of an administration order by dissolution of the company. ... As we have ceased to act as administrators of the company we are not in a position to enter into any agreement on its behalf’.⁴⁴³⁸ The OFT has not been able to establish any successor party to Greenwood with undertaking identity in respect of this tender. The OFT will not therefore be pursuing either Greenwood or any successor company to Greenwood in respect of this tender.

Witness evidence from other companies - Greenwood

IV.2117. During an interview conducted on 12 October 2006, Chris Stendall (‘CS’), estimator for Greenwood, commented in general terms on Greenwood’s participation in bid rigging activities. He asked the OFT ‘Why don’t you ask me if we’ve taken a cover or given a cover. ... of course I have done that and I believe that probably every other contractor in the country has probably done that on certain occasions’.⁴⁴³⁹ CS explained, ‘... the only reason for doing that is to make sure you’re tender ... a figure goes into the client and that you’re kept in the loop for next time’.⁴⁴⁴⁰ CS confirmed that the exchange of cover prices was always carried out by telephone.⁴⁴⁴¹ At Greenwood, the exchange of cover prices usually occurred ‘towards the end, I suppose when I, you know they realize you couldn’t do something or they wanted help’.⁴⁴⁴² CS stated that if he received a cover price he would record it ‘... in a notebook and then, it would go onto the tender sheet’.⁴⁴⁴³ During interview CS confirmed that when referring to a ‘notebook’ he actually was referring to a post-it note.⁴⁴⁴⁴

IV.2118. CS was interviewed for a second time on 28 February 2007 and was questioned regarding this tender. Whilst he could not recall the tender he agreed that it was possible that Greenwood took a cover price. CS also confirmed that he dealt with the tender while at Greenwood.⁴⁴⁴⁵

IV.2119. The OFT wrote to E Manton on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that E Manton had participated in bid rigging on this tender. E Manton, represented by Irwin Mitchell Solicitors, indicated via letter on 24 April 2007 that it was willing to make admissions to involvement in cover pricing in relation to a number of suspect contracts.⁴⁴⁴⁶ Subsequently Irwin Mitchell Solicitors provided a completed suspect tender schedule. This schedule included 'Pre-War Improvements (2001-02) Replacement Kitchens, Swadlincote' to which William McMurray ('WM'), Managing Director of E Manton, admitted having participated in bid rigging activities and wrote 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁴⁴⁴⁷

IV.2120. In its response to the Statement, E Manton stated in respect of this Infringement *'...[t]he fact that EM Limited took a cover price on this tender had absolutely no impact on the final outcome...'*⁴⁴⁴⁸ It further stated that E Manton '...would definitely have viewed this tender opportunity as commercially unappealing for the following reasons:

- EM's track record of winning this type of domestic refurbishment work was poor. It could seldom get its bid low enough to win the contract.
- Working in occupied properties can be problematic.
- EM had not carried out much previous work in that area. It does not have an established supplier base and sub-contractor base in Derbyshire.

It is unlikely that EM was aware the tender was coming in and that it had the opportunity to plan the work into the employed estimators' schedule'.⁴⁴⁴⁹

IV.2121. E Manton later confirmed its position again stating *'...E Manton Limited wishes to maintain its earlier admission of participation in cover pricing in relation to all tenders particularised in the the [sic] OFT's original [reduction of penalty] offer...'*⁴⁴⁵⁰

Evidence from other companies – Robert Woodhead

IV.2122. During the OFT's search at Robert Woodhead a phone number book belonging to CS was found. In this phone number book is the entry 'Derwent Valley, Pat Tunncliffe [...] [C]'.⁴⁴⁵¹

IV.2124. Derwent Valley, Greenwood and E Manton each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Greenwood and E Manton were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.2125. In regard to Greenwood, Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to competitor Greenwood with the letter 'C' in brackets next to it. Derwent Valley stated that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received.

IV.2126. PT, who was the estimator for this tender, recalled that Derwent Valley was not particularly interested in winning the tender. He confirmed that he wrote the entry in the tender schedule and that in his opinion it meant that he gave covers to both Greenwood and E Manton. This was corroborated in interview by DS, who agreed from the entry in the tender schedule that he believed that Derwent Valley had given cover prices in respect of this tender.

IV.2127. CS, who was an estimator at Greenwood at the time of this tender, initialled the Greenwood tender enquiry list and agreed he dealt with it. CS also had in his possession the telephone number for PT who was the estimator at Derwent Valley.

IV.2128. In regard to E Manton, Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to competitor E Manton with the letter 'C' in brackets next to it. Derwent Valley stated that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received.

IV.2129. As noted above, PT confirmed that he wrote the entry in the tender schedule and that in his opinion it meant that he gave covers to both Greenwood and E Manton. This was corroborated in interview by DS, who agreed from the entry in the tender schedule that he believed that Derwent Valley had given cover prices in respect of this tender.

IV.2130. E Manton has admitted engaging in bid rigging activity in respect of this tender, although it was unable to recall the identity of the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging. The OFT notes that E Manton was not the successful party for this tender and as such may not have retained any records.

IV.2131. Derwent Valley also included in its list of companies who exchange cover prices the names of Greenwood and E Manton.

IV.2132. In addition, the OFT notes that South Derbyshire DC received a tendered amount of £380,606 from Derwent Valley, which is lower than the amounts tendered by Greenwood and E Manton. This fits into the pattern consistent with cover prices having been given by Derwent Valley to Greenwood and E Manton.

IV.2133. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and Greenwood and between Derwent Valley and E Manton. The OFT also concludes that Derwent Valley supplied figures to each of Greenwood and E Manton for cover bids.

IV.2134. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2107 to IV.2133 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁴⁵² In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Derwent Valley to Greenwood and E Manton was not unilateral⁴⁴⁵³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁴⁵⁴
- (b) Greenwood and E Manton can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Derwent Valley (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁴⁵⁵ and
- (c) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Greenwood and E Manton (i.e. that neither Greenwood nor E Manton intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁴⁵⁶

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2137. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Derwent Valley in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – tender spreadsheet

IV.2140. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided Barry Russ’s (‘BR’), a Mansell managing estimator, workload reports. The 2001 workload report for major projects contained the following entry:⁴⁴⁶⁰

Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.2141. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁴⁴⁶¹ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2142. Mansell’s legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table showing information relating to tendering activities in which a calculated competitive bid was not submitted, for the Thames Valley Region (‘TVR’), which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell received a cover price from Francis and that this cover price was taken due to ‘insufficient tender period: resource’ at Mansell.⁴⁴⁶²

IV.2143. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, BR provided further general explanation of Mansell's participation in cover pricing in the TVR. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.481 to IV.489 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2144. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, BR advised how he would record when Mansell had taken a cover as detailed in paragraphs IV.482 to IV.485 above. In relation to this tender BR, when asked what '(Francis Bros.)' indicated, stated 'So they ... would have been the ones giving me that figure'.⁴⁴⁶³ In its response to the Statement, Mansell clarified that BR's admission was based on the contemporaneous evidence rather than on independent recollection of taking the cover price.⁴⁴⁶⁴

Evidence from other companies – Francis

IV.2145. The OFT wrote to Francis on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Francis had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Francis advised that it was 'unable to make the admissions' as it had been 'unable to find any evidence that it [Francis] has been guilty of the bid rigging activities alleged against it...'.⁴⁴⁶⁵

IV.2146. The OFT subsequently wrote to Francis's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Barrett, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on Francis's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Barrett jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Francis in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter Barrett stated 'Barrett has ... nothing to add to the comments that have already been made to you on behalf of Francis Construction'.⁴⁴⁶⁶

IV.2147. In their response to the Statement, however, Francis stated 'Francis does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement against Francis Construction'.⁴⁴⁶⁷

IV.2149. Mansell and Francis each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2150. Both companies submitted a tender. Mansell was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. It appears that Francis completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Francis being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

⁴⁴⁶⁷ Written representations of Francis, 2 July 2008, paragraph 3.

IV.2151. Mansell's 2001 workload report records '(Francis Bros.)', in the Remarks column. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it took a cover price from the company noted. In addition, Mansell has confirmed that the lack of figures in the margin and percentage columns would also indicate a cover price had been taken.

IV.2152. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Mansell was higher than the tender submitted by Francis, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.2153. In addition, Francis has now stated that it does not contest its involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2154. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and Francis. The OFT also concludes that Francis supplied a figure to Mansell for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Francis to Mansell was not unilateral⁴⁴⁶⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁴⁷⁰
- (b) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Francis (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁴⁷¹ and
- (c) Francis can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell (i.e. that Mansell did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁴⁷²

Immunity and leniency assessment

⁴⁴⁷² See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.2158. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 70: Brick Cladding and Associated Works, 15 Cornish Dwellings, Phase 7, Milton Drive, Worksop, Notts – 15 August 2001
Client: Bassetlaw District Council
Parties: Bodill and G Hurst⁴⁴⁷³

IV.2159. On 16 July 2001, Bassetlaw District Council ('Bassetlaw D C') sought tenders for brick cladding and associated works, 15 Cornish dwellings, Phase 7, Milton Drive, Worksop, Notts. The return date for the tender was 14:15 on 15 August 2001 and eight companies were invited to tender: Bassetlaw D C – DLO, Bodill, Connaught, G G Middleton, G Hurst, Hewitt and Maughan Ltd, C Millward Ltd and Clayfield Construction Ltd.⁴⁴⁷⁴

IV.2160. Bassetlaw D C received the following tender returns by 15 August 2001:⁴⁴⁷⁵

Company	Date tender received	Time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.2162. In Bodill's tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten:⁴⁴⁷⁶

1. BODILL
 2. MIDDLETONS [...] [C]
 - * 3. G HURST GRAHAM RYE
Tel [...] [C] WILL RING US'

⁴⁴⁷³ The information from the client (OFT Document Reference 7143) stated that the G Hurst subsidiary tendering for this contract was PDH, which was at the time named G Hurst & Sons (Contractors) Limited. Other than in the subsection headed 'Evidence from other companies – PDH, references in this Infringement to 'G Hurst' are therefore references to the Participant Company, PDH.

⁴⁴⁷⁶ Tender sheet, OFT Document Reference 0567.

IV.2163. The tender sheet for this tender also contains a ringed letter 'C' in the top right-hand corner of the tender sheet and at the foot of the sheet it states that Bodill's submitted price was £127,782.00.⁴⁴⁷⁷

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.2164. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2165. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁴⁴⁷⁸ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it received a cover price from G Hurst⁴⁴⁷⁹ and that it submitted a 'token tender'.⁴⁴⁸⁰

IV.2166. [...] [C]⁴⁴⁸¹

IV.2167. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.2168. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – PDH

IV.2169. The OFT wrote to PDH on 27 April 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that PDH, had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter David Hurst, Managing Director of PDH, in a telephone call on 15 June 2007 confirmed that PDH were rejecting the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁴⁴⁸²

IV.2170. The OFT subsequently wrote to PDH's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, G Hurst, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on PDH's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold G Hurst jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by PDH in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, G Hurst said it is '...not aware of and do not believe there has been any contravention of the Competition Act 1998 by this Company'.⁴⁴⁸³

IV.2171. In their responses to the Statement, G Hurst & Sons and PDH each stated 'The company believes that this evidence is not conclusive that the G Hurst [sic] cooperated with Bodills' in respect of this Infringement.⁴⁴⁸⁴ G Hurst & Sons and PDH further noted that Graham Rye, the director of PDH with responsibility for estimating and the submission of tenders had not been part of the management structure since 30 April 2004. The companies therefore noted that the current Managing Director was 'unable to defend or comment further on any alleged action of a former Director of the company'.⁴⁴⁸⁵

IV.2172. The OFT considers that the information as set out in the Statement together with the evidence from the OFT's file provided with the Statement was sufficient for G Hurst and PDH to review their records and/or contact relevant individuals and locate the necessary information for its own defence. It appears that to the extent that G Hurst and PDH are unable to adduce evidence in their defence this results from management changes and/or not having kept records in respect of this tender, rather than the OFT's case being insufficient. However, the absence of documentary records or direct access to witnesses cannot of itself exculpate G Hurst from an Infringement where other evidence is available which the OFT considers implicates it, and indeed is sufficient to substantiate its involvement.

IV.2174. Bodill and G Hurst each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2175. G Hurst completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by G Hurst being the lowest received and that it won the contract.

IV.2176. Bodill was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.2177. In regard to G Hurst, Bodill's tender sheet records 'G HURST GRAHAM [.....] [C] WILL RING US THURS A.M.' and there is a ringed letter 'C' in the top right hand corner of the tender sheet. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from G Hurst. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £127,782.00 as the tender figure and this was the figure that Bodill submitted. Furthermore, the telephone number set out in Bodill's tender sheet, [.....] [C], was the G Hurst telephone number⁴⁴⁸⁶, indicating that Bodill contacted G Hurst in respect of this tender.

IV.2178. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Bodill was higher than the tender submitted by G Hurst, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.2179. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between G Hurst and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that G Hurst supplied a figure to Bodill for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from G Hurst to Bodill was not unilateral⁴⁴⁸⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁴⁸⁹
- (b) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from G Hurst (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁴⁹⁰ and
- (c) G Hurst can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bodill (i.e. that Bodill did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁴⁹¹

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2183. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 72: Proposed IT Suite, Rawdon Street, Derby, Indian Community Centre & DTC – 24 August 2001
Client: Indian Community Centre/Derby Technical College
Parties: Derwent Valley and Davlyn

IV.2184. On 3 August 2001, the Indian Community Centre & DTC sought tenders for a proposed IT suite at Rawdon Street, Derby. The following five companies were invited to tender: Derwent Valley, Greenhill Construction (Derby) Ltd, Peter Baines, B & K Building Services and Davlyn. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 24 August 2001.⁴⁴⁹²

IV.2185. Indian Community Centre & DTC employed Armson & Partners, an independent project management company, to deal with the tendering process and they received the following tender returns:⁴⁴⁹³

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
B & K Building Services	24 August 2001	£41,300.58
Greenhill Construction Derby Ltd	24 August 2001	£43,484.00
Peter Baines	24 August 2001	£45,481.00
Derwent Valley	24 August 2001	£37,777.00	✓
Davlyn	24 August 2001	£41,046.00

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Schedule

IV.2186. During the OFT's search of Derwent Valley's premises, a tender schedule containing handwritten entries was discovered. Within this tender schedule was the following entry:⁴⁴⁹⁴

TENDER NR.	RETURN DATE	TENDER DETAILS	OPPOSITION	TENDER	✓
01/08/01	24/8/01	PROPOSED IT SUITE RAWDON STREET DERBY INDIAN COMMUNITY CENTRE & DTC	Davlyn (C)	37,777.00	1st

IV.2187. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2188. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2001 to January 2005 where Derwent Valley had given a cover price to a competitor for that tender, marked as 'DVC1 List of Covers Given'. The information in the summary was based on the tender schedule kept by Pat Tunnicliffe ('PT'), an ex-estimator at Derwent Valley, and contained the following extract:⁴⁴⁹⁵

August 2001	IT Suite Indian Community Centre	Davlyn

IV.2189. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a 'List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices'. The name 'Davlyn Construction Ltd' appears on this list with the address 'Unit 5B Sir Francis Ley Ind Park Shaftsbury St. Derby' and as a contact the name 'Dave'.⁴⁴⁹⁶

IV.2190. Following the issue of the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.2191. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors and an ex-employee provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2192. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with PT, who dealt with this tender. PT, referring to the tender schedule in respect of this tender, remembered it and said 'we tendered for it, won it, 'cause that looks like first, we gave a cover to Davlyn'.⁴⁴⁹⁷ PT commented on a recollection of meeting a quantity surveyor from 'Armsons' [Armson & Partners] and said 'I went round the job with him, I think I priced it and by the look of it we won it. And obviously Davlyn looked for help and we gave it'.⁴⁴⁹⁸ When asked if he recalled the name of anyone at Davlyn he would have dealt with PT said 'I can't remember the name of the chap that phoned up but it would have just been a phone call. Are you pricing it? Yes. Can I have help? Yes'.⁴⁴⁹⁹

IV.2193. David Stone ('DS'), Managing Director of Derwent Valley, was also interviewed in regard to this tender. DS recalled the tender and, on examining the entry for it in the tender schedule, said 'it says Davlyn with a (C) at the side of it, and it was a tender sum was £37,777 and we was first'.⁴⁵⁰⁰ Asked what the entry of 'Davlyn (C)' meant, DS replied *'I would say that means cover'*⁴⁵⁰¹ and went on to confirm this was a cover price given to Davlyn by Derwent Valley commenting, 'I think we've given there, obviously Davlyn have rung us and asked us for a cover'.⁴⁵⁰²

IV.2194. As part of its leniency application, Davlyn provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.293 to IV.302 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2195. In its response to the Statement, Davlyn did not contest its involvement in this infringement.

IV.2196. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Davlyn's employees provided general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This is set out in paragraphs IV.293 to IV.302 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2197. During interview, Davlyn's estimator, David Goodhead ('DG') was asked about this tender. DG did not recall it and explained that any documents associated with it would have been disposed of due to the age of the tender. DG agreed that Derwent Valley was a company with whom Davlyn did exchange cover prices in the past.⁴⁵⁰³ Referring to the Derwent Valley tender schedule and the entry 'Davlyn (C)', when asked if it was feasible that Derwent Valley gave Davlyn a cover price in respect of this tender DG replied 'It's feasible, yes. I can't confirm whether they did or didn't, either from, A, paperwork or B, recollection'.⁴⁵⁰⁴

IV.2199. Derwent Valley and Davlyn each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Derwent Valley completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Derwent Valley being the lowest received and the fact it won the contract.

IV.2200. Davlyn was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.2201. Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes a reference to competitor Davlyn with the letter 'C' in brackets next to it. Derwent Valley confirmed that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received.

IV.2202. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover price to Davlyn.

IV.2203. This was corroborated in interview by DS at Derwent Valley, who agreed that the entry in the tender schedule showed that Derwent Valley gave a cover price in respect of this tender to Davlyn.

IV.2204. Although Davlyn has not admitted engaging in bid rigging activity in respect of this tender, the OFT notes that Davlyn was not the successful party for this tender and as such may not have any records. Davlyn's estimator, DG, confirmed that it was 'feasible' that Davlyn obtained a cover price from Derwent Valley for this tender.

IV.2205. Derwent Valley also included in its list of companies who exchange cover prices the name of Davlyn.

IV.2206. In addition, the OFT notes that Indian Community Centre & DTC received a tendered amount of £37,777 from Derwent Valley, which is lower than the amount tendered by Davlyn. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been given to Davlyn from Derwent Valley.

IV.2207. The OFT also notes that Davlyn submitted a tendered amount of £41,046 in respect of this tender and came second to Derwent Valley. This shows that the only company from whom Davlyn could have received a cover price was Derwent Valley, who submitted the lowest bid and won the tender.

IV.2208. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and Davlyn. The OFT also concludes that Derwent Valley supplied a figure to Davlyn for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Derwent Valley to Davlyn was not unilateral⁴⁵⁰⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁵⁰⁷
- (b) Davlyn can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Derwent Valley (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁵⁰⁸ and
- (c) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Davlyn (i.e. that Davlyn did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁵⁰⁹

IV.2210. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Derwent Valley and Davlyn, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for proposed IT suite, Rawdon Street, Derby, Indian Community Centre & DTC, tender dated 24 August 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2212. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Derwent Valley's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Derwent Valley in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2213. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Davlyn's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Davlyn will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Davlyn will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 74: Toxicology Laboratory, City Hospital, Birmingham – 7 September 2001

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale – Tender Status spreadsheet

IV.2216. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, which contained the following entry:⁴⁵¹²

TENDER NO	DIV	CLIENT	DESCRIPTION	Approx £	EST	CAT	DUE
T4930	BM	City Hospital NHS Trust	Toxicology Laboratory, City Hosp, Dudley Road, Birmingham		CKT	B	07/09/2001 Noon

IV.2217. The Tender Status spreadsheet was maintained at Thomas Vale’s head office by Christopher Keith Trickett (‘CKT’), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, who kept a *‘little black book’*⁴⁵¹³ of contacts, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Within this contact list, there is an entry for Wygar plus names and telephone number.⁴⁵¹⁴

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.2218. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2219. At Annex 14⁴⁵¹⁵ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale’s legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 50 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2001 tenders is the following entry:⁴⁵¹⁶

IV.2220. The Tender Spreadsheet in the last column is the Tender Status spreadsheet referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above.

IV.2221. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁴⁵¹⁷ and Wygar appears on this list.

IV.2222. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2223. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, CKT gave a detailed explanation of the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet to record cover prices from its competitors.

IV.2224. CKT admitted that the initials 'CKT', which appear in the estimator column for this tender, were his own and that the letters 'BM', which appear in the column marked 'DIV', stand for Building and Maintenance Division, based at Thomas Vale's head office.⁴⁵¹⁸ In interview, CKT referred to the entry for this tender in the Tender Status spreadsheet as follows: 'Then entry is a tender return date of the 7th of September 2001, £375,194 our tender figure, Wygar in bold indicating that Wygar gave us a cover figure'.⁴⁵¹⁹ CKT said that he would have dealt with the tender on behalf of Building and Maintenance Division and he had an entry for Wygar in his book of contacts.

Evidence from other companies – Wygar

IV.2225. The OFT wrote to Wygar on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Wygar had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response, Wygar stated in its letter to the OFT dated 25 April 2007 that it had given a cover price on this tender.⁴⁵²⁰ In addition, it stated 'We engaged in bid rigging activities (cover pricing) on this tender with Thomas Vale. Mr C Trickett'.⁴⁵²¹

IV.2226. The OFT subsequently wrote to Wygar's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Wygar Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Wygar's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Wygar Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Wygar in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Wygar Holdings confirmed that it would 'support and adopt Wygar Construction Limited's acceptance of the reduction of penalty offer and that WHL does not intend to comment...or to make any submissions on this case at the present time'.⁴⁵²²

IV.2227. In their response to the Statement, Wygar and Wygar Holdings stated 'Wygar has accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer and does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁴⁵²³

IV.2229. Thomas Vale and Wygar each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for the extension to the Toxicology Laboratory, City Hospital, Birmingham. It appears that Wygar completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Wygar being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.2230. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicated that a cover price was sought.

IV.2231. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT, records three competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely Mansell, Wygar and E Manton. Wygar is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated as soon as the cover price had been arranged by CKT. Thomas Vale's bid to the client on the Tender Status spreadsheet is £375,194 which matches the amount recorded by the client City Hospital NHS.

IV.2232. City Hospital NHS also received a tendered amount of £344,695 from Wygar, which is lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Wygar to Thomas Vale. The OFT notes that Wygar's tender bid is the only figure below that of Thomas Vale and so Thomas Vale could only have received cover from Wygar.

IV.2233. The OFT notes that although three competitors have been recorded on the Tender Status spreadsheet, only one of these is highlighted in bold, i.e. Wygar. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate Wygar from the other two competitors. In addition, the fact that the tender had been allocated to CKT, who was responsible for the maintenance of the spreadsheet, means that it is likely that the entry was accurate and that CKT had personal knowledge of the decision to receive a cover price and make contact with Wygar at the time. It also indicates that CKT himself made contact with Wygar.

IV.2234. Thomas Vale admitted that Wygar was one of the ‘key competitors’ with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. In interview, CKT agreed that the entry in Tender Status spreadsheet shows that he obtained a cover price from Wygar and he had an entry for Wygar in a contact book he used to telephone other contractors for the purpose of obtaining cover prices.

IV.2235. Both parties have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. Wygar admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Thomas Vale and named CKT as the relevant contact, without being shown the OFT’s evidence that Thomas Vale and CKT were involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT’s evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.2236. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and Wygar and that Wygar supplied a figure to Thomas Vale in order that it could submit a bid to the client that was not intended to win the contract.

IV.2237. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2216 to IV.2236 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁵²⁴ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Wygar to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁴⁵²⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁵²⁶
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Wygar (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁵²⁷ and
- (c) Wygar can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁵²⁸

IV.2238. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Thomas Vale and Wygar in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for the extension to the Toxicology Laboratory, City Hospital, Birmingham, tender deadline 7 September 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

⁴⁵²⁴ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁴⁵²⁶ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁴⁵²⁷ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁴⁵²⁸ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.2240. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 75: Refurbishment, Wattville Thomas J&I School, Handsworth – 18 September 2001
Client: Birmingham City Council
Suspect Parties: BBCL⁴⁵²⁹, Thomas Vale, Interclass and Pearce⁴⁵³⁰

IV.2241. On 13 August 2001, Birmingham City Council sought tenders for refurbishment and extension to Wattville Thomas J&I School.⁴⁵³¹ The following six companies were invited to tender: BBCL, Harper, Interclass, Kendrick Const. Ltd, Pearce and Thomas Vale. The date of tender return was 18 September 2001 at 12:00 noon.⁴⁵³²

IV.2242. Birmingham City Council received the following tender returns:⁴⁵³³

BBCL	18 September 2001	£1,064,354	YES
Harper	18 September 2001	£1,106,560
Interclass	18 September 2001	£1,154,832
Kendrick Const Ltd	18 September 2001	£1,126,209
Pearce	18 September 2001	£1,129,845
Thomas Vale	18 September 2001	£1,140,946

IV.2243. As described in more detail in paragraphs II.1000 to II.1036 above, Pearce was at the relevant time acting under the terms of an agency agreement with Pearce Group when bidding for this tender, and Pearce Group was therefore the undisclosed principal involved in this tender process.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Balfour Beatty – Bid Risk Checklist and handwritten notes

IV.2244. As part of its leniency application, Balfour Beatty’s legal representatives provided a BBCL Southern Division Bid Risk Checklist for this tender⁴⁵³⁴, which contained the following:

⁴⁵²⁹ BBCL (Balfour Beatty Construction Ltd) is a subsidiary of Balfour Beatty.

IV.2246. Pearce, Crest Nicholson⁴⁵³⁶, and Pearce Group⁴⁵³⁷ suggested in their respective representations that because the handwritten note was undated, and because there was no clear indication as to when the 'C's on the bid risk checklist had been recorded, the OFT had not proven that these documents were contemporaneous.⁴⁵³⁸ The OFT considers first ME's confirmation in interview that the handwriting on the handwritten note was his and was made at the time of the tender⁴⁵³⁹, and secondly the date on the bid risk checklist of 17 September 2001, the day prior to the tender deadline, to be sufficient proof that both documents are in fact contemporaneous, i.e. that they were completed around the day of the tender submission deadline.

IV.2247. In their respective responses to the Statement, Pearce and Crest Nicholson suggested that the telephone numbers in the first half of this handwritten note ⁴⁵³⁶ The ultimate parent company of Pearce at the time of the Infringement. Pearce and Crest Nicholson responded separately to the Statement.

⁴⁵³⁷ The immediate parent company and undisclosed principal of Pearce, Pearce Group responded to the Supplementary Statement dated 16 April 2009.

⁴⁵³⁸ Written representations of Pearce, 14 July 2008, paragraphs 3.32 and 3.37; written representations of Crest Nicholson, 27 June 2008, paragraph 7.68; written representations of Pearce Group, 1 June 2009, paragraphs 4.19 and 4.26 to 4.27; oral representations of Pearce Group, 5 June 2009, page 11.

indicated that ME initiated contact with Pearce, inconsistent with the typical process of cover pricing, and therefore were not evidence that a cover was given to Pearce.⁴⁵⁴⁰ The OFT notes that ME did state in interview that he had tried to contact other companies, including Pearce.⁴⁵⁴¹ However, ME's evidence was that this was to arrange a request to the client for an extension of the tender deadline.⁴⁵⁴² This is corroborated by the client information which shows that the tender deadline was extended from 11 September 2001 to 18 September 2001.⁴⁵⁴³ The OFT accepts that if the telephone numbers were all that this note contained, Pearce and Crest Nicholson's explanation might be plausible. However, this does not account for the entry 'cover', written next to each of the entries for Pearce, Thomas Vale and Interclass. In view of the inclusion of those particular entries, the OFT considers it most likely that ME originally contacted the other bidders to arrange a request for a tender extension and that some of those bidders either took the opportunity to request a cover price, or having already had an initial contact with ME later contacted him again with a request for a cover price.

IV.2248. In their respective representations Pearce, Crest Nicholson, and Pearce Group also suggested that the proximity of the word 'no' to the word 'cover' in the first half of the handwritten note, under the heading 'Pearce Construction', implied that no cover was actually given; rather the crossed out 'possible' indicates the cover was at first a possibility which then became a 'no'.⁴⁵⁴⁴ The OFT does not consider this interpretation plausible. First, it fails to account for the entries in the second half of the note (as to which see paragraphs IV.2249 to IV.2251 below). Had ME prepared a 'possible' cover price for Pearce, but Pearce decided to submit a genuine bid and not to accept a cover, the OFT would expect that the figure the client received from Pearce would be different from the figure next to Pearce's name on the second half of this handwritten note. Secondly, the OFT considers that the 'no' relates to the crossed out phone number and 'Telford', and it notes that there is a [...] [C] located in Telford with that telephone number⁴⁵⁴⁵ which was not the company tendering for this contract.

IV.2249. In their respective representations Pearce, Crest and Pearce Group suggested that the figures in the second half of the sheet were a record of information gathered post tender⁴⁵⁴⁶, rather than of the cover figures prepared for those parties, because ME had stated in interview he would 'seek to find out what other parties had bid for the contract'⁴⁵⁴⁷, and because the 'entry of the four names at the bottom appears to have been made at a different time or times to

IV.2250. First, the list contains prices for only three out of five of BBCL's competitors. If this were post-tender information, the OFT would expect to see a complete list, and certainly that the second and third lowest tenders would be included. The OFT notes that ME did have contact details for at least the remaining bidder Harper; this information is recorded on the handwritten note itself. The OFT therefore considers this explanation implausible in view of the absence in particular of Harper's price details from the list. Secondly, the three out of five of BBCL's competitors that are included in the second half of the note are the same three competitors as are noted in the first half of the note with the entry 'cover' next to their names. Finally, any number of explanations consistent with cover pricing could account for the upper and lower sections having been recorded at different times (see, for example, paragraph IV.2247 above regarding the possibility that initial contact was made with these companies for the purposes of seeking a deferral of the tender submission deadline) and the OFT does not therefore consider this a contraindication to cover pricing.

IV.2251. Overall, the OFT does not accept that the two halves of this note should be disaggregated in the manner that Pearce, Crest and the Pearce Group effectively suggest. Read together the OFT considers it clear that the first half of the note records contact details for companies who have requested covers, and that the second half records the price given to those companies. The OFT does not rely on any particular entry in isolation, but rather interprets the document as a whole, and concludes that taken as a whole it represents strong and compelling evidence of BBCL having provided a cover price to Pearce, Thomas Vale and Interclass.

IV.2252. Balfour Beatty's legal representatives also provided to the OFT a schedule setting out instances of cover pricing uncovered or suspected within BBCL, where covers were given. In respect of this tender the schedule shows that BBCL gave cover prices to Thomas Vale, Interclass and Pearce.⁴⁵⁴⁹

IV.2253. Following the issue of the Statement, Balfour Beatty did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Balfour Beatty

IV.2254. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Balfour Beatty employees and ex-employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.189 to IV.203 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2255. During an interview with the OFT on 30 March 2007, ME advised what would happen when a competitor asked for a cover price from Balfour Beatty as detailed in paragraphs IV.195 to IV.197 above. ME advised that his role was 'to estimate and, and win building contracts for the south-east which includes

Birmingham ... as well as the London office'.⁴⁵⁵⁰ In relation to this tender ME stated 'I completed the [bid risk] check list' and when asked what the 'C' in speech marks next to Thomas Vale, Interclass and Pearce indicated, ME stated 'C stands for cover'.⁴⁵⁵¹

IV.2256. In relation to the handwritten notes, ME confirmed that it was his handwriting and in relation to the notes relating to Pearce at the top of the page stated '... I'm surmising 'cos I can't remember this completely is that Pearce Construction have got several offices: one in Evesham, one in Telford, and ... it was finding who, which office was dealing with it ... We were asking for tender extension on this job ... so those would probably contact them and ask me if they could ask for one as well'.⁴⁵⁵²

IV.2257. Regarding the notes relating to Thomas Vale, ME stated 'They came to me asking for cover, and that was obviously the name of the company, the person who spoke to me and the telephone number so that I could get back to them with a number'.⁴⁵⁵³

IV.2258. When asked about the notes of numbers at the bottom of the document, ME stated '... that is a list, not of all the competitors, but of Balfour Beatty's price plus the three companies who asked me to give them a cover price. And those are the numbers I told them to go in on, with the difference between our figure and their figure, and a percentage of what it would be'.⁴⁵⁵⁴ When asked whether he had been in contact with the noted companies and given them the cover prices, ME stated 'Yeah ... I would have had contact with them'.⁴⁵⁵⁵

IV.2259. In their respective responses to the Statement and Supplementary Statement, Pearce, Crest Nicholson, and Pearce Group suggested that ME's witness evidence was unreliable and not a specific recollection of this tender due to his use of the phrases 'I'm surmising', 'this is a bit more vague' and 'I can't remember this completely'.⁴⁵⁵⁶ They also noted his comment about Pearce having an office in Telford, which it did not, suggesting this also cast doubt on his reliability.⁴⁵⁵⁷ The OFT notes that ME only used the above-mentioned qualifying phrases when discussing the particular entry, in the first half of his handwritten note under the heading 'Pearce Construction', of 'Telford' and the crossed out phone number, as described in paragraph IV.2256 above. It is clear that ME was offering a possible explanation for the presence of this additional information. He was not stating with certainty that Pearce did in fact have an office in Telford. Indeed, as indicated in paragraph IV.2248 above, though Pearce do not have an office in Telford, the similarly named C J Pearce does and the crossed out telephone number on this note is theirs. The OFT considers it likely that ME's recollection was of making an initial contact with this company in error. Further, and in contrast, when discussing the remainder of his handwritten note and this tender ME's evidence did not include any qualifications, as is demonstrated in his explanation of the figures at the bottom of the page, set out in paragraph IV.2258 above. As discussed in paragraph IV.2246 above, if ME initiated contact with Pearce this does not indicate that cover pricing did not take place. The OFT does not therefore accept that ME's evidence is unreliable.

IV.2260. In its response to the Statement, Pearce suggested that the meaning of 'C' on the bid risk checklist was unclear because ME did not recall providing a cover to Pearce. Pearce stated '[ME] specifically states that "this is a bit more vague" and "I can't remember this completely"'.⁴⁵⁵⁸ The OFT notes that the quote referenced by Pearce in fact refers to parts of the handwritten note, as indicated above, and not to the bid risk checklist. When asked what the 'C' on the bid risk checklist indicated, ME did not demonstrate any uncertainty, stating clearly 'C stands for cover'.⁴⁵⁵⁹

IV.2261. Pearce and Pearce Group also noted in their responses that ME stated in interview that Pearce was not a company 'Balfour Beatty would generally have exchanged cover prices with'.⁴⁵⁶⁰ The OFT does not consider this in any way undermines the contemporaneous documents and supporting witness evidence in respect of this tender. If it were indeed unusual for BBCL to provide a cover to Pearce (and the OFT does not consider it necessary to determine this point) the OFT considers that that in fact would make the witness evidence in respect of this tender more reliable. ME is more likely to remember an unusual interaction than one which was barely distinguishable from a myriad of regular contacts.

IV.2262. In its response to the Statement, Crest Nicholson alleged that the OFT ignored the evidence of PC although he had been interviewed in relation to this tender.⁴⁵⁶¹ The OFT notes that PC had no personal knowledge of this contract and the contemporaneous notes were not his. Therefore he did not provide independent recollection or explanation of the contemporaneous documents.⁴⁵⁶² The OFT does not consider PC's lack of recollection to be any indication that a cover exchange either did or did not occur on this tender, particularly since he was not the estimator for this tender. PC did, however, state when asked what the 'C' on the bid risk checklist meant, 'I assume that would indicate that we've given a cover to those three'.⁴⁵⁶³ This would, if anything, support ME's account as to the meaning of the 'C's on the bid risk checklist.

IV.2264. The Tender Status spreadsheet was maintained at Thomas Vale's head office by Christopher Keith Trickett ('CKT'), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, who kept a *'little black book'*⁴⁵⁶⁵ of contacts, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Within this contact list, there is an entry for Balfour Beatty plus names, including Martyn Etheridge and a telephone number.⁴⁵⁶⁶

IV.2265. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2266. At Annex 14⁴⁵⁶⁷ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale's legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 45 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2001 tenders is the following entry:⁴⁵⁶⁸ participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, CKT gave a detailed explanation of the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet to record cover prices from its competitors.

IV.2269. CKT admitted that the initials 'CKT' which appear in the estimator column for this tender were his. In interview, CKT explained that he had dealt with the tender and in respect of the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet, stated 'CKT, myself, was the estimator. B, again, perhaps now infers there's no Cs appearing, so B would infer to me that that's a cover figure ... and amongst a list of names, Balfour Beatty is highlighted, which infers to me that they gave a cover figure'.⁴⁵⁶⁹ CKT confirmed that the telephone number [.....] [C], which appeared on the handwritten notes from Balfour Beatty, was the main switchboard number for Thomas Vale's Stourport office.⁴⁵⁷⁰

Evidence from other companies – Interclass

IV.2270. The OFT wrote to Interclass on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Interclass had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Interclass admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging (cover pricing) activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁴⁵⁷¹ Interclass also stated that it had taken a cover price on this tender.⁴⁵⁷² In its response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, Interclass divided its admissions into three categories: tenders where a cover price was given; tenders where a cover price was taken; and tenders where it had no evidence available. This tender was included in the cover prices taken category, indicating that Interclass's admission was based on some evidence available to it.⁴⁵⁷³

IV.2271. The OFT subsequently wrote to Interclass's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Interclass Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Interclass's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Interclass Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Interclass in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. The OFT spoke to a representative of Interclass Holdings on 6 December 2007 who stated that Interclass Holdings 'does not intend to make any comments regarding the second fast track letter'.⁴⁵⁷⁴

IV.2272. In their response to the Statement, Interclass and Interclass Holdings confirmed that 'Interclass has accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer and does not contest the OFT's finding of infringement'⁴⁵⁷⁵ in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence from other companies – Pearce, Pearce Group and Crest Nicholson

IV.2273. The OFT wrote to Pearce on 7 November 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Pearce had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Pearce Group stated '... it would be wholly inappropriate for Pearce Group Limited to accept the OFT's offer of a reduction in any financial penalty in return for an admission of liability ...'.⁴⁵⁷⁶

IV.2274. The OFT also wrote to Pearce's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Crest Nicholson, on 7 November 2007, asking it to comment on the OFT's Fast Track Offer to Pearce, given that the OFT intended to hold Crest Nicholson jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Pearce in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter Crest Nicholson's legal representatives stated '... having made enquiries of current directors and employees and having searched for potentially relevant documentation, Crest has been unable to verify these allegations and cannot, therefore, acting in good faith, admit liability'.⁴⁵⁷⁷

IV.2275. In their responses to the Statement and the Supplementary Statement, Pearce and Pearce Group asserted that the evidence from Interclass and Thomas Vale regarding this tender should not reflect on Pearce's involvement in this Infringement.⁴⁵⁷⁸ While the OFT does not consider that the evidence from Interclass or Thomas Vale implicates Pearce in this Infringement, it does consider their admissions with regard to this tender serve as corroboration of the OFT's interpretations of the contemporaneous documents and witness evidence, in particular the meaning of the 'C's on the bid risk checklist, the meaning of 'cover' on the handwritten note and the explanation for the tender prices recorded on the lower half of the handwritten note. The OFT therefore takes the evidence from Interclass and Thomas Vale into account in this respect only when assessing the strength of the evidence implicating Pearce.

IV.2276. In response to the OFT's letter of 27 July 2009, following the High Court Judgment described in paragraphs II.1576 to II.1580 above, Crest Nicholson stated that it 'is willing to admit that the evidence now provided by the OFT in relation to... [this infringement]...demonstrates that Pearce Midland engaged in bid-rigging in relation to that contract by accepting a cover price from Balfour Beatty'.⁴⁵⁷⁹ Crest Nicholson further stated that it 'does not contest that it is jointly and severally liable, together with Pearce Group and Pearce Midlands as their historic parent company, for the commission of [Alleged] Infringement 75'.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and provisional finding

⁴⁵⁷⁸ Written representations of Pearce, 14 July 2008, paragraphs 3.9 and 3.41 to 3.42; written representations of Pearce Group, 1 June 2009, paragraphs 1.2 and 4.8 to 4.12.

⁴⁵⁷⁹ Response from Crest Nicholson, 10 August 2009.

- IV.2278. BBCL, Thomas Vale, Interclass and Pearce⁴⁵⁸⁰ each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.2279. All four companies submitted a tender. It appears that BBCL completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.
- IV.2280. Thomas Vale, Interclass and Pearce were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.
- IV.2281. In regard to Thomas Vale, Balfour Beatty's BBCL Southern Division Bid Risk Checklist shows 'Thomas Vale "C"' and handwritten notes show 'THOMAS VALE CHRIS TRICKETT - [.....] [C] COVER' and 'THOMAS VALE £1,140,946 76,601 7.20%'. Balfour Beatty confirmed that this shows that it gave a cover price to the company noted of the amount shown. The OFT notes that the figure noted on the handwritten notes against Thomas Vale, was identical to the figure that Thomas Vale submitted. [.....] [C] has been confirmed as the telephone number of Thomas Vale's Stourport office, and Thomas Vale has confirmed that Chris Trickett dealt with this tender.
- IV.2282. In addition, Thomas Vale's Tender Status spreadsheet shows this tender as a Category B and 'Balfour Beatty' is marked in bold lettering. Thomas Vale has admitted that the use of the letter 'B' in the category column and the appearance of Balfour Beatty in bold, shows that a cover was taken from Balfour Beatty. Furthermore the OFT notes that although five competitors have been recorded on Thomas Vale's Tender Status spreadsheet, only one of these is highlighted in bold i.e. Balfour Beatty. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate Balfour Beatty from the other competitors.
- IV.2283. In regard to Interclass, Balfour Beatty's BBCL Southern Division Bid Risk Checklist shows 'Interclass "C"' and handwritten notes show 'INTERCLASS BOB ALLEN - [.....] [C] COVER' and 'INTERCLASS £1,154,832 90,487 8.50%'. Balfour Beatty confirmed that this shows that it gave a cover price to the company noted of the amount shown. The OFT notes that the figure noted on the handwritten notes against Interclass, was identical to the figure that Interclass submitted. In respect of the name, Bob Allen, and the telephone number, [.....] [C], these appear under an entry for Interclass in a contacts list provided by Thomas Vale.⁴⁵⁸¹
- IV.2284. In addition, Interclass has admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007. The OFT notes that Interclass admitted that it took a cover price without sight of the OFT's evidence that it took rather than gave a cover price. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.2285. In regard to Pearce, Balfour Beatty's BBCL Southern Division Bid Risk Checklist shows 'Pearce Construction "C"' and 'PEARCE CONSTRUCTION GEORGE EVESHAM 7 [.....] [C] 1 IAN TAYLOR TELFORD [.....] [C] NO BRIAN DUTTON POSSIBLE COVER' and 'PEARCE £1,129,845 65,500 6.15%'.

Balfour Beatty confirmed that this shows that it gave a cover price to the company noted of the amount shown. The OFT notes that the figure noted on the handwritten notes against Pearce, was identical to the figure that Pearce submitted. The telephone number, [.....] [C], appears under an entry for Pearce in a contacts list provided by Thomas Vale.⁴⁵⁸²

IV.2286. The OFT notes that Crest Nicholson has now admitted that the evidence in this Infringement demonstrates that Pearce accepted a cover price from Balfour Beatty.

IV.2287. The OFT further notes that the tenders submitted by Thomas Vale, Interclass and Pearce were all higher than the tender submitted by BBCL, the pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided.

IV.2288. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between BBCL and Thomas Vale, between Balfour Beatty and Interclass, and between BBCL and Pearce. The OFT also concludes that BBCL supplied figures to each of Thomas Vale, Interclass and Pearce for cover bids.

IV.2289. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2244 to IV.2288 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁵⁸³ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from BBCL to each of Thomas Vale, Interclass and Pearce was not unilateral⁴⁵⁸⁴, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁵⁸⁵
- (b) Thomas Vale, Interclass and Pearce can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from BBCL (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁵⁸⁶ and
- (c) BBCL can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale, Interclass and Pearce (i.e. that none of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁵⁸⁷

Immunity and leniency assessment

per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.2292. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities (involving Thomas Vale and BBCL) in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.2293. Balfour Beatty informed the OFT of further bid rigging activities (involving Pearce and Interclass) in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these further activities from any other source. Balfour Beatty will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Propensity – Jackson’s Tender Book

IV.2296. In Jackson's tender book provided by Propensity to the OFT as part of its leniency application, in respect of this tender, the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten:⁴⁵⁹²

E3468	31.8.01	Peterborough City Council	Peterborough	New Primary School

		£1,839,493	C Cover from Marriotts HG.	Noon 1.10.01

Evidence from leniency applicant Propensity

IV.2297. As part of its leniency application, Propensity provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2298. In particular, Propensity provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender book since 4 January 2000 and in respect of this tender, Propensity confirmed that it received a cover price from Marriott.⁴⁵⁹³

IV.2299. In its response to the Statement, Propensity stated '...Propensity Group has made admissions in relation to all instances of cover pricing it uncovered as part of its leniency application'.⁴⁵⁹⁴

IV.2300. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Propensity's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2301. John Rhodes ('JR'), Pre-Contracts Manager at Jackson, confirmed in interview that it is his handwriting in the tender book⁴⁵⁹⁵ and that in most instances it would be he who arranged the cover price.⁴⁵⁹⁶ JR said in respect of the entry in the tender book, for this tender, 'that Jackson's received a price from Marriotts and the figure recorded in the column, £1.8 million or thereabouts was the figure that was submitted'.⁴⁵⁹⁷ JR also confirmed that the figure given by Marriotts was the figure that he submitted for this tender.⁴⁵⁹⁸ JR explained that the 'C' stood for 'competitive tender'.⁴⁵⁹⁹

Evidence from other companies – Kier

IV.2302. The OFT wrote to Kier on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Kier had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Kier said that it was unable to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁴⁶⁰⁰

IV.2303. Kier stated in its response to the Statement that it did not wish to comment on the Alleged Infringements other than to make comments and observations which should be taken into account when calculating any penalty.⁴⁶⁰¹ Such points are addressed in Section VI (Enforcement) below.

IV.2305. Jackson and Marriott each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2306. Jackson was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.2307. In regard to Marriott, Jackson's tender book states, 'Cover from Marriotts'. Propensity has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from Marriott. Jackson recorded in the tender book the figure £1,839,493, as the tender figure and this was the figure that Jackson submitted.

⁴⁶⁰¹ Written representations of Kier, 27 June 2008, paragraphs 1.2 and 2.1.

- IV.2308. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Jackson was higher than the tender submitted by Marriott, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.2309. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Marriott and Jackson. The OFT also concludes that Marriott supplied a figure to Jackson for a cover bid.
- IV.2310. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2296 to IV.2309 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁶⁰² In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Marriott to Jackson was not unilateral⁴⁶⁰³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁶⁰⁴
 - (b) Jackson can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Marriott (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁶⁰⁵ and
 - (c) Marriott can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Jackson (i.e. that Jackson did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁶⁰⁶
- IV.2311. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Jackson and Marriott, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for a new primary school, Riverside Development, Oundle Road, Peterborough, tender deadline 1 October 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

- IV.2313. Propensity informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Propensity will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.2314. On 3 September 2001, Derwent Housing Association sought tenders for 15 dwellings, Station Road, Kimberley Phase 2.⁴⁶⁰⁷ The following four companies were invited to tender: Adam Eastwood, Robert Woodhead, Weaver and Bodill.⁴⁶⁰⁸ The deadline for receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 8 October 2001.⁴⁶⁰⁹

IV.2315. Derwent Housing Association received the following tender returns:⁴⁶¹⁰

Bodill	Before tender deadline	£849,534.00

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – Form of Tender

IV.2316. In Bodill's original tender sheet for this contract, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following handwritten entries have been made:⁴⁶¹¹

IV.2319. The Form of Tender was signed by Duncan Ironmonger ('DI'), an estimator at Strata on 8 October 2001. The figure Strata submitted for this tender was £897,990.00.⁴⁶¹⁴

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.2320. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2321. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000. In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave cover prices to Strata and Robert Woodhead.⁴⁶¹⁵

IV.2322. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence from leniency applicant - Strata

IV.2323. As part of its leniency application, Strata provided to the OFT a list of covers prepared by reference to its contract information sheets, the file 'Covers from Jan 2000 – Dec 2001' and 'contracts in hand' documents. This list included the following entry:⁴⁶¹⁶

Witness evidence from leniency applicant - Strata

IV.2326. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Strata's past and present employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.617 to IV.634 above and is applicable to this tender.

IV.2327. The OFT wrote to Robert Woodhead on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Robert Woodhead had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Robert Woodhead admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁴⁶¹⁷

IV.2328. The OFT subsequently wrote to Robert Woodhead's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Woodhead Holdings, on 4 March 2008, asking it to comment on Robert Woodhead's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Woodhead Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Robert Woodhead in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Woodhead Holdings stated 'Whilst not accepting that Robert Woodhead Holdings Ltd could have any liability in this case, the company is aware of the agreement reached between Robert Woodhead Ltd and the OFT, and would adopt the same position as Robert Woodhead Ltd'.⁴⁶¹⁸

IV.2329. In its response to the Statement, Robert Woodhead stated 'Woodhead admitted participation in each of these Alleged Infringements in its Response to the OFT Offer' and 'Woodhead stands by its admission of the Alleged Infringements'.⁴⁶¹⁹ It further stated 'Woodhead would have needed to place a bid for this contract in order to stay on the tender list of Derwent Housing Association'.⁴⁶²⁰

IV.2331. Strata, Bodill and Robert Woodhead each accepted an invitation to tender for 15 dwellings, Station Rd, Kimberley, Nottingham Phase 2.

IV.2332. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. It appears that Bodill wanted to win the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with hope of winning the work.

⁴⁶¹⁹ Written representations of Robert Woodhead, 2 July 2008, paragraph 3.2.

⁴⁶²⁰ Written representations of Robert Woodhead, 2 July 2008, paragraph 3.4.3.

- IV.2333. Strata and Robert Woodhead were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.
- IV.2334. In regard to Strata, Bodill's tender sheet records 'WEAVER © FROM US D. IRONMONGER [.....] [C]' against Strata. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. Duncan Ironmonger was the name of an estimator at Strata⁴⁶²¹ and [.....] [C] was a Weaver telephone number.⁴⁶²² Furthermore, Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £897750 against Strata, a figure that was very similar to the tender that Strata submitted for the work.
- IV.2335. In addition the OFT found further corroborating contemporaneous evidence at Strata's premises. Strata's Form of Tender records 'FROM BODILL', handwritten in the top right hand corner. Strata confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from the company noted. This Form of Tender was also found in the file marked 'Covers from Jan 2000 to Dec 2001', which Strata confirmed contained documents and records of covers taken. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Strata and Bodill, and both Strata's and Bodill's admissions and explanations of the contemporaneous evidence, that Bodill supplied Strata with a cover price for this tender.
- IV.2336. In regard to Robert Woodhead, Bodill's tender sheet records 'WOODHEAD © FROM US Ring Bob Johnson Mon am' against Robert Woodhead. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. The OFT considers that 'Mon AM' was the morning of Monday 8 October 2001, the day of the deadline for submission of the tender. The OFT notes that this is consistent with the pattern of cover prices being exchanged at the last minute, prior to submission of a tender.
- IV.2337. Furthermore, Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £886617 against Robert Woodhead, a figure that was identical to the tender that Robert Woodhead submitted for the work. Bodill's tender sheet also records the name of an estimator at Robert Woodhead, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. A list of contractors found at the premises of P Waller also confirms that there was a contact at Robert Woodhead with the name of 'Bob Johnson'.⁴⁶²³
- IV.2338. Finally, Robert Woodhead admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Bodill, and both parties' admissions of bid rigging, that Bodill supplied Robert Woodhead with a cover price for this tender.
- IV.2339. The OFT further notes that the tenders submitted by Strata and Robert Woodhead were higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, the pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided.

IV.2340. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Bodill and Strata and between Bodill and Robert Woodhead. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied figures to each of Strata and Robert Woodhead for cover bids.

IV.2341. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2316 to IV.2340 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁶²⁴ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Bodill to each of Strata and Robert Woodhead was not unilateral⁴⁶²⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁶²⁶
- (b) Strata and Robert Woodhead can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own respective conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁶²⁷ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Strata and Robert Woodhead (i.e. that neither Strata nor Robert Woodhead intended to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁶²⁸

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2344. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.2345. In respect of this tender, the OFT first became aware of Strata's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. Strata will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Strata in respect of this infringement.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from J H Hallam – Incoming Tender Report

IV.2348. As part of its leniency application, J H Hallam provided a contemporaneous Incoming Tender Report Sheet relating to this tender.⁴⁶³¹ In the section relating to 'Tendering Contractors', row eight, is the following handwritten entry of Steve Gill, the allocated estimator:

'Cover ! Denmans Phil Hargreaves'

IV.2349. As part of its leniency application, J H Hallam provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁴⁶³² This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.420 to IV.430 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2350. In particular, J H Hallam provided to the OFT a schedule entitled 'Projects involving cover pricing March 2000 – June 2005'. Examination of the entry relevant to this tender shows that J H Hallam provided a cover price to Phil Hargreaves at T Denman.⁴⁶³³

IV.2351. In its response to the Statement, J H Hallam stated 'JH Hallam does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁴⁶³⁴

IV.2352. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, J H Hallam's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.420 to IV.430 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2353. Additional evidence in relation to this tender comes from the interview of Steve Gill the estimator for J H Hallam. His response to questions concerning this tender was as follows:⁴⁶³⁵

Q. '.....I will show you that and that's OFT document 5045....cover Denman's, I can't I think that's a name.

A. It is Phil Hargreaves, yes. As obviously I can't remember it would indicate that we probably did give a cover to Denman.

Q. On that document 5045 is that your handwriting.

A. It is'

Evidence from other companies – T Denman

IV.2354. The OFT wrote to T Denman on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that T Denman had participated in bid rigging on this tender.

IV.2355. Subsequently protracted correspondence was entered into, whereby Mr W B Cragg the Managing Director of T Denman appeared initially to accept the OFT's offer. In an email of 18 May 2007 he made the following statements:

'What we do know is the practice of contractors pricing themselves out of work, when they are too committed to price a project in the given time and in order not to have themselves inadvertently removed from client lists by returning a tender invitation, has been an inherent known part of construction industry practise for many years and as a long established small business we have participated in this practise on occasions in previous years, although have no records of particular events.

*It would therefore be apparent that we are involved in these matters by implication and on a commercial basis alone we should be responsible people and mitigate the financial and commercial damage to this company by any actions within our means and therefore accept your offer of leniency in every case.'*⁴⁶³⁶

⁴⁶³⁶ Response from T Denman, OFT Document Reference 10869.

IV.2356. In a letter dated 29 June 2007, received from Berryman Shacklock LLP, solicitors acting on behalf of T Denman, the following admission was made:

*'As you are aware, the practice of "cover pricing" has been endemic in the construction industry over many decades. Against that background, our client does acknowledge that it has engaged in cover pricing activity on a limited number of projects.'*⁴⁶³⁷

IV.2357. However the letter went on to state:

'...it has been unable to identify any specific evidence of any involvement with cover pricing on those projects....'

IV.2358. The overall assertion was therefore that T Denman had engaged in cover pricing, but not on the tenders identified by the OFT.

IV.2359. The OFT's Fast Track Offer was then formally declined by a letter from Berryman, dated 24 July 2007.⁴⁶³⁸

IV.2360. However, T Denman stated subsequently in its response to the Statement that *'...T Denman has no means of challenging the evidence now presented by the OFT in support of its allegations in relation to cover pricing, and therefore admits liability for the cover pricing infringements alleged by the OFT.'*⁴⁶³⁹

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.2362. J H Hallam and T Denman each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2363. J H Hallam appears to have completed the estimating process for the tender, and submitted a bid with the intention of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by J H Hallam being the lowest recorded, and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.2364. T Denman was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.2365. In regard to T Denman, J H Hallam has confirmed that Steve Gill's handwritten entry 'Cover! Denmans Phil Hargreaves' on the incoming tender report, for this tender shows that it provided cover to T Denman. This was confirmed in interview by Steve Gill, and T Denman is the only competitor named on the incoming tender report.

IV.2366. Both T Denman and J H Hallam have admitted liability in specific terms for this Infringement.

⁴⁶³⁷ Response from T Denman, OFT Document Reference 13010.

⁴⁶³⁹ Written representations of T Denman, 27 June 2008, paragraph 6.

- IV.2367. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by T Denman was higher than the tender submitted by J H Hallam, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been received.
- IV.2368. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between J H Hallam and T Denman. The OFT also concludes that J H Hallam supplied a figure to T Denman for a cover bid.
- IV.2369. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2348 to IV.2368 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁶⁴⁰ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from J H Hallam to T Denman was not unilateral⁴⁶⁴¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁶⁴²
 - (b) T Denman can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from J H Hallam (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own respective conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁶⁴³ and
 - (c) J H Hallam can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from T Denman (i.e. that T Denman did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁶⁴⁴

Immunity and leniency assessment

- IV.2372. J H Hallam informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. J H Hallam will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.2375. In Bodill's tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten:⁴⁶⁴⁷

1. BODILL

*2. JACKSONS TREVOR MOOR
WILL RING WED [...] [C]

3. HEWIT & MAUGHAN'

⁴⁶⁴⁵ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 7144.

⁴⁶⁴⁶ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 7144.

⁴⁶⁴⁷ Tender sheet, OFT Document Reference 0587.

IV.2376. The tender sheet for this tender also contains a ringed letter 'C' in the top right hand corner of the tender sheet and at the foot of the sheet it states that Bodill's submitted price was £117,552.00.⁴⁶⁴⁸

IV.2377. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, kept a diary for 2001 which contains an entry for this tender on 1 November which reads '14.15 MODS .4 DWELLINGS, COSTHORPE (C) (WORKSOP)'.⁴⁶⁴⁹ JR explained in interview with the OFT that when a tender is written in his diary with a 'C' in brackets, 'It means that we're looking for some help, a cover, a cover price'.⁴⁶⁵⁰

IV.2378. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2379. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁴⁶⁵¹ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it received a cover price from J J & A R Jackson⁴⁶⁵² and that it submitted a 'token tender'.⁴⁶⁵³

IV.2380. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – J J & A R Jackson

IV.2381. The OFT wrote to J J & A R Jackson on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that J J & A R Jackson had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, J J & A R Jackson admitted that, 'we provided a cover price to Bodill & Sons Ltd of Nottingham. We won the job'.⁴⁶⁵⁴

IV.2382. Following the issue of the Statement, J J & A R Jackson did not submit any written or oral representations.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.2384. Bodill and J J & A R Jackson each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

⁴⁶⁴⁸ Tender sheet, OFT Document Reference 0587.

- IV.2385. J J & A R Jackson completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears they submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by J J & A R Jackson being the lowest received and that they won the contract.
- IV.2386. Bodill was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.
- IV.2387. In regard to J J & A R Jackson, as well as the ringed letter 'C' in the top right hand corner of the tender sheet, Bodill's tender sheet records 'JACKSONS TREVOR MOOR WILL RING WED [.....] [C]'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from J J & A R Jackson. The OFT considers that this also shows more specifically that J J & A R Jackson's estimator was to phone Bodill on the day before the date for submitting the tender, in order to provide a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £117,552.00 as the tender figure and this was the figure that Bodill submitted. Furthermore, the telephone number set out in Bodill's tender sheet, [.....] [C], is the J J & A R Jackson telephone number⁴⁶⁵⁵, providing further corroboration that Bodill contacted J J & A R Jackson in respect of this tender.
- IV.2388. The OFT notes in addition that JR has an entry in his diary on the date for submitting the tender, which JR has confirmed shows Bodill were looking for a cover price for this tender.
- IV.2389. The OFT also notes that the tender submitted by Bodill was higher than the tender submitted by J J & A R Jackson, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.2390. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that J J & A R Jackson admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Bodill, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Bodill was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.2391. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between J J & A R Jackson and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that J J & A R Jackson supplied a figure to Bodill for a cover bid.
- IV.2392. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2375 to IV.2391 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁶⁵⁶ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from J J & A R Jackson to Bodill was not unilateral⁴⁶⁵⁷, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors,⁴⁶⁵⁸

⁴⁶⁵⁷ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁴⁶⁵⁸ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from J J & A R Jackson (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁶⁵⁹ and
- (c) J J & A R Jackson can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bodill (i.e. that Bodill did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁶⁶⁰

IV.2393. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Bodill and J J & A R Jackson, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the upgrade of four bungalows, Doncaster Road, Costhorpe, Nottinghamshire, tender deadline 1 November 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2395. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 27 to Bodill on 19 November 2004. Bodill will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Bodill in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2396. In its response to the Statement, Bodill stated that 'so far as Bodill is aware, the OFT had no knowledge of these Alleged Infringements and those contractors who had participated in them until 21 January 2005 and then only as a result of the evidence supplied by Bodill'.⁴⁶⁶¹ The OFT first became aware of this tender as a result of the entry in a document found during a section 27 visit to Bodill on 19 November 2004⁴⁶⁶², which gave the OFT reasonable grounds to suspect cover pricing activity in respect of this tender prior to Bodill's leniency application being made. Nevertheless, as stated in paragraph IV.2395 above, the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Bodill in respect of this Infringement.

Alleged Infringement 81: Not included in the Decision

⁴⁶⁵⁹ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁴⁶⁶⁰ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁴⁶⁶¹ Written representations of Bodill, 26 June 2008, paragraph 3.5.

IV.2402. Bodill also provided to the OFT a 'Tender Analysis – Tender Sheets March 2000 – November 2004'.⁴⁶⁶⁸ This confirms that Bodill gave covers to Herbert Baggaley and G Carter in respect of this tender.

IV.2403. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.2404. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2405. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, confirmed that the handwritten annotations, '£498617' and '© FROM US' next to 'BAGGALEY', and the annotations '£484870' and '© FROM US ROB TURNER [.....] [C]' next to 'CARTER CONSTRUCTION' were made by him.⁴⁶⁶⁹ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley - Estimate

IV.2406. In interview, Anton Newell ('AN'), at the time of this tender an estimator at Herbert Baggaley, produced a copy of the original estimate⁴⁶⁷⁰ submitted by Roger Hayes ('RH'), Chief Estimator until he left Herbert Baggaley in October 2002, on behalf of Herbert Baggaley. The figure submitted by RH was '£ 498,617.00'. The copy estimate produced by AN was in RH's handwriting and was signed by him on behalf of the company.

Evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley

IV.2407. As part of its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2408. In its response to the Statement, Herbert Baggaley stated 'Baggaleys recognises the OFT's analysis of its involvement'⁴⁶⁷¹ in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley

IV.2409. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2410. AN was interviewed on 19 April 2007, and specific reference was made to the tender for CPIG repair work at HMP, Nottingham. AN said, 'all I've managed to find on that one is the internal estimate, with a copy of the tender attached to the back of it. And on here I've put down no recollection [of cover pricing], but possibly Thomas Fish'.⁴⁶⁷² AN, in interview with the OFT, was shown the Bodill tender sheet for this contract which states, '£498617 @ BAGGALEY. © FROM US'. In response to a question from the OFT as to whether the Bodill tender sheet shows that Bodill may have provided a cover to Herbert Baggaley, AN said 'they may have done'.⁴⁶⁷³ When asked if it was the practice of Herbert Baggaley to use the exact figure given to it as a cover price, he said, 'we tended to use the exact price that they gave us'.⁴⁶⁷⁴

IV.2411. RH had been interviewed on 13 February 2007, before the OFT had sight of the copy estimate referred to in paragraph IV.2406 above. RH was asked about this tender and other tenders, his recollection of any of them was very limited and in respect of this tender he said, 'I don't understand what a CP repair is. Her Majesty's Prison. The project doesn't ring any bells to me', but he said that AN would have arranged cover pricing at Herbert Baggaley.⁴⁶⁷⁵

Evidence from other companies – G Carter

IV.2412. The OFT wrote to G Carter on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that G Carter had participated in bid rigging on this tender.

IV.2413. G Carter confirmed on 19 April 2007 that Rob Turner had worked as an estimator for G Carter but that he was no longer employed by them.⁴⁶⁷⁶

IV.2414. However, the OFT did not receive a response to the Fast Track Offer by the date for acceptance of 26 April 2007.⁴⁶⁷⁷ The OFT informed G Carter's legal representatives, Berryman Shacklock LLP, on 18 May 2007 that as a reply had not been received by the deadline the OFT would treat this as a rejection of the OFT's Fast Track Offer. Berryman Shacklock LLP confirmed that it understood the situation.⁴⁶⁷⁸

IV.2415. The OFT subsequently received a letter dated 2 August 2007 from Berryman Shacklock LLP which said 'Our client is well aware that the practice of "giving and taking covers/help" has been endemic in the construction industry for many years. It accepts that it is possible, if not likely that against that background, it has engaged in that activity itself.'

However, having made detailed enquires as to the contracts to which you refer in the annex of your penalty offer letter, it cannot find evidence that it engaged

IV.2416. Following the issue of the Statement, G Carter did not submit any written or oral representations.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.2418. Bodill, G Carter and Herbert Baggaley each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract to make CPIG repairs at HMP, Nottingham.

IV.2419. It appears that Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Bodill being the lowest received by the client, and the fact that Bodill won the contract.

IV.2420. G Carter and Herbert Baggaley were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.2421. In regard to Herbert Baggaley, Bodill's tender sheet contains the following entry '£498617 2. ② BAGGALEY. © FROM US'. Bodill has confirmed that '© FROM US' shows that it gave a cover price to the company named. Bodill's 'Explanatory Note of Tender Sheet'⁴⁶⁸⁰ explained that the ② next to Herbert Baggaley's name shows that Herbert Baggaley was the second company to approach Bodill for a cover price in respect of this tender. The OFT notes that Herbert Baggaley's submitted tender figure was indeed the second lowest of the tenders above Bodill's figure, after G Carter. The OFT also notes that Herbert Baggaley submitted a tender of £498,617, matching the amount recorded on Bodill's tender sheet. In addition, Bodill's 'Tender Analysis – Tender Sheets March 2000 – November 2004' confirmed that a cover price was given to Herbert Baggaley. In the light of all of this information, the OFT considers that Bodill gave a cover price to Herbert Baggaley.

IV.2422. The OFT also notes that Herbert Baggaley's tender was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.2423. In regard to G Carter, Bodill's tender sheet contains the following entry '£484870 3. ① CARTER CONSTRUCTION © FROM US ROB TURNER [...] [C]' (the latter figure being a telephone number that is two digits short due to running off the edge of the page). Bodill has confirmed that '© FROM US' shows that it gave a cover price to the company named. Bodill's 'Explanatory Note of Tender Sheet' explained that the ① next to G Carter's name shows that G Carter was the first company to request a cover price from Bodill in respect of this tender. The OFT notes that G Carter's submitted tender figure was indeed the lowest of the tenders above Bodill's figure. The OFT also notes that G Carter submitted a tender of £484,870, matching the amount recorded on Bodill's tender sheet.

IV.2424. The OFT notes that G Carter confirmed that Rob Turner had worked as an estimator for them. Furthermore, the OFT refers to a list of *'Contacts for Cover Prices'*⁴⁶⁸¹ provided to the OFT in W R Bloodworth's leniency application, which lists Rob Turner as a contact at G Carter and the company telephone number as [.....] [C]. This number is also recorded by Herbert Baggaley as a contact number for G Carter on its *'Pre-tender Quality Plan'*⁴⁶⁸² in respect of the tender for Assessment Centre Glen Parva 28 October 2003. The OFT also notes the admission of Herbert Baggaley, given in respect of the tender for the Assessment Centre Glen Parva 28 October 2003 (see Infringement 169) that G Carter was 'another company that we would regularly have been giving and receiving covers from'.⁴⁶⁸³ That admission is framed in general terms, and supports an inference that G Carter was in the practice of accepting cover prices. The OFT considers it therefore supports a conclusion that G Carter accepted a cover price in respect of this bid.

IV.2425. In addition, Bodill confirmed that a cover price was given to G Carter for this tender for CPIG Repair work.

IV.2426. The OFT also notes that G Carter's tender was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.2427. The OFT further notes that although G Carter has not admitted to bid rigging specifically in relation to this tender, it has accepted that it is 'probable, if not likely' that it has engaged in cover pricing activities more generally.

IV.2428. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Bodill and G Carter, and between Bodill and Herbert Baggaley, and that Bodill supplied both G Carter and Herbert Baggaley with figures for cover bids.

IV.2429. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2399 to IV.2428 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁶⁸⁴ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Bodill to each of G Carter and Herbert Baggaley was not unilateral⁴⁶⁸⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁶⁸⁶
- (b) G Carter and Herbert Baggaley can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁶⁸⁷ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from G Carter and Herbert Baggaley (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁶⁸⁸

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2432. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.2433. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Herbert Baggaley's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. Herbert Baggaley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Herbert Baggaley in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

'FROM G HOULTON'

IV.2437. The Form of Tender was signed by Julian Kawecky on 27 November 2001. The Form of Tender also stated that Strata's figure was £388,120.00.⁴⁶⁹⁴

Evidence from leniency applicant Strata

IV.2438. As part of its leniency application, Strata provided to the OFT a list of covers prepared by reference to its contract information sheets, the file 'Covers from Jan 2000 to Dec 2001' and 'contracts in hand' documents. This list contained the following entry:⁴⁶⁹⁵

Date	Project	Strata ref no

IV.2439. Following the issue of the Statement, Strata did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant – Strata

IV.2440. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Strata's past and present employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.617 to IV.634 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – Geo Houlton

IV.2441. The OFT wrote to Geo Houlton on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Geo Houlton had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Geo Houlton admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with Weaver and with Clark'.⁴⁶⁹⁶

IV.2442. The OFT subsequently wrote to Geo Houlton's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Geo Houlton Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Geo Houlton's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Geo Houlton Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Geo Houlton in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Geo Houlton Holdings stated in a telephone call with the OFT on 12 December 2007 that it had no comments to make regarding the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁴⁶⁹⁷

IV.2443. Following the issue of the Statement, Geo Houlton confirmed that it was 'not disputed that Houlton participated in cover pricing during the relevant period set out in the Statement'.⁴⁶⁹⁸

IV.2445. Strata and Geo Houlton each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for a business centre extension and new training centre at Driffield.

IV.2446. Both companies submitted a tender. Strata was unable to submit a competitive tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.2447. Strata's Form of Tender records 'FROM G HOULTON', handwritten in the top right hand corner. Strata confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from the company noted. This Form of Tender was also found in the file marked 'Covers from Jan 2000 to Dec 2001', which Strata confirmed contained documents and records of covers taken. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Strata and Strata's admission and explanation of that contemporaneous evidence, in addition to Geo Houlton's admission that it engaged in bid rigging with Strata, that Geo Houlton supplied Strata with a cover price for this tender. The OFT notes that the tender submitted by Strata was higher than the tender submitted by Geo Houlton, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Geo Houlton to Strata.

IV.2448. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Geo Houlton admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Strata, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Strata was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.2449. While the OFT notes that Geo Houlton also admitted collusion with another party, 'Clark', in respect of this tender the OFT does not have sufficient evidence that 'Clark' was involved in cover pricing and will not therefore be pursuing this aspect. The OFT notes that Clark is not named by East Riding of Yorkshire Council as having been invited to bid for this contract.

IV.2450. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Strata and Geo Houlton. The OFT also concludes that Geo Houlton supplied a figure to Strata for a cover bid.

IV.2451. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2436 to IV.2450 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁶⁹⁹ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Geo Houlton to Strata was not unilateral⁴⁷⁰⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁷⁰¹
- (b) Strata can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Geo Houlton (i.e the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁷⁰² and
- (c) Geo Houlton can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Strata (i.e. that Strata did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁷⁰³

IV.2452. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Geo Houlton and Strata, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the business centre extension and new training centre, Driffield, tender deadline 28 November 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2454. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 6 and 7 July 2005. Strata will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI

Infringement 84: Inclusion Unit Extension, St Benedict Catholic School & Performing Arts College – 30 November 2001
Client: St Benedict Catholic School
Parties: Derwent Valley and Davlyn

IV.2455. On 8 November 2001, St Benedict Catholic School sought tenders for an inclusion unit extension at St Benedict Catholic School & Performing Arts College. The following five companies were invited to tender: Derwent Valley, Davlyn, Greenhill, Milward and Peter Baines. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 30 November 2001.⁴⁷⁰⁴

IV.2456. St Benedict Catholic School received the following tender returns:⁴⁷⁰⁵

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Derwent Valley	30 November 2001	£70,405.00	Yes
Davlyn	30 November 2001	£74,890.00

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Register

IV.2457. During the search of Derwent Valley’s premises a Tender Register was found. The Tender Register contained the following entry in respect of this tender:⁴⁷⁰⁶

Evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.2458. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2459. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2001 to January 2005 where Derwent Valley had given a cover price to a competitor for that tender, marked as 'DVC1 List of Covers Given'. The information in the summary contains the following extract:⁴⁷⁰⁷

Date	Contract	Company Involved
November 2001	Inclusion Unit St Benedict Catholic School	Davlyn

IV.2460. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a 'List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices'. The name 'Davlyn Construction Ltd' appears on this list with the address 'Unit 5B Sir Francis Ley Ind Park Shaftesbury St. Derby' and a contact named, 'Dave'.⁴⁷⁰⁸

IV.2461. Following the issue of the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence from leniency applicant Davlyn

IV.2462. As part of its leniency application, Davlyn provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.293 to IV.302 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2463. In its response to the Statement, Davlyn did not contest its involvement in this Infringement.

IV.2464. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors and estimators provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2465. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with David Stone ('DS'), Managing Director of Derwent Valley, on 27 April 2007. DS confirmed that the entries on Derwent Valley's tender register are, '... Baines, Greenwood is it, or Greenhill, Millward and Davlyn'.⁴⁷⁰⁹ DS stated that written next to Davlyn, 'There is a C ... I'd say, again, that means a cover to Davlyn'.⁴⁷¹⁰ DS stated that Pat Tunnicliffe ('PT'), an ex-estimator at Derwent Valley, would have dealt with this contract.⁴⁷¹¹ DS confirmed that Derwent Valley won the tender for this contract.⁴⁷¹²

IV.2466. During an interview with the OFT on 9 May 2007, conducted in connection with Derwent Valley's leniency application, PT provided further information in relation to this tender. PT confirmed that he could recall the contract, '... I do and we did it. I'm pretty certain that I priced that, and again it looks as though

Davlyn wanted a cover.⁴⁷¹³ Although PT could not recall any conversations he had with Davlyn, PT confirmed that he would have been the estimator at Derwent Valley who would have given a cover price to Davlyn.⁴⁷¹⁴

IV.2467. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Davlyn's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.293 to IV.302 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2468. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with David Goodhead ('DG'), an estimator for Davlyn. DG confirmed that Davlyn had tendered for and completed projects at St Benedict Catholic School in the past.⁴⁷¹⁵ Although DG could not specifically recall taking a cover from Derwent Valley in relation to this contract, he did confirm that Derwent Valley was a company with whom Davlyn exchanged cover prices, and stated that therefore 'it is feasible' that Davlyn did indeed take a cover price from Derwent Valley in relation to this tender.⁴⁷¹⁶

IV.2470. Derwent Valley and Davlyn each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2471. Davlyn was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. It appears that Derwent Valley completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the contract. This is shown by the price submitted by Derwent Valley being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.2472. Derwent Valley's Tender Register shows 'Davlyn (C)' handwritten in the 'Opposition' column. Both DS and PT of Derwent Valley confirmed that this shows that a cover price was given to Davlyn. Also, Derwent Valley confirmed in its leniency application that it gave a cover price to Davlyn for this tender, and that Davlyn was a company with whom it exchanged cover prices more generally.

IV.2473. Although DG of Davlyn did not recall taking a cover price in relation to this tender, he stated that Derwent Valley was a company with whom Davlyn had engaged in cover pricing, and stated that 'it is feasible' that Davlyn took a cover price from Derwent Valley in relation to this tender.

IV.2474. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Derwent Valley and both DS and PT's admissions and explanations of the contemporaneous evidence, that Derwent Valley supplied Davlyn with a cover price for this tender.

IV.2475. The OFT notes that the tender submitted by Davlyn was higher than the tender submitted by Derwent Valley, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.2476. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and Davlyn. The OFT also concludes that Derwent Valley supplied a figure to Davlyn for a cover bid.

IV.2477. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2457 to IV.2476 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁷¹⁷ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Derwent Valley to Davlyn was not unilateral⁴⁷¹⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁷¹⁹
- (b) Davlyn can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Derwent Valley (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁷²⁰ and
- (c) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Davlyn (i.e. that Davlyn did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁷²¹

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2480. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to Derwent Valley on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Derwent Valley in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2481. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Davlyn's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under

IV.2482. On 23 November 2001, Derby Daily Telegraph sought tenders for the construction of new press foundations and associated alteration works at Derby Daily Telegraph, Meadow Road, Derby, DE1 2BH.⁴⁷²² The following two companies were invited to tender: Herbert Baggaley and Bowmer & Kirkland.⁴⁷²³ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 10:00 am on 3 December 2001.

IV.2483. Derby Daily Telegraph received the following tender returns:⁴⁷²⁴

Company	Date and time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Bowmer & Kirkland	3 December 2001 Before 10:00 am	£581,127.60	Yes
Herbert Baggaley	3 December 2001 Before 10:00 am	£596,375.00

IV.2484. The contemporaneous documentation for this project shows that Britcon Limited were subsequently requested to submit a bid and states 'Britcon Ltd submitted bid of £571,074.00 by 12 noon on 21 December 2001. The Project Team interviewed Britcon during January 2002'.⁴⁷²⁵ Alan Brough Associates, the structural engineer appointed for the project followed up references provided by Britcon and subsequently recommended that Bowmer & Kirkland be appointed for the project.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley

IV.2485. During the OFT's search of Herbert Baggaley's premises the *'Tendering Schedule'*⁴⁷²⁶, a handwritten record of tenders received, was found, which contained the original entry relating to this tender. The words 'Cover Price' are recorded against this entry, in the columns used for recording the result.

IV.2486. The computer created *'Tenders Schedule'*⁴⁷²⁷ recorded this tender as tender number 'T01/152' with a 'C' recorded in the column headed 'A, B, C, R', the column which indicated Herbert Baggaley's interest in the tender. Herbert Baggaley confirmed that these letters denoted as follows: 'A' very interested,

IV.2487. As part of its leniency application Herbert Baggaley produced an invoice⁴⁷³⁰ numbered 8901 and headed 'Baggaley Construction'. The invoice was made out to Bowmer & Kirkland Ltd., and dated '12.11.02' and contained the following information:

IV.2488. As part of its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2489. In particular, Herbert Baggaley produced a 'Schedule of Potential Payments & Receipts [and] Copy Invoices as Listed'.⁴⁷³¹ The schedule contained amongst others the following entries:

- IV.2490. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.
- IV.2491. Roger Hayes ('RH'), Chief Estimator until he left Herbert Baggaley in October 2002, was interviewed on 13 February 2007, and specific reference was made to the tender for the new press foundations. RH stated that he recalled this tender: 'I have a vague recollection of going to the site at the Daily Telegraph and having a look around the job there with Chris Collison and perhaps expressing concern about doing that project, so we might have taken a cover on that one'.⁴⁷³²
- IV.2492. It was explained to RH that it was believed that there had been a financial payment made in respect of this tender, and he said 'Yes. As I recall we were given a fee by Bowmer Kirkland as much as the competition on the project was limited the job from my point of view, from Chris Collinson's point of view, was very, very unattractive. It was flawed with potential problems and risks and we didn't need those kind of risks at this moment in time and I can't remember whether we contacted Bowmer Kirklands or Bowmer Kirklands contacted us, but yes there was a fee arrangement. We stood down'.⁴⁷³³
- IV.2493. RH was shown the extract from Herbert Baggaley's tendering schedule.⁴⁷³⁴ He said, 'I recognise it'. He was asked who had completed the entry and he said 'That's my handwriting', and when asked if 'Cover Price' was also in his handwriting RH said 'Yes, it is'.⁴⁷³⁵ RH then confirmed that Invoice 8901⁴⁷³⁶ was raised in respect of this tender and that it was false and that the payment of £9,792 was the fee received by Herbert Baggaley to stand down. He said 'That's the compensation payment. Yes', and in reference to 'Paul Croft' he said 'He would have been the person at Bowmer and Kirkland who gave me the help, cover price'. Asked if the invoice had been paid, RH said 'I believe so. It may have been collected after I left, it may have been collected at the time I left. I didn't deal with that aspect of it'.⁴⁷³⁷
- IV.2494. Anton Newell ('AN'), Herbert Baggaley's Chief Estimator, was interviewed on 2 November 2006, and specific reference was made to the Invoice 8901.⁴⁷³⁸ AN was asked if he had knowledge of it. He said, 'Some knowledge of it yes, because it was set up by Roger before he left and he left around the time that we would have been due the payment, and so as I took over one to chase to say 'when are you going to...''.⁴⁷³⁹
- IV.2495. In a second interview on 29 April 2007, AN was asked whether the documents held by the OFT showed that Herbert Baggaley had taken a cover price. He said 'Yeah, in the right hand column you do have that phrase, yeah'.

Asked about the 'C' in the column reflecting Herbert Baggaley's interest in the tender in the Tenders Schedule, AN said, 'Yeah, with the backup of the other information, then yeah ... We may have done some work on it, but we wouldn't have submitted an active price effectively'. He also confirmed that Bowmer & Kirkland was a company with whom Herbert Baggaley would exchange cover prices.⁴⁷⁴⁰

IV.2496. Richard Ian Baggaley ('RIB'), Herbert Baggaley's Managing Director, was interviewed on 2 November 2006 and in particular the subject of compensation payments was raised with him. He confirmed that he was aware that Herbert Baggaley had been involved in such payments and in particular he recalled this tender. *'The one that I am aware of, I'm aware of it via hearsay through the office, is the one with Bowmer and Kirkland, which is invoice one five [Herbert Baggaley's reference to invoice 8901]. But other than an awareness that there was an arrangement on that particular job...'*⁴⁷⁴¹ He confirmed that at some point he would have been aware of all compensation matters, 'I would have been aware of them, yes'.⁴⁷⁴²

IV.2497. Reference was made to Herbert Baggaley's attitude towards compensation payments and RIB said 'The attitude was if there was an opportunity to recover bidding costs, it was something that would be done'.⁴⁷⁴³

Evidence from other companies – Bowmer & Kirkland

IV.2498. The OFT wrote to Bowmer & Kirkland on 22 March 2007, offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Bowmer & Kirkland had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Bowmer & Kirkland replied through Geldards LLP, by letter dated 25 April 2007, confirming its involvement in 'selective' bid rigging activities and accepting the offered reduction in respect of certain tenders.⁴⁷⁴⁴ In relation to this specific tender, Bowmer & Kirkland made no admissions.⁴⁷⁴⁵

IV.2499. In interview on 16 January 2008, Paul Craft ('PC'), an ex-commercial manager of the Civils Division at Bowmer & Kirkland, when asked about the invoice from Herbert Baggaley, explained that someone had contacted him from Herbert Baggaley about an outstanding payment. PC stated that he had agreed to deal with the payment and that he had advised the caller to send him an invoice, but that he could not recall to whom he had spoken at Herbert Baggaley.⁴⁷⁴⁶

IV.2500. In interview on 16 January 2008, Peter Watson ('PW'), a former Director at Bowmer & Kirkland, when asked whether there was any joinery work on this job, stated that there could have been joinery work and that Bowmer & Kirkland would usually have used in-house joiners. PW could not recall Herbert Baggaley being involved in joinery work on this job.⁴⁷⁴⁷

- IV.2501. After reviewing the evidence set out in the Statement, Bowmer & Kirkland accepted that one of its employees had given a cover price and a monetary payment to Herbert Baggaley in relation to this tender.⁴⁷⁴⁸ Bowmer & Kirkland also stated that it was very likely that PC was not telling the truth about his involvement in the cover price and compensation payment arrangement, and that it was reasonable to assume that PC was aware, when authorising payment of the invoice from Herbert Baggaley, that this related to a compensation payment. However, Bowmer & Kirkland stated that no one else within the company had any knowledge of the arrangement with Herbert Baggaley, and that PC had acted on his own as a 'rogue employee'.⁴⁷⁴⁹
- IV.2502. In this respect, Bowmer & Kirkland stated that it was reserving its rights to argue that PC had acted beyond the scope of his authority in making the compensation payment, and questioned how this would affect Bowmer & Kirkland's culpability.⁴⁷⁵⁰
- IV.2503. Even if Bowmer & Kirkland is correct in its assertion that the Infringement was committed by PC acting beyond the scope of his authority (which the OFT does not necessarily accept), the OFT considers that PC would form part of the same economic unit as his employer, Bowmer & Kirkland, and therefore part of the same undertaking. The OFT's ability to hold Bowmer & Kirkland liable for the Infringement remains unaffected. Any question of PC exceeding his authority is a contractual matter to be resolved between Bowmer & Kirkland and PC, and does not affect the OFT's ability to enforce the provisions of the Act against Bowmer & Kirkland.
- IV.2504. Bowmer & Kirkland submitted in its response to the Statement that, in order for to establish that the compensation payment arrangement constitutes price fixing, the OFT must show that PC, or another Bowmer & Kirkland employee: (i) had knowledge of the payment, (ii) was in a position to adjust the tender upward, and (iii) could do so with confidence that it would not have lost the tender to a third party. Bowmer & Kirkland argued that PC was not in a position to influence the tender price, that PW (who did fix the tender price) was not privy to the compensation payment arrangement, and that there is no evidence of the payment being factored into the tender price. As such, Bowmer & Kirkland concluded that no price fixing took place.⁴⁷⁵¹
- IV.2505. The OFT does not accept this line of argument, and considers that the compensation payment arrangement resulted in a tender price above the competitive level, whether or not there was an explicit agreement between Bowmer & Kirkland and Herbert Baggaley to add the amount of the payment to the tender price. Furthermore, since the OFT considers that the arrangement to make a compensation payment had as its object the restriction of competition, it is not necessary for the OFT to prove whether Bowmer & Kirkland did in fact add the agreed amount to its tender price.⁴⁷⁵²

- IV.2506. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.
- IV.2507. Herbert Baggaley and Bowmer & Kirkland each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.2508. Herbert Baggaley was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender. Herbert Baggaley has stated that it did not want the tender due to problems perceived by RH at the site.
- IV.2509. It appears that Bowmer & Kirkland completed the estimating process for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Bowmer & Kirkland being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.
- IV.2510. Contact with Bowmer & Kirkland is admitted by RH, and this contact resulted in a cover price being given by Bowmer & Kirkland to Herbert Baggaley, and an arrangement being made whereby Bowmer & Kirkland would make a compensation payment to Herbert Baggaley. Herbert Baggaley took a cover price from Bowmer & Kirkland, as confirmed by the entries in its contemporaneous 'Tendering Schedule' and 'Tenders Schedule'. Herbert Baggaley could not have taken a cover price from anyone other than Bowmer & Kirkland since only two companies were invited to tender at that stage. Herbert Baggaley then submitted a tender above that of Bowmer & Kirkland, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. Having reviewed the evidence, Bowmer & Kirkland has also accepted that it gave a cover price and made a compensation payment to Herbert Baggaley.
- IV.2511. The OFT considers that the evidence is inconclusive as regards which Party initiated the compensation payment arrangement, and what the Parties' motives were in making and accepting that payment.
- IV.2512. According to some evidence provided by Herbert Baggaley, it was asked by Bowmer & Kirkland to submit a cover price in return for the compensation payment;⁴⁷⁵³ and RH also stated in interview that Herbert Baggaley 'stood down'.⁴⁷⁵⁴ However, in its response to the Statement, Herbert Baggaley stated that it had already decided it was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or that it did not wish to win the tender due to the problems and risks identified with the job. Herbert Baggaley submitted that the compensation payment was, therefore, made in order to compensate it for its tender costs incurred, rather than in return for standing aside from a job that it would otherwise have pursued.⁴⁷⁵⁵
- IV.2513. Bowmer & Kirkland also strongly disputed that it had asked Herbert Baggaley to stand down, pointing out that RH made no reference in his witness evidence to Bowmer & Kirkland asking Herbert Baggaley to submit a cover price. In this respect, Bowmer & Kirkland also pointed to RH's inability to recall which Party initiated the discussion about the compensation payment (see paragraph IV.2492, above), and concluded that ‘...there is no supporting evidence that B&K requested Herbert Baggaley to stand down in return for payment’.⁴⁷⁵⁶ Bowmer & Kirkland also submitted that the level of Herbert Baggaley’s tender price (at 2.6 per cent higher than Bowmer & Kirkland’s) demonstrates that Herbert Baggaley did not literally ‘stand down’.⁴⁷⁵⁷ Moreover, Bowmer & Kirkland stated that Herbert Baggaley was not a strong competitor due to the nature of the job and, as such, Bowmer & Kirkland would have had no reason to pay money to ‘neutralise’ what its senior management would have viewed as a ‘weak competitor’.⁴⁷⁵⁸

IV.2514. Both Parties therefore maintain that Herbert Baggaley did not stand down in return for the compensation payment, and the OFT has not obtained documentary evidence from any other source to suggest that Herbert Baggaley ‘stood down’ from the tender process. The OFT therefore makes no finding in this respect. In any event, on either Party’s account, contacts took place between Bowmer & Kirkland and Herbert Baggaley, which resulted in Bowmer & Kirkland giving a cover price and making a compensation payment to Herbert Baggaley, which amounts to an infringement of the Act. The question of which Party initiated the arrangement is also not material to the OFT’s case.

IV.2515. It is not apparent from evidence whether Herbert Baggaley and Bowmer & Kirkland expressly agreed to include the level of agreed compensation in Bowmer & Kirkland’s tender bid, or whether Bowmer & Kirkland did in fact include an additional sum in its bid as a result of the arrangement with Herbert Baggaley. Bowmer & Kirkland submitted in its response to the Statement that there is no evidence to prove the compensation payment was factored into its final tender price, and that it is improbable it would have done this.⁴⁷⁵⁹ In any event it is not necessary for the OFT to make any finding that the Parties agreed to include a specific sum in their respective tender bids, or that either did so, in order to find an infringement.⁴⁷⁶⁰

IV.2516. Subsequently, Herbert Baggaley raised an invoice⁴⁷⁶¹ for ‘Joinery Works’ to the value of £9,792.00 plus VAT, with an invoice total of £11,505.60, in respect of the New Press Foundations Derby Daily Telegraph. Herbert Baggaley has confirmed that the invoice was false and that no such ‘Joinery Works’ were carried out. The invoice was marked for the attention of PC at Bowmer & Kirkland. Herbert Baggaley confirmed that this was the person who would have provided it with a cover price. Bowmer & Kirkland has confirmed that the invoice was settled, on the instructions of PC.⁴⁷⁶²

IV.2517. Herbert Baggaley has admitted to bid rigging in respect of this tender and to entering into a financial compensation agreement with Bowmer & Kirkland in return for taking a cover bid.

⁴⁷⁶² Written representations of Bowmer & Kirkland, 4 July 2008, paragraph 49; and oral representations of Bowmer & Kirkland, 1 August 2008, pages 15, 22 to 23.

IV.2518. The OFT notes that Bowmer & Kirkland has accepted that one of its employees it gave a cover price to Herbert Baggaley in respect of this tender and that a payment was made by Bowmer & Kirkland to Herbert Baggaley. Bowmer & Kirkland has also stated that PC was involved in both the cover pricing and the compensation payment arrangement. The OFT also notes there was no recollection within Bowmer & Kirkland that Herbert Baggaley undertook any joinery work on this job, and furthermore Bowmer & Kirkland suggests that it was likely that it would have used its own joinery department to carry out such work.

IV.2519. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Herbert Baggaley and Bowmer & Kirkland. The OFT also concludes that Bowmer & Kirkland supplied a figure to Herbert Baggaley for a cover bid, and that Bowmer & Kirkland agreed to make a compensation payment of over £9,700 to Herbert Baggaley. This payment was facilitated by the production of a false invoice relating to work that was not carried out by Herbert Baggaley.

IV.2520. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2485 to IV.2519 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁷⁶³ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid and a compensation payment from Bowmer & Kirkland to Herbert Baggaley were not unilateral⁴⁷⁶⁴, and contravene the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁷⁶⁵
- (b) the agreement between Bowmer & Kirkland and Herbert Baggaley that Bowmer & Kirkland would supply a figure to Herbert Baggaley for a cover bid and that Bowmer & Kirkland would pay compensation to Herbert Baggaley had the obvious consequence of restricting or distorting competition and was capable of an effect on price;⁴⁷⁶⁶
- (c) Herbert Baggaley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bowmer & Kirkland (i.e. the cover price, the agreement to pay compensation, and the agreed level of compensation) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁷⁶⁷ and
- (d) Bowmer & Kirkland can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Herbert Baggaley (i.e. the agreement to pay compensation, the agreed level of compensation and that Herbert Baggaley did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁷⁶⁸

IV.2521. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Herbert Baggaley and Bowmer & Kirkland, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2523. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to Herbert Baggaley on 14 June 2005. Herbert Baggaley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Herbert Baggaley in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2526. In Bodill's original tender sheet, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten:⁴⁷⁷¹

IV.2528. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has indicated that the handwritten annotation '£375107', under the section headed 'Tenderers' was made by him.⁴⁷⁷³ JR also confirmed that this annotation was made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.2529. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations 'DENMAN © FROM US M HOWARD Tel [.....] [C]' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁴⁷⁷⁴ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.2530. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2531. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁴⁷⁷⁵ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave a cover price to T Denman.⁴⁷⁷⁶

IV.2532. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.2533. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – T Denman alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that T Denman had participated in bid rigging on this tender.

IV.2535. Subsequently protracted correspondence was entered into, whereby Mr W B Cragg, the Managing Director of T Denman, appeared initially to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer. In an email of 18 May 2007 he made the following statements:

'What we do know is the practice of contractors pricing themselves out of work, when they are too committed to price a project in the given time and in order not to have themselves inadvertently removed from client lists by returning a tender invitation, has been an inherent known part of construction industry practice for many years and as a long established small business we have participated in this practice on occasions in previous years, although have no records of particular events.

*'It would therefore be apparent that we are involved in these matters by implication and on a commercial basis alone we should be responsible people and mitigate the financial and commercial damage to this company by any actions within our means and therefore accept your offer of leniency in every case.'*⁴⁷⁷⁷

IV.2536. However the OFT's offer was subsequently formally declined by a letter, dated 24 July 2007⁴⁷⁷⁸ received from Berryman Shacklock LLP, solicitors acting for and on behalf of T Denman.⁴⁷⁷⁹

IV.2537. In its response to the Statement, however, T Denman stated 'T Denman has no means of challenging the evidence now presented by the OFT in support of its allegations in relation to cover pricing, and therefore admits liability for the cover pricing infringements alleged by the OFT'.⁴⁷⁸⁰

IV.2539. Bodill and T Denman each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2540. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and submitted a bid in the hope of winning the work. T Denman was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.2541. In regard to T Denman, Bodill's tender sheet records 'DENMAN © FROM US £375107 M HOWARD Tel [.....] [C]'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave T Denman a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £375,107, a figure that was identical to the tender price that T Denman submitted for the work. Bodill's tender sheet also records the name

⁴⁷⁷⁹ Response from T Denman, OFT Document Reference 13010. This followed an earlier response dated 29 June 2007 from Berryman Shacklock LLP which stated the following:

'As you are aware, the practise of "cover pricing" has been endemic in the construction industry over many decades. Against that background, our client does acknowledge that it has engaged in cover pricing activity on a limited number of projects'.

and telephone number of a T Denman estimator, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. This is further corroborated by the telephone number on T Denman's letterhead⁴⁷⁸¹, [.....] [C], which is the same as the handwritten contact number for T Denman on Bodill's tender sheet and the information contained in the FAME report which names an estimator by the name of Mr M J Howard.⁴⁷⁸²

IV.2542. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by T Denman was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.2543. Both Parties have now admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2544. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between T Denman and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied a figure to T Denman for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Bodill to T Denman was not unilateral⁴⁷⁸⁴, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁷⁸⁵
- (b) T Denman can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁷⁸⁶ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from T Denman (i.e. that T Denman did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁷⁸⁷

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2548. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 87: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 88: Renal Dialysis Unit, City Hospital, Birmingham – 5 December 2001

Client: The City Hospital NHS Trust

Parties: Thomas Vale and Wygar

IV.2549. On 13 November 2001, The City Hospital NHS Trust ('City Hospital NHS'), now known as Sandwell and West Birmingham Hospitals NHS, sought tenders for refurbishment of existing Ward D14 to a Renal Dialysis Unit at City Hospital, Dudley Road, Birmingham. The following six companies were invited to tender: Shaylor, Wygar, Benson Midlands, Mansell, Arthur M Griffiths and Thomas Vale.⁴⁷⁸⁸ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 5 December 2001.

IV.2550. City Hospital NHS received the following tender returns:⁴⁷⁸⁹

Shaylor	5 December 2001	£489,290
Wygar	5 December 2001	£437,181	Yes
Benson Midlands	5 December 2001	£437,615
Mansell	5 December 2001	£503,319
Arthur M Griffiths	5 December 2001	£514,224
Thomas Vale	5 December 2001	£467,813

IV.2551. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, which contained the following entry:⁴⁷⁹⁰

IV.2552. The Tender Status spreadsheet was maintained at Thomas Vale's head office by Christopher Keith Trickett ('CKT'), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, who kept a *'little black book'*⁴⁷⁹¹ of contacts, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Within this contact list, there is an entry for Wygar plus names and a telephone number.⁴⁷⁹²

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.2553. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and in particular, the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet, is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2554. At Annex 14⁴⁷⁹³ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale's legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 43 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2001 tenders is the following entry:⁴⁷⁹⁴

IV.2556. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁴⁷⁹⁵ and Wygar appears on this list.

IV.2557. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2559. CKT admitted that the initials 'CKT', which appear in the estimator column for this tender, were his own and that the letter 'B', which appears in the column marked 'DIV', stands for Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager.⁴⁷⁹⁶ In interview, CKT referred to the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet for this tender as follows: 'Yeah, CKT the estimator which is myself, category B tender cover, 5th of December 2001 the tender return date, Thomas Vale tender £467,813, Wygar in bold indicating a figure from Wygar'.⁴⁷⁹⁷

IV.2560. The OFT wrote to Wygar on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Wygar had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response, Wygar stated in its letter to the OFT dated 25 April 2007 that it had given a cover price on this tender.⁴⁷⁹⁸ In addition, it stated 'We engaged in bid rigging activities (cover pricing) on this tender with Thomas Vale. Mr C Trickett'.⁴⁷⁹⁹

IV.2561. The OFT subsequently wrote to Wygar's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Wygar Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Wygar's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Wygar Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Wygar in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Wygar Holdings confirmed that it would 'support and adopt Wygar Construction Limited's acceptance of the reduction of penalty offer and that WHL does not intend to comment...or to make any submissions on this case at the present time'.⁴⁸⁰⁰

IV.2562. In its response to the Statement, Wygar 'Wygar has accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer and does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁴⁸⁰¹

IV.2564. Thomas Vale and Wygar each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for the refurbishment of an existing ward to a Renal Dialysis Unit, City Hospital, Birmingham. It appears that Wygar completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Wygar being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.2565. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicates that a cover price was sought.

IV.2566. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT, records four competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely Mansell, Benson, Wygar and Shaylor. Wygar is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated as soon as the cover price had been arranged by CKT. Thomas Vale's bid to the client on the Tender Status spreadsheet is £467,813 which matches the amount recorded by the client City Hospital NHS.

IV.2567. City Hospital NHS also received a tendered amount of £437,181 from Wygar, which is lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Wygar to Thomas Vale.

IV.2568. The OFT notes that although four competitors have been recorded on the Tender Status spreadsheet, only one of these is highlighted in bold, i.e. Wygar. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate Wygar from the other three competitors. In addition, the fact that the tender had been allocated to CKT, who was responsible for the maintenance of the spreadsheet, means that it is likely that the entry was accurate and that CKT had personal knowledge of the decision to receive a cover price and make contact with Wygar at the time. It also indicates that CKT himself made contact with Wygar.

IV.2569. Thomas Vale admitted that Wygar was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. In interview, CKT confirmed that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet shows that a cover price was received from Wygar. CKT had an entry for Wygar in a contact book he used to telephone other contractors for the purpose of obtaining cover prices.

IV.2570. Both Parties have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. Wygar admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Thomas Vale and named CKT as the relevant contact, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Thomas Vale and CKT were involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.2571. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and Wygar and that Wygar supplied a figure to Thomas Vale in order that it could submit a bid to the client that was not intended to win the contract.

IV.2572. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2551 to IV.2571 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁸⁰² In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Wygar to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁴⁸⁰³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁸⁰⁴
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Wygar (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁸⁰⁵ and
- (c) Wygar can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁸⁰⁶

IV.2573. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Thomas Vale and Wygar in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for the refurbishment of an existing ward to a Renal Dialysis Unit, City Hospital, Birmingham, tender deadline 5 December 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2575. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

not completely clear it appears to have originated from Herbert Baggaley and be for Mansell's attention.⁴⁸¹⁸ There are the following handwritten annotations on this document: 'SE25329' and 'BAG801'.

IV.2591. As part of its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁴⁸¹⁹ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2592. In addition, Herbert Baggaley also produced a 'SCHEDULE OF POTENTIAL PAYMENTS & RECEIPTS [AND] COPY INVOICES AS LISTED'. The schedule contained amongst others the following entries:⁴⁸²⁰

Herbert Baggaley stated *'It is commonplace for Contractors to buy and sell goods and services to and from each other. In the period between January 2000 and November 2005, HBC [Herbert Baggaley Construction] estimates that there were approximately between 800 and 1,000 inter-Contractor invoices to which HBC was a party ...'*⁴⁸²¹

IV.2594. *'Each Invoice was investigated and an audit trail carried out to confirm it represented a genuine transaction. From these Invoices HBC has uncovered payments made or received for which there was no accompanying paper trail or internal stock or service records. Upon further investigation, a Schedule of Payments and Invoices was extracted which could constitute payments made in respect of covers given or received between 2000 and 2003...'*⁴⁸²²

IV.2595. 'HBC has no evidence and, therefore, no certainty that any of its current employees has instigated any of the transactions reflected in these Invoices. The payment to it by third parties has been taken as a useful recompense for costs being incurred. Even in the provision of a cover, routine costs are incurred by HBC. On other occasions a job might initially be seen as of high interest but on review of the further details and job specifications might be discarded as of no interest and therefore worthy of a cover. If on such occasions costs had already been incurred and a third party had offered an estimator a payment to offset those, then such a payment had occasionally been accepted'.⁴⁸²³

IV.2596. In respect of this particular tender, Herbert Baggaley's legal representatives stated: 'HBC confirms that these invoices are in respect of the Meadows House project. It had originally been a Mansfield Brewery building constructed by HBC. On Wolverhampton and Dudley Brewery's taking over Mansfield Brewery, the building was sold to Nottinghamshire County Council (NCC). The contract was for a "Shell and Core" Contract with NCC as the purchasing client. The value was in the region of £1 Million'.⁴⁸²⁴

IV.2597. Herbert Baggaley also provided a list of 'Third Party Contractors'. Herbert Baggaley stated that 'This list contains details of other Contractors with whom HBC has dealt in the use of cover pricing ... Given the lack of written records of individual covers, it is not always possible for HBC's estimators to say for certain as to which individual within another contract[or] dealt with that cover. However, the OFT is to take it that where a Contractor is listed as being party to a cover under the Schedule of Tenders, then the individual contact listed within Document 2 [3] is to be the person involved. Where there are more than one name given for a Contractor, then the first name is to be taken as the probable contact'.⁴⁸²⁵ Within the 'List of Third Party Contractors' are the following entries:⁴⁸²⁶

Contractor	Contact	Telephone number
Thomas Fish & Sons	Pete Stone, Clive Simpson, Martin Lane, Ben Kewell, Martin Ledingham	[.....] [C]

Evidence from leniency applicant – Thomas Fish

IV.2598. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Fish produced a report headed, 'TENDER BIDDING INVOLVING THE EXCHANGING OF FEES'. In relation to this tender Thomas Fish stated 'In early 2002 we agreed to accept a fee from Baggaley Construction in exchange for taking a cover on we think a project at Mansfield Brewery. The arrangement was made between Roger Hayes of

IV.2599. During an interview with the OFT on 2 November 2006, Anton Newell ('AN'), an estimator at Herbert Baggaley at the time of this tender, stated that he was not directly involved in this arrangement and when asked who was involved stated 'That would have been Rodger [sic] [Hayes] who was chief estimator at the time ... I would have been aware of it'. AN explained that Roger Hayes would have sought approval from a director and thought that this would have been either Pat Cassidy or Ian Baggaley.⁴⁸²⁸

IV.2600. During an interview with the OFT on 13 February 2007, Roger Hayes ('RH'), Chief Estimator until he left Herbert Baggaley in October 2002, explained that he could not recall whether there had been a compensation payment: *'The only thing I can recall is we were not successful ...'*⁴⁸²⁹ When shown the invoices from Mansell and Thomas Fish, RH stated 'Yeah. The evidence is there and we didn't win the job so that cost Baggaley's £5,000'.⁴⁸³⁰ When asked who he would have spoken to at Thomas Fish, RH stated '... Martin Lane' and at Mansell 'Ken Lockwood'.⁴⁸³¹

IV.2601. During an interview with the OFT on 8 May 2007, Martin Lane ('ML'), former Associate Director of Thomas Fish, stated *'I recall we didn't price it. We got some help from Baggaley's ... I can't remember pricing it. I know we got ... that was the one where we got this fee, isn't it?'*⁴⁸³² ML further stated 'I can remember it now. It was, Baggaley's built the brewery, and it was closed down or converted. Nottingham County Council, we did price it. Roger Hayes, I'm sure it was Roger Hayes that suggested a fee on that one ... they won the job'.⁴⁸³³ ML was advised that Thomas Fish had admitted taking a cover and stated 'Yeah, we invoiced them for a pump'.⁴⁸³⁴ ML explained 'We had a policy because Peter brought in, well, he didn't like the County Council so we didn't price County Council jobs at that time'.⁴⁸³⁵

IV.2602. In respect of the process of invoicing Herbert Baggaley for payment, ML stated 'Well, on this occasion, what you'd do is I sorted out the fee, so I'd go to Chris Parker, who was then the accounts manager and say where do you want this money put in ... I think it went to Archer Exchange, bin 331. So, it was basically an invoice raised against Archer Exchange. It was a contract which I was doing anyway, and it just gets, you know, put in the paperwork there'. When asked why the invoice had been made out in respect of a pump, ML stated 'I sat there on the phone and he said put it down as a pump. I said why? [Roger said]: Oh, I've been told to put it down as a pump. I said oh, okay then,

IV.2603. ML stated that he would have gone to Peter [Woodhouse] for a decision as to whether to proceed with the arrangement.⁴⁸³⁸

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.2604. During an interview with the OFT on 18 April 2007, Kenneth Lockwood ('KL'), who was Chief Estimator in the Nottingham office, on being shown the invoice referred to at paragraph IV.2580 above, stated 'I recognise that ... we were paid by Baggaley to back off that'.⁴⁸³⁹ In respect of this tender KL stated '... it were representative of probably at the time if we tried to go for that, the thing is the council Nottingham, that's county council isn't it ... we wouldn't have said no particularly to the county council because, at the time ... there was something, some ... projects coming up ... partnering type projects, I mean they were looking at it, early days of that. So we probably would have ... wanted to, sort of, stay in right with them but, I'm sure that will be representative of abortive work really'.⁴⁸⁴⁰

IV.2605. When asked why the invoice was made out for carrying out temporary earth work supports, KL stated '... you got to process an invoice, you've got to put it down for something to, to that company'.⁴⁸⁴¹ In respect of who contacted him from Herbert Baggaley, KL stated '... it would have been the chief estimator at that time'.⁴⁸⁴²

IV.2607. Herbert Baggaley, Thomas Fish and Mansell each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. All companies submitted a tender by 11 December 2001.

IV.2608. It appears that Herbert Baggaley completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Herbert Baggaley being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract. Although RH's recollection of the tender was that it was a job which Herbert Baggaley lost, it is clear from the information provided by Herbert Baggaley and by the client that Herbert Baggaley did in fact win this job.

IV.2609. KL of Mansell stated that it was paid by Herbert Baggaley to 'back off' from this contract, in return for a compensation payment of £2,500 exclusive of VAT. KL advised that the contact at Herbert Baggaley would have been the Chief Estimator, who was RH at the time of this tender.

- IV.2610. Although the evidence of ML of Thomas Fish appears confused as to whether it priced this job, he recalled a cover price being taken from Herbert Baggaley in return for a payment of £2,500 exclusive of VAT, commenting that Thomas Fish had a policy of not pricing County Council projects at the time.
- IV.2611. Herbert Baggaley's schedule of potential payments, prepared as part of its leniency application, stated that all three parties, Herbert Baggaley, Thomas Fish and Mansell agreed to add a figure of £5,000 to their tender figures and that it was agreed that the successful tenderer would then pay compensation of £2,500 to each of the losing tenderers. However, Herbert Baggaley has not been able to provide any relevant witness or contemporaneous documentary information to explain the nature of the arrangement that resulted in it paying each of Mansell and Thomas Fish £2,500 plus VAT.
- IV.2612. Subsequently, on 26 June 2002, Thomas Fish raised an invoice for 'Supply of specialist pumping equipment' for a total of £2,500.00 plus VAT, with an invoice total of £2,937.50. ML recalled that he sorted out the invoice, asking Chris Parker (then Accounts Manager at Thomas Fish) to raise an invoice in respect of a job on which ML was already working. ML stated that RH had suggested that the invoice be made out in respect of a pump. ML has confirmed that the invoice was raised against another job he was working on and is therefore false.
- IV.2613. On 30 June 2002, Mansell raised an invoice for 'CARRY OUT OF TEMPORARY EARTH WORK SUPPORT' for a total of £2,500.00 plus VAT, with an invoice total of £2,937.50. From the information provided by Herbert Baggaley and Mansell, it appears that this too was a false invoice.
- IV.2614. According to the contemporaneous annotations on these invoices, it appears that both were subsequently paid, on 11 July 2002 and 24 July 2002 respectively.
- IV.2615. All three parties have confirmed that compensation payments were agreed upon, which resulted in each of Thomas Fish and Mansell raising false invoices and Herbert Baggaley paying each of Thomas Fish and Mansell pursuant to such invoices £2,500 exclusive of VAT, each. According to Thomas Fish's version of events, this fee was in return for Thomas Fish taking a cover price or at least putting in an uncompetitive tender.
- IV.2616. KL of Mansell stated that it was paid by Herbert Baggaley to 'back off' from this contract, but Mansell argued in its response to the Statement that it did not take a cover price from Herbert Baggaley, and disputed that this conclusion could be drawn from KL's evidence.⁴⁸⁴³ Aside from KL's recollection of 'backing off', there is no other evidence to suggest that Mansell submitted a cover price in respect of this tender and, in particular, Herbert Baggaley has no specific recollection of this tender.

IV.2617. Having regard to the totality of the evidence, the OFT considers that compensation payments were made by Herbert Baggaley to each of Thomas Fish and Mansell, and that the payment to Thomas Fish was made as part of an arrangement for Thomas Fish to submit a cover bid. The OFT makes no finding as to whether Mansell submitted a cover price, although the evidence suggests that, given KL's recollection of 'backing off' and the agreement to make a compensation payment, Mansell did not submit a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.2618. The OFT has insufficient evidence on which to conclude whether Herbert Baggaley included the amount of the agreed compensation in its tender price or whether Thomas Fish and/or Mansell expressly agreed that Herbert Baggaley should do so. The OFT considers that it is not necessary to reach any finding as to whether the companies agreed to include the compensation sum in any Party's tender price, or in fact included such sum, in order to conclude that the arrangement amounted to an infringement.

IV.2619. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Herbert Baggaley and Thomas Fish, and between Herbert Baggaley and Mansell, including the provision of a cover price by Herbert Baggaley to Thomas Fish. The OFT also concludes that Herbert Baggaley made compensation payments to both Thomas Fish and Mansell and that these payments were facilitated by the production of false invoices by Thomas Fish in respect of 'Supply of specialist pumping equipment' and by Mansell in respect of 'CARRY OUT OF TEMPORARY EARTH WORK SUPPORT'.

IV.2620. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2578 to IV.2619 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁸⁴⁴ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a cover price and compensation payment from Herbert Baggaley to Thomas Fish and the provision of a compensation payment from Herbert Baggaley to Mansell was not unilateral⁴⁸⁴⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁸⁴⁶
- (b) the bilateral agreements between Herbert Baggaley and each of Thomas Fish and Mansell that the successful tenderer would pay compensation to the unsuccessful tenderer of £2,500 exclusive of VAT had the obvious consequence of restricting or distorting competition and was capable of an effect on price;⁴⁸⁴⁷
- (c) Herbert Baggaley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from each of Thomas Fish and Mansell (i.e. the agreement to pay compensation, the agreed level of compensation, and that Thomas Fish did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁸⁴⁸ and
- (d) Thomas Fish and Mansell can each be presumed to have taken account of the information they received from Herbert Baggaley (i.e. the agreement to pay compensation, the agreed level of compensation and, in the case of Thomas Fish, the cover price) when determining their own respective conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁸⁴⁹

IV.2621. Accordingly, the OFT therefore concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that agreements and/or concerted practices were in place between Herbert Baggaley and Thomas Fish, and between Herbert Baggaley and Mansell, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for extension to offices at Meadow House, Bath Street, Mansfield, tender deadline 11 December 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2623. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during a section 28 visit to Herbert Baggaley on 14 June 2005. Neither Thomas Fish nor Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Thomas Fish and Mansell will each receive their normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.2624. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during a section 28 visit to Herbert Baggaley on 14 June 2005. Herbert Baggaley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Herbert Baggaley in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2625. In its response to the Statement, Fish Holdings submitted that, whilst Herbert Baggaley was the first Party to obtain a leniency marker in relation to this Infringement, it was Thomas Fish that provided the critical evidence enabling the OFT to meet the standard of proof. It argued that it should therefore enjoy a reduction in penalty sufficient to cancel out the increase in penalty that arises due to the Infringement being a compensation payment arrangement (see paragraph VI.167 below).⁴⁸⁵⁰

IV.2626. The OFT has applied immunity and leniency reductions in this case in line with its published guidance. Thomas Fish and Fish Holdings will receive a reduction in penalty, which has been calculated taking into account the stage at which it came forward, the evidence in the OFT's possession and the evidence provided by it. It should be noted that the award of any such reduction in penalty is within the OFT's discretion, taking into account these factors.⁴⁸⁵¹

IV.2627. The OFT has decided to set a higher starting point for its penalty calculation for Infringements involving compensation payments due to the seriousness of these offences. The OFT does not consider that the evidence provided by Thomas Fish detracts from the seriousness of the Infringement and, therefore, should not result in a lower starting point for the penalty calculation.

⁴⁸⁴⁹ See paragraphs III.58, III.142 and III.156 to III.157, and in relation to the cover price III.95 to III.96 and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁴⁸⁵¹ OFT Guidance as to the appropriate amount of a penalty (OFT423, December 2004), at paragraphs 3.13 to 3.15.

IV.2628. Fish Holdings has also submitted that its penalty in relation to this Infringement should not be uplifted as a result of the involvement of one of its Directors, Peter Woodhouse. Whilst Fish Holdings did not dispute that Peter Woodhouse had knowledge of cover pricing in the company, it argued that the OFT's conclusions in this respect were based entirely on evidence provided voluntarily by Thomas Fish.⁴⁸⁵² It therefore submitted that it should be granted a reduction in penalty for its cooperation sufficient to cancel out any uplift for director involvement. In this respect, it referred to a European Commission decision⁴⁸⁵³ involving a discount to an undertaking's fine for voluntarily providing information relating to the duration of the relevant infringement.

IV.2629. Other than in relation to infringements of which the OFT was previously unaware, it is not the OFT's policy to examine individually the facts or elements of an infringement that the evidence from a leniency applicant discloses. Rather, and as previously, noted, the level of reduction in penalty for Thomas Fish has been calculated having regard to the evidence in the OFT's possession and the evidence provided by Thomas Fish in the round.

Infringement 90: Diabetes Centre, City Hospital, Dudley Road, Birmingham – 17 December 2001
Client: The City Hospital NHS Trust
Parties: Thomas Vale and Wygar

IV.2630. On 13 November 2001, The City Hospital NHS Trust ('City Hospital NHS'), now known as Sandwell and West Birmingham Hospitals NHS, sought tenders for refurbishment to the Diabetes Centre, City Hospital, Dudley Road, Birmingham. The following six companies were invited to tender: Shaylor, Wygar, Chase Norton, William Weaver Ltd, Arthur M Griffiths and Thomas Vale.⁴⁸⁵⁴ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 17 December 2001.

IV.2631. City Hospital NHS received the following tender returns:⁴⁸⁵⁵

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale – Tender Status spreadsheet

IV.2633. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, which contained the following entry:⁴⁸⁵⁷

IV.2634. The Tender Status spreadsheet was maintained at Thomas Vale’s head office by Christopher Keith Trickett (‘CKT’), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, who kept a *‘little black book’*⁴⁸⁵⁸ of contacts, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Within this contact list, there is an entry for Wygar plus names and telephone number.⁴⁸⁵⁹

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.2635. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2636. At Annex 14⁴⁸⁶⁰ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale’s legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 37 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2001 tenders is the following entry:⁴⁸⁶¹

T5019	17 December	City Hospital NHS Trust	Diabetes Centre, Dudley Road, Birmingham	Taken (Wyggar)	Yes (Tender Spreadsheet)

IV.2637. The Tender Spreadsheet in the last column is the Tender Status spreadsheet referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above.

IV.2638. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁴⁸⁶² and Wygar appears on this list.

IV.2639. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2641. CKT admitted that the initials ‘CKT’, which appear in the estimator column for this tender, were his own and that the letter ‘B’, which appears in the column marked ‘DIV’, stands for Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager.⁴⁸⁶³ In interview, CKT referred to the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet for this tender as follows: ‘CKT myself the estimator, category B tender, 17th of December 2001 the tender return date, Thomas Vale figure £347,918... Wygar are in bold and that indicates they gave us a cover’.⁴⁸⁶⁴

IV.2642. The OFT wrote to Wygar on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Wygar had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response, Wygar stated in its letter to the OFT dated 25 April 2007 that it had given a cover price on this tender.⁴⁸⁶⁵ In addition, it stated 'We engaged in bid rigging activities (cover pricing) on this tender with Thomas Vale. Mr C Trickett'.⁴⁸⁶⁶

IV.2643. The OFT subsequently wrote to Wygar's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Wygar Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Wygar's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Wygar Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Wygar in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Wygar Holdings confirmed that it would 'support and adopt Wygar Construction Limited's acceptance of the reduction of penalty offer and that WHL does not intend to comment...or to make any submissions on this case at the present time'.⁴⁸⁶⁷

IV.2644. In their response to the Statement, Wygar stated 'Wygar has accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer and does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁴⁸⁶⁸

IV.2646. Thomas Vale and Wygar each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for the refurbishment to the Diabetes Centre, City Hospital, Birmingham.

IV.2647. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicates that it sought a cover price.

IV.2648. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT, records Wygar as a competitor who was also invited to tender for this contract. Wygar is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated as soon as the cover price had been arranged. Thomas Vale's bid to the client on the Tender Status spreadsheet is £347,918 which matches that recorded by the client City Hospital NHS.

IV.2649. City Hospital NHS also received a tendered amount of £318,714 from Wygar, which is lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Wygar to Thomas Vale.

IV.2650. The OFT notes that although only one competitor has been recorded on Thomas Vale's Tender Status spreadsheet, this one company is highlighted in bold, i.e. Wygar. The remainder of the entry for this tender, apart from the tender number (which is always in bold) is in normal font, which indicates that a conscious decision was made to highlight Wygar. In addition, the fact that the tender had been allocated to Building Division, for which CKT was the manager, means that it is likely that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet was accurate and that CKT had personal knowledge of the decision to receive a cover price from Wygar at the time.

IV.2651. Thomas Vale admitted that Wygar was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. In interview, CKT confirmed that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet shows that a cover price was received from Wygar. CKT had an entry for Wygar in a contact book he used to telephone other contractors for the purpose of obtaining cover prices.

IV.2652. Both parties have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. Wygar admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Thomas Vale and named CKT as the relevant contact, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Thomas Vale and CKT were involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.2653. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and Wygar and that Wygar supplied a figure to Thomas Vale in order that it could submit a bid to the client that was not intended to win the contract.

IV.2654. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2633 to IV.2653 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁸⁶⁹ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Wygar to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁴⁸⁷⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁸⁷¹
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Wygar (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁸⁷² and
- (c) Wygar can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁸⁷³

IV.2655. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Thomas Vale and Wygar in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for the refurbishment to the Diabetes Centre, City Hospital, Birmingham, tender deadline 17 December 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2657. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.2661. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁴⁸⁷⁹ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2662. Mansell’s legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table showing information relating to tendering activities in which a calculated competitive bid was not submitted, for the Thames Valley Region (‘TVR’), which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell received a cover price from J J McGinley and that this cover price was taken due to ‘insufficient resource: occupied building’ at Mansell.⁴⁸⁸⁰

IV.2663. In its response to the Statement, Mansell did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2664. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, BR provided further general explanation of Mansell’s participation in cover pricing in the TVR. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.481 to IV.489 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2665. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, BR advised how he would record when Mansell had taken a cover as detailed in paragraphs IV.482 to IV.485 above. In relation to this tender BR stated ‘JJ McGinley would have given us a, a cover figure on that one’.⁴⁸⁸¹

Evidence from other companies – J J McGinley

IV.2666. The OFT wrote to [.....] [C] on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that [.....] [C] had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT received a response to this letter from the legal representatives of J J McGinley who in this letter stated that J J McGinley admitted ‘We engaged in cover pricing activities on this tender with Mansell’.⁴⁸⁸²

IV.2667. The OFT subsequently wrote to J J McGinley's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, McGinley Holdings, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on J J McGinley's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold McGinley Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by J J McGinley in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, McGinley Holdings' legal representatives stated *'Our client is not able to respond to the admission of liability by JJM [J J McGinley] concerning events which took place as much as 6 years ago, as neither our client nor our firm has been able to review any of JJM's contract papers in question ...'*⁴⁸⁸³

IV.2668. In its response to the Statement, J J McGinley confirmed that *'it appears that [J J] McGinley engaged in cover pricing with Mansell'*⁴⁸⁸⁴ in respect of this Infringement. Although McGinley Holdings responded to the Statement, it did not make any specific comment with regard to this Infringement, other than to draw attention to 'factual matters' which included that 'Mansell sought from JJM a cover price' and 'Mansell submitted a cover price'.⁴⁸⁸⁵

IV.2670. Mansell and J J McGinley each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2671. Both companies submitted a tender. Mansell was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.2672. Mansell's 2001 workload report records '(JJ McGinley)', in the Remarks column. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it took a cover price from the company noted. In addition, Mansell has confirmed that the lack of figures in the margin and percentage columns would also indicate a cover price had been taken.

IV.2673. In addition, J J McGinley has admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.2674. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that J J McGinley admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Mansell, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Mansell was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.2675. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Mansell was higher than the tender submitted by J J McGinley, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.2676. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and J J McGinley. The OFT also concludes that J J McGinley supplied a figure to Mansell for a cover bid.

⁴⁸⁸³ Response from McGinley Holdings, OFT Document Reference 14194.

⁴⁸⁸⁵ Written representations of McGinley Holdings, 27 June 2008, paragraph 32.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from J J McGinley to Mansell was not unilateral⁴⁸⁸⁷, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁸⁸⁸
- (b) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from J J McGinley (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁸⁸⁹ and
- (c) J J McGinley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell (i.e. that Mansell did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁸⁹⁰

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2680. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 92: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 93: Waverley Street Clinic, Derby – 21 December 2001

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Schedule

IV.2683. During the OFT's search of Derwent Valley's premises, a tender schedule containing handwritten entries was discovered. Within this tender schedule was the following entry:⁴⁸⁹³

TENDER NO.	RETURN DATE	TENDER DETAILS	OPPOSITION	TENDER
01/12/01	21/12/01	EXTENSION & ALTERATIONS TO WAVERLEY STREET CLINIC, DERBY FOR CENTRAL DERBY PRIMARY CARE TRUST	Baines Pride Milward	142,131	Cover from Baines

IV.2684. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2685. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2000 to July 2004 where Derwent Valley had taken a cover price from a competitor for that tender, marked as 'DVC2 List of Covers Taken'. The information in the summary was based on the tender book kept by the Pat Tunnicliffe ('PT'), an ex-estimator for Derwent Valley, and contained the following extract:⁴⁸⁹⁴

IV.2686. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a 'List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices'. The name 'Peter Baines Ltd' appears on this list with the address 'Wood Lane Derby'.⁴⁸⁹⁵

IV.2687. In its response to the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2688. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors and an ex-employee provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2689. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with PT. PT confirmed that he kept and maintained the tender schedule referred to in paragraphs IV.309 and IV.317 above. In regard to this contract PT said that he could not recall it, but as it was a Health Board job and an alteration it was likely that David Stone ('DS'), Managing Director of Derwent Valley, had priced it. PT confirmed it was his handwriting in the schedule and when he was questioned as to whether the entry in the schedule, 'Cover from Baines', meant that this was a cover price from Peter Baines, PT referred to the tender schedule in respect of this tender and responded 'That's right, that's what it looks like there'. PT went on to say that he would have completed that entry at the time of the tender.⁴⁸⁹⁶

IV.2690. DS was also interviewed in regard to this tender. Although he could not recall dealing with it, he identified the handwriting on the schedule as being PT's. When DS was asked whether Derwent Valley took a cover price, DS referred to the entry of 'Cover from Baines' and responded, 'To me, it looks like it, yeah'.⁴⁸⁹⁷

IV.2691. The OFT wrote to Peter Baines on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Peter Baines had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Peter Baines replied to this letter on 24 April 2007 and enclosed a completed schedule of suspect tenders signed by Stephen Baines, Managing Director. In respect of this tender Peter Baines stated 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party involved'.⁴⁸⁹⁸ Peter Baines stated in its covering letter that it had a lack of records and had had several changes of personnel and could therefore 'neither prove nor disprove' its involvement in cover pricing.⁴⁸⁹⁹

IV.2692. In its response to the Statement, Peter Baines did not make any representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2694. Derwent Valley and Peter Baines each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Derwent Valley was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.2695. Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to competitor Peter Baines with the words 'Cover from' preceding it. Derwent Valley confirmed that this refers to a cover price having been received. The figure in the schedule for this tender of '142,131' directly corresponds to the figure of £142,131 that Derwent Valley submitted as its bid for the tender.

IV.2696. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that he did not recall the tender but that it was his entry in the schedule and it meant that Derwent Valley had received a cover price from Peter Baines.

IV.2697. This was corroborated in interview by DS, who agreed that the entry in the tender schedule showed that Derwent Valley received a cover price in respect of this tender from Peter Baines.

IV.2698. Peter Baines has admitted engaging in bid rigging activity in respect of this tender. Although it cannot recall the identity of the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging, the OFT notes that Peter Baines was not the successful party for this tender and that it stated that it did not have any records of unsuccessful tenders.

IV.2699. Derwent Valley also included Peter Baines in its list of companies who exchange cover prices.

IV.2700. In addition, the OFT notes that Derbyshire County Council received a tendered amount of £142,131 from Derwent Valley, which is higher than the amount tendered by Peter Baines. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been given to Derwent Valley from Peter Baines.

IV.2701. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and Peter Baines. The OFT also concludes that Peter Baines supplied a figure to Derwent Valley for a cover bid.

⁴⁸⁹⁹ Response from Peter Baines, OFT Document Reference 10757.

⁴⁹⁰⁰ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Peter Baines to Derwent Valley was not unilateral⁴⁹⁰¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁹⁰²
- (b) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Peter Baines (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁹⁰³ and
- (c) Peter Baines can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Derwent Valley (i.e. that Derwent Valley did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁹⁰⁴

IV.2703. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Derwent Valley and Peter Baines, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for Waverley Street Clinic, Derby, tender deadline 21 December 2001.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2705. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Derwent Valley in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2709. As part of its leniency application, Irwins' legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁴⁹¹⁰ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2710. In addition to its leniency application, Irwins provided to the OFT two schedules, one each for 'Covers Taken' and 'Covers Given', which detail projects/contracts identified by the company during the course of an internal investigation conducted by Ivan Peter Nelson ('IPN'), Estimating Director at Irwins, into potential cover prices. C J Ellmore stated in its response to the Statement that the 'Covers Taken' table was not drawn up at the time the tenders were made, but that it was prepared by Irwins 'from an investigation which started after the search by the OFT of Irwins' premises'.⁴⁹¹² As indicated in paragraph IV.413 above, the 'Covers Taken' table was compiled from Irwins' records, and witness evidence provides an explanation of its contents. The table provides evidence of Irwins' position as to its engagement in cover pricing on this tender, and as such constitutes additional evidence to the available contemporaneous records and witness evidence.

IV.2712. Irwins also provided to the OFT a schedule listing its competitors' contact details.⁴⁹¹³ The name of 'Ellmore Construction' appears on the list and 'Steve Ellmore', Managing Director⁴⁹¹⁴ is named as the contact with a telephone number of [...] [C].⁴⁹¹⁵

IV.2713. Irwins further provided to the OFT its tender return letter for this contract.⁴⁹¹⁶ The letter states that it was for 99/01 Fandango's, 4 Brunswick Street, Morley. The letter was signed on 23 January 2002 and the figure Irwins submitted was £414,769.

IV.2714. Following the issue of the Statement, Irwins did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant – Irwins

IV.2715. During an interview with the OFT on 8 March 2007, conducted in connection with Irwins' leniency application, IPN provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2716. Also during this interview, IPN was shown the *'Tender Register'*⁴⁹¹⁷ and, in particular, the reference to the entry for the proposed Fandango Club, Morley, Leeds and was asked if he could recall anything about that contract. IPN replied *'I took a cover on that ... Ellmore's was in for it ...'*⁴⁹¹⁸ IPN confirmed that the presence of a 'C' in the fourth column on the tender register shows that Irwins took a cover in relation to that contract.⁴⁹¹⁹ IPN also confirmed that the presence of the handwritten entry 'Ellmore' in the final column on the Tender Register shows that Irwins took a cover from C J Ellmore.⁴⁹²⁰

Evidence from other companies – C J Ellmore

IV.2717. The OFT wrote to C J Ellmore on 23 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that C J Ellmore had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT received an email from Rupert Nevin of Keeble Hawson, representing C J Ellmore on 4 May 2007 stating '... we are not in a position to advise our client...without disclosure'.⁴⁹²¹ The OFT notes C J Ellmore's rejection of the OFT's Fast Track Offer.

IV.2718. C J Ellmore stated in their written response to the Statement in respect of this Infringement that '...It is CJ Ellmore's case that no cover was given or offered'.⁴⁹²² CJ Ellmore provided a witness statement from its Managing Director, Stephen Ellmore ('SE'), which stated that 'I am aware that Ellmores has been approached to give cover prices on occasions in the past and that cover pricing has gone on in some form within the industry. It is Ellmores' policy however not to give or receive cover prices or engage in any other anti-competitive behaviour. This policy was first put in writing in March 2005 but it has always been Ellmores' policy to comply with the law in all respects'.⁴⁹²³ The OFT considers that the evidence of CJ Ellmore's company policy regarding cover pricing, which was not in writing at the time of this tender, does not serve to establish that cover pricing did not take place in relation to this tender, in breach of that policy.

IV.2719. The witness statement further stated that SE was the estimator responsible for CJ Ellmore's tender for the proposed Club Fandango contract. SE stated 'I know that, in terms of this contract and generally, Ellmores did not provide a cover to Irwins, or at all'.⁴⁹²⁴

IV.2720. They further stated that '...it [the entry in the Tender Register] would be equally consistent with... Irwins having received information from other sources about the amount of money that C J Ellmore was due to tender at'.⁴⁹²⁵ In its response to the Statement, C J Ellmore asked the OFT to consider the possibility that a contractor (A) bidding for a contract could have provided a subcontractor with its full bid price, perfectly legitimately, and for that subcontractor to inform another contractor (B) bidding for the same contract of the full bid price of contractor (A).⁴⁹²⁶ The OFT does not consider this theoretical alternative explanation provided by C J Ellmore to be at all plausible. There is no evidence that Irwins obtained a cover price via a subcontractor for this Infringement, but there is evidence from Irwins that it obtained the cover price direct from C J Ellmore.

IV.2721. The OFT notes the direct contradiction between the evidence of IPN, who recalls taking a cover price from C J Ellmore and the evidence of SE, who denies providing a cover price. Both individuals were directly involved in estimating for this tender. The OFT notes that IPN's evidence is consistent with the markings on the contemporaneous tender register. Moreover, the accuracy of entries in Irwin's Tender Register, and the accompanying witness evidence of IPN, has also been confirmed by other Parties' admissions of cover pricing in relation to Infringements 62, 157 and 165. In light of those factors, the OFT considers, that, on balance, the evidence of IPN should be preferred to that of SE.

IV.2723. Irwins and C J Ellmore each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for a proposed Club Fandango, Morley, Leeds. Irwins was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.2724. C J Ellmore appears to have completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work, since its price was the lowest received and it came first in the tender process.

IV.2725. Irwins' Tender Register records 'Ellmore' handwritten in the final column. IPN confirmed that he received a cover price from C J Ellmore. Also 'C' is handwritten in the type of work/ percentage difference column. IPN confirmed that 'C' in this column shows that Irwins sought a cover price in relation to this contract.

IV.2726. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Irwins and IPN's admission and explanation of the contemporaneous evidence, that C J Ellmore supplied Irwins with a cover price for this tender.

IV.2727. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Irwins was higher than the tender submitted by C J Ellmore, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.2728. In addition the OFT notes that C J Ellmore's tender figure is the only figure below Irwin's tender figure, and so the OFT is satisfied that Irwins could only have received a cover figure from C J Ellmore.

IV.2729. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Irwins and C J Ellmore. The OFT also concludes that C J Ellmore supplied a figure to Irwins for a cover bid.

IV.2730. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2708 to IV.2729 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁹²⁷ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from C J Ellmore to Irwins was not unilateral⁴⁹²⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁹²⁹
- (b) Irwins can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from C J Ellmore (i.e the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁹³⁰ and
- (c) C J Ellmore can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Irwins (i.e. that Irwins did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁹³¹

IV.2731. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Irwins and C J Ellmore, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for Club Fandango, Morley, Leeds, tender deadline 23 January 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2733. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to Irwins on 21 March 2006. Irwins will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Irwins in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 95: Five No. Health Centres, Primary Care Trust (East), East Midlands – 4 February 2002

Client: Leicester & Rutland NHS Trust

Parties: J H Hallam and B & A

IV.2734. On 4 January 2002, Leicester & Rutland NHS Trust sought tenders for the refurbishment of various Health Centres within the City East PCT. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 4 February 2002 and four companies were invited to tender: J H Hallam, D W Hicks Ltd, B & A and Thorndyke.⁴⁹³²

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant J H Hallam – Diary Entries

IV.2736. During the OFT’s search of J H Hallam’s premises, diaries used by Steve Gill (‘SG’), an estimator at J H Hallam, were recovered. On the diary page for 4 February 2002, the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten:⁴⁹³⁴

*‘Tenders due - (1) PCT East . – Hallam £250 968
B & A £267 839 ✓’*

Evidence from leniency applicant J H Hallam

IV.2737. As part of its leniency application, J H Hallam provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁴⁹³⁵ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.420 to IV.430 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2738. To further assist the OFT enquiry, J H Hallam provided a detailed interpretation of the annotations made in SG’s diary for the 4 February 2002.⁴⁹³⁶ Specifically identifying this as Contract Reference No E 393, the document shows ‘cover to B & A’.⁴⁹³⁷

IV.2739. As part of its leniency application, J H Hallam also provided to the OFT a schedule entitled ‘Projects involving cover pricing March 2000 – June 2005’. Examination of the entry relevant to this tender, confirms J H Hallam gave a cover price to B & A of £267,839.⁴⁹³⁸ cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.420 to IV.430 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2740. In its response to the Statement, J H Hallam stated *‘JH Hallam does not contest the OFT’s findings of infringement.’*⁴⁹³⁹

IV.2742. Additional evidence in relation to this tender comes from the interview of SG⁴⁹⁴⁰, the estimator allocated to this tender. His response to questions concerning his diary entries for the 4 February 2002 relating to this tender were as follows:⁴⁹⁴¹

Q. '.....Now on this one I will show you document 2920 which is again a highlighted area.

A. Yes

Q. And does that indicate a cover, you gave cover to B & A?

A. It does'

Evidence from other companies – B & A

IV.2743. The OFT wrote to B & A on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender in return for an admission that B & A had participated in bid rigging on this tender. B & A did not respond to this letter and on 8 May 2007 confirmed in a telephone conversation with the OFT that it was rejecting the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁴⁹⁴²

IV.2744. However, in its response to the Statement, B & A stated that as the individual estimators involved had left the company in 2007, are now not contactable, and B & A does not have records in respect of this tender that '...B & A has no means of challenging the evidence now presented by the OFT in support of the allegations in relation to cover pricing, and therefore admits liability for the cover pricing infringements alleged by the OFT'.⁴⁹⁴³

IV.2746. J H Hallam and B & A each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2747. J H Hallam completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract, and appears to have submitted a bid with the intention of winning the work.

IV.2748. B & A was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.2749. In regard to B & A, J H Hallam has confirmed that SG's diary entry 'B & A £267 839' shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. This

IV.2750. Both B & A and J H Hallam have admitted liability for engaging in cover pricing in respect of this tender.

IV.2751. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by B & A was higher than the tender submitted by J H Hallam, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.2752. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between B & A and J H Hallam. The OFT also concludes that J H Hallam supplied a figure to B & A for a cover bid.

IV.2753. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2736 to IV.2752 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁴⁹⁴⁵ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from J H Hallam to B & A was not unilateral⁴⁹⁴⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁹⁴⁷
- (b) B & A can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from J H Hallam (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁴⁹⁴⁸ and
- (c) J H Hallam can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from B & A (i.e. that B & A did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁹⁴⁹

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2756. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to J H Hallam on 6 July 2005. J H Hallam will not therefore receive 100 per cent

Infringement 96: Sir John Moore Primary School, Appleby Magna, Derbyshire – 7 February 2002
Client: Sir John Moore Foundation
Parties: J H Hallam and Linford

IV.2757. On 18 December 2001, the Sir John Moore Foundation sought tenders for refurbishment, adaptations, and internal and external repairs to the main and sundry buildings of Sir John Moore Primary School. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 7 February 2002 and six companies were invited to tender: J H Hallam, William Sapcote, Wildgoose, Linford, Thomas Fish, and Crane.⁴⁹⁵⁰

Estimating Report for 20 February 2002 board meeting

IV.2759. During the OFT’s search of J H Hallam’s premises Richard Blount’s (‘RB’) Estimating Report for a board meeting on 20 February 2002 was recovered.⁴⁹⁵² The following typed entry was recorded in relation to the Sir John Moore Primary School:

IV.2760. Linford stated in its response to the Statement in respect of this document that ‘...[i]t is not clear what “C” means from the face of the document and nor from any explanation offered by J H Hallam...'.⁴⁹⁵³ The OFT does not accept this assertion. RB clearly confirmed in interview the meaning of 'C' in the monthly board reports, as stated in paragraph IV.422 above.

IV.2761. Linford also argued that '...[t]here is no mention in this document of Linford at all, whether as being the provider or recipient of a cover price'.⁴⁹⁵⁴ The OFT accepts this. Indeed, RB explained in interview that he did not usually record the identity of companies from whom J H Hallam had taken a cover price in this document (see paragraph IV.422 above). However, the OFT does not rely on this document in isolation, but rather considers it alongside other contemporaneous documentation which does refer to Linford (see below). The OFT considers that this other documentation can supply both corroboration for, and an explanation of, the 'C' indicated in this document.

IV.2762. Finally, Linford suggested that '...there is no guarantee that [this document] has not been adjusted retrospectively or created by Linford [sic. presumably J H Hallam] a self serving leniency application, in relation to its leniency application. The Estimating Report makes no reference to when it was created or last updated, which indicates that the document could realistically have been edited since the Alleged Infringement (particularly in the light of Spencer Robinson's comments that documentation may have been edited retrospectively to assist J H Hallam's leniency application)'.⁴⁹⁵⁵

IV.2763. The OFT does not accept Linford's assertion that the Estimating Report was submitted by J H Hallam to implicate its competitors.

IV.2764. First, as stated in the Statement and in paragraph IV.2759 above, this document was not submitted by J H Hallam, but was recovered by the OFT during an unannounced search of J H Hallam's premises. J H Hallam would not have had the opportunity to tamper with the document as Linford suggests. Nor would it have had any reason to make the alterations suggested by Linford in the period between the date of the Infringement and the date of the OFT's search of its premises.

IV.2765. Second, the OFT does not accept Linford's suggestion that the OFT's interview with Spencer Robinson ('SR') supports its contention of retrospective amendment. The OFT notes that the responses of SR quoted by Linford were given when he was being questioned on a document related to a Board Meeting on a tender which is not the subject of this Decision.⁴⁹⁵⁶ His responses also related to handwritten entries, whereas this document is entirely type-written and with no handwritten annotations. The OFT therefore does not accept that the witness' comments affect the conclusions it is able to draw from this particular document in any respect.

Estimating Report for 16 January 2002 board meeting

IV.2766. To further assist the OFT enquiry, J H Hallam provided a copy of RB's Estimating Report for a board meeting on 16 January 2002.⁴⁹⁵⁷ The following entries were recorded in relation to the Sir John Moore Primary School. The entry is typed apart from the entry under the heading 'Comment'.

IV.2767. In its response to the Statement, Linford repeated its suggestion that this document could have been retrospectively amended, citing the comments of SR in support.⁴⁹⁵⁸ Again, the OFT notes that the responses of SR quoted by Linford in support of its assertion concern an unrelated Board Meeting document relating to a tender which is not the subject of this Decision.⁴⁹⁵⁹ However the OFT has reviewed the later manuscript additions to that unrelated documents and compared them to the handwritten entries on this document. The comment 'Cover Taken from Linford see Attached' on the Estimating Report of January 2002 bears a close resemblance to the entry on document 4990 which SR has confirmed was a later addition intended to pass information to the OFT. The OFT therefore accepts that manuscript comment to be a later addition, and not contemporaneous to the tender process.

Incoming Tender Report Sheet

IV.2768. As part of its leniency application, J H Hallam provided a copy of the Incoming Tender Report Sheet relating to this tender with the following notations:⁴⁹⁶⁰

In the section marked 'Opposition' is the following handwritten entry:

'Linfords - Gave us a cover'

In the section marked 'Notes/Remarks' is the following handwritten entry:

'Cover taken from Linfords'

IV.2769. In its response to the Statement, Linford repeated its suggestion that this document could have been retrospectively amended, citing the comments of SR in support.⁴⁹⁶¹ Again, the OFT notes that the responses of SR quoted by Linford in support of its assertion concern an unrelated Board Meeting document relating to a tender which is not the subject of this Decision.⁴⁹⁶² However the OFT has reviewed the later manuscript additions to that unrelated document and compared them to the handwritten entries on this document. The handwritten entries in this document, in particular the references to Linford, do not bear a resemblance to either of the later additions in the unrelated document.

⁴⁹⁵⁸ Written representations of Linford, 26 June 2008, paragraphs 6.57 to 6.58.

⁴⁹⁶² Estimating Report, OFT Document Reference 4990.

IV.2770. Linford suggested further that its contention of retrospective amendment was supported by the fact that 'the manuscript remark "Linfords – gave us a cover" is in different handwriting to the remainder of the company names under the "Opposition" section, which draws into question both the evidential reliability and the contemporaneous nature of the document'.⁴⁹⁶³ The OFT does not accept this argument. The handwriting in the entry 'Linfords – gave us a cover' matches the remainder of the entries on the Tender Report Sheet. Although the other entries in the 'Opposition' section may be in different handwriting (they may alternatively be the same handwriting but using all capitals) this does not undermine the point that the relevant entry is clearly made by the same person that completed the Incoming Tender Report Sheet.

IV.2771. The OFT therefore considers that there is no reason to believe that the references to Linford in this document are not contemporaneous to the completion of the remainder of the Incoming Tender Report Sheet.

IV.2772. The OFT further considers it likely that it was the contemporaneous markings on this document that led to the comment 'Cover Taken from Linford see Attached' being added to the Estimating Report sheet for the 16 January 2002 board meeting, referred to at paragraph IV.2766 above.

IV.2773. In conclusion, the OFT relies on the documents described at paragraphs IV.2759 and IV.2768 as being documentary evidence contemporaneous to the Infringement. The OFT accepts that the manuscript comment on the document described at paragraph IV.2766 is likely to have been a later addition, and it is therefore not relied on by the OFT as constituting contemporaneous documentary evidence. It is however, supported by the contemporaneous documents, and is likely to have been compiled using the information contained in those documents.

IV.2774. As part of its leniency application, J H Hallam provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁴⁹⁶⁴ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.420 to IV.430 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2775. In particular, J H Hallam provided to the OFT a schedule entitled 'Projects involving cover pricing March 2000 – June 2005'. Examination of the entry relevant to this tender shows that J H Hallam received a cover price from Linford of £1,464,870.⁴⁹⁶⁵

IV.2776. Following the issue of the Statement, J H Hallam did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

IV.2777. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, J H Hallam's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.420 to IV.430 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2778. Additional evidence in relation to this tender comes from the interview of SR, the estimator allocated to this tender. His response to questions concerning this tender was as follows:

'I can remember the job and I remember that we did take a cover

I remember the job because it was – we got all the tender information through and I went out to make a visit to the site and when we got there it was – I think they tried to do it on the cheap. It was a horrible job so we decided not to price it in the end'.⁴⁹⁶⁶

IV.2779. Linford stated in its response to the Statement that '...Spencer Robinson has no particular recollection of Alleged Infringement 96 other than it was "a horrible job" on which they took a cover price...'.⁴⁹⁶⁷ Linford also noted that SR was 'not asked to comment on any of the manuscript remarks in Richard Blount's Estimating Report or the Incoming Tender Report, nor their authorship'.⁴⁹⁶⁸

IV.2780. The OFT considers the interview with SR to be good corroborating evidence for the contemporaneous documents discussed above. Although SR could not recall the company from whom J H Hallam took a cover price without sight of the contemporaneous evidence, he did have a clear recollection of the job and the fact that J H Hallam took a cover price. Although he was not asked to comment specifically on the Estimating Report or the Incoming Tender Report, he had already indicated that it would not be within his remit to prepare these documents.⁴⁹⁶⁹ SR was therefore not in a position to comment on them. That does not, however, render his evidence as to matters that were within his remit any less reliable.

Evidence from other companies – Linford

IV.2781. The OFT wrote to Linford on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Linford had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT's Fast Track Offer was formally declined by letter, dated 30 April 2007⁴⁹⁷⁰ received from lawyers Pinsent Masons acting on behalf of Linford.

IV.2782. The OFT subsequently wrote to Linford's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, F & E V Linford, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Linford's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold F & E V Linford jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Linford in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. The OFT spoke to a representative of F &

E V Linford on 11 December 2007 who stated that Linford 'does not wish to make any comments regarding the second fast track letter at this stage'.⁴⁹⁷¹

IV.2783. Linford suggested in its response to the Statement that the available evidence was open to two alternative explanations: first that it the evidence '...more plausibly relate to J H Hallam's intentions on being invited to tender than whether a cover price was, in the end, actually given or received by J H Hallam'.⁴⁹⁷² This argument as to the 'presumed intent' of J H Hallam appears to reflect the argument more fully advanced in respect of Infringement 63 – i.e. that (i) *'...J H Hallam intended to win this tender and, if required, planned to provide a cover price to other participating tenderers, Linford...'*⁴⁹⁷³ and (ii) '...these would be companies which J H Hallam could contact to request a cover price, in the event that it decided not to competitively price the tender'.⁴⁹⁷⁴ Secondly, Linford also repeated its suggestion of retrospective amendment of the documents by J H Hallam as a plausible alternative explanation of the evidence.⁴⁹⁷⁵

IV.2784. The OFT does not consider that the alternative explanations put forward by Linford are supported by the interviews with J H Hallam's employees or the bid price submitted by Linford (see below). It also notes the absence of any argument by Linford that it actually did not provide a cover price, either with or without any supporting evidence such as witness evidence from its own employees, which might have supported such alternative inferences being drawn from the contemporaneous documents.

IV.2785. For reasons already given above, the OFT does not consider the allegation of retrospective amendment to be made out in respect of the Estimating Report for the board meeting of 20 February 2002, or the Incoming Tender Report Sheet, although it accepts there may have been such an amendment in respect of the Estimating Report for the board meeting of 16 January 2002. Therefore there remains contemporaneous documentary evidence available, for which retrospective amendment is not a plausible explanation.

IV.2786. On that basis, the OFT does not consider either of Linford's suggested alternative explanations any more plausible than that which the OFT has concluded to be correct, namely that Linford did provide a cover price to J H Hallam, which J H Hallam accepted. That conclusion is supported by contemporaneous documentation, and the witness evidence of J H Hallam's employees

IV.2787. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having considered the Parties' representations, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.2788. J H Hallam and Linford each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

⁴⁹⁷² Written representations of Linford, 26 June 2008, paragraph 6.78.

⁴⁹⁷³ Written representations of Linford, 26 June 2008, paragraph 6.43.

⁴⁹⁷⁵ Written representations of Linford, 26 June 2008, paragraph 6.81.

- IV.2789. Linford appears to have completed the estimating process for the tender, and submitted a bid with the intention of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Linford being the lowest recorded and the fact that it won the contract.
- IV.2790. J H Hallam did not want to submit a tender and did not want to win this contract.
- IV.2791. In regard to Linford, the contemporaneous documents discussed in paragraphs IV.2759 and IV.2768 above confirm that J H Hallam received a cover price from Linford. Specifically, the document mentioned in paragraph IV.2759 shows that cover was taken, by means of the typed letter 'C', an in-house method at J H Hallam of indicating that a cover price had been taken. In addition, the internal estimating document cited in paragraph IV.2768 includes, handwritten entries stating 'Linford's – Gave us cover' and 'Cover taken from Linford's'.
- IV.2792. The OFT notes that the tender submitted by J H Hallam was higher than the tender submitted by Linford, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been received.
- IV.2793. Linford stated in its response to the Statement that '...the fact that J H Hallam's tender price was 19 per cent higher than that of Linford, considerably higher and therefore inconsistent with the pattern of cover pricing and J H Hallam's own understanding of cover pricing, involving a band of 2-4 per cent...'⁴⁹⁷⁶ reinforces its suggestion that no cover price was actually given by Linford to J H Hallam. Linford also stated that '...[i]t seems questionable that J H Hallam would take a cover price so out of kilter with there [sic] own "band"...'⁴⁹⁷⁷
- IV.2794. The OFT does not accept Linford's assertion. The OFT does not consider the manner in which J H Hallam understood and/or determined the cover prices it provided to other bidders in other tender processes to be relevant to Linford's provision of a cover price to J H Hallam in respect of this Infringement. Nor does it consider it possible to impute to J H Hallam some knowledge of the 'band' into which the cover prices it received fell. The OFT has not suggested that Linford informed J H Hallam of its own actual bid price for the Sir John Moore Primary School tender, and it would only be possible to determine the 19 per cent band if it was provided with an actual bid price as well as the cover price. As indicated in paragraph IV.73 above, the motivation for cover pricing was usually reciprocity – one company trusted another to provide it a reasonable cover price in order that it should likewise receive a reasonable cover price in future. J H Hallam would have been dependent on Linford to provide a figure within a reasonable 'band'; it would not have been in a position where it could assess the reasonableness of the figure it received and reject it if it fell outside the two to four per cent band that it itself adopted.
- IV.2795. Linford noted in its response to the Statement⁴⁹⁷⁸ that there are discrepancies between the tender figures from J H Hallam recorded by the Sir John Moore Foundation (£1,464,860), the contemporaneous estimating document

(£1,464,820), and the schedule of projects involving cover pricing submitted by J H Hallam (£1,464,870). The OFT considers the slight difference (no more than £50) to be immaterial given the price levels involved. The difference between the figure recorded contemporaneously and that in J H Hallam's composite schedule may simply be a clerical error, given that '2' and '7' may look similar in a small type font. Linford also noted⁴⁹⁷⁹ the discrepancies between these figures, and the figure recorded in the Estimating Report for the 16 January Board Meeting (£1,200,000). However, the OFT does not consider this inconsistent. The latter document was prepared over three weeks before the tender submission deadline and as such is likely to include only an approximate estimate of the value of the contract set out prior to J H Hallam receiving a cover price from Linford, whereas the other documents record the value of the cover price provided.

IV.2796. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Linford and J H Hallam. The OFT also concludes that Linford supplied a figure to J H Hallam for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Linford to J H Hallam was not unilateral⁴⁹⁸¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁴⁹⁸²
- (b) J H Hallam can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Linford (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process,⁴⁹⁸³ and
- (c) Linford can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from J H Hallam (i.e. that J H Hallam did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁴⁹⁸⁴

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2800. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to J H Hallam on 6 July 2005. J H Hallam will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, J H Hallam will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 97: Refurbishment 92 Dwellings, Mandeville Road Housing Estate, Aylesbury – 7 February 2002
Client: Wycombe District Council
Parties: Mansell and J J McGinley

IV.2801. On 31 December 2001 Aylesbury Vale District Council ('AVDC') sought tenders for housing refurbishment works to 92 dwellings at Mandeville Road Estate.⁴⁹⁸⁵ The following five companies were invited to tender: Basil Wyatt and Sons, Fergal Contracting Co. Ltd, J B Leadbitter & Co. Ltd, J J McGinley and Mansell, the date and time of tender return was 7 February 2002 at noon.⁴⁹⁸⁶

IV.2802. AVDC received the following tender returns:⁴⁹⁸⁷

IV.2804. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁴⁹⁹⁰ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2805. Mansell’s legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table showing information relating to tendering activities in which a calculated competitive bid was not submitted, for the Thames Valley Region (‘TVR’), which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell received a cover price from J J McGinley and that this cover price was taken due to ‘insufficient tender period: resource’ at Mansell.⁴⁹⁹¹

IV.2806. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, BR provided further general explanation of Mansell’s participation in cover pricing in the TVR. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.481 to IV.489 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2807. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, BR advised how he would record when Mansell had taken a cover as detailed in paragraphs IV.482 to IV.485 above. In relation to this tender BR, when asked if Mansell took a cover price from J J McGinley, stated ‘Yes’ and also stated ‘it’s probably it was just ... they were the last ones to give us a cover on that sort of work and we’ll try them again this time’.⁴⁹⁹² In its response to the Statement, Mansell clarified that BR’s admission was based on the contemporaneous evidence rather than on independent recollection of taking the cover price.⁴⁹⁹³

Evidence from other companies – J J McGinley

IV.2808. The OFT wrote to [...] [C] on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that [...] [C] had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT received a response to this letter from the legal representatives of J J McGinley who in this letter stated that J J McGinley admitted ‘We engaged in cover pricing activities on this tender with Mansell’.⁴⁹⁹⁴

⁴⁹⁹⁴ Response from J J McGinley, OFT Document Reference 11019, pages 2 and 3.

IV.2809. The OFT subsequently wrote to J J McGinley's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, McGinley Holdings, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on J J McGinley's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold McGinley Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by J J McGinley in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, McGinley Holdings' legal representatives stated *'Our client is not able to respond to the admission of liability by JJM [J J McGinley] concerning events which took place as much as 6 years ago, as neither our client nor our firm has been able to review any of JJM's contract papers in question ...'*⁴⁹⁹⁵

IV.2810. In its response to the Statement, J J McGinley confirmed that *'it appears that [J J] McGinley engaged in cover pricing with Mansell'*⁴⁹⁹⁶ in respect of this Infringement. Although McGinley Holdings responded to the Statement, it did not make any specific comment with regard to this Infringement, other than to draw attention to 'factual matters' which included that 'Mansell sought from JJM a cover price' and 'Mansell submitted a cover price'.⁴⁹⁹⁷

IV.2812. Mansell and J J McGinley each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2813. Both companies submitted a tender. Mansell was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.2814. Mansell's 2002 workload report records '(J.J.McGinnley)', in the Remarks column. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it took a cover price from the company noted. In addition, Mansell has confirmed that the lack of figures in the margin and percentage columns would also indicate a cover price had been taken.

IV.2815. In addition, J J McGinley has admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.2816. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that J J McGinley admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Mansell without being shown the OFT's evidence that Mansell was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.2817. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Mansell was higher than the tender submitted by J J McGinley, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

⁴⁹⁹⁵ Response from McGinley Holdings, OFT Document Reference 14194.

⁴⁹⁹⁷ Written representations of McGinley Holdings, 27 June 2008, paragraph 32.

IV.2818. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and J J McGinley. The OFT also concludes that J J McGinley supplied a figure to Mansell for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from J J McGinley to Mansell was not unilateral⁴⁹⁹⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁰⁰⁰
- (b) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from J J McGinley (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁰⁰¹ and
- (c) J J McGinley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell (i.e. that Mansell did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁰⁰²

IV.2820. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Mansell and J J McGinley in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for refurbishment 92 dwellings, Mandeville Road Housing Estate, Aylesbury, tender deadline 7 February 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2822. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

A report prepared by Herbert Baggaley’s legal representatives, Actons, sent on 18 January 2006, provided additional information regarding this contract and the invoice provided and stated ‘This project was an unattractive alteration one for HBC. Howells Solicitors were the clients. The contact at the other Contractor was Brian Bennett, a Director. His reference was on the invoice although he was one of four at that Contractor’s Estimating Department’.⁵⁰¹³

IV.2833. With regards to ‘Inter Contractor Invoicing’, Herbert Baggaley’s legal representatives stated ‘It is commonplace for Contractors to buy and sell goods and services to and from each other. In the period between January 2000 and November 2005, HBC [Herbert Baggaley Construction] estimates that there were approximately between 800 and 1,000 inter-Contractor invoices to which HBC was a party ... Each Invoice was investigated and an audit trail carried out to confirm it represented a genuine transaction. From these Invoices HBC has uncovered payments made or received for which there was no accompanying paper trail or internal stock or service records. Upon further investigation, a Schedule of Payments and Invoices was extracted which could constitute payments made in respect of covers given or received between 2000 and 2003...’.⁵⁰¹⁴

IV.2834. ‘HBC has no evidence and, therefore, no certainty that any of its current employees has instigated any of the transactions reflected in these Invoices. The payment to it by third parties has been taken as a useful recompense for costs being incurred. Even in the provision of a cover, routine costs are incurred by HBC. On other occasions a job might initially be seen as of high interest but on review of the further details and job specifications might be discarded as of no interest and therefore worthy of a cover. If on such occasions costs had already been incurred and a third party had offered an estimator a payment to offset those, then such a payment had occasionally been accepted'.⁵⁰¹⁵

IV.2835. Herbert Baggaley also provided a list of 'Third Party Contractors'.⁵⁰¹⁶ Herbert Baggaley's legal representatives stated that 'This list contains details of other Contractors with whom HBC has dealt in the use of cover pricing ... Given the lack of written records of individual covers, it is not always possible for HBC's estimators to say for certain as to which individual within another contract dealt with that cover. However, the OFT is to take it that where a Contractor is listed as being party to a cover under the Schedule of Tenders, then the individual contact listed within Document 2 [3] is to be the person involved. Where there are more than one name given for a Contractor, then the first name is to be taken as the probable contact'.⁵⁰¹⁷ On page five of the 'List of Third Party Contractors' is entered:⁵⁰¹⁸

IV.2836. BB, provided a witness statement to the OFT, in which he provided details in relation to this tender. BB stated, 'We received the enquiry on 21 January 2002 and submitted the tender on 13 February. The client's quantity surveyors were Turner & Townsend and the architect, John Hill Associates. The Enquiry Register shows that the estimators responsible for pricing the work were Paul Taylor and David Rollinson. At some stage, I believe someone from Herbert Baggaley Construction Limited ("Baggaleys") rang one of our estimators to establish if we would be submitting a tender. I assume either that they had been asked for assistance from other contractors and were trying to establish the likely remaining competition or, that due to the complex nature of the works, they were gathering information to enable them to make a decision as to whether or not they should submit a tender'.⁵⁰¹⁹

IV.2837. BB continued, 'Some time later, I spoke with Baggaleys regarding the tender arrangement. I cannot recall the precise details of the arrangement but I believe that it is most likely that both companies were submitting bona fide tenders and a suggestion was made that the winner should pay the loser £5,000 to be set against tender costs. The suggestion would have been approved by the executive directors and reiterated at the tender adjudication meeting. We were subsequently awarded the contract and completed the works. The tender was a competitive submission and the final account shows a poor final return, below that of the tendered profit margin'.⁵⁰²⁰ BB stated 'The tender finance statement... shows no monies were added to the tender bid to cover the £5,000 sum and this would have been paid out of profits achieved.

IV.2838. In a further witness statement provided to the OFT, BB stated, *‘Notes were never made at the time regarding this issue and therefore I cannot recollect specific names or the timing of conversations that took place. However, I believe that the discussions would have taken place around halfway through the tender period when it may have been apparent that only Wildgoose and Baggaleys were pricing for it’.*⁵⁰²²

IV.2839. BB also stated, *‘I have since been informed that one of the estimators, David Rollinson, gave Baggaleys a cover on this project. I do not recall being aware of this at the time. However, I am not always informed of those covers given, unlike when covers are to be taken’.*⁵⁰²³

IV.2840. During an interview with the OFT on 1 November 2006, BB confirmed his comments in paragraphs IV.2836 to IV.2839 above. He confirmed that the money was paid by Wildgoose to Herbert Baggaley, *‘possibly they decided that it wasn’t a job they wanted, possibly that he couldn’t get it done in time ... we still paid them the £5,000’.*⁵⁰²⁴

IV.2841. David Rollinson (‘DR’), Senior Estimator provided a witness statement to the OFT, in which he provided details in relation to this tender. DR stated *‘This was the first job I priced as an estimator at Wildgoose. I recall that I spoke to either Roger or Anton from Baggaleys and gave them a cover on this file. I cannot recall exactly when I spoke to them but it would have been after we had finished pricing the project. I would not have written anything down when giving a cover but I would have made sure that they had a reasonable margin above ours. The tender was submitted on 20 February 2002 in the sum of £1,402,197.00. The client then informed us that we were over budget and asked us to submit an amended figure taking into account various savings. The final figure was £1,121,387.96. Unfortunately, we have not retained the original tender finance statement and only have a copy of the working form of the statement that was used by the surveyors. There are no entries in this tender finance statement to known competitors’.*⁵⁰²⁵

IV.2842. During an interview with the OFT on 1 November 2006, DR provided additional details regarding the giving of a cover price to Herbert Baggaley. With regard to the initial phone call DR stated ‘... they would have rung us ... pre-tender’ and that Herbert Baggaley would have asked, *‘Are you costing the job yet? Can you give us help?’.*⁵⁰²⁶ DR confirmed that he would have had to ask BB’s permission in order to give a cover price to a competitor, and in this instance BB agreed.⁵⁰²⁷

IV.2843. Eric Alan Clarke, (‘EAC’) Finance Director at Wildgoose, provided a witness statement to the OFT, in which he provided details in relation to this tender. EAC stated, ‘On 16 August 2002 we received an invoice from Herbert Baggaley

Limited ("Baggaleys") for the attention of Bryan Bennett and which refers to "Davers Building, Sheffield – Joinery Works "... In this case the Accounts Department would not have found any order from Wildgoose as in actual fact the invoice did not relate to joinery works as stated. In the circumstances, I believe that the Accounts Department would have referred the matter back to Bryan Bennett as he was the person with knowledge of the invoice'.⁵⁰²⁸

IV.2844. During an interview on 2 November 2006, Anton Newell ('AN'), who became Chief Estimator in October 2002 and prior to that worked as an estimator at Herbert Baggaley, was asked if he could recall anything about this contract. AN replied 'At some stage we would have decided that it was not the best job for us for whatever reason ... I can't remember specific details about this but we may have contacted ... another builder and asked for some help, we were already taking help off of Wildgoose, so we would then have to go to Wildgoose. It may have become apparent at that time that possibly there was only us two pricing it'.⁵⁰²⁹ AN confirmed that 'It probably would have been me in the first instance' who contacted BB at Wildgoose. 'He's an estimator, ... we've known him from previous covers where we'd exchanged so we knew to deal with him'.⁵⁰³⁰

IV.2845. During an interview on 13 February 2007 Roger Hayes ('RH'), Chief Estimator until he left Herbert Baggaley in October 2002, was asked if he could recall anything about this tender. RH replied, 'That's ringing no bells whatsoever, sorry ... I can only interpret it as yes that must have been a compensation payment. The specifics are beyond me'.⁵⁰³¹

IV.2847. Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2848. Herbert Baggaley explained that this tender '... was not the best job for us'⁵⁰³², and Herbert Baggaley therefore did not want to win this tender.

IV.2849. It appears that Wildgoose completed the estimating process for this tender and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Wildgoose being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.2850. Contact between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley is admitted by BB and DR of Wildgoose and by RH of Herbert Baggaley. The contact resulted in the offer of a compensation payment and the giving of a cover price. According to Wildgoose, the compensation payment was to be paid to 'the loser of the tender', although Herbert Baggaley claims that Wildgoose offered it '£5000 to stand aside'. In any event, prior to final tenders Herbert Baggaley obtained a cover price from Wildgoose. BB claims not to have known about this when he agreed to the compensation payment arrangement, however DR stated that he would have had to ask BB's permission before giving the cover price which he claims he gave to Herbert Baggaley.

IV.2851. The OFT also notes that Herbert Baggaley could have not taken a cover price from anyone other than Wildgoose, as the remaining four tenderers submitted prices above that of Herbert Baggaley.

IV.2852. It is irrelevant whether all individuals involved in the arrangement at Wildgoose were aware of all aspects of the arrangement or that the original arrangement, which may not have involved the giving of a cover price, subsequently changed to include the giving and receiving of a cover price. At a minimum, on either Party's account various contacts took place between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley and those contacts resulted in the giving of a cover price to Herbert Baggaley and the payment of a compensation payment.

IV.2853. In its response to the Statement, Wildgoose accepted that a cover price may have been provided to Herbert Baggaley 'at the last minute' by DR.⁵⁰³³ Wildgoose disputed, however, that the compensation payment and cover price were connected.⁵⁰³⁴ It submitted that BB was unaware that Herbert Baggaley had taken a cover price from Wildgoose when he made an agreement with Herbert Baggaley to make a compensation payment. Likewise, that DR was unaware of the compensation payment agreement.⁵⁰³⁵ As noted above, however, it is irrelevant to the OFT's finding of an infringement whether BB and DR were aware of all of the aspects of the arrangement with Herbert Baggaley.

IV.2854. Wildgoose also disputed that it had asked Herbert Baggaley to 'stand aside' from the tender process and to take a cover price in return for a compensation payment. Wildgoose questioned, if this were the case, why Herbert Baggaley had approached DR for a cover price, rather than BB with whom it had made the compensation payment arrangement.⁵⁰³⁶

IV.2855. The OFT notes the conflicting evidence from Herbert Baggaley and Wildgoose regarding the motivation for the compensation payment arrangement. It is not necessary, however, for the OFT to determine whether the compensation payment was made in return for Herbert Baggaley 'standing down' or as 'compensation' for its tender costs, in order to find an infringement. As such, the OFT makes no finding on this point.

IV.2856. Moreover, it is not necessary for the OFT to determine whether Wildgoose and/or Herbert Baggaley expressly agreed to include the agreed level of compensation in their final tender price or whether in fact they did include such sums in either of their respective tenders.

IV.2857. Notwithstanding BB's view that Wildgoose's tender documentation records no monies added to its tender price as a result of the agreement to pay compensation to Herbert Baggaley in the event that Wildgoose was successful, this is immaterial. It is not necessary or indeed possible for the OFT to determine the actual effect of such an exchange of information in any particular tender process. Such an exchange was clearly made in order to influence the conduct of each of the parties in the tender process and in fact did do so. As such it had as its object a restriction and/or distortion of competition and is clearly prohibited by the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁰³⁷

IV.2858. Following submission of final tenders, Herbert Baggaley raised an invoice for 'Joinery Works' to the value of £4,912.00 plus VAT, with an invoice total of £5,771.60, in respect of Davers Steel Building, Sheffield. Wildgoose has confirmed that this invoice was false. The invoice was marked for the attention of BB at Wildgoose. A stamp on the copy held by Wildgoose shows that this invoice was paid on 16 August 2002.

IV.2859. Both Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley have admitted to bid rigging in respect of this tender and to entering into a financial compensation agreement with the other party. The OFT notes that Herbert Baggaley named 'Wildgoose' and provided evidence of the compensation payment without sight of the OFT's evidence that Herbert Baggaley and Wildgoose were involved in bid rigging and a financial agreement on this tender. This provides additional corroboration of the contemporaneous evidence.

IV.2860. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley. The OFT also concludes that Wildgoose supplied a figure to Herbert Baggaley for a cover bid, and that an arrangement was made for the winner of the tender to pay the loser of the tender a compensation payment. This payment was facilitated by the production of a false invoice relating to 'joinery supplied'. Although Wildgoose has claimed that the amount of the compensation payment came out of its profits rather than being added to the tender, the OFT notes that Wildgoose's original tender was substantially higher than its final tender figure agreed with the client, and that it was this original tender figure which was calculated at the time the agreement to make a compensation payment was reached.

IV.2861. Wildgoose submitted, in its response to the Statement, that it priced the tender competitively and did not take into account any agreement with Herbert Baggaley when deciding the final tender price. Wildgoose stated 'shortly after the submission of the tender, the Wildgoose estimator, [DR] wrote to the client's [quantity surveyor], Turner & Townsend, stating 'we feel substantial savings can be made to the above scheme and would welcome discussions with yourselves, and await your further instructions'.'⁵⁰³⁸ Wildgoose produced a copy of this letter, which was sent by DR to Turner & Townsend on 21 February 2002. Wildgoose went on to state that, following discussions with Turner & Townsend, a number of areas were identified for potential savings, and that Wildgoose's initial tender figure was subsequently reduced to reflect savings of £280,809.⁵⁰³⁹

IV.2862. Wildgoose suggested that 'it approached the client to recommend areas where 'substantial savings' could be made to the project, thereby demonstrating that

⁵⁰³⁸ Written representations of Wildgoose, 3 July 2008 (amended 1 April 2009), paragraph 5.43.

IV.2863. This does not accord, however, with DR's recollection of events. DR stated that *'The tender was submitted on 20 February 2002 in the sum of £1,402,197.00. The client then informed us that we were over budget and asked us to submit an amended figure taking into account various savings. The final figure was £1,121,387.96.'*⁵⁰⁴¹ DR's recollection of events is consistent with the letter from DR to Turner & Townsend dated 21 February 2002, in which DR stated that he was responding to a letter from Turner & Townsend dated 20 February 2002 (the closing date for tender submission). A copy of the earlier letter from Turner & Townsend was not provided to the OFT by Wildgoose.

IV.2864. Rather than demonstrating that Wildgoose approached the client to suggest substantial savings, the OFT concludes that Wildgoose's initial tender price was too high, that Turner & Townsend requested a lower tender price and that, following discussions, Turner & Townsend secured a reduction of £280,809, equating to nearly 20 per cent off Wildgoose's initial tender price.

IV.2865. Wildgoose made further submissions about the level of profit margin on this tender, arguing that it had struggled to fully recover its overhead costs which, it claimed, demonstrated that it had not inflated its profit margin at the client's expense.⁵⁰⁴² Wildgoose quoted a percentage figure which it said represented the level of its overhead costs for the year 2002, but did not submit any evidence in support of this figure. In any event, the OFT does not consider Wildgoose's profit margin to be conclusive evidence of whether or not it reflected the amount of the compensation payment in its tender price.

IV.2866. In summary, the OFT does not necessarily accept the arguments advanced by Wildgoose in support of its contention that it did not inflate its tender price to reflect the compensation payment to Herbert Baggaley. As noted above, however, it is not necessary for the OFT to prove that the Parties expressly agreed to add the amount of the compensation payment to the final tender price, or that they did in fact do so. As such, the OFT ultimately makes no finding in this respect.

- (a) the contacts between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley resulting in the provision of a cover bid and the payment of a compensation payment from Wildgoose to Herbert Baggaley were not unilateral⁵⁰⁴⁴, and contravene the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁰⁴⁵

⁵⁰⁴⁰ Written representations of Wildgoose, 3 July 2008 (amended 1 April 2009), paragraph 5.38.3.

⁵⁰⁴⁵ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51, III.93 to III.94, and III.139 to III.140 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) the agreement between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley that the successful tenderer would pay compensation to the unsuccessful tenderer and that Herbert Baggaley would receive a compensation payment had the obvious consequence of restricting or distorting competition and was capable of an effect on price;⁵⁰⁴⁶
- (c) Herbert Baggaley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Wildgoose (i.e. the cover price, the agreement to pay compensation, and the agreed level of compensation) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁰⁴⁷ and
- (d) Wildgoose can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Herbert Baggaley (i.e. the agreement to pay compensation, the agreed level of compensation, and that Herbert Baggaley did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁰⁴⁸

IV.2868. Wildgoose submitted in its response to the Statement that it did not take into account the information received from Herbert Baggaley when determining its own conduct in the tendering process. Wildgoose maintained that it 'continued to price the project competitively, as is evidenced by its approach to the [quantity surveyor] to identify 'substantial savings'.'⁵⁰⁴⁹

IV.2869. The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁵⁰⁵⁰ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Wildgoose has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept that Wildgoose did not increase its tender sum to account for the compensation payment, that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition.

IV.2870. In any event, the OFT notes that the requirement for an undertaking to have altered its conduct on the market as a result of reciprocal contact with a competitor is a necessary element of proving a concerted practice, but the OFT is not required to demonstrate this element where the Parties admit that they concluded an agreement. The OFT notes that Wildgoose referred a number of times in its response to the Statement to an 'agreement' with Herbert Baggaley.⁵⁰⁵¹ Furthermore, Wildgoose has admitted that its conduct infringed the Act⁵⁰⁵² and by implication, therefore, that it was party to either an anti-competitive agreement or concerted practice.

IV.2871. To the extent that Wildgoose submits this Infringement should not be treated as serious because no effects have been shown, this point is addressed in step 1 of Section VI (Enforcement) below.

IV.2872. The OFT therefore concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the conversion of Davers Steel Building, Sheffield, tender deadline 20 February 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2874. Wildgoose informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Wildgoose will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.2875. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Herbert Baggaley's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Wildgoose. Herbert Baggaley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Herbert Baggaley in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Balfour Beatty – Bid Risk Checklist and two sets of handwritten notes

IV.2878. As part of its leniency application, Balfour Beatty’s legal representatives provided a BBCL Southern Division Bid Risk Checklist for this tender⁵⁰⁵⁸, which contained the following:

Competition	Sapcote (Cover)
	Interclass

IV.2879. Balfour Beatty’s legal representatives also provided handwritten notes in respect of this tender⁵⁰⁵⁹, belonging to Martyn Etheridge (‘ME’), a senior estimator at BBCL, which show:

IV.2880. Further handwritten notes, headed ‘HEART OF ENGLAND SCHOOL – BALSALL COMMON’⁵⁰⁶⁰, belonging to ME, show:

*‘COVER SANCOTE PETER PEARY [...] [C]

Evidence from leniency applicant Balfour Beatty

IV.2881. Balfour Beatty’s legal representatives also provided to the OFT a schedule setting out instances of cover pricing uncovered or suspected within BBCL, where covers were given. In respect of this tender the schedule shows that BBCL gave a cover price to William Sapcote.⁵⁰⁶¹

IV.2882. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Balfour Beatty employees and ex-employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.189 to IV.203 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2883. During an interview with the OFT on 30 March 2007, ME, advised what would happen when a competitor asked for a cover price from BBCL as detailed in paragraphs IV.195 to IV.197 above. ME advised that his role was 'to estimate and, and win building contracts for the south-east which includes Birmingham ... as well as the London office'.⁵⁰⁶² In respect of the BBCL Southern Division Bid Risk Checklist, ME stated *'I completed it ...'*⁵⁰⁶³ and in respect of the entry for Sapcote, stated '... they came to me asking me to give them help on a tender ... with a tender ... figure to go in on' and in respect of the competition stated 'But that competition [Sapcote and Interclass] is the competition we knew about; there may have been more. We don't know'.⁵⁰⁶⁴

IV.2884. In relation to the handwritten notes ME stated 'Yes, my handwriting'. When asked about the notes showing percentages and a figure of 292,340, ME stated 'That was the number we gave Sapcote to go in, or no lower than that number, and that it was roughly about 5 percent I gave them, but it actually worked out 4.62. It was just noting down ... the number we gave out'.⁵⁰⁶⁵ In respect of the other page of notes, ME stated 'I'd just written it down somewhere else and I got the number slightly different as well ... by £1,000' and 'He's [Peter Perry] the contact at Sapcote, yeah. He was, is the guy who approached me and that's why I've documented his name and number'.⁵⁰⁶⁶

Evidence from other companies – William Sapcote

IV.2885. The OFT wrote to William Sapcote on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that William Sapcote had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter William Sapcote did not admit that it engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender.⁵⁰⁶⁷

IV.2886. The OFT subsequently wrote to William Sapcote's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Sapcote Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on William Sapcote's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Sapcote Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by William Sapcote in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Sapcote Holdings' legal representatives stated that Sapcote Holdings had no further comment to make.⁵⁰⁶⁸

IV.2887. Following the issue of the Statement, neither William Sapcote nor Sapcote Holdings submitted any written or oral representations.

- IV.2889. BBCL and William Sapcote each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.2890. Both companies submitted a tender. William Sapcote was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. It appears that BBCL completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.
- IV.2891. BBCL Southern Division Bid Risk Checklist provided by Balfour Beatty's legal representatives for this tender shows 'Sapcote (Cover)' and handwritten notes show 'COVER 5% £292,340 SAPCOTE 4.62%', and 'COVER SAPCOTE PETER PEARY [.....] [C] £293,340'. Balfour Beatty confirmed that this shows that it gave a cover price to William Sapcote in the amount shown.
- IV.2892. The OFT notes that William Sapcote's bid was exactly £100,000 higher than the cover price given by BBCL, with every other digit matching the cover price of £293,340. It appears that William Sapcote either inflated the price further in order to ensure that it did not win the tender, or that it misheard the figure provided by BBCL.
- IV.2893. The telephone number noted on the handwritten notes of ME at BBCL, '[... ..] [C]', matches with the telephone number for William Sapcote, as shown on the letterhead on its response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.
- IV.2894. The OFT notes that the tender submitted by William Sapcote was higher than the tender submitted by BBCL, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. The OFT further notes that BBCL was apparently only aware of one other competitor for this tender, Interclass, who won the tender. As Interclass's tender was below BBCL's, BBCL could only have provided cover to William Sapcote.
- IV.2895. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between BBCL and William Sapcote. The OFT also concludes that BBCL supplied a figure to William Sapcote for a cover bid.
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from BBCL to William Sapcote was not unilateral⁵⁰⁷⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁰⁷¹
 - (b) William Sapcote can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from BBCL (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁰⁷² and
 - (c) BBCL can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from William Sapcote (i.e. that William Sapcote did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁰⁷³

IV.2897. In its response to the Statement, Balfour Beatty stated *'The OFT has adduced no evidence that the giving of a cover was taken into account by Balfour Beatty and Mansell when pricing its tenders nor is there any evidence that the giving of a cover had any effect on these parties' pricing of the tender.*⁵⁰⁷⁴

IV.2898. The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁵⁰⁷⁵ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Balfour Beatty has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept Balfour Beatty's assertion that the cover pricing did not affect its actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition. To the extent that Balfour Beatty submitted that this infringement should not be treated as serious because no effects have been shown, this point is addressed in step 1 of Section VI (Enforcement) below.

IV.2899. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between BBCL and William Sapcote in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the design and build of three new classrooms, Heart of England School, Balsall Common, Solihull, tender deadline 25 February 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2901. Balfour Beatty informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Balfour Beatty will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 102: Centre for Organic Horticulture Phase 1, Ryton Organic Gardens, Coventry – 15 April 2002
Client: Ryton Organic Gardens
Parties: Thomas Vale and Greswolde

IV.2902. On 18 February 2002, Ryton Organic Gardens sought tenders for a new build of a centre for organic horticulture, Ryton Organic Gardens, Coventry. The following six companies were invited to tender: Thomas Vale, Greswolde, William Sapcote, Stepnell Ltd, Benson and GAJ.⁵⁰⁷⁶ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 15 April 2002 at midday.

IV.2903. Ryton Organic Gardens received the following tender returns:⁵⁰⁷⁷

Company	Time and Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Thomas Vale	15 April 2002 midday	£585,400
Greswolde	15 April 2002 midday	£527,718
William Sapcote	15 April 2002 midday	£566,740
Stepnell Ltd	15 April 2002 midday	£551,148
Benson	15 April 2002 midday	£523,555
GAJ	15 April 2002 midday	£510,377	Yes

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale –Tender Status spreadsheet

IV.2904. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, which contained the following entry:⁵⁰⁷⁸

TENDER NO	DIV	CLIENT	DESCRIPTION	Approx £	EST
T5082	B	Ryton Organic Gardens	Centre for Organic Horticulture, Phase 1		CKT

B	08/04/02 Noon	585,400		Greswolde, Sapcote, GAJ, Benson, Stepnell

IV.2905. The Tender Status spreadsheet was maintained at Thomas Vale’s head office by Christopher Keith Trickett (‘CKT’), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, who kept a *‘little black book’*⁵⁰⁷⁹ of contacts, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Within this list, there is an entry for Greswolde plus contact names and telephone number.⁵⁰⁸⁰

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.2906. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and in particular, the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2907. At Annex 14⁵⁰⁸¹ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale's legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 35 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2002 tenders is the following entry:⁵⁰⁸²

T5082	08 April	Ryton Organic Gardens	Centre for Organic Horticulture, Phase 1	Taken (Greswolde)	Yes (Tender Spreadsheet)

IV.2908. The Tender Spreadsheet in the last column is the Tender Status spreadsheet referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above.

IV.2909. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁵⁰⁸³ and 'Greswold' appears on this list.

IV.2910. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.2911. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, CKT gave a detailed explanation of the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet to record cover prices from its competitors.

IV.2912. CKT admitted that the initials 'CKT', which appear in the estimator column for this tender, were his own and that the letter 'B', which appears in the column marked 'DIV', stands for Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager.⁵⁰⁸⁴ Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender which indicated that it was a cover price.

IV.2913. The OFT wrote to Greswolde on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Greswolde had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response Greswolde, through its legal representatives, admitted engaging 'in bid rigging activities on this tender with THOMAS VALE CONSTRUCTION'.⁵⁰⁸⁵

IV.2914. The OFT subsequently wrote to Greswolde's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Mantisson, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Greswolde's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Mantisson jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Greswolde in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Mantisson did not make any comment.⁵⁰⁸⁶

IV.2915. In their response to the Statement, Greswolde and Mantisson stated 'Greswolde is not...challenging the OFT's substantive allegations in relation to each of the Alleged Infringements and maintains its acceptance of the terms of the Fast Track Offer'.⁵⁰⁸⁷

IV.2917. Thomas Vale and Greswolde each accepted an invitation to tender for the construction of a new centre for organic horticulture, Phase 1, Ryton Organic Gardens, Coventry.

IV.2918. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicated that a cover price was sought.

IV.2919. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT, records five competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely 'Greswolde, Sapcote, GAJ, Benson and Stepnell'. Greswolde is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated as soon as the cover price had been arranged by CKT. Thomas Vale's bid to the client on the Tender Status spreadsheet is recorded as £585,400, matching that recorded by the client.

IV.2920. The OFT notes that although five competitors have been recorded on the Tender Status spreadsheet, only one of these is highlighted in bold, i.e. Greswolde. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate Greswolde from the other four competitors. In addition, the fact that the tender had been allocated to CKT, who was responsible for the maintenance of the spreadsheet, means that it is likely that the entry was accurate and that CKT had personal knowledge of the decision to receive a cover price and make contact with Greswolde at the time. It also indicates that CKT himself made contact with Greswolde.

IV.2921. Thomas Vale admitted that Greswolde was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. CKT had an entry for Greswolde in a contact book he used to telephone other contractors for the purpose of obtaining cover prices.

IV.2922. Greswolde's own bid of £527,718 is lower than that tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Greswolde to Thomas Vale.

IV.2923. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Greswolde admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Thomas Vale, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Thomas Vale was involved. This provides independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.2924. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and Greswolde. The OFT also concludes that Greswolde supplied a figure to Thomas Vale for a cover bid.

IV.2925. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2904 to IV.2924 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁰⁸⁸ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Greswolde to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁵⁰⁸⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁰⁹⁰
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Greswolde (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁰⁹¹ and
- (c) Greswolde can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁰⁹²

IV.2926. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Greswolde and Thomas Vale in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for Phase 1 of the new build of a centre for organic horticulture, Ryton Organic Gardens, Coventry, tender deadline 15 April 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2928. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 103: Refurbishment of Psychiatric Services, Wards S2 and S3, Addenbrookes Hospital, Cambridge – 16 April 2002
Client: Addenbrookes Hospital, Cambridge University Hospitals NHS Foundation Trust
Parties: Jackson⁵⁰⁹³ and Haymills

IV.2929. On 18 March 2002, Addenbrookes Hospital ('Addenbrookes') sought tenders for the refurbishment of Psychiatric Services, Wards S2 and S3, Addenbrookes Hospital, Cambridge. The return date for the tender was 16 April 2002 and six companies were invited to tender: F W Cocksedge & Sons Ltd, Haymills, R G Carter, Wates Construction Ltd, T Butler & Son (Sawston) Ltd and Jackson.⁵⁰⁹⁴

IV.2930. Addenbrookes received the following tender returns prior to 12:00 noon on 16 April 2002:⁵⁰⁹⁵

IV.2932. As part of its leniency application, Propensity provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2933. In particular, Propensity provided to the OFT an analysis of its Tender Records Book since 4 January 2000, and in respect of this tender, Propensity confirmed that it received a cover price from Haymills.⁵⁰⁹⁷

IV.2934. In its response to the Statement, Propensity stated '...Propensity Group has made admissions in relation to all instances of cover pricing it uncovered as part of its leniency application'.⁵⁰⁹⁸

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Propensity

IV.2935. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Propensity's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.2936. John Rhodes ('JR'), Pre-Contracts Manager at Jackson, confirmed in interview that it is his handwriting in the tender book⁵⁰⁹⁹ and that in most instances it would be himself that arranged the cover price.⁵¹⁰⁰

Evidence from other companies – Haymills

IV.2937. The OFT wrote to Haymills on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Haymills had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Haymills admitted 'We engaged in cover pricing (a form of bid rigging activities) on this tender with Jacksons'.⁵¹⁰¹

IV.2938. In its response Haymills enclosed a copy of its Tender Analysis Form for this tender and under the section headed 'Competition' it says 'Jackson – C'.⁵¹⁰² Haymills confirmed that 'a cover price was given by Haymills' and that 'the relevant competitor is Jacksons'.⁵¹⁰³

IV.2939. The OFT subsequently wrote to Haymills' ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Corringway, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on Haymills' response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Corringway jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Haymills in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Corringway said 'Corringway is prepared to confirm that it proposes to respect the terms of Haymills' acceptance of its participation in the alleged infringements, and that it does not propose to make representations denying Haymills' participation in the bid-rigging activities in relation to the suspect tenders which are set out in Annex 1 of the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007 to Haymills ...'.⁵¹⁰⁴

IV.2940. In its response to the Statement, Haymills stated that it '...does not challenge its participation in cover pricing and its breach of the Chapter I prohibition in respect of ... [this Infringement]. Haymills Group regrets its participation in cover pricing and now operates a strict policy of competition law compliance.'⁵¹⁰⁵

IV.2942. Jackson and Haymills each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.2943. Haymills completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.2944. Jackson was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.2945. In regard to Haymills, Jackson's tender book states, 'Cover from Haymills'. Propensity has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from Haymills. Jackson recorded in the tender book the figure £927,416, as the tender figure and this was the figure that Jackson submitted.

IV.2946. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Jackson was higher than the tender submitted by Haymills, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.2947. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Haymills admitted that it gave a cover price to Jackson, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Jackson took a cover price from Haymills. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.2948. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Haymills and Jackson. The OFT also concludes that Haymills supplied a figure to Jackson for a cover bid.

IV.2949. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2931 to IV.2948 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵¹⁰⁶ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Haymills to Jackson was not unilateral⁵¹⁰⁷, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵¹⁰⁸
- (b) Jackson can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Haymills (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵¹⁰⁹ and
- (c) Haymills can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Jackson (i.e. that Jackson did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵¹¹⁰

IV.2950. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Jackson and Haymills, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the refurbishment of Psychiatric Services, Wards S2 and S3, Addenbrookes Hospital, Cambridge, tender deadline 16 April 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2952. Propensity informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Propensity will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 104: Alterations to Café and Conservatory Extension, Burton College
– 22 April 2002
Client: Burton College
Parties: Wildgoose and Mansell

IV.2953. On 18 March 2002, Burton College sought tenders for café alterations and a conservatory extension at Burton College, Lichfield Street, Burton on Trent.⁵¹¹¹ The following six companies were invited to tender: Herbert Baggaley, G F Tomlinson, Mansell, Wildgoose, Sol and Paragon Catering Equipment Services Ltd.⁵¹¹² The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 22 April 2002.

IV.2954. Burton College received the following first round of tender returns:⁵¹¹³

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Herbert Baggaley	Before 12:00 noon on 22 April 2002	£583,125
G F Tomlinson	Before 12:00 noon on 22 April 2002	£688,742
Mansell	Before 12:00 noon on 22 April 2002	£556,283
Sol	Before 12:00 noon on 22 April 2002	£682,104
Wildgoose	Before 12:00 noon on 22 April 2002	£544,541	Yes
Paragon	No tender received	-

IV.2955. Wildgoose and Mansell were requested by Burton College to provide priced 'Bills of Quantities' after the tender deadline and submit a revised tender, which they did⁵¹¹⁴ and Burton College confirmed that the work subject of the tender was carried out by Wildgoose although certain items were omitted due to the available budget.⁵¹¹⁵

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Wildgoose – Post Tender Submission Adjustments and Invoice

IV.2956. As part of its leniency application, Wildgoose provided a copy of a two page document, headed 'Post Tender Submission Adjustments' completed by Bryan Bennett ('BB'), Estimating Director at Wildgoose, in respect of this tender and showing various handwritten calculations:⁵¹¹⁶

Contemporaneous Documentary Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – Invoice, Customer Account Enquiry, handwritten note and internal email

IV.2959. As part of its leniency application, Mansell provided a copy of an invoice submitted to Wildgoose. The invoice is identical to the one produced by Wildgoose, apart from the handwritten endorsements made by Wildgoose and Mansell on their respective invoices.⁵¹¹⁸

IV.2960. In particular, Mansell provided a Customer Account Enquiry for a customer named 'WILDGOOSE CONSTRUCTION LTD' showing that an invoice for £11,732.38 was paid on 31 December 2002.⁵¹¹⁹ The invoice is referred to as 'External Estimating Services'.⁵¹²⁰ Mansell also provided a handwritten note which contains Wildgoose's name, address and telephone number and the following information:⁵¹²¹

'£9,985.00 + VAT 1747.39

Joinery for Burton College

Mark invoice for attention of Brian Bennett

*FROM ANDY
P101 86 6105 WIL003'*

IV.2961. This note has a stamp on it, which reads 'RECEIVED 7 OCT 2002' and is signed.⁵¹²²

IV.2962. In addition, Mansell provided a copy of an email dated 17 June 2002 from Robert Tudge, Commercial Manager for Mansell's Eastern business unit at the time of this tender, to Kenneth Lockwood ('KL'), who was a Chief Estimator in the Nottingham office at Mansell, which gives as its subject 'Burton College' and states 'How do we get our hands on the £10K?'.⁵¹²³

IV.2963. On 10 January 2008, BB provided a further witness statement to the OFT, in which he provided details in relation to this tender. BB stated, 'I recall, post tender, exchanging figures with the estimator from Mansells (possibly Ken Lockwood) to obtain an indication of our competitiveness. During this conversation, we discussed difficult aspects of the project and our respective approaches to them'.⁵¹²⁴

IV.2964. BB continued 'We were advised later, most probably by [the client], that our tender and one other were under consideration. It transpired that the other tender under consideration was Mansell's. [The client] then requested a priced Bill of Quantities to be prepared, which we duly submitted ... This request by the client left us in a dilemma as both Wildgoose and Mansells were aware of each other's tender figures. Mansells had submitted a tender sum of £556,282 which was a difference of £11,741 from our bid. The Mansells' estimator had, as previously stated, divulged information to me during our conversation that they had submitted provisional figures for the roofing and glazing. This meant that both companies could use the knowledge of each other's original tender to their own advantage when preparing the priced Bill of Quantities and revised tender which, in my view, made our revised tender offer of £419,323 even more competitive'.⁵¹²⁵

- IV.2965. Regarding the calculations he made on the 'Post Tender Submission Adjustments', BB said 'It will be seen from these calculations that, after the savings, I estimated that there was a tender difference of £23,199 between Mansells and Wildgoose. However, the figures provided for the glazing and roofing were so close that if the client had exchanged each party's costs for these elements, either party may have won the tender. Therefore, in order to have a better chance of winning the tender, we identified savings of approximately £32,000 to ensure that Wildgoose's tender was even more competitive and stood a greater chance of securing the contract'.⁵¹²⁶
- IV.2966. BB continued 'A conversation took place with Mansells during the second stage of negotiations in which it was agreed that the losing party would recoup its estimating costs from the winner and a sum of approximately £10,000 was agreed upon. However, no money was added to the tender price and the money would be paid from any profits secured from the contract. Further, there was no agreement as to who would win the tender. As far as I am concerned, this was a legitimate tender and no discussions took place about sharing work. I priced the tender and did so very competitively. I also consider our actions in exchanging tender figures post tender resulted in the client receiving a much more competitive tender for his project than would otherwise have been the case'.⁵¹²⁷
- IV.2967. BB added 'Once the Mansells invoice was received in Wildgoose, it was logged onto the Accounts system as a cost against the project and I signed it off accordingly. I am unable to confirm why "joinery" has been inserted on the invoice to Wildgoose. I can only suggest that Mansells had a joinery division which is why it was used a reference'.⁵¹²⁸
- IV.2968. During an interview with the OFT on 1 November 2006, BB was asked who made the initial contact between Wildgoose and Mansell. BB stated 'I can't recall ... I don't know whether we rang them or they rang us, to be quite honest'⁵¹²⁹ and 'I do know with Mansell's, we exchanged figures. They knew what our figure was, we knew what their figure was. And in fact we had a fairly in-depth discussion about the pluses and minuses, the difficulties on the job, how we'd tackled it, and thought nothing more of it, you know. They wished us good luck on the job, it looked like we were possibly the lowest. We subsequently were found to be the lowest. But it was over budget. And the client needed to find savings ... And they were going to – I think it was the lowest two, which happened to be ourselves and Mansell's. Obviously, when Mansell's found out that they'd been approached, we were both going to try and beat each other's figure ... We knew it wasn't very far apart from each other. We both wanted the job, and we did everything in our powers to try and – try and ensure that we beat Mansell's ... During the period, a discussion took place between ourselves and Mansell's that one of us is going to lose the job, lets put something in for the second man's efforts'.⁵¹³⁰

IV.2969. BB added that he could not recall who he made the arrangement with at Mansell, other than that it was possibly KL. He confirmed that Wildgoose's Managing Director and at least one other director would have been aware of the arrangement with Mansell.⁵¹³¹ BB also explained that in his discussions with Mansell 'I can't recall the exact details, but they'd made a comment that the – a certain element of the roof work was very difficult, and they put a provisional sum in for it. Provisional because they don't know what it's likely to cost ... And they put in a very low provisional sum. So I suppose I was trying to discredit their provisional sum by making our work for the roof appear expensive. And all that meant was that the figure didn't go up because we'd inflated the price, it was just the moneys were moved about ... But it was really just to hopefully say to the client, 'Just revisit the element of work on the roof. Be certain that, you know, it is right' '.⁵¹³²

IV.2970. During an interview with the OFT on 18 April 2007, KL was asked about this tender and, in particular, the invoice sent to Wildgoose. KL said 'I haven't got any recollection of this one. I mean I don't say, I'm not saying that I'm going to try and sort of avoid doing it, I'm just saying that it doesn't ring a bell. But having said that, Wildgoose Construction and Brian Bennett I know very well, so I mean it could have been, you know'.⁵¹³³ Asked about the evidence from Wildgoose regarding the arrangement made between Mansell and Wildgoose that the winning contractor would pay the losing contractor's estimating costs, KL said 'Well, it does ring true, in fact, just before we came in I was mentioning this one and I'm convinced that, now, what you've just said convinces me of my memory which is still very vague. But I'm convinced we were added onto this tender list by the client, er, simply as, just sort of beefing up the tender list. I'm sure we were approached to say would we go on a tender list and there was something in it for us, but I believe ... as I was saying earlier on I'm convinced this is one where we were approached to appear to be on the tender list. The client wanted Wildgoose do the job, I'm convinced of it, that's where it came from ... so he'd go to the contractor that he wanted to do the job and suggest that that contractor get two other people to put quotes in'.⁵¹³⁴

IV.2971. KL continued 'I'd have to say on record, I don't honestly remember it in detail but, yeah, so ... you have to realize that I was constantly, I mean we talked about so many things over years and years. I mean these, all these people, particular people like Brian Bennett, I mean, we talked about all sorts of things ... I mean lots and lots of things, so it was, it was not just an occasional ring so

I wouldn't remember in detail ... but certainly ... I can see what's happened there [Burton College] but as I say you can't prove it, you can't say anything for definite so I'd rather say ... no comment'.⁵¹³⁵ KL thought that this contract was not one that Mansell tried competitively to win.⁵¹³⁶

IV.2972. As part of its leniency application, Mansell made enquiries with its current employees about this tender and only one current employee in its Nottingham office, Andy Pownall ('AP'), management accountant, could have dealt with this contract. AP confirmed that the annotation 'P101 86 6105 WIL003' on the handwritten note⁵¹³⁷ was in his handwriting and that it related to the customer and job references on the invoice. AP also confirmed that the words 'From Andy' were in the handwriting of Tony Seals, a finance sale administrator who left Mansell in June 2007. AP was unable to recognise the other handwriting on the handwritten note, which appeared to be by two different people, although he believed it was not the writing of KL. AP had no recollection of processing this invoice or of any other aspect of the tender itself. AP was, however, confident that he did process the invoice because his handwriting was on the note.⁵¹³⁸

IV.2973. In particular, Mansell made enquiries with three of its former employees about this tender: KL, Robert Tudge ('RT'), former Commercial Manager and Roman Rozycki ('RR'), a former senior estimator. KL, RT and RR had no recollection of the tender although RR recalled that he conducted a site visit with other Mansell employees, which suggested very clearly that this was a fully costed and competitively priced tender. In respect of the documentation provided by Wildgoose, KL suggested that there may well have been contact between Mansell and Wildgoose and that an anti-competitive arrangement of some sort suggested itself as the most likely explanation. KL, RT and RR agreed that it would have been extremely unlikely that Mansell and Wildgoose would have shared costs for producing the 'Bills of Quantities' in this way, that is by Mansell invoicing Wildgoose directly.⁵¹³⁹

IV.2974. RR and RT were at a loss to explain the invoice. Each believed that Mansell's Eastern Region had not been involved in cover pricing or other anti-competitive activity and that failing to compete for a tender which had clearly been initially priced seemed particularly surprising. RT and RR felt that the business emphasis in the Eastern Region at the time of this tender had been to secure as much work as possible. RT had no recollection of the email he sent on 17 June 2002 to KL. RT agreed that the email does appear to be untoward and he could not provide a reason why such a request would be made in the normal course of business.⁵¹⁴⁰

IV.2975. KL believed that a possible explanation of the invoice sent by Mansell to Wildgoose was that Mansell would have pulled out of the tender, even though it had initially submitted an independently costed bid, in exchange for payment. KL thought Mansell might have done this at the time of or soon after submitting the bid. However, although he believed this was a plausible view, he reiterated that he had no specific recollection and that his view represented speculative interpretation.⁵¹⁴¹

IV.2976. As a result of its enquiries with the three former employees, Mansell said that it is unable to provide an admission of an infringement in relation to this tender. Mansell, however, accepted that an infringement was a very likely interpretation of the evidence provided by the OFT, supported in part by RT's email and in part by the views expressed by RT, RR and KL. Mansell's acceptance of an infringement was therefore based on unsubstantiated interpretation of limited evidence. Mansell was unable to explain precisely why the invoice was sent to Wildgoose although it was able to confirm that the joinery work on the invoice did not take place.⁵¹⁴²

IV.2977. In its response to the Statement, Mansell did not seek to dispute the OFT's provisional finding of an infringement but stated that there was no evidence that it either submitted a cover price in return for a compensation payment, or inflated its own bid to account for the compensation payment.⁵¹⁴³

IV.2979. Wildgoose and Mansell each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Wildgoose and Mansell submitted the two lowest first round tenders and were asked by the client to submit priced 'Bills of Quantities' and revised tenders, which they duly did.

IV.2980. BB explained that Wildgoose wanted to win the tender and that, when asked by the client to submit a priced 'Bill of Quantities' and revised tender, he did so with the hope of winning the work. Wildgoose submitted the lowest bid and it won the contract.

IV.2981. BB also explained that prior to the priced 'Bill of Quantities' and revised tender being requested by the client, he exchanged detailed information with Mansell about the other's original tender figure including tender figure and cost breakdowns. The fact that Wildgoose and Mansell exchanged information about their first round tenders is supported by the entries made by BB in the Post Tender Submission Adjustments in calculating the priced 'Bill of Quantities' which refer to Mansell's original tender figure and also Mansell's provisional figures for roofing and glazing.⁵¹⁴⁴

IV.2982. The exchange of pricing information between competitors during the course of an ongoing tender process is anti-competitive because it is capable of influencing their future conduct during the tender process. This is particularly the case where such information is exchanged between the only tenderers still competing in the tender process. In this instance, by BB's own admission, both Wildgoose and Mansell were able to and did use the knowledge of each other's first round tender figures when preparing the final priced 'Bill of Quantities' and revised tenders requested by the client.

- IV.2983. Wildgoose submitted that it had no reason to believe that the tender was ongoing, as it considered it to be a single-stage process. Indeed, Wildgoose submitted that, by adopting a two-stage process, the client was in breach of the terms of the tender, which provided for a single stage tender. As such, Wildgoose only exchanged figures after the bids were submitted which, it suggested, was common practice in the construction industry.⁵¹⁴⁵
- IV.2984. The OFT considers that by exchanging price information at a time when the tender had not yet been awarded, Wildgoose and Mansell were running the risk of having to submit further information to the client and/or revise their tenders whilst in possession of a competitor's commercially sensitive information. The OFT notes that it was not uncommon for customers to seek further details from two or more bidders before awarding tenders, or to seek further reductions from the lowest bidder(s) before deciding whether to proceed with a project.
- IV.2985. In any event, the OFT has not concluded that the exchange between Mansell and Wildgoose of tender prices already submitted was of itself an infringement, but that this exchange constitutes a material fact relevant to the finding of a compensation payment arrangement.
- IV.2986. BB expressed his view that the exchange of first round tender information including figures with Mansell resulted in Wildgoose submitting a 'more competitive' tender in the hope of winning the work. Similarly, Wildgoose submitted in its response to the Statement that its knowledge of Mansell's first round tender price led to it identifying as many savings as possible in order to secure the contract, and that the compensation payment had no, or at worst a very limited, effect on competition.⁵¹⁴⁶ The OFT does not necessarily accept that the contact between Wildgoose and Mansell made the second stage of the tender process more competitive, noting that there are references in the evidence provided by Wildgoose to '...we should retain as profits extra monies added' and 'lets put something in for the second man's efforts' which have not been explained by Wildgoose and which imply that some upward adjustment may have been made to the price as well as the reductions identified.⁵¹⁴⁷
- IV.2987. It is not necessary or indeed possible for the OFT to determine the actual effect of either the exchange of information or the compensation payment arrangement in any particular tender process. The arrangement was clearly made in order to influence the conduct of each of the parties in the tender process and in fact did do so. As such it has as its object a restriction and/or distortion of competition and is clearly prohibited by the Chapter I prohibition.⁵¹⁴⁸ Furthermore, Wildgoose has accepted that its conduct constitutes an infringement by 'object'.⁵¹⁴⁹
- IV.2988. BB also explained that following the priced 'Bill of Quantities' and revised tender being requested by the client, Wildgoose and Mansell agreed that the successful tenderer would pay the losing party's estimating costs and a figure ⁵¹⁴⁵ Written representations of Wildgoose, 27 June 2008 (amended 1 April 2009), paragraphs 5.49.2 to 5.49.3, 5.52 to 5.56 and 5.60.1 and Annex G.

of approximately £10,000 was agreed. Subsequently, Mansell raised an invoice for 'Joinery for Burton College' for £9,985.00 plus VAT, with an invoice total of £11,732.38. BB has confirmed that this invoice was false and that no such 'Joinery Works' were carried out.

IV.2989. Mansell provided its copy of the same invoice and confirmed that it was paid by Wildgoose and that the work on the invoice did not take place. However, the lack of clear recollections about this tender provided by Mansell's current and former employees makes it difficult for the OFT to reach any conclusions about whether Mansell submitted a priced 'Bill of Quantities' and final tender in the hope of winning this tender or whether either it took a cover, or, having received details of Wildgoose's first round bid, simply put in a high final tender, knowing that it would not win the tender. The OFT makes no findings in relation to whether Mansell submitted a tender as opposed to a cover bid or whether it informed Wildgoose of its intentions not to compete fully in preparing the final tender.

IV.2990. In reaching this conclusion, it is not necessary for the OFT to determine whether Mansell and Wildgoose expressly agreed to include the agreed level of compensation in their final tender price or whether in fact they did include such sums in either of their respective tenders.

IV.2991. Nothing in Mansell's evidence contradicts any of the above analysis. The OFT also notes Mansell's acceptance of a likely infringement in relation to this tender based on the evidence provided by Wildgoose, supported in part by RT's email and the views expressed by KL, RR and RT.

IV.2992. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Wildgoose and Mansell. The OFT also concludes that Wildgoose and Mansell exchanged information about their original tender figures prior to submitting priced 'Bills of Quantities' and revised tenders to the client for this tender. The OFT further concludes that Wildgoose and Mansell at least made an arrangement in relation to this tender that the successful tenderer would pay £10,000 to the unsuccessful tenderer, which resulted in Wildgoose making a compensation payment to Mansell, and that this payment was facilitated by the production of a false invoice in relation to 'Joinery for Burton College'.

IV.2993. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.2956 to IV.2992 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵¹⁵⁰ In particular:

- (a) the provision/receipt of a compensation payment from Wildgoose to Mansell which followed the exchange of information between Wildgoose and Mansell relating to their respective first round tender bids were not unilateral, and contravene the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵¹⁵¹
- (b) the agreement between Wildgoose and Mansell on the level of compensation to be paid to the unsuccessful tenderer, had the obvious consequence of restricting or distorting competition and was capable of an effect on price;⁵¹⁵²

⁵¹⁵⁰ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.157 of the Legal Background section.

⁵¹⁵² See paragraphs III.150 to III.152 of the Legal Background section.

- (c) Wildgoose can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell and has confirmed that it did so (i.e. the details of Mansell's first round tender bid, the agreement to pay compensation, and the agreed level of compensation) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process,⁵¹⁵³ and
- (d) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Wildgoose (i.e. the details of Wildgoose's first round tender bid, the agreement to pay compensation, and the agreed level of compensation) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵¹⁵⁴

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.2996. Wildgoose informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Wildgoose will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.2997. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Mansell's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Wildgoose. Mansell will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Mansell will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.3001. In connection with its leniency application, Irwins provided to the OFT its tender return letter for this contract.⁵¹⁶⁰ The Form of Tender states that it was for alterations and extensions at Haigh Hall Medical Centre, Greengates, Bradford. The letter was signed on 23 April 2002 by Ivan Peter Nelson ('IPN'), Estimating Director at Irwins, and the figure Irwins submitted was £440,669.00.⁵¹⁶¹

IV.3002. As part of its leniency application, Irwins’ legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁵¹⁶² This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3003. In addition to its leniency application, Irwins provided to the OFT two schedules, one each for ‘Covers Taken’ and ‘Covers Given’, which detail projects/contracts identified by the company during the course of an internal investigation conducted by IPN into potential cover prices. At number 73 of the ‘Covers Taken’ schedule is the following entry:⁵¹⁶³

73		0402032	Alt.& Ext. Haigh Hall Med Centre Greengates	Dr W Passant & Partners	23.04.02	440696	Ellmore (cover to [...]) [C]

Individual Contact	Notes
Steve Ellmore

IV.3004. Irwins also provided to the OFT a schedule listing its competitors’ contact details. The name of ‘Ellmore Construction’ appears on the list and ‘Steve Ellmore’, Managing Director⁵¹⁶⁴ is named as the contact with a telephone number of [...] [C].⁵¹⁶⁵

IV.3005. Following the issue of the Statement, Irwins did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Irwins

IV.3006. During an interview with the OFT on 8 March 2007, conducted in connection with Irwins’ leniency application, IPN provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3007. Also during this interview, IPN was shown the Tender Register⁵¹⁶⁶ and in particular the entry for alterations and extensions at Haigh Hall Medical Centre and was asked if the entry was written in his handwriting. IPN replied ‘It’s all my writing’.⁵¹⁶⁷ IPN confirmed that the presence of a ‘C’ in the fourth column on the Tender Register shows that Irwins took a cover in relation to that contract.⁵¹⁶⁸ IPN also confirmed that the presence of the handwritten entry 'Ellmore' in the final column on the Tender Register shows that Irwins took a cover from C J Ellmore.⁵¹⁶⁹ In relation to the handwritten entry 'cover to [...] [C]', also written in the final column of the Tender Register, IPN was uncertain as to the meaning of this entry but confirmed that he it was unlikely that he would have given a cover price to [...] [C].⁵¹⁷⁰

IV.3008. In its response to the Statement, C J Ellmore suggested that the OFT had not proven that IPN confirmed that Irwins received a cover price from C J Ellmore, because '(a) IPN did not remember the contract, (b) he could not understand the entry in the Tender Register, and (c) he thought that he might have put the entry down so he knew a bit more about it'.⁵¹⁷¹

IV.3009. C J Ellmore's analysis is flawed in this respect. With regard to points (b) and (c), these refer to the entry 'cover to [...] [C]', not to the entry 'Ellmore'. In respect of (a), it is not necessary for IPN to remember the obtaining of the cover price from C J Ellmore – it is sufficient that he has confirmed that the contemporaneous record of a cover price having been taken from that company (the 'C' in the fourth column, accompanied by the name 'Ellmore' in the final column), was correct.

IV.3010. The OFT notes that IPN's evidence in respect of the use of 'C' and its meaning is clear and consistent. Moreover, the accuracy of entries in Irwin's Tender Register, and the accompanying witness evidence of IPN, has also been confirmed by other Parties' admissions of cover pricing in relation to Infringements 62, 157 and 165.

Evidence from other companies – C J Ellmore

IV.3013. The OFT wrote to C J Ellmore on 23 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that C J Ellmore had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT received an email from Keeble Hawson, representing C J Ellmore, on 4 May 2007 stating

'... we are not in a position to advise our client...without disclosure'.⁵¹⁷³ The OFT notes C J Ellmore's rejection of the OFT's Fast Track Offer.

IV.3014. C J Ellmore's legal representatives stated in their written response to the Statement in respect of this Infringement that '...it [the entry in the Tender Register] would be equally consistent with... Irwins having received information from other sources about the amount of money that C J Ellmore was due to tender at'.⁵¹⁷⁴ C J Ellmore provided a witness statement from its Managing Director, Stephen Ellmore ('SE'), which stated that 'I am aware that Ellmores has been approached to give cover prices on occasions in the past and that cover pricing has gone on in some form within the industry. It is Ellmores' policy however not to give or receive cover prices or engage in any other anti-competitive behaviour. This policy was first put in writing in March 2005 but it has always been Ellmores' policy to comply with the law in all respects'.⁵¹⁷⁵ The witness statement further stated that the estimator at C J Ellmore responsible for this tender was Brian French ('BF'), who is still employed by C J Ellmore.⁵¹⁷⁶

IV.3015. The OFT considers that this evidence of C J Ellmore's company policy regarding cover pricing, which was not in writing at the time of this tender, does not serve to establish that cover pricing did not take place in relation to this tender, in breach of that policy. Although SE was 'involved in estimating from 1987 to 2002' it remains possible that other members of the estimating team, including BF, may have given cover prices to competitors, including Strata, without the knowledge of SE. The OFT notes that no evidence from BF as to his recollection of events concerning this tender was provided by C J Ellmore.

IV.3016. In its response to the Statement, C J Ellmore asked the OFT to consider the possibility that a contractor (A) bidding for a contract could have provided a subcontractor with its full bid price, perfectly legitimately, and for that subcontractor to inform another contractor (B) bidding for the same contract of the full bid price of contractor (A).⁵¹⁷⁷ The OFT does not consider this theoretical alternative explanation provided by C J Ellmore to be at all plausible. There is no evidence that Irwins obtained a cover price via a subcontractor for this Infringement, but there is evidence from Irwins that it obtained a cover price direct from C J Ellmore.

IV.3017. In its response to the Statement, C J Ellmore also quoted the CAT's judgment in JJB Sports Plc and Allsports Ltd v OFT [2004] CAT 17 at 206:

*'As regards price fixing cases... cartels are by their nature hidden and secret; little or nothing many [sic] be committed to writing. In our view, even a single item of evidence, or wholly circumstantial evidence, depending on the particular context in the particular circumstances, many [sic] be sufficient to meet the required standard...'*⁵¹⁷⁸

IV.3018. C J Ellmore stated in this regard:

*'...C J Ellmore submits that in this case the OFT relies to a significant extent on the detailed evidence of the companies who have been asked to be treated leniently...'*⁵¹⁷⁹

IV.3019. Contrary to C J Ellmore's assertion, the principal piece of evidence in respect of this Infringement is the contemporaneous Tender Register obtained during the OFT's unannounced site visit to Irwins, and this is supported by the Irwins 'Covers Taken' schedule submitted as part of its leniency application and the interview with IPN. The OFT does not accept C J Ellmore's implied assertion that Irwins might have changed or fabricated evidence as part of a strategy to cooperate with the OFT and implicate its competitors. Any suggestion that either IPN or Irwins sought to obtain an advantage by fabricating evidence cannot be sustained and has not been supported by any contemporaneous evidence contradicting the OFT's case. Irwins does not stand to receive immunity for this Infringement and it is therefore inherently unlikely that it would fabricate evidence that would leave it exposed to a financial penalty.

IV.3020. In its response to the Statement, C J Ellmore stated:

*'...[w]hat's striking about this particular case and the figures, when you have a chance to go back and have a look at the figures ... is that rather than being between nought and 5%, which is what [...] [C] said was by and large what they were up to when they were involved in cover pricing, the percentages here are 11.49, you can call it 11 if you like, 21.9, or 22 to round it up, and when one looks at the actual figures ... it doesn't have the flavour of some of the other infringements that you've looked at...'*⁵¹⁸⁰

IV.3021. The OFT has not made any allegation against [...] [C] in respect of this Infringement and as such C J Ellmore's comparison of figures is irrelevant. The OFT notes that in any event, Irwins' bid price was 7.5 per cent higher than the bid price of C J Ellmore, a range consistent with acknowledged industry cover pricing practice (see paragraphs IV.99 to IV.104 above).

IV.3023. Irwins, C J Ellmore [.....] [C] each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for alterations and extensions to Haigh Hall Medical Centre, Leeds. [.....] [C] Irwins were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.3024. With regards to C J Ellmore, Irwins' Tender Register records 'Ellmore' handwritten in the final column. IPN confirmed that he received a cover price from C J Ellmore, since C J Ellmore is the only competitor named on this document (other than the entry 'Cover to [...] [C]'). Also 'C' is handwritten in the type of work/ percentage difference column. IPN confirmed that 'C' in this column shows that Irwins sought a cover price in relation to this contract. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Irwins, Irwins' admission, and IPN's explanation of that contemporaneous evidence, that C J Ellmore supplied Irwins with a cover price for this tender.

IV.3025. The OFT notes that the tender submitted by Irwins was higher than the tender submitted by C J Ellmore, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.3026. [...] [C]⁵¹⁸¹

IV.3027. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Irwins and C J Ellmore. The OFT also concludes that C J Ellmore supplied a figure to Irwins for a cover bid.

IV.3028. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3000 to IV.3027 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵¹⁸² In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from C J Ellmore to Irwins was not unilateral⁵¹⁸³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵¹⁸⁴
- (b) Irwins can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from C J Ellmore (i.e the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵¹⁸⁵ and
- (c) C J Ellmore can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Irwins (i.e. that Irwins did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵¹⁸⁶

IV.3029. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Irwins and C J Ellmore in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for alterations and extensions to Haigh Hall Medical Centre, Leeds, tender deadline 23 April 2002.

IV.3031. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Irwins' involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 21 March 2006. Irwins will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Irwins in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 106: International House, Elmdon Trading Estate, Birmingham – 26 April 2002
Client: Standard Life Investments
Parties: Thomas Vale and William Sapcote

IV.3032. On 22 March 2002, Standard Life Investments sought tenders for refurbishment of International House, Elmdon Trading Estate, Birmingham. The following six companies were invited to tender: A & H Construction and Development plc, Allenbuild, Moss Construction Ltd, Mowlem, William Sapcote and Thomas Vale.⁵¹⁸⁷ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 26 April 2002.

IV.3033. Standard Life Investments received the following tender returns:⁵¹⁸⁸

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
A & H Construction and Development plc	26 April 2002	£2,710,770
Allenbuild	26 April 2002	£2,785,051
Moss Construction Ltd	26 April 2002	£2,798,761
Mowlem	26 April 2002	£2,771,727
William Sapcote	26 April 2002	£2,823,840
Thomas Vale	26 April 2002	£2,687,141	Yes

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.3034. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a contemporaneous Tender Summary sheet for this tender, also known as the QA EST6 form.⁵¹⁸⁹ Under the section headed 'COMPETITION' is the following entry:

⁵¹⁸⁷ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 9589.

IV.3035. The names of the competitors are in typed manuscript but the entries '(C)' and '£2,823,840 (TBA)' are both handwritten.⁵¹⁹⁰

IV.3036. Thomas Vale also provided a contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, which contained the following entry:⁵¹⁹¹

TENDER NO	DIV	CLIENT	DESCRIPTION	Approx £	EST
T5100	B	Standard Life Assurance	Refurbishment, International House, Elmdon Trading Estate, Birmingham	2,000,000	REP

	26/04/2002 Noon	2,687,141		Mowlem, Moss, A & H, Sapcote, Allenbuild

IV.3037. The Tender Status spreadsheet was maintained at Thomas Vale's head office by Christopher Keith Trickett ('CKT'), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, who kept a *'little black book'*⁵¹⁹² of contacts, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Within this list, there is an entry for 'Sapcote' plus contact names and telephone numbers.⁵¹⁹³

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.3038. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and in particular, the use of the Tender Summary sheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3039. At Annex 14⁵¹⁹⁴ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale's legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 35 of the schedule under Annex 13 and within the section for 2002 tenders is the following entry:⁵¹⁹⁵

IV.3040. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁵¹⁹⁶ and William Sapcote appears on this list.

IV.3041. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.3042. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, CKT gave an explanation of the use of the Tender Summary sheet to record cover prices given to its competitors.

IV.3043. In interview CKT confirmed that this tender was allocated to estimator Robin Perks ('REP'), who worked within the Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager.⁵¹⁹⁷ CKT said 'I do distinctly remember that it was the first job that Robin actually priced, when he joined us...I also recall that it was the first job that he actually won'.⁵¹⁹⁸ CKT referred to the relevant entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet as follows: 'T5100 is the tender number, B is the Building Division...REP is the estimator. There's no category entered, but I can say it was an A tender, tender return date 26th of the fourth 2002, and the tender figure, £2,687,141, and there is a list of competitors, but none of them are highlighted which obviously confirms that we did price it, but I do remember we did price it'.⁵¹⁹⁹

IV.3044. CKT referred to the Tender Summary sheet⁵²⁰⁰ and said that it would have been created by REP and 'the fact that that is produced, or is here, also confirms it was a real, live tender...that we priced'.⁵²⁰¹ CKT admitted that he made the handwritten annotations on the Tender Summary sheet and that these entries show that he would have agreed and provided a figure of £2,823,840 as a cover price to William Sapcote.⁵²⁰² He also explained 'in brackets, TBA, which is a contract period that I suggested they put to be agreed'.⁵²⁰³ Finally, CKT confirmed that he would have dealt with Peter Perry, Estimating Director of William Sapcote.⁵²⁰⁴

IV.3045. REP was also interviewed and he agreed that this was a tender that he dealt with and that it was priced competitively and successfully by Thomas Vale. He said that the list of competitors on the Tender Summary sheet⁵²⁰⁵ would have been entered by him whilst preparing the tender. He also agreed that the handwritten entries on the same document were made by CKT and show that 'we obviously gave Sapcote a cover'.⁵²⁰⁶ REP believed the exchange of a cover price would have been dealt with by CKT. He stated 'obviously, you know, a lot of people know everybody else in the industry, so most people would know to speak to Chris...probably was by him I would have thought. I mean I was obviously sort of very new there at the time'.⁵²⁰⁷

IV.3046. The OFT wrote to William Sapcote on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that William Sapcote had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, William Sapcote admitted participating in bid rigging activity and stated 'We may have engaged in cover pricing activities on this tender but cannot recall details of other parties'.⁵²⁰⁸

IV.3047. The OFT subsequently wrote to William Sapcote's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Sapcote Holdings, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on William Sapcote's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Sapcote Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by William Sapcote in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. Sapcote Holdings did not respond with any substantive comments.⁵²⁰⁹

IV.3048. Following the issue of the Statement, neither William Sapcote nor Sapcote Holdings submitted any written or oral representations.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.3050. Thomas Vale and William Sapcote each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3051. Thomas Vale completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the fact that Thomas Vale provided the lowest tender amount and won the contract. William Sapcote was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.3052. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Summary sheet, maintained in electronic format by estimator Robin Perks within the Building Division, records six competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely

'Moss, Mowlem, A & H, Allenbuild, System by Design (Leeds) [and] Sapcote'. Beside the entry for 'Sapcote' is a handwritten letter 'C' in brackets, an amount and the letters 'TBA', also in brackets. In interview, both REP and CKT confirmed that the handwritten entries show that a cover price was given by Thomas Vale to William Sapcote. CKT admitted that he made the entries at the time and that he would have dealt with the request for a cover price from William Sapcote himself. The handwritten figure on the Tender Summary sheet of £2,823,840 matches William Sapcote's tender amount, recorded by the client Standard Life Investments.

- IV.3053. Standard Life Investments also received a tendered amount of £2,687,141 from Thomas Vale, which is lower than the amount tendered by William Sapcote. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Thomas Vale to William Sapcote.
- IV.3054. The OFT notes that although six competitors have been recorded on the Tender Summary sheet, only one of them has the handwritten letter 'C' and tender amount, which suggests a conscious decision was made to differentiate William Sapcote from the other competitors. The letter 'C' was commonly used within the industry to indicate a cover price.
- IV.3055. Thomas Vale admitted that William Sapcote was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity.
- IV.3056. Finally, William Sapcote also admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.
- IV.3057. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between William Sapcote and Thomas Vale and that Thomas Vale supplied a figure to William Sapcote in order that it could submit a bid to the client that was not intended to win the contract.
- IV.3058. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3034 to IV.3057 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵²¹⁰ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Thomas Vale to William Sapcote was not unilateral⁵²¹¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵²¹²
 - (b) William Sapcote can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Thomas Vale (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵²¹³ and
 - (c) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from William Sapcote (i.e. that William Sapcote did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵²¹⁴

⁵²¹⁴ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3061. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 107: Gas Training Centre, Evesham College – 29 April 2002
Client: Evesham College
Parties: Thomas Vale and Speller-Metcalf

IV.3062. On 6 March 2002, Evesham College sought tenders for a new Gas Training Centre.⁵²¹⁵ The following four companies were invited to tender: Thomas Vale, William Sapcote, Pearce and Speller-Metcalf.⁵²¹⁶ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 29 April 2002.

IV.3063. Evesham College received the following tender returns:⁵²¹⁷

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Thomas Vale	Not recorded	£497,586
William Sapcote	Not recorded	£510,740
Pearce	Not recorded	£549,844
Speller-Metcalf	Not recorded	£461,060	Yes

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale – tender spreadsheets

IV.3064. During the OFT’s visit at Thomas Vale’s head office, a spreadsheet for the Strategic Projects Division was obtained, which contained the following entry:⁵²¹⁸

⁵²¹⁵ This project was recorded by Thomas Vale in its contemporaneous documents as ‘Extension to Art Block’ at Evesham College. However, in view of the same date, location and bid amount, the OFT is satisfied that this is one and the same contract. The OFT assumes that the extension to the Art Block was made in order to provide the new Gas Training Centre.

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.3066. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3067. At Annex 14⁵²²⁰ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale’s legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 40 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2002 tenders is the following entry:⁵²²¹

IV.3068. The Tender Spreadsheet in the last column is the Tender Status spreadsheet referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above.

IV.3069. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application.⁵²²² Speller-Metcalfe appears on this list.

IV.3070. In its response to the Statement, Thomas Vale stated in respect of this Infringement 'Thomas Vale accepts that the evidence provided by both Speller Metcalfe and Thomas Vale indicates that Speller Metcalfe gave a cover to Thomas Vale'.⁵²²³

IV.3071. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, Christopher Keith Trickett ('CKT'), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, gave a detailed explanation of the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet to record cover prices from its competitors. An explanation of the Strategic Projects Division spreadsheet is also set out at paragraphs IV.713 to IV.715 above.

IV.3072. As indicated by the letter 'P' in the Tender Status spreadsheet, this tender was allocated to the Special Projects Division, based at Thomas Vale's head office. CKT explained that all tenders at the head office were booked through him but estimators in different divisions would have been aware of the requirement to either update the spreadsheet themselves or inform CKT of what had occurred once the tender had been submitted, including where assistance had been sought from other contractors.⁵²²⁴ CKT also said that the initials 'CJD' in the estimator column were for Chris Duffy ('CJD').⁵²²⁵

IV.3073. In interview CJD said that he was aware of CKT's Tender Status spreadsheet and had access to it. He was also aware that if a competitor was named in bold in the Tendering Contractors column, it showed that assistance had been sought from that company. He said that he would make the entry in bold if he had been aware of the cover price 'usually after the tender's gone in, because we don't generally put anything...into this part of the section...up to that, generally that was done by Chris Trickett and then beyond that, the tender figure, the tender status, tender contractors, that would be done by anybody, any of us that wished to put any element in there'.⁵²²⁶

IV.3074. CJD said he could not recall seeing the Strategic Projects spreadsheet, maintained by bid manager Russell Burley. However, he conceded that it followed a similar format to the spreadsheet maintained by CKT.⁵²²⁷

IV.3075. CJD was shown the entry from CKT's Tender Status spreadsheet in relation to this tender and said 'Well, I've got no recollection of this one at all but if we didn't do much work on it then 2002, five years ago. It would indicate from there it's Speller Metcalfe in dark, that we took a cover, I guess'.⁵²²⁸ CKT was also shown the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet and commented 'Yes, P the projects division, CJD Chris Duffy the estimator, category B which indicates a cover, tender return date 29th of April 2002, Thomas Vale figure £497,586, Speller Metcalfe in bold which indicates that Speller Metcalfe gave us a cover'.⁵²²⁹

Evidence from other companies – Speller-Metcalfe

IV.3076. The OFT wrote to Speller-Metcalfe on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Speller-Metcalfe had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Speller-Metcalfe admitted that it 'engaged in bid rigging (COVER PRICING) activities on this tender with Thomas Vale, Stourport on Severn'.⁵²³⁰ It added that 'we were approached for a cover price by Thomas Vale in the latter days of the tender period and provided them with a figure. We won this tender and carried out this project'.⁵²³¹

IV.3077. In its response to the Statement, Speller-Metcalfe stated 'Speller-Metcalfe has accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer and does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'⁵²³² in respect of this Infringement.

IV.3079. Thomas Vale and Speller-Metcalfe each accepted an invitation to tender for the new Gas Training Centre at Evesham College.

IV.3080. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicated that a cover price was sought.

IV.3081. Speller-Metcalfe completed the estimating process for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Speller-Metcalfe being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

- IV.3082. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT and available to estimators at Thomas Vale's head office, including CJD within Special Projects Division, records three competitors for this tender, namely William Sapcote, Pearce and Speller-Metcalfe. Speller-Metcalfe is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated at the time by CJD. Thomas Vale's bid is recorded by the client as £497,586 which matches the figure recorded by Thomas Vale on the Tender Status spreadsheet.
- IV.3083. Evesham College also received a tendered amount of £461,060 from Speller-Metcalfe, which is lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Speller-Metcalfe to Thomas Vale.
- IV.3084. Thomas Vale also maintained a spreadsheet within the Strategic Projects division, where tenders were categorised A for 'Priced' or B for 'Cover'. The entry for this tender is categorised as a Category B tender with three competitors listed, of which again only Speller-Metcalfe is highlighted in bold.
- IV.3085. The OFT notes that although three competitors have been recorded on Thomas Vale's Tender Status spreadsheet, only one company is highlighted in bold, i.e. Speller-Metcalfe. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate Speller-Metcalfe from the other competitors. In addition, Speller-Metcalfe was the only company highlighted in bold in the Special Projects Division spreadsheet, maintained by bid manager Russell Burley.
- IV.3086. Thomas Vale admitted that Speller-Metcalfe was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. This tender was allocated to Thomas Vale's estimator CJD, who was fully aware of the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet and had access to it. In interview, he said that the entry in the spreadsheet for this tender indicated that he had obtained a cover price from Speller-Metcalfe. CJD said that in relation to contacting estimators from another contractor, he had 'two A4 sheets of paper...but it... had a few phone numbers in of contacts, yes, it would probably have about, I don't know, 40 or 50 phone numbers in there'.⁵²³³ In interview, CKT also admitted that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet indicated a cover price had been sought and obtained by Thomas Vale from Speller-Metcalfe.
- IV.3087. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Speller-Metcalfe admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Thomas Vale, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Thomas Vale was involved. This provides independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.3088. Finally, Speller-Metcalfe is the only company whose figure is below that of Thomas Vale and so Thomas Vale could only have received cover from Speller-Metcalfe.

IV.3089. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and Speller-Metcalf. The OFT also concludes that Speller-Metcalf supplied a figure to Thomas Vale for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Speller-Metcalf to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁵²³⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵²³⁶
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Speller-Metcalf (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵²³⁷ and
- (c) Speller-Metcalf can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵²³⁸

IV.3091. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Thomas Vale and Speller-Metcalf in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for the new Gas Training Centre at Evesham College, tender deadline 29 April 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3093. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 27 at Thomas Vale on 24 January 2006. Thomas Vale will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Thomas Vale will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant – Adam Eastwood

IV.3099. As part of its leniency application, Adam Eastwood’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁵²⁴⁸ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.159 to IV.165 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3100. In addition to its leniency application, Adam Eastwood provided to the OFT a list of covers, which was compiled relying on recollections of managers within Adam Eastwood.⁵²⁴⁹ Adam Eastwood stated ‘there remains the possibility that there may a few [sic] other instances within the last five years, which escape specific recollection’.⁵²⁵⁰ At number one on the list is the following entry:⁵²⁵¹

*‘Office Block, Sherwood Rise, Nottingham – July 2002
Eastwoods gave a cover price to Baggaley Construction
Eastwoods figure was £666,000.00
Eastwoods were not awarded the project, 2nd out of 4 No.
Cover given by Chris Stubbs OR Adrian Tranter of Eastwoods to Roger Hayes of Baggaley Construction at request of Baggaley’s who said they didn’t want the job.’*

IV.3101. In its response to the Statement, Adam Eastwood stated in respect of this Infringement, *‘Eastwoods gave Baggaleys a “cover” price, but this did not affect the outcome, with 3 fully competitive tenders, and the contract was awarded to North Midland Building by a wide margin.’*⁵²⁵² The OFT does not accept Adam Eastwood’s assertion that the provision of a cover price did not affect the outcome of the tender process, whilst noting that cover bidding is an ‘object’ infringement and as such whether or not an effect on competition can be demonstrated is irrelevant. At a minimum, absent the cover price arrangement Herbert Baggaley may have returned the tender, giving the client the opportunity to seek a replacement tenderer.

Evidence from leniency applicant – Herbert Baggaley

IV.3102. As part of its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁵²⁵³ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3103. In addition to its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley provided a complete list of tenders received by HBC [Herbert Baggaley] from 1 January 2000.⁵²⁵⁴ The following entry appeared on the list of tenders:⁵²⁵⁵

IV.3104. Following the issue of the Statement, Herbert Baggaley did not submit any specific written or oral representations in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant – Adam Eastwood

IV.3105. During separate interviews with the OFT on 21 February 2007, conducted in connection with Adam Eastwood’s leniency application, both Adrian Tranter (‘AT’), Managing Director of Adam Eastwood, and Chris Stubbs (‘CS’), Company Director of Adam Eastwood, provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.159 to IV.165 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3106. During the interview with AT, he confirmed that *‘we actually priced this to win it ... We believe we went in with a very keen price. We gave a cover I think to, is it Baggaley’s on the list?’*⁵²⁵⁶ AT stated that he was unsure who within Adam Eastwood gave Herbert Baggaley the figure for a cover price, ‘... we know we gave it but we can’t remember which of us gave it’.⁵²⁵⁷ AT confirmed that the handwritten note, described at paragraph IV.3096 above, was made by CS.⁵²⁵⁸

IV.3107. During the interview with CS, he was asked by the OFT if he could recall anything about this contract. CS replied ‘it was a contract in Nottingham that we wanted ... either myself or Adrian took a call from Baggaley’s can you give us a help'.⁵²⁵⁹ CS was shown the handwritten note found during the OFT's visit and confirmed, 'That is my writing'.⁵²⁶⁰ CS explained, '... normally that would have gone in the bin for some reason it has been put in the tender file'.⁵²⁶¹ CS also confirmed that the figure provided to Herbert Baggaley for a cover price included an increase of 4.933 per cent, and that the information would have been relayed to Roger Hayes at Herbert Baggaley by phone, probably on the morning the tender return was due in to the client.⁵²⁶²

IV.3108. During an interview on 19 April 2007 with Anton Newell ('AN'), an estimator at Herbert Baggaley until he became Chief Estimator in October 2002, AN was shown Herbert Baggaley's tendering schedule entry for this tender and stated 'I can't remember who we took help off on that one ... A cover price on the tender'.⁵²⁶³

IV.3109. AN was then shown a copy of the handwritten note found at Adam Eastwood.⁵²⁶⁴ AN stated in reference to the comment 'our price 666 037.14 add 4.933%', 'its either that that's come from another contract [or] and it ties up with our figure, which suggests that that is who we took help from'.⁵²⁶⁵ The OFT confirmed that this document was taken from Adam Eastwood's premises during its visit, to which AN replied '... they would have been a company that we occasionally gave/received covers from'.⁵²⁶⁶

IV.3111. Adam Eastwood and Herbert Baggaley each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for an office block, Sherwood Rise, Nottingham. Adam Eastwood has stated that Herbert Baggaley did not want to win this contract.

IV.3112. Adam Eastwood appears to have completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.3113. A handwritten note found at Adam Eastwood records 'Our Price 666 037.14 Add 4.933% 32 855.61 Baggaley £698892.75' on a notepad. Both AT and CS confirmed that this note shows that Adam Eastwood gave a cover price to Herbert Baggaley. Corroborating contemporaneous documentary evidence was also found at Herbert Baggaley. A tendering schedule found at Herbert Baggaley records 'Cover price' written against this contract. AN confirmed that this shows that Herbert Baggaley was given a cover price for this tender, but he could not recall from whom.

IV.3114. The OFT notes that the tender submitted by Herbert Baggaley was higher than the tender submitted by Adam Eastwood, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.3115. The OFT further considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence found at both Adam Eastwood and Herbert Baggaley, and each of AT's, CS's and AN's admissions and explanations of the contemporaneous evidence, that contact took place between Adam Eastwood and Herbert Baggaley and that Adam Eastwood supplied Herbert Baggaley with a cover price for this tender

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Adam Eastwood to Herbert Baggaley was not unilateral⁵²⁶⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵²⁶⁹
- (b) Herbert Baggaley can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Adam Eastwood (i.e the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵²⁷⁰ and
- (c) Adam Eastwood can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Herbert Baggaley (i.e. that Herbert Baggaley did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵²⁷¹

IV.3117. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Adam Eastwood and Herbert Baggaley, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for an office block, Sherwood Rise, Nottingham, tender deadline 15 May 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3119. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 14 June 2005 to the premises of Herbert Baggaley. Therefore Herbert Baggaley will not receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Herbert Baggaley in respect of this Infringement.

IV.3120. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 14 June 2005 to the premises of Herbert Baggaley. Therefore Adam Eastwood will not receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Adam Eastwood will receive the normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 109: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 110: Fire Damage Refurbishment, 22 Midlame Gardens, Bulwell – 30 May 2002

Client: Tuntum Housing Association

Parties: Derwent Valley and Hill

IV.3121. On 9 May 2002, Tuntum Housing Association sought tenders for the refurbishment of property following fire damage at 22 Midlame Gardens, Bulwell. The following two companies were invited to tender: Derwent Valley and Hill. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 30 May 2002.⁵²⁷²

IV.3122. Tuntum Housing Association received the following tender returns:⁵²⁷³

Company	Date and time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Hill	Prior to 12:00 noon 30 May 2002	£58,196.25	Yes
Derwent Valley	Prior to 12:00 noon 30 May 2002	£61,300.00

IV.3123. Focus Consultants (UK) Ltd, who dealt with the tendering process on behalf of Tuntum Housing Association, stated in a report to Tuntum Housing Association dated June 2002 that, 'The tender figure submitted does not compare favourably with the pre-tender estimate. Whilst the tenders were obtained in competition, we believe the rates quoted are high, but some what reflective of the currently inflated tender market conditions'.⁵²⁷⁴ The report in its recommendations/comments section goes on to say that, 'We are of the opinion that the Tender figure submitted by Hill (Bros) Nottingham Limited in the sum of £58,196.25 is technically in order. However we consider the tender figure too high, reflecting the current market conditions'.⁵²⁷⁵

IV.3124. In its response to the Statement, in respect of this Infringement, Hill stated '...[t]he tender was properly priced, and was priced by Mr Hallam. A true copy of Mr Hallam's pricing is attached...'.⁵²⁷⁶

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Schedule

IV.3125. During the OFT’s search of Derwent Valley’s premises, a tender schedule containing handwritten entries was discovered. Within this tender schedule was the following entry:⁵²⁷⁷

TENDER NO.	RETURN DATE	TENDER DETAILS	OPPOSITION	TENDER
02/05/02	30/05/02	FIRE DAMAGE REFURBISHMENT 22 MIDLAND GARDENS BULWELL FOR TUNTUM H.A.	Hill Bros	61300	Cover

IV.3126. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3127. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2000 to July 2004 where Derwent Valley had taken a cover price from a competitor for that tender, marked as ‘DVC2 List of Covers Taken’. The information in the summary was based on the tender book kept by Pat Tunnicliffe (‘PT’), an ex-estimator at Derwent Valley, and contained the following extract:⁵²⁷⁸

May 2002	Fire damage refurbishments 22 Midland Gdns Tuntum Hsg Assn	Hill Bros

IV.3128. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT, as part of its leniency application, a ‘List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices’. The name ‘Hill Bros (Nottingham) Ltd’ appears on this list with the address ‘34 Marlborough Road Woodthorpe Notts’.⁵²⁷⁹

IV.3129. Following the issue of the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.3130. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors and an ex-employee provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in

IV.3131. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with PT, who dealt with this tender. PT confirmed that he kept and maintained the tender schedule referred to in paragraphs IV.309 to IV.317 above. PT recalled doing a lot of work for Tuntum Housing Association but could not specifically recall this tender. PT referred to the tender schedule entry in respect of this tender, confirmed it was in his handwriting and that the entry meant that Derwent Valley had taken a cover price. When asked where the cover price had come from, PT said, 'Well seeing as I've only got one other name there I would be 99% certain it came from Hill Brothers'.⁵²⁸⁰

IV.3132. David Stone ('DS'), the Managing Director of Derwent Valley, was also interviewed in regard to this tender and although he did not recall it specifically either⁵²⁸¹, from examining the entry in the tender schedule he said '...it looks pretty obvious to me, that Hill Brothers, who were the opposite, who were on the opposition, were bidding and so we took a cover on it'.⁵²⁸² He confirmed that Hill would have been the only competitor known to Derwent Valley.⁵²⁸³

IV.3134. The OFT wrote to Hill on 26 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Hill had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Hill replied by letter dated 27 April 2007, 'We do not accept that we are guilty of any offence under the act as alleged' and declined the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁵²⁸⁴

IV.3135. However, in its response to the Statement, Hill stated that it had not accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer because it lacked documentary records from which to determine whether any infringement may have been committed. It submitted that this was 'part corroborated' by the fact that the OFT's inspection found no relevant documentation. Hill stated *'[i]n light of the information now provided, Hill Bros. accepts the alleged infringements are infringements, and apologises for its wrongdoing'*⁵²⁸⁵ and 'It is accepted that provision of a cover price to Derwent Valley was wrongful...' in respect of this Infringement.⁵²⁸⁶

⁵²⁸⁶ Written representations of Hill, 23 June 2008, paragraph 10.

- IV.3137. Derwent Valley and Hill each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Derwent Valley was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.
- IV.3138. Hill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Hill being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.
- IV.3139. Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to competitor Hill with the entry 'Cover' in the final column where this tender has been entered. Derwent Valley confirmed that the word 'Cover' written in such a manner refers to a cover price having been taken, in this case from Hill.
- IV.3140. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that although he did not recall the tender, his entry in the contemporaneous tender schedule meant that he took a cover price from Hill.
- IV.3141. This was corroborated in interview by DS, who also did not recall the tender but agreed that the entry in the tender schedule showed that Derwent Valley took a cover price in respect of this tender from Hill.
- IV.3142. The OFT notes that Hill is the only company whose figure was below that of Derwent Valley, and therefore Derwent Valley could only have received a cover price from Hill.
- IV.3143. Derwent Valley also included Hill in its list of companies who exchange cover prices.
- IV.3144. In addition, the OFT notes that Tuntum Housing Association received a tendered amount of £58,196.25 from Hill, which is lower than the amount tendered by Derwent Valley. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been given to Derwent Valley by Hill.
- IV.3145. Both Parties have now accepted liability in respect of this Infringement.
- IV.3146. On the basis of the above the OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and Hill. The OFT also concludes that Hill supplied a figure to Derwent Valley for a cover bid. The OFT also notes that all tenders for this contract were the subject of bid rigging and that the price submitted by Hill, although the lowest tender for the project, was considered by Focus Consultants (UK) Limited, a company employed to handle the tendering process, to be in excess of the anticipated cost of the project.
- IV.3147. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3125 to IV.3146 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵²⁸⁷ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Hill to Derwent Valley was not unilateral⁵²⁸⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵²⁸⁹

⁵²⁸⁷ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Hill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵²⁹⁰ and
- (c) Hill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Derwent Valley (i.e. that Derwent Valley did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵²⁹¹

IV.3148. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Derwent Valley and Hill, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for fire damage refurbishment, 22 Midlame Gardens, Bulwell, tender dated 30 May 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3150. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Derwent Valley in respect of this Infringement.

Alleged Infringement 111: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 112: Winthorpe Road Estate Repairs, Newark – 31 May 2002
Client: Newark and Sherwood District Council
Parties: Frudd and Baggaley & Jenkins

IV.3151. On 9 May 2002, Newark and Sherwood District Council ('Newark & Sherwood DC') sought tenders for repairs and redecoration to the Winthorpe Road Estate, Newark.⁵²⁹² The following six companies were invited to tender: Baggaley & Jenkins, Beaufort, Frudd, G Hurst, Greenwood and Rhodes Construction Nottingham. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 10:00 am on 31 May 2002.⁵²⁹³

IV.3152. Newark & Sherwood DC received the following tender returns:⁵²⁹⁴

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Frudd – Tender register

IV.3153. During the OFT's inspection at Frudd, a tender register was found with the following entry:⁵²⁹⁶

ESTIMATE DETAILS	REF NO	DATE RECEIVED	DATE RETURN	T.WESSEX REF	ARCH	EST CHECK

Evidence from leniency applicant Frudd

IV.3154. As part of its leniency application, Frudd provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the tender register is set out in paragraphs IV.335 to IV.351 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

⁵²⁹⁵ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 8876. Beaufort withdrew from the tender process after tender opening.

IV.3155. Frudd also compiled a spreadsheet setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2004 in respect of which Frudd had either given or taken a cover price. Under the section marked 'Cover prices received', is the following entry:⁵²⁹⁷

Date	Contract	Client	Contractors	Amount	Result
2002	Ext Repairs and Redecs Winthorpe Rd Est	Newark and Sherwood District Council	Frudd B & J Gave cover to us Beaufort	228123	Not won

IV.3156. Frudd also provided a contact list of competitors entitled 'MIC'S LIKELY LADS', which belonged to Michael Robbins ('MR'), former Chief Estimator at Frudd. In this list, there is an entry for Baggaley & Jenkins with a contact name of James Ward, an estimator at Baggaley & Jenkins at the time of the Infringement, and a telephone number. Within the same entry for Baggaley & Jenkins, the words 'Newark & Sherwood' are also entered.⁵²⁹⁸

IV.3157. Following the issue of the Statement, Frudd did not submit any written or oral representations.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Frudd

IV.3158. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Frudd's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.335 to IV.351 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3159. In interview, Jenna Frudd ('JF'), Director of Frudd, confirmed that, as part of Frudd's leniency application, she had collated the spreadsheet of covers received and taken from its tender register books.⁵²⁹⁹ She also confirmed Frudd's bid and the deadline date in respect of this tender. Referring to the entry of the letter 'C' next to 'B & J' in the tender register, she said 'this indicates that Bagley [sic] and Jenkins gave Frudd a cover'.⁵³⁰⁰ She said that the appearance of the initials 'MAR' in the estimator column shows that the tender was dealt with by Frudd's Chief Estimator MR.⁵³⁰¹

IV.3160. JF gave an account of why Frudd sought a cover price on this tender as follows: 'I recall this...because it's something David Frudd used to get irate about, why do we bother with Newark and Sherwood District Council, because Bagley [sic] and Jenkins always win their work, and it's a bit of a joke, so this is why I can recall it, because he used to kick off and say, just, don't even bother, just send it back, don't even bother, Mick [MR] always gave a cover price, so if there was a job that we really did want at any one time, we wouldn't be excluded from the tender list'.⁵³⁰² JF added that 'external repairs and decoration is not our thing'.⁵³⁰³

IV.3161. In interview, Paul Platts ('PP'), an estimator at Frudd, confirmed that the entry in the tender register shows a cover price had been received from Baggaley & Jenkins. PP said 'we tried on numerous occasions to get in with Newark and Sherwood District Council, pricing jobs...we priced...loads for them but never got anywhere...and I think, in the end, that Mick [MR] decided that...we'd wasted enough time pricing stuff for them...what we should have done is sent them back but we didn't want to be seen to be letting them down, so I think that's why...we took covers on...those particular jobs'.⁵³⁰⁴ MR was not questioned about this tender; however, he confirmed in general terms that the appearance of a letter 'C' next to 'B & J' on the tender register generally showed that a cover price was taken from Baggaley & Jenkins.⁵³⁰⁵

Evidence from other companies – Baggaley & Jenkins

IV.3162. The OFT wrote to Baggaley & Jenkins on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Baggaley & Jenkins had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response, Baggaley & Jenkins wrote to the OFT through its legal representatives on 25 April 2007⁵³⁰⁶ and admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the party/parties involved'.⁵³⁰⁷

IV.3163. In its response to the Statement, Baggaley & Jenkins confirmed that it '...accepts liability for this [Infringement]'.⁵³⁰⁸

IV.3165. Frudd and Baggaley & Jenkins each accepted an invitation to tender for repairs and redecoration to the Winthorpe Road Estate, Newark. Frudd was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.3166. Frudd's contemporaneous tender register, maintained by Frudd's estimating department, records two competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely 'B & J' and 'Beaufort'. The letter 'C' is marked next to 'B & J' which Frudd has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company. Frudd's bid to the client on the tender register is recorded by the letters 'FBS' [Frudd Building Services] for the amount of £228,123.00, which matches the amount recorded by Newark & Sherwood DC.

IV.3167. Newark & Sherwood DC also received a tendered amount of £217,647 from Baggaley & Jenkins, which is lower than the amount tendered by Frudd. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Baggaley & Jenkins to Frudd.

⁵³⁰⁸ Written representations of Baggaley & Jenkins, 27 June 2008, paragraph 33.

- IV.3168. The OFT notes that although two competitors have been recorded on the Tender register, the letter 'C' is noted alongside the entry for 'B & J'. The tender was allocated to Frudd's Chief Estimator MR, and MR had an entry for Baggaley & Jenkins in a contact list used to communicate with competitors for the purpose of obtaining cover prices. Against this entry there is a specific reference to 'Newark & Sherwood', the client for this particular tender, suggesting that Baggaley & Jenkins was a regular source of cover prices for tenders put out by this client.
- IV.3169. In interview, Frudd employees JF, PP and MR all agreed that the entry in the tender register shows that a cover price was received from Baggaley & Jenkins for this tender. Both JF and PP stated that MR would have dealt with the cover price and confirmed that covers were often sought from Baggaley & Jenkins for tenders for the client Newark & Sherwood DC, because it was felt that Baggaley & Jenkins would win the work anyway. In addition, JF stated that external repairs and redecoration 'is not our thing'.
- IV.3170. Finally, both parties have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender.
- IV.3171. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Frudd and Baggaley & Jenkins, and that Baggaley & Jenkins supplied a figure to Frudd in order that it could submit a bid to the client that was not intended to win the contract.
- IV.3172. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3153 to IV.3171 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵³⁰⁹ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Baggaley & Jenkins to Frudd was not unilateral⁵³¹⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵³¹¹
 - (b) Frudd can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Baggaley & Jenkins (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵³¹² and
 - (c) Baggaley & Jenkins can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Frudd (i.e. that Frudd did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵³¹³

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3175. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of information obtained during the visit under section 28 at Frudd on 29 June 2005. Frudd will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Frudd will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 113: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 114: Conversion and Extension of a CCTV Control Room at Beeston Police Station, Nottinghamshire – 8 July 2002

Client: Broxtowe Borough Council
Parties: Bodill and W R Bloodworth

IV.3176. On 13 June 2002, Broxtowe Borough Council sought tenders for the conversion and extension of a CCTV control room at Beeston Police Station, Nottinghamshire. The return date for the tender was 8 July 2002 and four companies were invited to tender: W R Bloodworth, Craske, Frudd and Bodill.⁵³¹⁴

IV.3177. Broxtowe Borough Council received the following tender returns on 8 July 2002:⁵³¹⁵

Company	Time and date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender
W R Bloodworth	10:58 8 July 2002	£58,003	Yes

Frudd	11:05 8 July 2002	£69,630
Bodill	11:00 8 July 2002	£60,535

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.3178. In Bodill's tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill.⁵³¹⁶

⁵³¹⁴ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 7266.

IV.3179. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted price was £60,535 and has a © in the 'ESTIMATOR' box.⁵³¹⁷

IV.3180. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, kept a diary for 2002 which contains an entry for this tender on 8 July which reads '12.00 BEESTON POLICE STN. (C) (BEESTON)'.⁵³¹⁸ JR explained in interview with the OFT that when a tender is written in his diary with a 'C' in brackets, 'It means that we're looking for some help, a cover, a cover price'.⁵³¹⁹

IV.3181. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3182. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000 and explained that when a '*' is written against a contractor's name it means that it gave Bodill a cover price.⁵³²⁰ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it received a cover price from W R Bloodworth⁵³²¹ and that it submitted a 'token tender'.⁵³²²

IV.3183. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant W R Bloodworth

IV.3184. As part of its leniency application, W R Bloodworth provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.718 to IV.725 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

⁵³²³ Written representations of W R Bloodworth, 27 June 2008, paragraph 3.

IV.3186. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, W R Bloodworth's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.718 to IV.725 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3187. In respect of this tender Michael Campbell ('MC'), an estimator at W R Bloodworth confirmed on being shown the Bodill tender sheet, '* BLOODWORTH. MICK WILL RING US. Tel. [.....] [C]'⁵³²⁴, that it was his telephone number⁵³²⁵, 'it means they [Bodill] took a cover'⁵³²⁶ and that although MC could not recall giving Bodill a cover price for this tender, 'It is possible, yes'.⁵³²⁷

IV.3189. Bodill and W R Bloodworth each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3190. Bodill was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender. It appears that W R Bloodworth completed the estimating process for this contract and that it submitted a tender with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the facts that it submitted the lowest price and that it won the tender.

IV.3191. In regard to W R Bloodworth, Bodill's tender sheet records '* BLOODWORTH. MICK WILL RING US. Tel. [.....] [C]'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from W R Bloodworth. The OFT considers that this also shows more specifically that Bodill would have had telephone contact with W R Bloodworth before the date for submitting its tender, in order to obtain its cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £60,535 as the tender figure and this was the figure that Bodill submitted.

IV.3192. Bodill's tender sheet records the name of a W R Bloodworth estimator, 'Mick', and the telephone number '[.....] [C]'. The word 'Mick' refers to MC of W R Bloodworth, who has confirmed that this was W R Bloodworth's telephone number.

IV.3193. The OFT notes that JR of Bodill has an entry in his diary on the date for submitting the tender, which includes a 'C' in brackets, which JR has confirmed shows that Bodill was looking for a cover price for this tender.

IV.3194. Both Parties have admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.

IV.3196. The OFT also notes that the tender submitted by Bodill was higher than the tender submitted by W R Bloodworth, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.3197. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between W R Bloodworth and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that W R Bloodworth supplied a figure to Bodill for a cover bid.

IV.3198. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3178 to IV.3197 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵³²⁸ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from W R Bloodworth to Bodill was not unilateral⁵³²⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵³³⁰
- (b) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from W R Bloodworth (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵³³¹ and
- (c) W R Bloodworth can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bodill (i.e. that Bodill did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵³³²

IV.3199. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Bodill and W R Bloodworth, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the conversion and extension of a CCTV control room at Beeston Police Station, Nottinghamshire, tender deadline 8 July 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3201. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 27 to Bodill on 19 November 2004. Bodill will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Bodill in respect of this infringement.

⁵³²⁸ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁵³²⁹ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁵³³⁰ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁵³³² See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.3202. In its response to the Statement, Bodill stated that 'so far as Bodill is aware, the OFT had no knowledge of these Alleged Infringements and those contractors who had participated in them until 21 January 2005 and then only as a result of the evidence supplied by Bodill'.⁵³³³ The OFT first became aware of this tender as a result of the entry in a document obtained during a section 27 visit to Bodill on 19 November 2004⁵³³⁴, which gave the OFT reasonable grounds to suspect cover pricing activity in respect of this tender prior to Bodill's leniency application being made. Nevertheless, as stated in paragraph IV.3201 above, the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Bodill in respect of this Infringement.

IV.3203. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of W R Bloodworth's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. W R Bloodworth will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, W R Bloodworth will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 115: Classroom & Dining Room Refurbishment, Shirebrook School, Shirebrook, Nottinghamshire – 12 July 2002
Client: Derbyshire County Council
Parties: Bodill and E Taylor (trading as Carmalor)

IV.3204. In June 2002, E C Harris, acting on behalf of Derbyshire County Council, sought tenders for the classroom and dining room refurbishment of Shirebrook School, Shirebrook, Nottinghamshire. The return date for the tender was 12 July 2002 and four companies were invited to tender: Baggaley & Jenkins, Ian Whitehead Ltd, E Taylor (trading as Carmalor)⁵³³⁵ and Bodill.⁵³³⁶

IV.3205. E C Harris received the following tender returns on 12 July 2002:⁵³³⁷

Company	Date tender received	Time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender
Baggaley & Jenkins	12 July 2002	Withdrawn	£96,407.30
Ian Whitehead Ltd	12 July 2002		£167,000.00	Yes
Carmalor [E Taylor]	12 July 2002		£174,230.00
Bodill	12 July 2002		£178,291.00

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.3206. In Bodill's tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill.⁵³³⁸

⁵³³³ Written representations of Bodill, 26 June 2008, paragraph 3.5.

⁵³³⁴ 2002 Diary, OFT Document Reference 0107, as discussed in paragraph IV.3180.

⁵³³⁵ In its description and analysis of this Infringement, for consistency with the available documentary and witness evidence, the OFT has referred to 'Carmalor' but notes that this is a trading name for E Taylor, which is accordingly the responsible legal entity.

IV.3207. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted price was £178,291.00.⁵³³⁹

IV.3208. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, kept a diary for 2002 which contains an entry for this tender on 12 July which reads '11.00 SHIREBROOKE SCHOOL (C) (MATLOCK)'.⁵³⁴⁰ JR explained in interview with the OFT that when a tender is written in his diary with a 'C' in brackets, 'It means that we're looking for some help, a cover, a cover price'.⁵³⁴¹

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.3209. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3210. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁵³⁴² In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it received a cover price from Carmalor⁵³⁴³ and that it submitted a token tender.⁵³⁴⁴

IV.3211. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – E Taylor

IV.3212. A tender summary sheet for July 2002, was obtained from E Taylor's premises during the section 27 inspection on 19 January 2006 and against the entry for Shirebrook School is typed 'cover'.⁵³⁴⁵

IV.3213. During the OFT section 27 visit at E Taylor's premises on 19 January 2006, Mark Brown, the Managing Director of E Taylor, confirmed that Wayne Creed was employed as an estimator.⁵³⁴⁶

IV.3214. The OFT wrote to E Taylor on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that E

Taylor had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, E Taylor said that after consideration it felt unable to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁵³⁴⁷

IV.3215. In its response to the Statement, E Taylor stated *'Having reviewed the relevant sections of the SO that relate to ourselves, and most particularly the 3rd party evidence referred to, we have a degree of empathy with the OFT as to why they have reached the conclusion that Carmalor were involved in cover pricing. Unfortunately, as a result of the death of [the former Managing Director]... and the departure of [former Estimating Director] Steve Fowkes... our ability to defend our position is significantly prejudiced by the fact that we have no access to contemporaneous documentary evidence. Nor can we offer any meaningful personal testimony from those allegedly involved in the practice, that would act as a legally adequate defence. Thus, we find ourselves in "no man's land" neither able to admit, nor adequately defend the allegations levelled at us.'*⁵³⁴⁸

IV.3216. However, with its response to the Statement, E Taylor submitted a statement from Wayne Creed ('WC'), the only person named in the Statement still employed by E Taylor. WC stated that 'I have no recollection of either making a call to nor receiving a call from Bodill in relation to either the giving or taking of a cover price on this matter'.⁵³⁴⁹ WC also indicated that *'...I was not involved on a day to day basis in estimating work of this type. That work was controlled entirely by Steve Fowkes, who...reported directly to the then Managing Director, Mark Jackson.'*⁵³⁵⁰

IV.3217. The OFT appreciates that a company would not often keep a record of giving a cover price, and may no longer employ the persons alleged to have given that cover, and in that instance recognises the need to assess the quality of evidence implicating the accused party. The OFT also recognises that where a cover price was given by a sole employee, other employees or directors of that company may not be aware whether or not such conduct took place.

IV.3218. The OFT notes the contradiction between the witness evidence of WC and the contemporaneous evidence and overall explanation provided by JR. On balance, the OFT considers the latter to be more compelling. JR's evidence is consistent with the handwritten entries on the contemporaneous tender sheet and his diary. Further, in relation to Infringements 80, 114 and 127, amongst others described in this Decision, the contents of these Bodill tender documents and diary indicating that cover prices have been provided/accepted have been confirmed to be correct by evidence from other Parties. The OFT also notes that although WC states that he does not recall making or receiving a call to/from Bodill, he does not actually state that he did not do so, or that it would have been in any way contrary to the prevailing practice within E Taylor at the time to have done so. In light of those factors, the OFT considers that the contemporaneous evidence and explanation of JR should be preferred to that of WC.

IV.3220. Bodill and Carmalor each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3221. Bodill was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.3222. In regard to E Taylor, Bodill's tender sheet records 'CARMALOR STEVE FOWKES/WAYNE [.....] [C] Ring THURS'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from Carmalor. The OFT considers that this also indicates more specifically that Bodill was to phone Carmalor's estimator on the day before the date for submitting the tender in order to obtain its cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £178,291 as the tender figure and this was the figure that Bodill submitted.

IV.3223. Bodill's tender sheet records the name of an Carmalor estimator, 'Steve Fowkes', and the telephone number '[.....] [C]'. Information obtained from W R Bloodworth, a list of contacts for cover prices, names 'Steve' at Carmalor with a telephone number contact number of '[.....] [C]⁵³⁵¹, providing further corroboration that Bodill contacted Carmalor, in respect of this tender.

IV.3224. The OFT notes in addition that JR has an entry in his diary on the date for submitting the tender, which JR has confirmed shows Bodill were looking for a cover price for this tender.

IV.3225. While E Taylor has not admitted to cover pricing in respect of this tender, the OFT notes that an internal list of tenders obtained from E Taylor had the word 'cover' typed against this tender.

IV.3226. The OFT also notes that the tender submitted by Bodill was higher than the tender submitted by Carmalor, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.3227. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Carmalor and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Carmalor supplied a figure to Bodill for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Carmalor to Bodill was not unilateral⁵³⁵³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵³⁵⁴

⁵³⁵³ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁵³⁵⁴ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Carmalor (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵³⁵⁵ and
- (c) Carmalor can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bodill (i.e. that Bodill did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵³⁵⁶

IV.3229. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Bodill and Carmalor, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the classroom and dining room refurbishment of Shirebrook School, Shirebrook, Nottinghamshire, tender deadline 12 July 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3231. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 27 to Bodill on 19 November 2004. Bodill will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Party in respect of this Infringement.

IV.3232. In its response to the Statement, Bodill stated that 'so far as Bodill is aware, the OFT had no knowledge of these Alleged Infringements and those contractors who had participated in them until 21 January 2005 and then only as a result of the evidence supplied by Bodill'.⁵³⁵⁷ The OFT first became aware of this tender as a result of the entry in a document obtained during a section 27 visit to Bodill on 19 November 2004⁵³⁵⁸, which gave the OFT reasonable grounds to suspect cover pricing activity in respect of this tender prior to Bodill's leniency application being made. Nevertheless, as stated in paragraph IV.3231 above, the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Bodill in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence from leniency applicant Adam Eastwood

IV.3237. As part of its leniency application, Adam Eastwood's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁵³⁶⁵ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.159 to IV.165 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3238. In addition to its leniency application, Adam Eastwood provided to the OFT a list of covers. At number eight of this list is the following entry:⁵³⁶⁶

*'45 Modernisations, Highbury Vale, Nottingham – October 2002

IV.3239. In their response to the Statement, Adam Eastwood and the Eastwood Foundation had *'No material observations'*⁵³⁶⁷ in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Adam Eastwood

IV.3240. During separate interviews with the OFT on 21 February 2007, conducted in connection with Adam Eastwood's leniency application, both Adrian Tranter ('AT'), Managing Director of Adam Eastwood, and Chris Stubbs ('CS'), Company Director of Adam Eastwood, provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.159 to IV.165 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3241. During the interview with AT, he stated that this tender was '... won by Paul Dodds'.⁵³⁶⁸ AT stated that the handwritten notes belonged to Paul Dodds ('PD'), an ex-employee of Adam Eastwood, and that before PD left Adam Eastwood PD recalled that he gave cover prices on this tender.⁵³⁶⁹ In respect of the second page of notes AT stated 'That'd be one of the cover prices ... Yeah. That's the two' and when asked what the percentages showed, stated 'I would surmise that what Paul's done is plucked a figure out of the air to make it look reasonable as opposed to being one's five percent, one's ten percent'.⁵³⁷⁰

IV.3242. In its response to the Statement, Balfour Beatty/Mansell stated it and its subsidiaries 'do not dispute the occurrence of the Alleged Infringements'.⁵³⁷¹

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.3243. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, an employee of Mansell and an ex-employee from the Nottingham office provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.490 to IV.496 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3244. During an interview with the OFT on 18 April 2007, Kenneth Lockwood ('KL'), who was a Chief Estimator in the Nottingham office, was shown handwritten notes from Adam Eastwood and in respect of the third page he stated 'Well, I can see what they've done there ... they've given a figure plus provisional sums. They've highlighted that because danger is that we could not give that as [an] overall cover figure and then I could have filled it in ... not realising it was ... to have provisional sums added on, it could have been another 200, 300 thousand pound provisional sums ... that meant we would have won it and not had any provisional sums. So I can see why he's written that'.⁵³⁷² When asked if it was fair to say from the information provided that Mansell took a cover price from Adam Eastwood on this tender, KL stated 'Oh, yes, I have no reason ... to believe it won't have been'.⁵³⁷³

Evidence from other companies – Thomas Long

IV.3245. The OFT wrote to Thomas Long on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Thomas Long had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Thomas Long stated '... we are unable to establish that cover prices were either given or received'.⁵³⁷⁴

IV.3246. However, in its response to the Statement, Thomas Long stated '...having considered the evidence contained in the [Statement] ... Thomas Long is satisfied that the Company [Thomas Long] did accept a cover price'.⁵³⁷⁵

IV.3248. Adam Eastwood, Mansell and Thomas Long each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3249. All three companies submitted a tender. It appears that Adam Eastwood completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Adam Eastwood being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.3250. Mansell and Thomas Long were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.3251. In regard to Mansell, Adam Eastwood has confirmed that the handwritten notes '1 5.65% ... Ken Lockwood Mansell [.....] [C]' and 'Mansell 227676.24 + Provs (231000.00)' show that it gave the company noted a cover price. The telephone number [.....] [C] was Mansell's telephone number of its Nottingham office⁵³⁷⁶ and KL was Mansell's Chief Estimator at its Nottingham office.

⁵³⁷⁴ Response from Thomas Long, OFT Document Reference 10884.

IV.3252. In addition, Mansell has admitted on the basis of this document that it received a cover price from Adam Eastwood. Furthermore the figure noted by Adam Eastwood for Mansell, '£227,676.24 + Provs', was the same as the figure of £231,676.00 that Mansell submitted for the tender, once Adam Eastwood's figure of £4000 for 'Prov sums' is included.

IV.3253. In regard to Thomas Long, Adam Eastwood has confirmed that the handwritten notes 'Thos Long Mark Philips [...] [C]' and 'Tho... Long 232,660.76 + Provs. (236660.00)' show that it gave the company noted a cover price. The telephone number [.....] [C] was Thomas Long's telephone number.⁵³⁷⁷

IV.3254. Furthermore the figure noted by Adam Eastwood for Thomas Long, £236,660.00, was almost identical to the figure that Thomas Long submitted for the tender.

IV.3255. The OFT further notes that the tenders submitted by Mansell and Thomas Long were both higher than the tender submitted by Adam Eastwood, the pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided. The OFT considers that the admitted cover pricing between Adam Eastwood and Mansell and the fact that Adam Eastwood has confirmed that its notes show that it gave a cover price to Thomas Long strengthen the OFT's evidence against Thomas Long and reinforces the backdrop of collusion on this tender.

IV.3256. The OFT further notes that all three Parties have now admitted liability in respect of this Infringement.

IV.3257. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Adam Eastwood and Mansell, and between Adam Eastwood and Thomas Long. The OFT also concludes that Adam Eastwood supplied figures to both Mansell and Thomas Long for cover bids.

IV.3258. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3235 to IV.3257 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵³⁷⁸ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Adam Eastwood to each of Mansell and Thomas Long was not unilateral⁵³⁷⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵³⁸⁰
- (b) Mansell and Thomas Long can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Adam Eastwood (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process,⁵³⁸¹ and ⁵³⁸¹ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

- (c) Adam Eastwood can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell and Thomas Long (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵³⁸²

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3261. Adam Eastwood informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Adam Eastwood will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.3262. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Mansell's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by leniency party Adam Eastwood. Mansell will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Mansell will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 117: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 118: Internal Alterations to Workshops, Rooms 25 and 29, West Nottinghamshire College, Derby Road, Mansfield – 6 September 2002

Client: West Nottinghamshire College

The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 6 September 2002 and four companies were invited to tender: Harold Adkin, Greenwood, ARG and an unknown company.⁵³⁸³

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from Greenwood – Two Post-it notes, Schedule of Works and Fax from Harold Adkin

IV.3265. During the OFT's search of Greenwood's premises on 15 June 2005, a number of tender documents with post-it notes attached were found. The first post-it note attached to the tender documents for internal alterations to workshops, Rooms 25 and 29 contained the following handwritten note:⁵³⁸⁶

*'PRICED SPEC TO BE

IV.3266. The second post-it note attached to the tender documents for internal alterations to workshops, Rooms 25 and 29 contained the following handwritten note:⁵³⁸⁷

*'ROB WILTON

IV.3267. A blank copy of the schedule of works for this contract was also found at Greenwood.⁵³⁸⁸ Handwritten on the front page is:

IV.3268. A fax from Ian Douglas of Harold Adkin to Robert Sharman, an ex-estimator at Greenwood, dated 9 September 2002 attaching a priced schedule of works for this contract was also found at Greenwood.⁵³⁸⁹ The fax reads:⁵³⁹⁰

Witness Evidence from Greenwood

IV.3269. During an interview conducted on 12 October 2006, Chris Stendall ('CS'), an ex-estimator for Greenwood, commented in general terms on Greenwood's participation in bid rigging activities. He asked the OFT 'Why don't you ask me if we've taken a cover or given a cover. ... of course I have done that and I believe that probably every other contractor in the country has probably done that on certain occasions'.⁵³⁹¹ CS explained, '... the only reason for doing that is to make sure you're tender ... a figure goes into the client and that you're kept in the loop for next time'.⁵³⁹² CS confirmed that the exchange of cover prices was always carried out by telephone.⁵³⁹³ At Greenwood, the exchange of cover prices usually occurred 'towards the end, I suppose when I, you know they realize you couldn't do something or they wanted some help'.⁵³⁹⁴ CS stated that if he received a cover price he would record it '... in a notebook and then, it would go onto the tender sheet'.⁵³⁹⁵ During interview CS confirmed that when referring to a 'notebook' he actually was referring to a post-it note.⁵³⁹⁶

IV.3270. CS was interviewed for a second time on 28 February 2007 and was shown the documents and post-it notes found during the OFT's search of Greenwood's premises in relation to this tender. CS confirmed that the handwritten notes on the first post-it note were written by Andrew Boam, an ex-estimator at Greenwood, and that it indicates 'That there was a cover from Howard Adkins [sic]' and in relation to the handwritten 'OUR F IG £26,150-00', 'That was the figure that we were given [by Harold Adkin]'.⁵³⁹⁷ CS could not explain the handwriting on the second post-it note.⁵³⁹⁸

IV.3271. On being shown by the OFT the fax from Harold Adkin, CS said in interview 'It would suggest that we either came second or third and the clients asked for a price schedule from the top three ... And obviously as we've not done the work on it we wouldn't know what to ...'.⁵³⁹⁹ CS confirmed that this information was 'A follow up from the original cover yes that's right which occasionally used to happen yes they [the client] do that in case obviously the lowest made a big mistake'.⁵⁴⁰⁰

Evidence from other companies – Greenwood/Crown Point

IV.3272. The OFT wrote to Greenwood on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Greenwood had participated in bid rigging on this tender. A response was received from Begbies Traynor informing the OFT that '... we have now ceased to act as administrators pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 84 of schedule B1 of the Insolvency Act 1986 which facilitates the ending of an administration order by dissolution of the company. ... As we have ceased to act as administrators of the company we are not in a position to enter into any agreement on its behalf'.⁵⁴⁰¹

IV.3273. The OFT subsequently wrote to Greenwood's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Crown Point, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on the letter sent to Greenwood on 22 March 2007, given that the OFT intended to hold Crown Point jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Greenwood in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Crown Point's legal representatives Keeble Hawson said '...the offer is not accepted by Crown Point Maintenance Group Limited'.⁵⁴⁰² The company has subsequently indicated that it was '...without any documentary evidence such that it was simply unable to meet the conditions set out in the fast track offer letter'.⁵⁴⁰³

IV.3274. In response to the Statement, Crown Point provided a witness statement from its Director, Andrew Goodwin, who stated that 'in the light of the evidence presented I cannot deny that the alleged incident took place'.⁵⁴⁰⁴

IV.3275. Crown Point also stated in its response to the Statement that 'the OFT provisionally found that Harold Adkin was the 'instigator' of the process inasmuch that Harold Adkin provided a figure for a cover bid to Greenwood'.⁵⁴⁰⁵ The OFT emphasises that it has not made any finding regarding which party instigated the cover pricing arrangement in this Infringement – indeed, as noted in section IV.C above, it was far more common for the party requesting the cover price (in this Infringement, Greenwood) to initiate the arrangement. It is not necessary for the OFT to conclude on this aspect for a finding of an infringement to be made.

Evidence from other companies – Harold Adkin

IV.3276. The OFT wrote to Harold Adkin on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Harold Adkin had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Harold Adkin admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with the following: Greenwood Builders'.⁵⁴⁰⁶

IV.3277. In its response to the Statement, Harold Adkin stated '[a] competitive tender was received by the client, West Nottinghamshire College. No financial gain by Harold Adkin ... [and] [i]n none of these ... infringements do Adkins consider that there was any loss to the employer/client'.⁵⁴⁰⁷ As explained in Section III (Legal Background) the OFT considers that cover pricing has the object of restricting, distorting or preventing competition and is therefore not required to demonstrate an effect, whether in the form of direct loss to the client or otherwise, in order to establish an Infringement. The extent to which the alleged absence of financial gain or loss to the client should be treated as mitigation when assessing penalties is considered further in Section VI (Enforcement).

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.3279. Greenwood and Harold Adkin each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3280. Greenwood was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender. It appears that Harold Adkin completed the estimating process for this contract and that it submitted a tender with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the fact that it submitted the lowest price and that it won the tender.

IV.3281. A post-it note found at Greenwood records 'PRICED SPEC TO BE FAXED MONDAY! WEST NOTTS COLLEGE COVER FROM HAROLD ADKINS [.....] [C] OUR FIG £26,150-00 IAN DOUGLAS'. CS confirmed that this note records that Greenwood received a cover figure of £26,150 from Harold Adkin for the work for West Nottinghamshire College. The telephone number '[.....] [C]' is the telephone number of Harold Adkin as confirmed by the telephone contact number at the foot of the fax sent to Greenwood by Harold Adkin for this tender. 'IAN DOUGLAS' refers to Ian Douglas, an employee of Harold Adkin, who sent that fax to Greenwood.

IV.3282. The post-it note also stated 'PRICED SPEC TO BE FAXED MONDAY!'. CS explained that Greenwood had been asked by the client for a breakdown of its tender costs. CS explained that as Greenwood had not priced this tender, since it was taking a cover price, it was unable to produce breakdown figures of its own accord. Greenwood therefore went back to Harold Adkin, who had provided Greenwood with the cover price, and Harold Adkin sent the fax with an attached table which gave the requested breakdown of figures to Greenwood. CS further explained that the figures provided by Harold Adkin were costs based on the cover price given to Greenwood by Harold Adkin. The figures in the table add up to £26,150, the tender figure submitted by Greenwood for this work.

IV.3283. In addition to this, the total figure provided by Harold Adkin to Greenwood as its cover price '£26,150-00' and recorded by Greenwood on the first post-it note was identical to the tender that Greenwood submitted for the work.

IV.3284. Both CS of Greenwood and Harold Adkin have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. In addition, Crown Point's Director confirmed in response to the Statement that he could not deny that the Infringement took place. The OFT also notes that Harold Adkin admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Greenwood, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Greenwood was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.3285. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Greenwood, CS's admissions and explanations of that contemporaneous evidence and Harold Adkin's independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender, that Harold Adkin gave a cover price to Greenwood for this tender.

IV.3286. The OFT notes that the tender submitted by Greenwood was higher than the tender submitted by Harold Adkin, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.3287. The OFT also notes that no other company submitted a bid lower than Harold Adkin's bid, and that only Harold Adkin could therefore have given Greenwood a cover in respect of this tender.

IV.3288. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Harold Adkin and Greenwood. The OFT also concludes that Harold Adkin supplied a figure to Greenwood for a cover bid.

IV.3289. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3265 to IV.3288 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁴⁰⁸ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Harold Adkin to Greenwood was not unilateral⁵⁴⁰⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁴¹⁰
- (b) Greenwood can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Harold Adkin (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁴¹¹
- (c) Harold Adkin can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Greenwood (i.e. that Greenwood did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁴¹²

IV.3290. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Harold Adkin and Greenwood, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for internal alterations to workshops, Room 25 and 29, West Nottinghamshire College, Derby Road, Mansfield, tender deadline 6 September 2002.

Infringement 119: Critical Care Development, Queen Elizabeth Hospital,
Gayton Road, Kings Lynn, Norfolk – 16 September 2002
Client: Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Kings Lynn NHS Trust
Parties: Jackson⁵⁴¹³ and Haymills

IV.3291. In 2002, Queen Elizabeth Hospital sought tenders for the Critical Care Development, Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Gayton Road, Kings Lynn, Norfolk. The return date for the tender was 16 September 2002 and four companies were invited to tender: Barnes Construction, Bluestone, Haymills and Jackson.⁵⁴¹⁴

IV.3292. Queen Elizabeth Hospital received the following tender returns prior to 12:00 noon on 16 September 2002:⁵⁴¹⁵

Barnes Construction	16 September 2002	11:22 am	£2,513,870.16

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Propensity – Jackson Tender book

IV.3293. In Jackson's tender book, provided by Propensity to the OFT as part of its leniency application, in respect of this tender, the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten:⁵⁴¹⁶

Evidence from leniency applicant Propensity

IV.3295. As part of its leniency application, Propensity provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3296. In particular, Propensity provided to the OFT an analysis of its Tender Records Book since 4 January 2000 and in respect of this tender, Propensity confirmed that it received a cover price from Haymills.⁵⁴¹⁸

IV.3297. In its response to the Statement, Propensity stated '...Propensity Group has made admissions in relation to all instances of cover pricing it uncovered as part of its leniency application'.⁵⁴¹⁹

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Propensity

IV.3298. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Propensity's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3299. John Rhodes ('JR'), Pre-Contracts Manager at Jackson, confirmed in interview that it is his handwriting in the tender book⁵⁴²⁰ and that in most instances it would be himself that arranged the cover price.⁵⁴²¹ JR said in respect of the entry for this tender in the tender book, 'it appears that a cover was taken from Haymills and the value entered would have been the figure that was included on the formal tender'.⁵⁴²² JR also confirmed that 'PC' stood for the estimator Phil Cooper ('PC'), a senior estimator at Jackson, who was initially assigned this tender before it was decided to take a cover price.⁵⁴²³ JR explained that the 'C' stood for 'competitive tender'.⁵⁴²⁴

IV.3300. PC could not recall this tender but confirmed that the writing on the tender sheet was JR's and not his.⁵⁴²⁵ In respect of the tender sheet JR said 'I would normally fill that sheet in almost immediately after the documents were received', 'that's my handwriting' and 'if he was doing some work on the project and for whatever reason as directed by the board that we were directed to cease work and organise a cover.... he would have been asked to stop and the situation [that Jackson was taking a cover] would have been explained to him'.⁵⁴²⁶

IV.3301. The OFT wrote to Haymills on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that

Haymills had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Haymills admitted 'We engaged in cover pricing (a form of bid rigging activities) on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁵⁴²⁷

IV.3302. In its response Haymills enclosed a copy of its Tender Analysis Form for this tender and under the section headed 'Competition' is written 'Barnes, Jackson, Bluestone'.⁵⁴²⁸ In addition, Haymills said in respect of this tender, that after its internal enquiries and interviews, 'To the extent that Haymills has participated in cover pricing in relation to those tenders, Haymills would, in all likelihood, have done so with Jacksons ...'.⁵⁴²⁹

IV.3303. The OFT subsequently wrote to Haymills' ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Corringway, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on Haymills' response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Corringway jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Haymills in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Corringway said 'Corringway is prepared to confirm that it proposes to respect the terms of Haymills' acceptance of its participation in the alleged infringements, and that it does not propose to make representations denying Haymills' participation in the bid-rigging activities in relation to the suspect tenders which are set out in Annex 1 of the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007 to Haymills ...'.⁵⁴³⁰

IV.3304. In its response to the Statement, Haymills stated that it *'...does not challenge its participation in cover pricing and its breach of the Chapter I prohibition in respect of ... [this Infringement]. Haymills Group regrets its participation in cover pricing and now operates a strict policy of competition law compliance.'*⁵⁴³¹

IV.3306. Jackson and Haymills each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3307. Haymills completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.3308. Jackson was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.3309. In regard to Haymills, Jackson's tender book states, 'Cover from Haymills'. Propensity has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from Haymills. Jackson recorded in the tender book the figure £2,599,473, as the tender figure and this was the figure that Jackson submitted.

⁵⁴³¹ Written representations of Haymills, 27 June 2008, paragraph 2.

- IV.3310. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Jackson was higher than the tender submitted by Haymills, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.3311. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Haymills admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was, 'in all likelihood', Jackson without being shown the OFT's evidence that Jackson was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.3312. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Haymills and Jackson. The OFT also concludes that Haymills supplied a figure to Jackson for a cover bid.
- IV.3313. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3291 to IV.3312 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁴³² In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Haymills to Jackson was not unilateral⁵⁴³³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁴³⁴
 - (b) Jackson can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Haymills (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁴³⁵ and
 - (c) Haymills can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Jackson (i.e. that Jackson did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁴³⁶
- IV.3314. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Jackson and Haymills, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the Critical Care Development, Queen Elizabeth Hospital, Gayton Road, Kings Lynn, Norfolk, tender deadline 16 September 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

- IV.3316. Propensity informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Propensity will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 120: Refurbishment of Changing Rooms, St Benedict School, Derby
– 20 September 2002
Client: St Benedict Catholic School and Performing Arts College
Parties: Derwent Valley and Milward

IV.3317. On 30 August 2002, St Benedict Catholic School and Performing Arts College ('St Benedict'), sought tenders for the refurbishment of boys and girls changing rooms, North Block, St Benedict School and Performing Arts College. The following five companies were invited to tender: Derwent Valley, Peter Baines, Davlyn, Milward and Greenhill Construction. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 20 September 2002.⁵⁴³⁷

IV.3318. St Benedict received the following tender returns:⁵⁴³⁸

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Peter Baines	20 September 2002	£45,207.00	Yes
Davlyn	20 September 2002	£79,489.00
Derwent Valley	20 September 2002	£63,455.00
Greenhill Construction	20 September 2002	£55,603.00
Milward	20 September 2002	£67,874.42

IV.3319. St Benedict also provided a report on tenders which notes at paragraph 3.03 'There is nothing to indicate any collusion and it is considered the tenders are genuine'.⁵⁴³⁹ The report goes on to say that the lowest tender 'has been adjusted by reducing contingencies to £1,000. The lowest tender is £1,209.72 over budget'.⁵⁴⁴⁰ This report concludes with the recommendation that 'the tender from Peter Baines Limited in the revised sum of £44,207.00 be accepted'.⁵⁴⁴¹

IV.3320. Milward noted in its response to the Statement that St Benedict's report had considered the tenders to be genuine. Milward stated, 'This is a contemporaneous document and should be regarded as more evidentially robust...'.⁵⁴⁴² The OFT does not accept this assertion. When including this comment in the report, St Benedict did not have access to the evidence relied on by the OFT. The OFT notes that one of the aims of cover pricing is to ensure that the submitted tenders appear to be genuine, and in this case any report attesting to such merely shows that the parties were successful in this aim.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Schedule

IV.3321. During the OFT’s search of Derwent Valley’s premises, a tender schedule containing handwritten entries was discovered.⁵⁴⁴³ Within this tender schedule was the following entry:⁵⁴⁴⁴

TENDER NO.	RETURN DATE	TENDER DETAILS	OPPOSITION	TENDER
07/08/02	20/09/02	REFURBISHMENT OF CHANGING ROOMS, NORTH BLOCK ST BENEDICTS SCHOOL	67876 Milward (C) Davlyn	63 455	3rd

IV.3322. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3323. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2001 to January 2005 where Derwent Valley had given a cover price to a competitor for that tender, marked as ‘DVC1 List of Covers Given’. The information in the summary was based on the tender book kept by Pat Tunncliffe (‘PT’), an ex-estimator at Derwent Valley, and contained the following extract:⁵⁴⁴⁵

August 2002	Changing room refurbishment St Benedict Catholic School	Milward

IV.3324. In its response to the Statement, Milward asserted that one of the entries in this summary document was incorrect, as it indicated Milward had taken a cover in respect of another project whereas in fact Milward had been successful in obtaining the contract on that project.⁵⁴⁴⁶ The OFT notes Milward’s point. On balance, however, the OFT does not consider the credibility of the other entries in the document to be undermined where, as here, those entries are underpinned by a contemporaneous Tender Schedule. Moreover, the summary represents Derwent Valley’s assessment as to its participation in cover pricing on this tender and the OFT accordingly takes it into account when assessing the totality of the evidence.

IV.3325. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a ‘List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices’. The name ‘Milward Construction

(Belper) appears on this list with the address '30 Market Place Belper Derbyshire' and the contact name 'Adrian Milward'.⁵⁴⁴⁷

IV.3326. In its response to the Statement, Milward stated that Adrian Milward 'does not know any of the employees of Derwent Valley and did not know of them at the time of the Alleged Infringements'.⁵⁴⁴⁸ However, the OFT notes the evidence of PT to the contrary; he stated in interview that '...Milward were a contractor in Belper, the same as Derwent Valley were. They went back a long way, you know, before I joined. Adrian knew that if it wasn't David it would be myself that was pricing it and he would ask for one or the other and then we would give him a call back when we had a figure for him'.⁵⁴⁴⁹

IV.3327. Following the issue of the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.3328. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors and an ex-employee provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3329. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with PT, who dealt with this tender. PT confirmed that he kept and maintained the tender schedule referred to in paragraphs IV.309 to IV.317 above.⁵⁴⁵⁰ PT referred to the tender schedule and when asked if he recalled the tender he said, 'Yeah I remember going round there. It looks as though, I would say we came third on that...it looks as though I gave a cover to Milward, that'd be the Milward in Belper'. When asked if he recalled dealing with anyone at Milward, PT said 'Yeah that would be Adrian' and went on to clarify this as Adrian Milward. PT could not specifically recall having a conversation with Milward in regard to this tender and said that 'you just get a phone call, are you pricing it, can you help me out?'. When asked how Milward would have known to contact Derwent Valley, PT responded 'Because Milward were a contractor in Belper, the same as Derwent Valley were. They went back a long way, you know, before I joined. Adrian knew that if it wasn't David it would be myself that was pricing it and he would ask for one or the other and then we would give him a call back when we had a figure for him'.⁵⁴⁵¹

IV.3330. David Stone ('DS'), Managing Director of Derwent Valley, was also interviewed in regard to this tender. DS recalled the tender and said 'Yeah, I, I priced that, I can remember'.⁵⁴⁵² DS, examining the entry for this tender in the tender schedule and the figure of 67876, said that 'I'd suggest, not totally sure, but I'd suggest that may be the figure given to them'. When asked whether he meant that the figure was given by Derwent Valley, he said 'Yeah'.⁵⁴⁵³

IV.3331. Milward stated in its response to the Statement that ‘... both PT and DS say that they priced the tender – they cannot both be correct ...’.⁵⁴⁵⁴ The OFT does not accept Milward’s interpretation of the witness evidence (although the OFT does not see any inconsistency if the two individuals worked together to compile a single tender estimate). In this case the OFT considers the evidence shows that PT visited the site and DS priced the tender: PT said ‘I remember going round there [to the St Benedict School]’ and DS said ‘I priced that’. There is no inconsistency.

IV.3332. Milward also stated in its response to the Statement that ‘...neither [PT or DS] is able to say with certainty (“not totally sure”) that they provided a cover price to Milward’.⁵⁴⁵⁵ The OFT considers the interviews with PT and DS to be good corroborating evidence for the contemporaneous Tender Schedule document. Although neither PT nor DS could recall the exact circumstances in which the cover was provided to Milward, both did have a recollection of the job and explained that the entry in the contemporaneous Tender Schedule indicated that Milward took a cover price. The OFT relies primarily on the Tender Schedule in this regard, the witness evidence being supportive.

Evidence from other companies – Milward

IV.3333. The OFT wrote to Milward on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Milward had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Milward did not reply to this letter and subsequently on 9 May 2007 a call was made by the OFT to the Managing Director of Milward, who said the OFT would not be receiving a response as Milward ‘have not done anything wrong’.⁵⁴⁵⁶

IV.3334. Milward stated in its response to the Statement that it ‘...did not give or receive a cover price for this tender...’.⁵⁴⁵⁷ It also adduced an affidavit from Stephen Milward, indicating that he priced this job, and ‘The Company did not take a cover price for the works’.⁵⁴⁵⁸ The OFT notes Stephen Milward’s evidence, and has given it consideration. On balance, however, the OFT considers that greater weight may be attached to the contemporaneous Tender Schedule. Although the witness evidence of PT explaining the entries in this Schedule indicated that it was Adrian Milward with whom Derwent Valley usually dealt, he does not specifically state that it was Adrian with whom he dealt on this occasion, Stephen Milward has likewise confirmed that he does not know PT⁵⁴⁵⁹, and moreover both he and Adrian Milward have confirmed that he would not always be the person finalising and submitting the tender on the day⁵⁴⁶⁰ (and therefore the person who might make or take a telephone call in respect of provision of a cover). The OFT therefore does not consider the apparent inconsistency between the evidence of the respective parties’ witnesses to be irreconcilable in this instance. In any event the OFT considers that the contemporaneous Tender Schedule would weigh in favour of preferring the evidence of PT to the extent that there is any inconsistency.

IV.3335. Milward also stated in its response to the Statement that it '...was actively marketing its services to schools... [t]he targeted marketing which took place during the period in which the tender was submitted demonstrates that Milward was eager to expand its work in this area... [i]t would be contrary to this policy for Milward to have sought a cover price on this tender'.⁵⁴⁶¹ The OFT does not accept that Milward's active marketing to schools means it would not have sought and obtained a cover price for this tender. On the contrary the OFT views Milward's active marketing as a possible incentive for it to obtain a cover price, rather than returning no bid at all and risk being viewed by the school as a company unable to supply the work for which it was marketing itself.

IV.3336. Milward further questioned whether the use of a 'C' entry in the Tender Schedule indicated that a cover price had been given/taken, suggesting in particular that DS had only 'assumed that [the giving of a cover price] was indicated by the use of the letter 'C'' and that the 'C' may denote 'competitor' as 'it is possible for contractors to note from where their main competition has arisen'.⁵⁴⁶² The OFT does not consider this plausible. The witnesses from Derwent Valley did not indicate that it was a part of their practice in compiling the Tender Schedule to denote their competitors in this manner. Further, PT confirmed that a 'C' in brackets indicated that Derwent Valley had either given or taken a cover.⁵⁴⁶³ Moreover, similar entries in the Derwent Valley Tender Schedule have been confirmed to accurately record the giving of a cover price by the admissions of other Parties in relation to Infringements including 68, 93, 110 and 144.

IV.3338. Derwent Valley and Milward each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Derwent Valley completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.3339. Milward was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.3340. Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes a reference to competitor Milward with the letter 'C' in brackets next to it and a figure of 67876 written above it. Derwent Valley confirmed that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received. The figure in the tender schedule next to the reference for Milward of 67876 is marginally higher than the figure of £67,874.42 that Milward submitted as its bid for the tender. This is consistent with the acceptance of a cover price, and the recipient changing it slightly so as to present a less conspicuous figure, and/or one even less likely to win the contract.

IV.3341. The OFT notes that of the two companies mentioned in Derwent Valley's tender schedule, Milward and Davlyn, only Milward has a '(C)' and a figure against it. This handwritten entry shows that Derwent Valley made a conscious decision to differentiate Milward from the other competitor mentioned.

IV.3342. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover to Milward.

IV.3343. This was corroborated in interview by DS, who agreed that the entry in the tender schedule showed that Derwent Valley gave covers in respect of this tender to Milward.

IV.3344. Derwent Valley also included Milward in its list of companies who exchanged cover prices.

IV.3345. In addition, the OFT notes that St Benedict received a tendered amount of £63,455.00 from Derwent Valley, which is lower than the amount tendered by Milward. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been given to Milward from Derwent Valley.

IV.3346. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and Milward. The OFT also concludes that Derwent Valley supplied a figure to Milward for a cover bid.

IV.3347. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3321 to IV.3346 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁴⁶⁴ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Derwent Valley to Milward was not unilateral⁵⁴⁶⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁴⁶⁶
- (b) Milward can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Derwent Valley (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁴⁶⁷ and
- (c) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Milward (i.e. that Milward did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁴⁶⁸

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3350. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Derwent Valley in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 121: Residential Development, Elmdale, Herefordshire – 23 September 2002

Client: St John Kemble Hereford Housing Association
Parties: Thomas Vale and J Harper

IV.3351. On 21 August 2002, St John Kemble Hereford Housing Association ('St John Kemble') sought tenders for the construction of 10 new homes at Elmdale, Ewyas Harold, Herefordshire. The following four companies were invited to tender: J Harper, C J Bayliss, Partnerships First (now known as Kier Partnership Homes) and Thomas Vale.⁵⁴⁶⁹ Tenders were invited for a contract period of 36 weeks (Alternative A) and within a contract period at the tenderer's discretion (Alternative B). The deadline for the receipt of tenders was noon on 23 September 2002.⁵⁴⁷⁰

IV.3352. St John Kemble received the following tender returns:⁵⁴⁷¹

Company	Time & Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
J Harper	Not known	£856,600 (B) ⁵⁴⁷²
C J Bayliss	Not known	£859,251 (A) £853,389 (B)

IV.3353. Supporting tender documentation from J Harper and Thomas Vale was provided to the OFT by the client.⁵⁴⁷³ Thomas Vale's Form of Tender was signed by Christopher Keith Trickett ('CKT'), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, on 23 September 2002.⁵⁴⁷⁴

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale – Tender Status spreadsheet

IV.3354. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, which contained the following entry:⁵⁴⁷⁵

TENDER NO	DIV	CLIENT	DESCRIPTION	Approx £	EST
T5202	B	St John Kemble Hereford HA	Residential Development, Elmdale, Hereford		CKT

B	23/09/2002 Noon	878,563		Harper,

IV.3355. The Tender Status spreadsheet was maintained at Thomas Vale’s head office by CKT, who kept a ‘little black book’⁵⁴⁷⁶ of contacts, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Within this contact list, there is an entry for ‘J. Harper’ plus names and telephone numbers⁵⁴⁷⁷, which match those found on Harper plc’s website.⁵⁴⁷⁸

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.3356. At Annex 14⁵⁴⁷⁹ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale’s legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 32 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2002 tenders is the following entry:⁵⁴⁸⁰

Tender No	Date	Client	Comments	Cover Given/Taken	Evidence
T5202	23 September	St John Kemble Hereford HA	Residential Development, Elmdale, Hereford	Taken (Harper)	Yes (Tender Spreadsheet)

IV.3357. The Tender Spreadsheet in the last column is the Tender Status spreadsheet referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above.

IV.3358. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁵⁴⁸¹ and 'Harper' appears on this list.

IV.3359. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.3361. CKT admitted that the initials 'CKT', which appear in the estimator column for this tender, were his own and that the letter 'B', which appears in the column marked 'DIV', stands for Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager.⁵⁴⁸² In interview, CKT referred to the entry for this tender in the Tender Status spreadsheet as follows: 'I'm the allocated estimator, category B which indicates a cover, tender return date 23rd of the 9th 2002. Thomas Vale's submitted tender £878,563, and the contractor's name Harper is in bold, which indicates we took a cover figure from Harper'.⁵⁴⁸³

Evidence from other companies – J Harper

IV.3362. The OFT wrote to Harper Construction Group Limited, a sister company of J Harper, on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that J Harper had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Harper plc wrote to the OFT through its legal representatives on 4 May 2007⁵⁴⁸⁴ and admitted that J Harper had 'engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with Thomas Vale'.⁵⁴⁸⁵

IV.3363. In their response to the Statement, J Harper confirmed that they had accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer and that they were not making any representations in respect of the Infringements.⁵⁴⁸⁶

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.3365. Thomas Vale and J Harper each accepted an invitation to tender for the construction of 10 new houses at Elmdale, Herefordshire.

⁵⁴⁸⁶ Written representations of J Harper, 27 June 2008, paragraph 4.

- IV.3366. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicated that this was a cover price.
- IV.3367. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT, records Harper as a competitor who was also invited to tender. Harper is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated as soon as the cover price had been arranged by CKT. Thomas Vale's bid to the client on the Tender Status spreadsheet is £878,563 which matches the amount recorded by the client St John Kemble.
- IV.3368. St John Kemble also received a tendered amount of £856,600 from J Harper, which is lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Harper to Thomas Vale.
- IV.3369. The OFT notes that the tender had been allocated to CKT, who was responsible for the maintenance of the Tender Status spreadsheet. This means that it is likely that the entry was accurate and that CKT had personal knowledge of the decision to receive a cover price at the time. It also indicates that CKT himself made contact with J Harper.
- IV.3370. Thomas Vale admitted that J Harper was one of the key competitors with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. CKT had an entry for J Harper in a contact book he used to telephone other contractors for the purpose of obtaining cover prices. In interview, CKT confirmed that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet shows that a cover price had been received by Thomas Vale from J Harper.
- IV.3371. Finally, both parties admit to bid rigging activities on this tender. The OFT notes that Harper plc admitted that the party with whom J Harper engaged in bid rigging was Thomas Vale, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Thomas Vale was involved. This provides additional corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.3372. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and J Harper. The OFT also concludes that J Harper supplied a figure to Thomas Vale for a cover bid.
- IV.3373. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3354 to IV.3372 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁴⁸⁷ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from J Harper to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁵⁴⁸⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors,⁵⁴⁸⁹

⁵⁴⁸⁷ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁴⁸⁸ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁵⁴⁸⁹ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from J Harper (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁴⁹⁰ and
- (c) J Harper can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁴⁹¹

IV.3374. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Thomas Vale and J Harper in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for a residential development at Elmdale, Herefordshire, tender deadline 23 September 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3376. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter

IV.3379. The Form of Tender was completed on 25 September 2002 and Hobson & Porter's submitted price was £48,851.⁵⁴⁹⁴

IV.3380. In connection with its leniency application, Hobson & Porter provided to the OFT a handwritten note with the annotations 'Norman Halls Our Figure 45,851'.⁵⁴⁹⁵

IV.3381. Also in connection with its leniency application, Hobson & Porter subsequently produced a sheet of type written text headed, 'INSTRUCTIONS FOR TENDERING', relating to this tender, with a handwritten note 'Norman [.....] [C]'.⁵⁴⁹⁶

Evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter

IV.3382. As part of its leniency application, Hobson & Porter provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.391 to IV.407 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3383. In Hobson & Porter's Summary of Cover Pricing Activity (Minor Works), provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, it is stated that Hobson & Porter received a cover from Hall on this tender and that the individual contact at Hall was Norman Abbott.⁵⁴⁹⁷

IV.3384. In its response to the Statement, Hobson & Porter stated that it '...does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁵⁴⁹⁸

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter

IV.3385. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Hobson & Porter's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.391 to IV.407 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3386. In respect of this tender, in interview Ian Gibbins ('IG'), Minor Works Director at Hobson & Porter, confirmed that the handwriting, 'Norman Our Figure

45,851', on the handwritten note was Julie Smee's ('JS'), an assistant in Minor Works.⁵⁴⁹⁹ IG said that 'Halls' was probably written in at a later date when documents were being prepared for Hobson & Porter's leniency application.⁵⁵⁰⁰ IG said that JS was an assistant in the estimating department and confirmed that JS was fully aware of the practice of cover pricing.⁵⁵⁰¹

IV.3387. IG said that he knew that Hobson & Porter had taken a cover price on this tender because, 'There is no pricing within our document, with our file. There is my handwriting on the top of one of the documents [Instructions for Tendering] that says Norman.....it says in there in my handwriting Norman and his telephone number.... the telephone number is definitely Halls Construction'.⁵⁵⁰² IG confirmed that he would have made this note (at the time of the initial contact to seek the cover price) '...a week to two or three days before the tender was due in. That's the note that says Norman and the telephone number'.⁵⁵⁰³

IV.3388. IG said in respect of the note made by JS, 'Norman Our Figure 45,851', 'I was obviously out. I asked them if he [Norman] hadn't rung up with the figure, to chase him up for the figure and then Julie has then written our figure, Norman and a figure that we had to go in around'.⁵⁵⁰⁴ IG noted that the figure written by JS did not match precisely with the figure that Hobson & Porter tendered for this contract, but confirmed that it was still above Hall's figure.⁵⁵⁰⁵

Evidence from other companies – Hall

IV.3389. The OFT wrote to Hall on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Hall had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Hall admitted, 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with: 1. HOBSON & PORTER'.⁵⁵⁰⁶

IV.3390. The company information for Hall gives its telephone number as [.....]
[C].⁵⁵⁰⁷

IV.3391. In its response to the Statement, Hall confirmed that '[i]t is not disputed that Hall participated in cover pricing during the relevant period set out in the Statement'.⁵⁵⁰⁸

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

⁵⁵⁰⁸ Written representations of Hall, 24 June 2008, paragraph 53.

- IV.3393. Hobson & Porter and Hall each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.3394. It appears that Hall completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Hall being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.
- IV.3395. Hobson & Porter was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.
- IV.3396. In regard to Hall, and specifically the Hobson & Porter handwritten notes 'Norman Our Figure 45,851' and 'Norman [.....] [C]', Hobson & Porter has confirmed that these show that it received a cover price for this tender from Norman Abbott, an estimator at Hall. IG confirmed that he would have noted 'Norman [.....] [C]' when making the initial request for a cover price, and that JS would have noted 'Norman Our Figure 45,851' when making a subsequent chase up for the cover price, just prior to the tender deadline. In respect of the telephone number 'Norman [.....] [C]', this is the number for Hall.
- IV.3397. Although the figure written by JS does not appear to match with the figure submitted by Hobson & Porter for this tender, the OFT considers that either the figure was transcribed incorrectly to Hobson & Porter's tender submission due to a lack of clarity in the note, or alternatively that Hobson & Porter added a further amount to the cover price, to ensure that it did not win the contract.
- IV.3398. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Hall admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Hobson & Porter, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Hobson & Porter was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.3399. The OFT notes that the tender submitted by Hobson & Porter was higher than the tender submitted by Hall, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. In addition the OFT notes that Hall's tender figure is the only figure below Hobson & Porter's tender figure, and the OFT is therefore satisfied that Hobson & Porter could only have received a cover figure from Hall.
- IV.3400. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Hall and Hobson & Porter. The OFT also concludes that Hall supplied a figure to Hobson & Porter for a cover bid.
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Hall to Hobson & Porter was not unilateral⁵⁵¹⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors,⁵⁵¹¹

⁵⁵⁰⁹ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁵¹⁰ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁵⁵¹¹ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) Hobson & Porter can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Hall (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁵¹² and
- (c) Hall can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Hobson & Porter (i.e. that Hobson & Porter did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁵¹³

IV.3402. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Hobson & Porter and Hall, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for a reception and office extension at St Anne's Community Special School, Welton, Brough, tender deadline 25 September 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3404. Hobson & Porter informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Hobson & Porter will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Frank Haslam Milan – Tender Summary

IV.3407. As part of its leniency application, Frank Haslam Milan’s legal representatives provided a Tender Summary⁵⁵¹⁷ in respect of this tender, at the bottom are some handwritten notes as follows:

*‘2,175 Connaught
2189 Mansell’*

Evidence from leniency applicant Frank Haslam Milan

IV.3408. As part of its leniency application, Frank Haslam Milan’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.326 to IV.334 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3409. Frank Haslam Milan’s legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table headed ‘PART C – DEFINITE ASSISTANCE GIVEN’, which included an entry for this tender. In the column headed ‘Stephen Francis’ (Manager of the Estimating Department) Comments’ is written ‘Definite assistance to Mansell and Connaught. Written evidence found’.⁵⁵¹⁸

IV.3410. In its response to the Statement, Connaught suggested that Frank Haslam Milan’s table of definite assistance given was unreliable for a number of reasons, including that it was based solely on the contemporaneous document (the reliability of which it disputed; see below) and that Frank Haslam Milan had included possible instances of cover pricing as well as definite ones.⁵⁵¹⁹ While the OFT is not giving the Frank Haslam Milan leniency documents the same evidential weight as contemporaneous documents and witness testimony, the OFT does consider this document robust as it is a result of extensive investigation by Frank Haslam Milan. The OFT also notes that in its leniency application, Frank Haslam Milan submitted possible and definite instances of cover pricing separately, indicating a sensitivity on its part to whether the contemporaneous documents were strong evidence of a cover price having been taken/provided, or merely suggestive, and that this tender is included in the table of definite instances of cover pricing.

⁵⁵¹⁹ Written representations of Connaught, 27 June 2008, paragraph 2.2(d) and 2.3(c).

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Frank Haslam Milan

IV.3411. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Frank Haslam Milan's current and ex-employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.326 to IV.334 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3412. During an interview with the OFT on 23 April 2007, David Mellor ('DM'), Managing Director⁵⁵²⁰ of Frank Haslam Milan, stated, in relation to this tender '... we definitely gave assistance out on that scheme to two organisations ... I was approached directly'.⁵⁵²¹ DM explained '... one of the organisations – Connaught – were looking to move into the area and were looking to work on partnerships schemes, so they were looking to be on the list. They got on the list on this scheme, but they weren't looking for traditional tenders, so they weren't looking to price that scheme. So they come to me for some assistance'.⁵⁵²² DM stated '... because the contact came to me, I gave them ... back the price ... as to what their bid should be'.⁵⁵²³

IV.3413. In its response to the Statement, Connaught suggested that DM's statement in interview was inaccurate as 'Connaught was well established in the North East at that time...' and 'Connaught was keen to win traditional tenders and...without winning traditional contracts, it was not possible to win partnership contracts...'.⁵⁵²⁴ This is said to affect the weight that should be given to his evidence in respect of Connaught. The OFT considers that even if DM's perception as to the reason for Connaught taking a cover price was inaccurate (which the OFT does not necessarily accept), this is irrelevant to the finding of an infringement. There are many other reasons why Connaught might have taken a cover price on this tender, such as being too busy with other work. Even if DM's perception of Connaught's motivation for seeking a cover price were incorrect, that does not detract from the fact that he had a specific recollection of this tender, and a specific recollection of Connaught approaching him for a cover price (whatever their reason for doing so might have been).

IV.3414. In respect of contact with Mansell, DM stated 'Mansell approached ... me on this situation ... and Mansell had told us that this was the fifth phase Ferguson's Lane. All the first four phases had been won by City Build [sic Cityworks] which is Newcastle's DLO, so this isn't a job to win - no chance'.⁵⁵²⁵

IV.3415. In respect of the handwritten notes at the bottom of the tender summary, DM stated 'Its my writing ... 2175 Connaught, 2189 Mansell' and confirmed that this had been written before the tender was submitted.⁵⁵²⁶ When asked how the figure of 2175 had been reached, DM stated 'Just a certain percentage above them ... nothing scientific other than we're obviously giving Connaught and Mansell and just give them fairly close together but not too close to us because, again, as a business decision, you won't want somebody ... you know, our price was a bloody good price so we want to be sure it's not that close to the price, that's all we do'.⁵⁵²⁷

IV.3416. In its response to the Statement, Connaught suggested that DM's testimony regarding this tender was unreliable for a number of reasons, including that he did not remember the identity of the person at Connaught with whom he had had contact, and that he was merely agreeing with or was being led by the interviewer.⁵⁵²⁸ The OFT does not accept Connaught's suggestions, for the following reasons.

IV.3417. First, the OFT would not expect DM necessarily to have complete recollection of every specific tender and in particular every detail of an exchange that occurred a number of years ago in relation to each tender. That he does not remember with whom he spoke at Connaught does not detract from his specific recollection of having had a conversation in which he was approached for a cover price by Connaught. Secondly, the quote cited by Connaught in its written representations as evidence that the interviewer was leading him⁵⁵²⁹ should be considered in the context of the rest of the interview. Even if DM did not volunteer that he had completed the Tender Summary prior to submitting his tender, he had nonetheless already confirmed that he specifically recalled providing a cover price on this tender. He went on to refer to this being 'carried out in a tender meeting'. To the extent that he may have completed the Tender Summary after submitting the tender (which the OFT does not accept in view of DM's confirmation that he did so beforehand) this again does not undermine his evidence that a cover price had been given. Thirdly, it should be noted that Mansell's witness evidence and the contemporaneous documents from both Mansell and Frank Haslam Milan support DM's account of events.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – tender log

is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3420. Mansell's legal representatives provided to the OFT a table showing information relating to tendering activities in which a calculated competitive bid was not submitted, for the NER, which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that the project bid value was '£2,189,244.00' and that Mansell received a cover price from Frank Haslam Milan and that this cover price was taken due to 'Worktype issue' at Mansell.⁵⁵³²

IV.3421. Mansell's legal representatives also provided to the OFT a schedule of covers for the NER, which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell received a cover price from Frank Haslam Milan and includes the comment 'Omer Asir recollects that MSCL received a cover price from Frank Haslam Milan'.⁵⁵³³

IV.3422. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, a Mansell employee from the NER provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.478 to IV.480 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3423. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, Omer Asir ('OA') a managing estimator⁵⁵³⁴ in the NER, advised how it would be recorded when Mansell had taken a cover as detailed in paragraphs IV.479 to IV.480 above. In relation to this tender, OA, when asked about the significance of the 'C' in the tender log, confirmed that it identified where a cover price was taken and that the tender figure submitted was £2,189,244.⁵⁵³⁵ In respect of his recollection that the cover was taken from Frank Haslam Milan, OA stated '... on that particular one, the client has provided us with the information of the results of the tender and obviously from the names that appear on that, they have, sort of jogged my memory in terms of who it was so it's a strong recollection because the other contractors on there one being the local authority's own, is someone that you wouldn't seek assistance from, the other name is not one I'm familiar with'.⁵⁵³⁶ OA confirmed that the other name with which he was not familiar was Connaught, and that from this he concluded that a cover price had been taken from Frank Haslam Milan.⁵⁵³⁷ When shown the Frank Haslam Milan Tender Summary, OA stated '...so that really confirms my assumption' and when asked whom he would have spoken to at Frank Haslam Milan, he stated 'well I recall the name because he was the only estimator at Frank Haslam at the time ... it was Steve Francis'.⁵⁵³⁸

IV.3424. In its response to the Statement, Connaught suggested that it had not, as part of the disclosure process, been provided with a document that had been

Evidence from other companies – Connaught plc

IV.3425. The OFT wrote to Connaught plc on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Connaught had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Connaught plc stated that it was unable to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁵⁵⁴⁰

IV.3426. In its response to the Statement, Connaught provided a statement from Peter Jones ('PJ'), Joint Managing Director of the Northern Division, in which he stated 'I do not have any particular recollection of this tender and in particular have no recollection of speaking to David Mellor or anyone else at FHM about this job or of Connaught having requested or obtained a cover price from FHM'.⁵⁵⁴¹ PJ also stated, in respect of the OFT's allegation that Connaught obtained a cover price from Frank Haslam Milan, that *'This does not seem plausible to me, because Connaught has a clear policy across the group that when it does not have the resources to price a job or does not want to win a contract, it returns the tender...'*⁵⁵⁴²

IV.3427. The OFT accepts that Connaught has been transparent in its dealings with the OFT by not disputing liability in respect of Infringements 22 and 175⁵⁵⁴³, and that it is therefore likely that it is being honest in its statement that there is a policy across the group that it should return tenders which it was unable or unwilling to price. However, the OFT notes that individual staff members may on occasions have breached Connaught's policy to return tenders, since in Infringement 175 there is clear evidence that Connaught took a cover price from a different leniency applicant and Connaught is not disputing that Infringement.⁵⁵⁴⁴ The absence of a specific recollection by PJ of this tender, and a general policy that cover prices should not be taken, cannot exculpate Connaught from an Infringement where other evidence is available which the OFT considers implicates it, and indeed is sufficient to substantiate its involvement.

IV.3428. In its response to the Statement, Connaught suggested that the figures on Frank Haslam Milan's Tender Summary could have been provided by the client and recorded after the contract was awarded. Connaught quoted Stephen Francis ('SF') of Frank Haslam Milan who stated that 'we also used to log on there [the Competitive Tender Information Service or System ('CTIS')] any competitors that we found that were pricing it during the course of the tender erm and then following the bid we used to put on there, erm, the values that had been bid ... that was generally from information we used to get back post bid from the client...', and suggested either that the Tender Summary was that log or that this demonstrated Frank Haslam Milan's general approach to the recording of information.⁵⁵⁴⁵

IV.3429. The OFT notes, however, that Frank Haslam Milan's leniency application clearly described the Tender Summary and the CTIS log as being two separate documents used during the tendering process. SF's comment was referring to entries in the CTIS log, not to entries on Tender Summaries.⁵⁵⁴⁶ In addition, the OFT notes that the other competitor for the contract, Cityworks, was not mentioned in the handwritten entries on the Tender Summary. If the Tender Summary were, like the CTIS log, intended to record post-tender information, then there is no credible reason why Frank Haslam Milan would have recorded only two of the three companies' bids. It is far more credible that, as Frank Haslam Milan has explained and as discussed above, this note shows the two companies to whom it gave a cover price, the third company to whom no cover price was provided (Cityworks) being omitted.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.3430. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.3431. Frank Haslam Milan, Mansell and Connaught each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3432. All three companies submitted a tender. It appears that Frank Haslam Milan completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Frank Haslam Milan being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.3433. Mansell and Connaught were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.3434. Frank Haslam Milan's Tender Summary contains handwritten notes '2,175 Connaught 2189 Mansell'. Frank Haslam Milan confirmed that this shows that it gave cover prices to Mansell and to Connaught.

IV.3435. In respect of Mansell, Mansell's tender log records 'C' next to the entry for this tender. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it took a cover price and in interview the Mansell estimator OA confirmed it was his recollection that he spoke to Frank Haslam Milan to obtain the cover price, and suggested that he spoke to Steve Francis. Steve Francis worked in the estimating department of Frank Haslam Milan from January 1999 to 2006.

IV.3436. DM of Frank Haslam Milan has admitted to providing both cover prices on this tender and given the strength and specific nature of DM's recollection, the OFT considers it likely that it was in fact DM at Frank Haslam Milan that OA of Mansell spoke to in respect of this tender, rather than Steve Francis.

IV.3437. Both Frank Haslam Milan and Mansell have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender.

IV.3438. In respect of Connaught, the OFT notes that although Connaught does not admit to bid rigging in respect of this tender, there is contemporaneous evidence from Mansell which corroborates the contemporaneous evidence and witness recollection from Frank Haslam Milan. This reinforces the evidential strength of the Frank Haslam Milan document and the confirmation from DM at Frank Haslam Milan in interview that he gave a cover price to Connaught, as well as to Mansell.

IV.3439. The OFT further notes that the tenders submitted by Mansell and Connaught were higher than the tender submitted by Frank Haslam Milan, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.3440. In its response to the Statement, Connaught argued that this 'in no way proves that Connaught did in fact take a cover price, which is the point at issue in this case'.⁵⁵⁴⁷ The OFT notes that this analysis is not relied upon as evidence per se. It merely sets out that the pattern of the tender bids which was consistent with a cover price having been provided by Frank Haslam Milan to Connaught

IV.3441. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Frank Haslam Milan and Mansell, and between Frank Haslam Milan and Connaught. The OFT also concludes that Frank Haslam Milan supplied figures to Mansell and Connaught for cover bids.

IV.3442. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3407 to IV.3441 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁵⁴⁸ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Frank Haslam Milan to Mansell and from Frank Haslam Milan to Connaught was not unilateral⁵⁵⁴⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁵⁵⁰
- (b) Mansell and Connaught can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Frank Haslam Milan (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁵⁵¹ and
- (c) Frank Haslam Milan can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell and Connaught (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁵⁵²

IV.3443. In its response to the Statement, Frank Haslam Milan stated in respect of this Infringement that 'The state of mind of FHM and therefore its conduct was also determined before having been contacted by Mansell and Connaught...No

⁵⁵⁴⁷ Written representations of Connaught, 27 June 2008, paragraph 2.9.

⁵⁵⁴⁹ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁵⁵⁵⁰ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁵⁵¹ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

*evidence has been put forward that the conduct of Mansell and Connaught in contacting FHM for a cover influenced FHM's (1) decision to bid competitively; or (ii) its cost estimate and actual price submitted'⁵⁵⁵³ and '...FHM did not know who else was bidding on this project'*.⁵⁵⁵⁴ In essence, Frank Haslam Milan argues that it should not be presumed to have acted in the market on the basis of the information that Connaught and Mansell would not be submitting competitive bids.

IV.3444. However, to the extent that the argument is advanced as a denial of one of the necessary elements of liability (which would be inconsistent with Frank Haslam Milan's application for leniency and consequent admission of liability), rather than a suggested mitigating factor, the OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁵⁵⁵⁵ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Frank Haslam Milan has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept Frank Haslam Milan's assertion that the cover pricing did not affect its actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3447. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.3448. Frank Haslam Milan informed the OFT of further bid rigging activities (involving Connaught) in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these further activities from any other source. Frank Haslam Milan will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 124: Dronfield Gorse Brigg Primary School Extension – 15 October 2002
Client: Derbyshire County Council
Parties: Sol and Ackroyd & Abbott

IV.3449. On 16 September 2002, Derbyshire County Council ('DCC') sought tenders for the construction of an extension to Dronfield Gorse Brigg Primary School. The following four companies were invited to tender: Head of Contract Services at Matlock, Ackroyd & Abbott, Sol and Weaver (now known as Strata). The closing date for return of tenders was 15 October 2002 by 11:00 am.⁵⁵⁵⁶

IV.3450. DCC received the following tender returns:⁵⁵⁵⁷

Evidence from leniency applicant Sol

IV.3453. As part of its leniency application, Sol provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.593 to IV.616 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3454. In particular, Sol provided the OFT with an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000. In respect of the tender for Dronfield Gorse Brigg Primary School Extension, dated 15 October 2002, Sol confirmed that it took a cover price from Richard Abbott at Ackroyd & Abbott, because it was 'unable to price the work but Client important to us and we did not wish to be seen to be refusing work'.⁵⁵⁶⁰

IV.3455. In its response to the Statement, Sol acknowledged that it had '... admitted engaging in the practice of cover pricing in the 7 tenders listed in the Statement of Objections'.⁵⁵⁶¹

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Sol

IV.3456. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Sol's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.593 to IV.616 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3457. When interviewed about this tender, John Cummings ('JC'), Chief Estimator at Sol, identified the writing in the Tender Register⁵⁵⁶² as his, with the exception of the name 'Strata' in the 'COMPETITION' column, which he identified as that of an estimator's assistant, Shirley Peters.⁵⁵⁶³ When asked what was the 'Tender Sum' he said, 'One million and nine thousand six hundred and thirty two'.⁵⁵⁶⁴ He added, 'That was ... [the] ... cover price that we then obviously got from

Ackroyd & Abbott'.⁵⁵⁶⁵ This figure is the same as that in the tender received by DCC from Sol. When asked to explain the entry 'C' FROM ACK & ABB' he replied 'Cover price from Ackroyd & Abbott'.⁵⁵⁶⁶ When asked to explain who Ackroyd & Abbott were he answered, 'They're a Sheffield building company'.⁵⁵⁶⁷ JC was asked to confirm that Ackroyd & Abbott were competitors of Sol. He said, 'Yeah'.⁵⁵⁶⁸ JC confirmed that the entry 'C' FROM ACK & ABB' would have been made probably at the time that the tender sum was entered.⁵⁵⁶⁹

IV.3458. When asked about the EBR for this tender⁵⁵⁷⁰, dated 15 October 2002, JC confirmed that the entry 'C' in the 'ESTIMATOR' column denoted a cover price. The figure of '800,000' in the 'Tender Value' column he explained, '... tender value is only approximate. That would appear on the following Board Report, you know, the accurate figure there. You know, the million...And that was just my approximation, the value of job there'.⁵⁵⁷¹

Evidence from other companies – Ackroyd & Abbott

IV.3459. The OFT wrote to Ackroyd & Abbott on 22 March 2007, offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Ackroyd & Abbott had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Ackroyd & Abbott replied to the OFT on 26 April 2007. Ackroyd & Abbott's Chairman and Managing Director, Peter Horsepool, made no admissions that Ackroyd & Abbott had engaged in bid rigging on this tender.⁵⁵⁷²

IV.3460. In its response to the Statement, Ackroyd & Abbott stated that it had '...seen the evidence available and accept[ed] that Ackroyd & Abbott Construction participated in cover pricing in [respect of this Infringement]'.⁵⁵⁷³ Further, Peter Horsepool of Ackroyd & Abbott stated in its oral representations '...what I'm saying is yeah, contractors, Ackroyd & Abbott, they're guilty of cover pricing...'.⁵⁵⁷⁴

IV.3462. Sol and Ackroyd & Abbott each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. It appears that Ackroyd & Abbott completed the estimating process for the tender. Sol was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.3463. The Tender Register entry for this tender shows that Sol submitted the tender figure sum of £1,009,632 to DCC and entered a dash in the 'ESTIMATOR' column of the same document. This indicates that Sol did not appoint an estimator for this tender but instead sought a cover price. The “C’ FROM ACK & ABB’ and the name ‘RICHARD ABBOTT’ in the ‘COMPETITION’ column of the document indicate that Ackroyd & Abbott supplied this cover price.

- IV.3464. JC of Sol, in interview, confirmed that Sol obtained a cover price from Ackroyd & Abbott, as indicated by the entry “C’ FROM ACK & ABB’ in the ‘COMPETITION’ column of the Tender Register.⁵⁵⁷⁵ He explained that the £1,009,632 was the cover price that Sol obtained from Ackroyd & Abbott.
- IV.3465. Sol’s EBR for this tender has no entry in the ‘MARGIN’ [profits and overheads] column and a ‘C’ is entered in the ‘ESTIMATOR’ column. These indicate that JC reported the cover price from Ackroyd & Abbott to Sol’s Board as its tender submission price for this tender and that it was therefore unnecessary to appoint an estimator to produce any preliminary figures.
- IV.3466. Sol confirmed in leniency that it obtained a cover price from Ackroyd & Abbott in respect of this tender because Sol was unable to price the work, but the client was important to it and it did not wish to be seen to be refusing work.
- IV.3467. The OFT notes that both Parties have now admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement. The OFT considers that the contemporaneous evidence, Sol’s explanation of the contemporaneous evidence, and both Parties’ admissions confirm that Ackroyd & Abbott engaged in bid rigging with Sol on this tender.
- IV.3468. The tender figure of £1,009,632 submitted by Sol is in keeping with a cover price being sufficiently higher than Ackroyd & Abbott’s bid to remain credible whilst also ensuring that Sol lost the tender.
- IV.3469. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Sol and Ackroyd & Abbott. The OFT also concludes that Ackroyd & Abbott supplied a figure to Sol for a cover bid.
- IV.3470. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3451 to IV.3469 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁵⁷⁶ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Ackroyd & Abbott to Sol was not unilateral⁵⁵⁷⁷, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁵⁷⁸
 - (b) Sol can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Ackroyd & Abbott (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁵⁷⁹ and
 - (c) Ackroyd & Abbott can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Sol (i.e. that Sol did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁵⁸⁰

IV.3471. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Sol and Ackroyd & Abbott in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for the extension to Dronfield Gorse Primary School, Gorse Brigg, Dronfield, Woodhouse, date of tender 15 October 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3473. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Sol's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit by the OFT under section 27 to Sol's premises on 18 January 2006. Sol will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Sol in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence from leniency applicant – Irwins

IV.3478. As part of its leniency application, Irwins' legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁵⁵⁸⁷ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3479. In addition to its leniency application, Irwins provided to the OFT two schedules, one each for 'Covers Taken' and 'Covers Given', which detail projects/contracts identified by the company during the course of an internal investigation conducted by Ivan Peter Nelson ('IPN'), Estimating Director at Irwins, into potential cover prices. At number 78 of the 'Covers Taken' schedule is the following entry:⁵⁵⁸⁸

IV.3480. Irwins also provided to the OFT a schedule listing their competitors' contact details. The name of Holroyd appears on the list and 'Andrew Waldon' is named as the contact point.⁵⁵⁸⁹

IV.3481. Irwins further provided to the OFT its tender return for this contract.⁵⁵⁹⁰ The tender return states that it was for a new office block and refurbishment of existing warehouse to provide workshops for Trackwork Ltd. The tender return shows that the tender return date was changed from 12:00 noon on Monday 21 October 2002 to 28 October and the figure Irwins submitted was £1,469,069.00.⁵⁵⁹¹

IV.3482. Following the issue of the Statement, Irwins did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant - Irwins

IV.3483. During an interview with the OFT on 8 March 2007, conducted in connection with Irwins' leniency application, IPN provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3484. Also during this interview, IPN was shown the *'Tender Register'*⁵⁵⁹² and in particular the reference to the entry for a new office block and refurbishment of warehouse, Doncaster and was asked if he could recall anything about that contract. IPN replied 'Yeah, I thought we might just run short of time because this, this architect we work with quite well and the next phase that was, we

Evidence from other companies – Holroyd

IV.3485. The OFT wrote to Holroyd on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Holroyd had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Holroyd did not respond to this letter and on 8 May 2007 the OFT informed the Managing Director of Holroyd that a failure to respond to the fast track letter denoted a rejection. The Managing Director of Holroyd confirmed that Holroyd had rejected the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁵⁵⁹⁹

IV.3486. The OFT subsequently wrote to Holroyd's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Holderness Investments Limited, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on Holroyd's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Holderness jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Holroyd in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter Holderness stated 'the company is unable to comment'.⁵⁶⁰⁰

IV.3487. Following the issue of the Statement, neither Holroyd nor Holderness submitted any written or oral representations.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.3489. Irwins and Holroyd each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for a new office development and refurbishment of existing warehouse at Doncaster. Irwins was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

⁵⁵⁹⁶ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 11255, pages 11 and 12.

⁵⁵⁹⁷ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 11255, pages 11 and 12. Note that in interview IPN was asked to confirm that [.....] [C] was Andrew Waldon's phone number, however the document referred to during this part of the interview states [.....] [C] and the OFT is satisfied that IPN was confirming the latter number as being Holroyd's.

⁵⁶⁰⁰ Response from Holderness, OFT Document Reference 14227.

IV.3490. Irwins' Tender Register records 'Cover Holroyd Andrew Waldren [.....] [C]', typed in the final column. IPN confirmed that this handwritten note shows that the cover price was received from Holroyd and more specifically Andrew Waldren, an estimator at Holroyd. The OFT notes that '[.....] [C]' was a Holroyd telephone number. Also a 'C' is typed in the type of work/ percentage difference column. IPN confirmed that the C typed in this column shows that Irwins sought a cover price in relation to this contract. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Irwins and IPN's admission and explanation of the contemporaneous evidence, that Holroyd supplied Irwins with a cover price for this tender.

IV.3491. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Irwins was higher than the tender submitted by Holroyd, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.3492. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Irwins and Holroyd. The OFT also concludes that Holroyd supplied a figure to Irwins for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Holroyd to Irwins was not unilateral⁵⁶⁰², and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁶⁰³
- (b) Irwins can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Holroyd (i.e the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁶⁰⁴ and
- (c) Holroyd can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Irwins (i.e. that Irwins did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁶⁰⁵

IV.3494. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Irwins and Holroyd, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for a new office block and refurbishment of existing warehouse in Doncaster, tender deadline 28 October 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

⁵⁶⁰¹ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁶⁰² See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁵⁶⁰³ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁶⁰⁴ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁶⁰⁵ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.3496. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to Irwins on 21 March 2006. Irwins will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Irwins in respect of this infringement.

Infringement 126: 25 Stoney Street, Nottingham – 4 November 2002
Client: New College Nottingham
Parties: Thomas Fish, Sol and William Woodsend

IV.3497. On 16 September 2002, New College Nottingham sought tenders for the refurbishment of a college building at 25 Stoney Street, Nottingham. The following four companies were invited to tender: Thomas Fish, Sol, William Woodsend and Morrison Construction. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 04 November 2002.⁵⁶⁰⁶

IV.3498. New College Nottingham received the following tender returns:⁵⁶⁰⁷

Company	Date and time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Sol	4 November 2002 12:00 noon	£2,242,650	Yes
Thomas Fish	4 November 2002 12:00 noon	£2,390,216
William Woodsend	4 November 2002 12:00 noon	£2,434,800
Morrison Construction		(Declined to submit tender 15 October 2002)

IV.3499. New College Nottingham informed the OFT that 'because of budget issues, a value engineering exercise(s) was conducted with the lowest tenderer'.⁵⁶⁰⁸ In the contemporaneous 'Examination of Tenders' supplied by the project manager to New College Nottingham, it is stated that 'On receipt it was clear that all tenders exceeded the construction budget for the project of £1,755,000' and that 'All three tenderers advised that they could not achieve the stated contract period of 40 weeks identified within tender documents. SOL Construction required 52 weeks to complete, Thomas Fish 56 weeks and William Woodsend 68 weeks'.⁵⁶⁰⁹ In response to the Statement, Sol provided the OFT with further details of this value engineering exercise and asserted that procedures used and decisions made in order to arrive at its original tender bid had not been influenced by the cover pricing that took place in relation to this tender.⁵⁶¹⁰

Evidence from leniency applicant Sol

IV.3501. As part of its leniency application, Sol provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.593 to IV.616 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3502. In particular, Sol provided to the OFT a ‘List of contracts – cover prices given by SOL since January 2000’. This list contains the following entry:⁵⁶¹²

IV.3503. Sol also provided a document titled 'Tender cover prices – company and contact person' which contained the following entries:⁵⁶¹³

Company	Contact Person
T Fish	Martin Lane
Woodsend	Tom Scothern

IV.3504. In its response to the Statement, Sol acknowledged that it had *'... admitted engaging in the practice of cover pricing in the 7 tenders listed in the Statement of Objections.'*⁵⁶¹⁴

IV.3505. Sol's response also asserted that it *'...did not seek to obtain a tendering advantage or disadvantage the client by eliminating competition from this tender process. Sol only provided covers after direct requests from Thomas Fish and William Woodsend.'*⁵⁶¹⁵ The OFT notes that Sol's subjective intentions are not material to the finding of an infringement, as set out in paragraph III.111 of Section III (Legal Background).

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Sol

IV.3506. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Sol's estimators provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.593 to IV.616 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3507. John Cummings ('JC'), Chief Estimator at Sol, was interviewed in regard to this tender. JC recalled the tender and referring to the Sol tender schedule he confirmed the handwriting on the entry for this tender was his.⁵⁶¹⁶ JC confirmed that the entries of 'C' next to 'T Fish' and 'Woodsend' meant 'cover' and when asked what the figures next to these were, JC said *'That's the figures I've given, you know, to them as our cover prices.'*⁵⁶¹⁷ In explaining how the cover price figures would have been calculated, JC said that, *'I would have taken 2,242,650 [the tender bid submitted by Sol] and added on between 5 and, what is it, yeah, it's about 7%.'*⁵⁶¹⁸ JC confirmed that he gave cover prices in respect of this tender to both Thomas Fish and William Woodsend and made the corresponding entries in the tender schedule.⁵⁶¹⁹

IV.3508. With regard to the entries '56 Wks' and '60 WKS' on Sol's tender schedule, JC confirmed that Sol was 'probably quoting 52 weeks' and would have given these periods of 56 weeks and 60 weeks to Thomas Fish and William Woodsend because *'obviously you don't want them to win the job on the basis that they can do it quicker than you, even if the price is high.'*⁵⁶²⁰ JC identified Martin Lane as Chief Estimator at Thomas Fish and Tom Scothern ('TS') as being an employee of William Woodsend.⁵⁶²¹ JC also identified the initials 'ADT'

IV.3509. AT was also interviewed in regard to this tender. AT recalled the tender and said 'Yeah, I remember it being quite a difficult, quite a difficult tender'.⁵⁶²³ AT confirmed the handwriting on the tender schedule as belonging to JC and when asked if he knew the circumstances surrounding cover prices being given in respect of this tender, he said 'I just assume that they, the job was so complicated and not very interesting to them that they, they wanted out'.⁵⁶²⁴ AT agreed he would have been aware that Thomas Fish and William Woodsend had been given cover prices, commenting that, 'at the tender meeting, yeah, because there'd be a C put against the, the name of the competition'.⁵⁶²⁵ AT said that it would have been JC who decided on the figures to give as cover prices, since it was JC's responsibility to deal with cover prices.⁵⁶²⁶

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Fish – Form of Tender

IV.3510. During the OFT's initial visit to Thomas Fish's premises, a Form of Tender document was obtained in respect of this tender. The document includes the bid of '£2,390,216' and is signed by 'M W Lane'.⁵⁶²⁷

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Fish

IV.3511. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Fish provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.650 to IV.688 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3512. In its leniency application, Thomas Fish set out a summary of all tenders in respect of which Thomas Fish had exchanged fees with a competitor, marked as 'TENDER BIDDING INVOLVING THE EXCHANGE OF FEES'. The information in the summary was based on the Thomas Fish accounts database and recollections of current and ex-employees. In respect of this tender the summary does not include any information and this tender was not admitted as part of Thomas Fish's application for leniency, although it was subsequently admitted by witnesses in interview (see next section).⁵⁶²⁸

IV.3513. Following the issue of the Statement, neither Thomas Fish nor Fish Holdings submitted any written or oral representations in respect of this Infringement.

IV.3514. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Fish's directors and ex-employees provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.650 to IV.688 above and is applicable to this tender

IV.3515. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with Martin Lane ('ML'), a former associate Director at Thomas Fish, who dealt with this tender. ML recalled the contract and said 'I know we took some help on that, definitely'.⁵⁶²⁹ ML went on to explain, 'I remember I did a visit to site and decided that it was too...too nasty a job...It's refurbishment. At that stage we weren't that good at refurbishment. Not big ones like that'.⁵⁶³⁰ ML was shown the entry for this tender in the Sol tender register⁵⁶³¹ and was asked if he recalled the name of anyone at Sol with whom he would have spoken. ML recalled the names John Cummins and Andy Turner and said of AT, 'He used to work for us [Thomas Fish]'.⁵⁶³²

Evidence from non-leniency applicant William Woodsend

IV.3516. The OFT wrote to William Woodsend on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that William Woodsend had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter on 24 April 2007, William Woodsend stated '... we have not been able to discover sufficient evidence to make any admissions at this stage'.⁵⁶³³

IV.3517. In its response to the Statement, however, William Woodsend confirmed that 'William Woodsend acknowledges liability for this ... Infringement'.⁵⁶³⁴ Further, it stated in respect of this Infringement '...I am sure that the only reason we would not have priced the work would have been because we were physically not able to manage to do so'.⁵⁶³⁵

IV.3519. Thomas Fish, Sol and William Woodsend each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3520. It appears that Sol completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Sol being the lowest received and the fact that it won the tender.

IV.3521. Thomas Fish and William Woodsend were each unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.3522. In respect of Thomas Fish, Sol's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to competitor Thomas Fish with the letter 'C' next to it and a figure. Sol confirmed that a letter 'C' written in such a manner on its tender register refers to a cover price having been given to Thomas Fish.

⁵⁶³³ Response from William Woodsend, OFT Document Reference 10903.

⁵⁶³⁵ Written representations of William Woodsend, 27 June 2008, paragraph 21.

- IV.3523. The tender schedule has the figure '2,390,216' written next to the 'C' by the reference to Thomas Fish. This figure exactly matches the amount of £2,390,216 bid for this tender by Thomas Fish.
- IV.3524. JC, Chief Estimator at Sol, who dealt with this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his handwritten entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover price of the amount noted to Thomas Fish and that the contact at Thomas Fish was ML. He also confirmed that he would have given Thomas Fish the number of weeks in which the job could be done, to ensure that it did not win the contract.
- IV.3525. This was corroborated in interview by ML of Thomas Fish, who said that because the job was 'too nasty' Thomas Fish 'took some help...definitely' on this tender, an expression used to refer to the receiving of a cover price. ML also confirmed he would have dealt with JC at Sol.
- IV.3526. In respect of William Woodsend, Sol's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to competitor William Woodsend with the letter 'C' next to it and a figure. Sol confirmed that a letter 'C' written in such a manner on its tender register refers to a cover price having been given to William Woodsend.
- IV.3527. The tender schedule has the figure '2,434,718' written next to the 'C' by the reference to William Woodsend. This figure almost exactly matches the amount of £2,434,800 bid for this tender by William Woodsend. The OFT notes that it was not unusual for companies to add an amount to a cover price given by a competitor, in order to ensure that they did not win the contract.
- IV.3528. JC, Chief Estimator at Sol, who dealt with this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his handwritten entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover price of the amount noted to William Woodsend and that the contact at William Woodsend was TS. He also confirmed that he would have given William Woodsend the number of weeks in which the job could be done, to ensure that it did not win the contract.
- IV.3529. The OFT notes that all three Parties have now admitted liability in respect of this Infringement.
- IV.3530. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Fish and Sol, and between William Woodsend and Sol. The OFT also concludes that Sol supplied figures to each of Thomas Fish and William Woodsend for cover bids.
- IV.3531. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3500 to IV.3530 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁶³⁶ In particular:
- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Sol to Thomas Fish, and from Sol to William Woodsend, was not unilateral⁵⁶³⁷, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁶³⁸

⁵⁶³⁶ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁶³⁷ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

- (b) Thomas Fish and William Woodsend can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Sol (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁶³⁹ and
- (c) Sol can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Fish and William Woodsend (i.e. that neither Thomas Fish nor William Woodsend intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁶⁴⁰

IV.3532. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that agreements and/or concerted practices were in place between Sol and Thomas Fish and between Sol and William Woodsend, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, each of which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the refurbishment of 25 Stoney Street, Nottingham, tender dated 4 November 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3534. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Thomas Fish's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the Sol tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 18 January 2006. Thomas Fish will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Thomas Fish will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.3535. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Sol's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the Sol tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 18 January 2006. Sol will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Sol in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 127: Refurbishment of 27 Empty Council-Owned Properties, Major Works Phase 1, Citywide Properties, Nottingham – 13 November 2002
Client: Nottingham City Council
Parties: Bodill and Thomas Long

IV.3536. On 17 October 2002, Nottingham City Council ('Nottingham CC') sought tenders for the refurbishment of 27 empty council-owned properties, Major Works Phase 1, Citywide Properties, Nottingham. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 13 November 2002 and five companies were invited to

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.3538. In Bodill's tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except for the entry for Bodill.⁵⁶⁴³

1. Bodill
 - *2. *T. LONG MARK PHILLIPS
WILL RING US WED.*
 3. MANSELL.
 4. HALLAMSHIRE. [...] [C] '

IV.3539. The tender sheet for this tender also contains a ringed letter 'C' against the word 'ESTIMATOR', and at the foot of the sheet it states that Bodill's submitted price was £819,019.85.⁵⁶⁴⁴

IV.3540. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, kept a diary for 2002 which contains an entry for this tender on 13 November which reads '12.00 REPAIRS/ALTS. ALL NOTTM CITY (C) (NOTTM)'.⁵⁶⁴⁵ JR explained in interview with the OFT that when a tender is written in his diary with a 'C' in brackets, 'It means we're looking for some help, a cover, a cover price'.⁵⁶⁴⁶

IV.3541. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3542. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁵⁶⁴⁷ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it received a cover price from Thomas Long⁵⁶⁴⁸ and that it submitted a 'token tender'.⁵⁶⁴⁹

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.3544. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – Thomas Long

IV.3545. The OFT wrote to Thomas Long on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Thomas Long had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Thomas Long admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁵⁶⁵⁰

IV.3546. The name, 'Mark Phillips', written next to 'T.LONG', set out in Bodill's tender sheet is the name of an estimator employed by Thomas Long at the time of the tender, providing further indication that Thomas Long contacted Bodill in respect of this tender. This is confirmed by information obtained from W R Bloodworth, a list of contacts for cover prices, which lists Mark Phillips at Thomas Long.⁵⁶⁵¹

IV.3547. In its response to the Statement, Thomas Long stated *'Thomas Long has confirmed that it gave a cover price in relation to this tender in response to a request from Bodill'*⁵⁶⁵² in respect of this Infringement.

⁵⁶⁵² Written representations of Thomas Long, 26 June 2008, paragraph 3.15.

- IV.3549. Bodill and Thomas Long each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.3550. Thomas Long completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Thomas Long being the lowest received, after the withdrawal of Nottingham City Building Works, and the fact that it won the contract.
- IV.3551. Bodill was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.
- IV.3552. In regard to Thomas Long, as well as the ringed letter 'C' against the word 'ESTIMATOR', Bodill's tender sheet records 'T. LONG MARK PHILLIPS WILL RING US WED.'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from Thomas Long. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £819,019.85 as the tender figure and this was the figure that Bodill submitted. Mark Phillips is an estimator employed by Thomas Long, providing further indication that Thomas Long contacted Bodill in respect of this tender. This is corroborated by information obtained from W R Bloodworth, a list of contacts for cover prices, which names Mark Phillips at Thomas Long.
- IV.3553. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Bodill was higher than the tender submitted by Thomas Long, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. Both companies have admitted to cover pricing in respect of this tender.
- IV.3554. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Long and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Thomas Long supplied a figure to Bodill for a cover bid.
- IV.3555. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3538 to IV.3554 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁶⁵³ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Thomas Long to Bodill was not unilateral⁵⁶⁵⁴, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁶⁵⁵
 - (b) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Thomas Long (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁶⁵⁶ and
 - (c) Thomas Long can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bodill (i.e. that Bodill did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁶⁵⁷

between Bodill and Thomas Long, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the refurbishment of 27 empty council-owned properties, Major Works Phase 1, Citywide Properties, Nottingham, tender deadline 13 November 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3558. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 27 to Bodill on 19 November 2004. Bodill will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Bodill will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.3559. In its response to the Statement, Bodill stated that 'so far as Bodill is aware, the OFT had no knowledge of these Alleged Infringements and those contractors who had participated in them until 21 January 2005 and then only as a result of the evidence supplied by Bodill'.⁵⁶⁵⁸ The OFT first became aware of this tender as a result of the entry in a document obtained during a section 27 visit to Bodill on 19 November 2004⁵⁶⁵⁹, which gave the OFT reasonable grounds to suspect cover pricing activity in respect of this tender prior to Bodill's leniency application being made. Bodill will therefore only receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – tender log

IV.3562. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided the North East Region (‘NER’) tender log. Page six of the tender log contained the following entry:⁵⁶⁶³

Marketing System Nr	North East Ref. Nr	Date Received	Cat	Type	Approx Value

Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.3563. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁵⁶⁶⁴ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3564. Mansell’s legal representatives provided to the OFT a table showing information relating to tendering activities in which a calculated competitive bid was not submitted, for the NER, which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that the project bid value was ‘£481,622.00’ and that Mansell received a cover price from F Parkinson and that this cover price was taken due to ‘Estimating capacity issue’ at Mansell.⁵⁶⁶⁵

IV.3565. Mansell’s legal representatives also provided to the OFT a schedule of covers for the NER, which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell received a cover price from F Parkinson and includes the comment ‘Omer Asir recalls that F Parkinson provided the cover price’.⁵⁶⁶⁶

IV.3566. In its response to the Statement, Mansell did not make any oral or written representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.3567. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, a Mansell employee from the NER provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.478 to IV.480 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3568. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, Omer Asir ('OA'), a senior estimator in the NER of Mansell⁵⁶⁶⁷, advised how it would be recorded when Mansell had taken a cover as detailed in paragraphs IV.479 to IV.480 above. In relation to this tender OA, when asked the significance of the 'C' in the tender log stated 'which identifies ... that particular project we took assistance on' and confirmed that the tender figure submitted was £481,622.⁵⁶⁶⁸ In respect of his recollection that the cover was taken from F Parkinson, OA stated 'that's just a recollection' and 'one of the reasons why I was saying F Parkinson is because ... I know they are on that particular authority's tender selection and the recollection that I had at the time [when compiling the leniency material] was that I was, I was fairly certain it was them I'd spoke to ...'.⁵⁶⁶⁹

Evidence from other companies – F Parkinson

IV.3569. The OFT wrote to F Parkinson on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that F Parkinson had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter F Parkinson admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with Mansells'.⁵⁶⁷⁰

IV.3570. The OFT subsequently wrote to F Parkinson's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Mowbray, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on F Parkinson's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Mowbray jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by F Parkinson in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. During a telephone call in response to this letter, Colin Oakley, a Director of Mowbray stated that he was aware of the original Fast Track letter and F Parkinson's response and fully supported the position of its subsidiary, F Parkinson.⁵⁶⁷¹

IV.3571. In their response to the Statement, F Parkinson and Mowbray stated '[F] Parkinson has accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer and does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁵⁶⁷²

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

⁵⁶⁶⁷ Omer Asir was a senior estimator in the NER from 2000 to 2006 and then became managing estimator.

⁵⁶⁷¹ Response from Mowbray, OFT Document Reference 13952.

⁵⁶⁷² Written representations of F Parkinson and Mowbray, 25 June 2008, paragraph 4.

- IV.3573. Mansell and F Parkinson each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.3574. Both companies submitted a tender. Mansell was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. It appears that F Parkinson completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by F Parkinson being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.
- IV.3575. Mansell's tender log records 'C', next to the entry for this tender. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it took a cover price and in interview the Mansell estimator confirmed it was his recollection that he spoke to F Parkinson to obtain the cover price.
- IV.3576. In addition, F Parkinson has admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.
- IV.3577. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that F Parkinson admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Mansell, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Mansell was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.3578. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Mansell was higher than the tender submitted by F Parkinson, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.3579. In addition the OFT notes that F Parkinson's tender figure is the only figure below Mansell's tender figure, and the OFT is therefore satisfied that Mansell could only have received a cover figure from F Parkinson.
- IV.3580. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and F Parkinson. The OFT also concludes that F Parkinson supplied a figure to Mansell for a cover bid.
- IV.3581. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3562 to IV.3580 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁶⁷³ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from F Parkinson to Mansell was not unilateral⁵⁶⁷⁴, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁶⁷⁵
 - (b) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from F Parkinson (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁶⁷⁶ and
 - (c) F Parkinson can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell (i.e. that Mansell did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁶⁷⁷

IV.3582. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Mansell and F Parkinson in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for sports hall extension Robert Atkinson Centre, Thornaby, tender deadline 22 November 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3584. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 129: Re-Building of Eight Newland Properties, Bilborough, Nottingham – 25 November 2002
Client: Nottingham City Council
Parties: Bodill and William Woodsend

IV.3585. On 11 September 2002, Haley Somerset Consulting Limited, on behalf of Nottingham City Council, sought tenders for the re-building of eight Newland Properties, Bilborough, Nottingham. The return date for the tender was 25 November 2002 and six companies were invited to tender: Bodill, William Woodsend, Thomas Long, Lovell, Herbert Baggaley and Nottingham City Building Work.⁵⁶⁷⁸

IV.3586. Haley Somerset Consulting Limited received the following tender returns prior to 12:00 noon on 25 November 2002:⁵⁶⁷⁹

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.3587. In Bodill's original tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill:⁵⁶⁸⁰

1. Bodill
 - £622260.00p. 2. WOODSEND © FROM US RING TOM MON. AM
 3. BAGGALEY
 4. T. LONG
 5. LOVELL'

IV.3588. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £595,295.⁵⁶⁸¹

IV.3589. Andrew Bodill ('AB'), an estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has indicated that the handwritten annotation '£622260.00p.', under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁵⁶⁸² AB also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.3590. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations 'WOODSEND © FROM US RING TOM MON. AM', under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁵⁶⁸³ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.3591. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3592. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁵⁶⁸⁴ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave a cover price to William Woodsend.⁵⁶⁸⁵

IV.3593. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.3594. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – William Woodsend

IV.3595. The OFT wrote to William Woodsend on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that William Woodsend had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter on 27 April 2007, William Woodsend stated, 'we have not been able to discover sufficient evidence to make any admissions at this stage'.⁵⁶⁸⁶

IV.3596. In its response to the Statement, however, William Woodsend stated 'Based on the evidence set out in the SO William Woodsend acknowledges [sic] liability for this Alleged Infringement'.⁵⁶⁸⁷

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.3597. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.3598. Bodill and William Woodsend each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3599. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. It appears that Bodill wanted to win the tender for this contract and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.3600. William Woodsend was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.3601. In regard to William Woodsend, Bodill's tender sheet records '£622260.00p WOODSEND® FROM US'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £622,260, a figure that was only £40 different from the tender that William Woodsend submitted for the work.

IV.3602. Bodill's tender sheet also records 'RING TOM MON. AM'. The OFT considers that this indicates more specifically that Bodill was to phone William Woodsend on the day for submitting the tender in order to provide William Woodsend with its cover price. This is consistent with the pattern of exchange of cover prices just prior to the deadline for submission of tenders.

IV.3603. Bodill's tender sheet records the name of a William Woodsend employee, 'Tom', providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. This is corroborated by information obtained from W R Bloodworth, a list of contacts for cover prices, which names 'Tom Scothern'⁵⁶⁸⁸ at William Woodsend. The OFT considers it likely that this refers to the same William Woodsend employee.

⁵⁶⁸⁶ Response from William Woodsend, OFT Document 10903.

IV.3604. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by William Woodsend was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.3605. Both Parties have now admitted liability in respect of this Infringement

IV.3606. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between William Woodsend and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied a figure to William Woodsend for a cover bid.

IV.3607. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3587 to IV.3606 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁶⁸⁹ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Bodill to William Woodsend was not unilateral⁵⁶⁹⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁶⁹¹
- (b) William Woodsend can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁶⁹² and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from William Woodsend (i.e. that William Woodsend did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁶⁹³

IV.3608. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between William Woodsend and Bodill, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the re-building of eight Newland Properties, Bilborough, Nottingham, tender deadline 25 November 2002.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3609. As explained in paragraphs II.1475 to II.1476, where the OFT would not have been aware of the bid rigging activities in relation to a particular tender but for the information provided by a leniency party, that party shall have 100 per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.3610. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill

Evidence from leniency applicant ARG

IV.3616. In its response to the Statement, ARG confirmed that it had '...admitted cover pricing in relation to this tender although they are unable to recollect any details. They [ARG] can only assume that they used a cover price due to the estimator getting part way through the tendering process and not having the time to complete it'.⁵⁷⁰²

Witness evidence from leniency applicant ARG

IV.3617. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, ARG's past and present employees provided general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.174 to IV.181 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3618. During an interview conducted on 16 April 2007 in connection with its leniency application Darren Adkin ('DA'), ex-estimator and surveyor at ARG, was shown the post-it note found at Greenwood. The OFT pointed out the reference to 'Darren ARG [...] [C]'. DA confirmed that [...] [C] was ARG's telephone number and that he was the only Darren who worked at ARG at that time.⁵⁷⁰³ The OFT next pointed out the reference to the figure 37643 to which DA replied, 'Well to the best of my knowledge, that'll be a cover then'.⁵⁷⁰⁴ DA stated '*If I had to pick one I'd say yea that's a cover from Greenwoods ... Witness evidence from other companies – Greenwood

IV.3619. During an interview conducted on 12 October 2006, CS commented in general terms on Greenwood's participation in bid rigging activities. He asked the OFT 'Why don't you ask me if we've taken a cover or given a cover. ... of course I have done that and I believe that probably every other contractor in the country has probably done that on certain occasions'.⁵⁷⁰⁶ CS explained, '... the only reason for doing that is to make sure you're tender... a figure goes into the client and that you're kept in the loop for next time'.⁵⁷⁰⁷ CS confirmed that the exchange of cover prices was always carried out by telephone.⁵⁷⁰⁸ At Greenwood the exchange of cover prices usually occurred 'towards the end, I suppose when I, you know they realize you couldn't do something or they wanted help'.⁵⁷⁰⁹ CS stated that if he received a cover price he would record it '... in a notebook and then, it would go onto the tender sheet'.⁵⁷¹⁰ During interview CS confirmed that when referring to a 'notebook' he actually was referring to a post-it note.⁵⁷¹¹

IV.3620. CS was interviewed for a second time on 28 February 2007 and was shown the tender documents and post-it note found during the OFT's search of Greenwood's premises in relation to Hill Crescent changing block. CS confirmed that the handwritten notes on the post-it note were written by himself and that the note shows 'that KJ Bryan gave us a cover' and 'a cover was also given to ARG but by whom [at Greenwood] I don't know'.⁵⁷¹² CS stated that '... so what happened possibly there was that we got a cover from Bryan then at the end of the day ARG rang us and asked us for a cover. Which we obviously obliged in that instance'.⁵⁷¹³

IV.3621. The OFT wrote to Greenwood on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Greenwood had participated in bid rigging on this tender. A response was received from Begbies Traynor informing the OFT that '... we have now ceased to act as administrators pursuant to the provisions of paragraph 84 of schedule B1 of the Insolvency Act 1986 which facilitates the ending of an administration order by dissolution of the company. ... As we have ceased to act as administrators of the company we are not in a position to enter into any agreement on its behalf'.⁵⁷¹⁴

IV.3622. The OFT subsequently wrote to Greenwood's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Crown Point, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on the letter sent to Greenwood on 22 March 2007, as the OFT intended to hold Crown Point jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Greenwood in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Crown Point stated '... the offer [the OFT's Fast Track Offer] is not accepted by Crown Point Maintenance Group Limited'.⁵⁷¹⁵ The company has subsequently indicated that it was '...without any documentary evidence such that it was simply unable to meet the conditions set out in the fast track offer letter'.⁵⁷¹⁶

IV.3623. In its response to the Statement, Crown Point attached a witness statement from Andrew Goodwin ('AG'), Director of Crown Point and former Director of Greenwood. Crown Point stated in its response that 'it is clear from Mr Goodwin's evidence that he does not seek to oppose or deny Greenwood's involvement and admits the same'.⁵⁷¹⁷ In his witness statement, AG stated 'having now seen the evidence I cannot deny that the incident took place...'.⁵⁷¹⁸

IV.3624. Crown Point also stated in its written representations on the Statement that 'the OFT provisionally found that K J Bryan... was the 'instigator' of the process inasmuch that K J Bryan provided a figure for a cover bid to Greenwood...'.⁵⁷¹⁹ The OFT emphasises that it has not made any finding regarding which party instigated the cover pricing arrangement in this Infringement – indeed, as noted in section IV.C above, it was far more common for the party requesting the cover price (in this Infringement, Greenwood) to initiate the arrangement. It is not necessary for the OFT to conclude on this aspect for a finding of an infringement to be made.

Evidence from other companies – K J Bryan

IV.3625. The OFT wrote to K J Bryan on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that K J Bryan had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, K J Bryan's legal representatives stated 'In view of the lack of physical records to refresh memories and the significant period of time that has passed since the events in question our client's officers and members of staff have difficulty in trying to recollect the circumstances concerning the contracts in question...our client does not feel it appropriate to accept the offer...'.⁵⁷²⁰ The OFT notes that K J Bryan's officers and staff were able to recollect, and respond in respect of, two of the five contracts covered by the OFT's Fast Track Offer.

IV.3626. In its response to the Statement, K J Bryan neither expressly admitted, nor contested its involvement in this Infringement, stating 'There was only a very small and limited number of infringements'⁵⁷²¹ and 'KJB accepts that the Cover Scheme is illegal... KJB in mitigation submits that it when historically using the Scheme was not aware that it was illegal... and on finding out the scheme was illegal took immediate action to ensure it was not and has not been involved in

IV.3628. ARG, Greenwood and K J Bryan each accepted an invitation to tender for proposed alterations at Hill Crescent changing block.

IV.3629. All three companies submitted a tender. Greenwood and ARG were unable to submit a competitive tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.3630. A post-it note found at Greenwood records 'JOHN BRYAN our £35189.00 K.J BRYAN [...] [C] Cover to DARREN A.R.G [...] [C], £37643.00'. CS confirmed that he made the handwritten note and that the note records that Greenwood received a cover figure of £35189.00 from [John Bryan at] K J Bryan, and that CS subsequently gave [DA from] ARG a cover price of £37643.00. The telephone number '[...] [C]' was confirmed by ARG as being its telephone number, while the telephone number '[...] [C]' belongs to K J Bryan.⁵⁷²⁴

IV.3631. In addition to this, DA also confirmed that the documentary evidence shows that ARG received a cover price from CS of Greenwood. Both figures are consistent with the tender figures submitted by Greenwood and ARG for the contract.

IV.3632. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Greenwood and both CS and DA's admissions and explanations of that contemporaneous evidence, that K J Bryan gave a cover price to Greenwood, and Greenwood in turn gave a cover figure to ARG, for this tender.

IV.3633. ARG has admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. Although Greenwood and Crown Point did not initially admit to bid rigging in relation to this tender, once Crown Point had seen the evidence it confirmed that its witness, Director of Crown Point and former Director of Greenwood, admitted Greenwood's involvement.

IV.3634. The OFT notes that whilst K J Bryan has not admitted engaging in cover pricing in relation to this specific Infringement, it has accepted that it engaged in cover pricing more generally, and did not put forward any evidence that calls into question the OFT's analysis of the evidence in relation to this Infringement.

IV.3635. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Greenwood was higher than the tender submitted by K J Bryan. In addition, the tender submitted by ARG was higher than both tenders submitted by Greenwood and K J Bryan, the pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided.

IV.3636. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between K J Bryan and Greenwood and between Greenwood and ARG. The OFT also concludes that K

⁵⁷²⁴ FAME report, OFT Document Reference 12165.

J Bryan supplied a figure to Greenwood for a cover bid, and that Greenwood subsequently went on to supply ARG with a figure for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from K J Bryan to Greenwood and from Greenwood to ARG was not unilateral⁵⁷²⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁷²⁷
- (b) Greenwood can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from K J Bryan (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process. Also ARG can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Greenwood (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process,⁵⁷²⁸
- (c) K J Bryan can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Greenwood (i.e. that Greenwood did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process. Also Greenwood can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from ARG (i.e. that ARG did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁷²⁹

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3640. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit to Greenwood under section 28 on 15 June 2005. ARG will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, ARG will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 134: Classroom Extension and Interior Alterations, Crich
Fritchley Primary School – 24 January 2003
Client: Derbyshire County Council
Parties: Derwent Valley, Milward and BKPS⁵⁷³⁰

IV.3641. In December 2002 or early January 2003, Derbyshire County Council sought tenders for classroom extension and interior alterations at the Crich Fritchley Primary School. The following five companies were invited to tender: Derwent Valley, Gerald Swift & Sons, Warfe Construction Limited, Milward and BKPS. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 24 January 2003.⁵⁷³¹

IV.3642. Derbyshire County Council received the following tender returns:⁵⁷³²

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Gerald Swift & Sons	24 January 2003	£99,940*
Derwent Valley	24 January 2003	£96,093	Yes
Warfe Construction Limited	24 January 2003	£100,448
Milward	24 January 2003	£103,126
BKPS	24 January 2003	£104,705
*Errors were found in the tender submitted by Gerald Swift & Sons Limited who, as a result, withdrew their bid.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Schedule and Telephone Note

IV.3643. During the OFT’s search of Derwent Valley’s premises, a tender schedule containing handwritten entries was discovered. Within this tender schedule was the following entry:⁵⁷³³

TENDER NO.	RETURN DATE	TENDER DETAILS	OPPOSITION	TENDER
02/01/03	24/01/03	CLASSROOM EXTENSION AND INTERNAL ALTERATIONS CRICH FRITCHLEY PRIMARY SCHOOL	WHARF 101 MILWARD (C)103126 B&K (C) 104705 SWIFT	96,093	2ND

IV.3644. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a handwritten telephone note in relation to this tender. On the note was written ‘Peter Hawkins @ B.K Property Services [.....] [C]’. Below this ⁵⁷³⁰ In the Statement, the OFT noted that the client’s response recorded Bowmer & Kirkland as tendering for this contract. In its response to the Statement, Bowmer & Kirkland confirmed that it was BKPS that tendered for this project: ‘This educational project was undertaken by BKPS ...’ (written representations of Bowmer & Kirkland, 4 July 2008, paragraph 67) and the OFT has therefore amended the references to Bowmer & Kirkland as appropriate.

was written 'REQUIRES COVER FOR CRICH SCHOOL' and the figure '104705'. Below this was written what appears to be 'Steven Hall 287'.⁵⁷³⁴

Evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.3645. Also as part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3646. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2001 to January 2005 where Derwent Valley had given a cover price to a competitor for that tender, marked as 'DVC1 List of Covers Given'. The information in the summary was based on the tender schedule kept by Pat Tunncliffe ('PT'), an ex-estimator at Derwent Valley, and contained the following extract:⁵⁷³⁵

January 2003	Classroom Extension Crich Fritchley Primary school	Milward, B&K Building Services

IV.3647. In its response to the Statement, Milward asserted that one of the entries in this summary document was incorrect, as it indicated Milward had taken a cover in respect of another project whereas in fact Milward had been successful in obtaining the contract on that project.⁵⁷³⁶ The OFT notes Milward's point. On balance, however, the OFT does not consider the credibility of the other entries in the document to be undermined where, as here, those entries are underpinned by a contemporaneous tender schedule. Moreover, the summary represents Derwent Valley's assessment as to its participation in cover pricing on this tender and the OFT accordingly takes it into account when assessing the totality of the evidence.

IV.3648. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a 'List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices'. The name 'Milward' appears on this list with the address '30 Market Place Belper Derbyshire' and as a contact the name 'Adrian Milward'. Also on this list is the name 'B&K Building Services' with the address 'Peveiril House Alfreton Road Derby' and as a contact name 'Peter Hawkins'.⁵⁷³⁷

IV.3649. In its response to the Statement, Milward stated that Adrian Milward 'does not know any of the employees of Derwent Valley and did not know of them at the time of the Alleged Infringements'.⁵⁷³⁸ However, the OFT notes the evidence of PT to the contrary; he stated in interview that '...Milward were a contractor in Belper, the same as Derwent Valley were. They went back a long way, you know, before I joined. Adrian knew that if it wasn't David it would be myself' *that was pricing it and he would ask for one or the other and then we would give him a call back when we had a figure for him.*⁵⁷³⁹

IV.3650. Following the issue of the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.3651. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors and an ex-employee provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3652. In regards to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with PT who dealt with this tender. PT confirmed that he kept and maintained the tender schedule referred to in paragraphs IV.309 to IV.317 above. PT went on to refer to the tender schedule in respect of this tender saying that he recalled it as in his first employment he worked on the original buildings as a quantity surveyor. PT referred to the tender schedule and said, 'Millward was given a cover, B and K were given a cover'. When asked if he recalled dealing with anyone at these companies PT said 'Millwards got a C and he's 103, that would have been, again that would have been Adrian. B and K, B and K had a number of estimators, they were quite a, well, they're a big outfit'. PT could not recall who he dealt with at BKPS and noted that the entry 'Wharf' had a figure next to it but there was no letter 'C'.⁵⁷⁴⁰

IV.3653. David Stone ('DS'), Managing Director of Derwent Valley, was also interviewed in regard to this tender. Although he could not recall dealing with it, he identified some of the handwriting on the telephone note described in paragraph IV.3644 above as being his, with the exception of the figure '104705' and 'Steve Hall 287', which may have belonged to a secretary.⁵⁷⁴¹ DS, examining the entry for this tender in the tender schedule, said that it looked to him as though it was '... Millwoods [sic] who was given a cover of 103126, B and K who was given a cover of 104715 ...'.⁵⁷⁴²

IV.3654. The OFT wrote to Bowmer & Kirkland on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Bowmer & Kirkland had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Bowmer & Kirkland, represented by Geldards LLP, indicated via emailed letter on 25 April 2007 that it was willing to make admissions to involvement in cover pricing in relation to a number of suspect contracts.⁵⁷⁴³ The response included a completed suspect tender schedule in respect of this tender. The entry noted that the subsidiary involved was 'B & K Property Services', and the name of the tender 'Classroom Extension & Interior Alterations Crich Fritchley

Primary School'. For this tender, Melvin Sheldon ('MS'), Group Finance Director of Bowmer & Kirkland, admitted to Bowmer & Kirkland having participated in bid rigging activities and wrote 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁵⁷⁴⁴

IV.3655. Bowmer & Kirkland confirmed in its response to the Statement that '... Infringements 18 and 134 are admitted. Save for those matters discussed in the Dickinson Dees letter of 6 June 2008 (Annex) B&K has nothing further to add'.⁵⁷⁴⁵ It also confirmed that the Bowmer & Kirkland subsidiary involved in this Infringement was BKPS.⁵⁷⁴⁶

Evidence from other companies – Milward

IV.3656. The OFT wrote to Milward on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Milward had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Milward did not reply to this letter and subsequently on 9 May 2007 a call was made by the OFT to the Managing Director of Milward, who said that the OFT would not be receiving a response as Milward 'had not done anything wrong'.⁵⁷⁴⁷

IV.3657. Milward stated in its response to the Statement that it '...did not give or receive a cover price for this tender...' and that 'Adrian Milward was not responsible for putting this tender together so it is highly unlikely that PT would have dealt with Adrian on it'.⁵⁷⁴⁸ It also adduced an affidavit from Stephen Milward, indicating that he priced this job, and 'The Company did not take a cover price for the works'.⁵⁷⁴⁹ The OFT notes Stephen Milward's evidence, and has given it consideration. On balance, however, the OFT considers that greater weight may be attached to the contemporaneous tender schedule. Although the witness evidence of PT explaining the entries in this schedule indicated that it was Adrian Milward with whom Derwent Valley usually dealt, he does not specifically state that it was with Adrian with whom he dealt on this occasion, Stephen Milward has likewise confirmed that he does not know PT⁵⁷⁵⁰, and moreover both he and Adrian Milward have confirmed that he would not always be the person finalising and submitting the tender on the day⁵⁷⁵¹ (and therefore the person who might make or take a telephone call in respect of provision of a cover). The OFT therefore does not consider the apparent inconsistency between the evidence of the respective parties' witnesses to be irreconcilable in this instance. In any event the OFT considers that the contemporaneous tender schedule would weigh in favour of preferring the evidence of PT to the extent that there is any inconsistency.

IV.3658. Milward, in its response to the Statement, questioned whether the use of 'C' entry in the tender schedule indicated that a cover price had been given/taken, suggesting in particular that DS had only 'assumed that [the giving of a cover price] was indicated by the use of the letter 'C' and that the 'C' may denote 'competitor' as 'it is possible for contractors to note from where their main competition has arisen'.⁵⁷⁵² The OFT does not consider this plausible. The witnesses from Derwent Valley did not indicate that it was a part of their practice in compiling the tender schedule to denote their competitors in this manner. Further, PT confirmed that a 'C' in brackets indicated that Derwent Valley had either given or taken a cover.⁵⁷⁵³ Moreover, similar entries in the Derwent Valley Tender Schedule have been confirmed to accurately record the giving of a cover price by the admissions of other Parties in relation to Infringements including 68, 93, 110 and 144.

IV.3659. Milward stated further in its response to the Statement that '...[e]ven if one accepts Derwent Valley's position that it was aware of Milward and B&K's prices due to a cover price having been provided, this does not explain why Derwent Valley was aware of the price submitted by Warfe Construction. Milward considers that it is more likely that Derwent Valley in fact completed this pricing information in the Tender Schedule following completion of the tender process...'.⁵⁷⁵⁴ The OFT considers that, even if it were the case, as Milward suggests, that the entry in respect of this tender was completed post-tender, there is nonetheless no 'C' next to the entry in respect of Wharf Construction. Thus, any awareness which Derwent Valley may or may not have had of their price submission is not reflected in the schedule as having stemmed from the provision of a cover, as is the case in respect of Milward and BKPS. Even if the entry were completed post-tender, this does not negate the provision of a cover during the tender process or undermine the evidence to that effect. The OFT has no information to indicate the source of Derwent Valley's information about Warfe's price. The OFT considers in light of the absence of a 'C' and the lower level of detail on the price that this materially different record of Warfe's bid does not undermine its assessment of the evidence in relation to Milward and BKPS.

IV.3660. Milward also stated in its response to the Statement it '...was actively marketing its services to schools... [t]he targeted marketing which took place during the period in which the tender was submitted demonstrates that Milward was eager to expand its work in this area... [i]t would be contrary to this policy for Milward to have sought a cover price on this tender'.⁵⁷⁵⁵ The OFT does not accept that Milward's active marketing to schools means it would not have sought and obtained a cover price for this tender. On the contrary, the OFT views Milward's active marketing as a possible incentive for it to obtain a cover price on this tender, rather than returning no bid at all, and risk being viewed by the school as a company unable to supply the work for which it was marketing itself.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

⁵⁷⁵² Written representations of Milward, 26 June 2008, paragraphs 4.3 to 4.7; and affidavit of Keith Holmes, 24 June 2008, paragraphs 8 to 11.

⁵⁷⁵³ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 14237, page 8.

⁵⁷⁵⁵ Written representations of Milward, 26 June 2008, paragraph 3.3(c) to (d).

IV.3662. Derwent Valley, BKPS and Milward each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Derwent Valley completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Derwent Valley being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.3663. BKPS and Milward were each unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.3664. In respect of BKPS, Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to competitor BKPS with the letter 'C' in brackets next to it and a figure. Derwent Valley stated that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received. The figure in the tender schedule next to the reference for BKPS of '104705' directly corresponds to the bid of £104,705 BKPS submitted as its bid for the tender.

IV.3665. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover to BKPS.

IV.3666. This was supported in interview by DS, who also explained that the entry in the tender schedule indicated that Derwent Valley gave a cover price in respect of this tender to BKPS.

IV.3667. The OFT also notes that the telephone note referred to in paragraph IV.3644 above identifies an individual at BKPS who contacted Derwent Valley seeking a cover price for this tender. This note specifies the call coming from 'B.K Property Services' and Bowmer & Kirkland confirmed in its admission of bid rigging in this tender that the subsidiary involved was 'B & K Property Services'. The telephone number '[.....] [C]' on this note is the same as that listed publicly for BKPS.⁵⁷⁵⁶

IV.3668. Bowmer & Kirkland has admitted BKPS engaged bid rigging activity in respect of this tender, although it cannot recall the identity of the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging.

IV.3669. In respect of Milward, Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to Milward with the letter 'C' in brackets next to it and a figure. Derwent Valley stated that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received. The figure in the tender schedule next to the reference for Milward of '103126' directly corresponds to the bid of £103,126 Milward submitted as its bid for the tender.

IV.3670. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover to Milward.

IV.3671. This was supported in interview by DS, who also explained that the entry in the tender schedule indicated that Derwent Valley gave a cover price in respect of this tender to Milward.

⁵⁷⁵⁶ Bowmer & Kirkland's website, OFT Document Reference 11711, page 1.

- IV.3672. Derwent Valley also included in its list of companies who exchange cover prices, the name of Milward.
- IV.3673. In addition, the OFT notes that Derbyshire County Council received a tendered amount of £96,093 from Derwent Valley, which is lower than the amounts tendered by BKPS and Milward. This fits into the pattern consistent with cover prices having been given to BKPS and Milward by Derwent Valley.
- IV.3674. Although other tendering companies are mentioned on Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule document, the OFT notes that only BKPS and Milward have a '(C)' and the precise tender figure submitted respectively by these companies, written against them.
- IV.3675. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and BKPS, and between Derwent Valley and Milward. The OFT also concludes that Derwent Valley supplied figures to each of BKPS and Milward for cover bids.
- IV.3676. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3643 to IV.3675 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁷⁵⁷ In particular:
- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Derwent Valley to BKPS and from Derwent Valley to Milward was not unilateral⁵⁷⁵⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁷⁵⁹
 - (b) BKPS and Milward can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Derwent Valley (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁷⁶⁰ and
 - (c) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from BKPS and Milward (i.e. that neither BKPS nor Milward intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁷⁶¹

Immunity and leniency assessment

⁵⁷⁵⁷ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁷⁵⁸ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁵⁷⁵⁹ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁷⁶⁰ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁷⁶¹ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.3679. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Derwent Valley in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 135: 17/18 Dover Street, London – 27 January 2003
Client: Amsprop Investments Ltd
Parties: Mansell and Durkan

IV.3680. On 29 November 2002, Amsprop Investments Ltd, sought ‘Stage 2’ tenders for new build offices at 17/18 Dover Street.⁵⁷⁶² The following three companies were invited to tender: Durkan, Higgins City and Mansell. The date of tender return was, according to Amsprop Investments Ltd, 28 April 2003.⁵⁷⁶³

IV.3681. Durkan submitted in its response to the Statement that it was contacted by Amsprop Investments Ltd in January 2003, rather than November 2002.⁵⁷⁶⁴ Durkan did not provide any evidence in support of this submission and the OFT considers that the date put forward by Amsprop Investments Ltd is more consistent with the other evidence before the OFT. In any event, however, the date that tenders were sought is immaterial to the OFT’s finding of an infringement.

IV.3682. Amsprop Investments Ltd received the following tender returns:⁵⁷⁶⁵

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Mansell	27 January 2003	£2,884,286	YES
Durkan	27 January 2003	£2,892,208
Higgins City	27 January 2003	£3,150,212

IV.3683. Amsprop Investments Ltd had originally sought tenders from six contractors, including those noted, in June 2002 (‘Stage 1’), however those tenders were allowed to lapse and no contractor was appointed.⁵⁷⁶⁶ The work was then re-tendered due to a delay in obtaining planning approval for the works, with only the three contractors noted being put forward to ‘Stage 2’.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – emails and invoice

IV.3684. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided emails between Mansell and Durkan, in relation to this tender. On 30 March 2004, Clive Perceval (‘CP’), ex-Regional Managing Director⁵⁷⁶⁷ for the Enfield region of Mansell, received an email from Alan Fraher ('AF'), Company Secretary of Durkan. In this email AF stated 'We are extremely disappointed that you have failed to respond to our earlier communications and, more importantly, that you have not fulfilled your financial commitment [sic]. Unless we hear from you by close of business today, we shall have no option but to seek recovery by alternate means'.⁵⁷⁶⁸

IV.3685. This appears to have followed on from previous emails from AF requesting payment, as follows: (prior to 31 January 2004) 'I refer to our previous conversations and would respectfully request that you let me have the appropriate documentation by return. If there is a problem please let me know. Our financial year end is 31st January and I should appreciate payment by that date, at the very latest' and (apparently on 4 March 2004) 'I refer to my email below and to your meeting with both Colin Simmons and myself and regret to note that absolutely no progress whatsoever has been made in relation to this matter. In view of the above, I would respectfully request that [you] contact me, with a proposal for payment, by close of business tomorrow Friday 5th March 2004'.⁵⁷⁶⁹

IV.3686. In his reply to AF, on 30 March 2004, CP stated 'I am sure you are aware of our recent change in our corporate status which has caused the delay in clearing the financial commitment ... My colleague, Colin [Gilbert, ('CG'), Commercial Director at Mansell⁵⁷⁷⁰ for the Enfield region] will forward details to you & what is required to enable payment to be made'.⁵⁷⁷¹

IV.3687. On 1 April 2004 CG of Mansell sent an email to AF⁵⁷⁷² at Durkan stating 'Please raise invoice on the above Order Number for "Fit Out Works" on a project at "83 to 87 Southwark Street, London SE1" ... You will receive quality questionnaires via our QA system but I don't need to receive them back'.⁵⁷⁷³

IV.3688. In his reply to CG, on 26 April 2004, AF stated 'Colin, I complied with you (sic) request ... Unfortunately, I have not received payment. Please investigate and revert'.⁵⁷⁷⁴

IV.3689. Mansell's legal representatives provided an invoice from Durkan, numbered SL007930 and dated 2 April 2004. The invoice is shown to be in respect of 'FIT OUT WORK AT THE ABOVE ADDRESS AS PER YOUR ORDER NO. ZE0056/365205' for the amount of £60,000 plus VAT, totalling £70,500.00 inclusive of VAT.⁵⁷⁷⁵ Mansell's legal representatives also provided a document headed 'Supply & Fix Memo Payments Enquiry' which shows:⁵⁷⁷⁶

IV.3690. Durkan submitted in its response to the Statement that, whilst AF chased Mansell for payment, he was unaware that the money was in any way illegitimate. Durkan argued that AF's emailed threat to Mansell to 'seek recovery by alternative means' (which Durkan characterised as a letter before action) demonstrates AF's belief that the money owed was legitimate. Durkan also argued that AF's communications with Mansell were open and transparent and were consistent with the type of correspondence one would expect to see from a firm legitimately chasing a debt.⁵⁷⁷⁷

IV.3691. First, the OFT does not agree that the chain of correspondence between AF and Mansell is consistent with a firm chasing a legitimate debt. In particular, where a firm is chasing monies legitimately owed, the OFT would expect to see a reference to the sum of money owed and to the services supplied (or, indeed, for a copy of an invoice to be attached setting out these details). Conversely, AF made no reference to these details in his emails to CP and does not even mention the amount of money owed, referring instead in generic terms to Mansell's 'financial commitment'.⁵⁷⁷⁸

IV.3692. Following a request from Mansell, AF then raised a false invoice on 2 April 2004 for £60,000 plus VAT for fit out work at 83 – 87 Southwark Street. Both Parties have confirmed that Durkan had no involvement in this job and carried out no work at this site (see paragraphs IV.3707 and IV.3710). The OFT considers that raising a false invoice in order to facilitate payment is not consistent with monies legitimately owed.

IV.3693. The OFT also notes CP's statement to AF that a change in Mansell's corporate status had 'caused the delay in clearing the financial commitment, but now we have found the appropriate approach to regularise the situation'.⁵⁷⁷⁹ Again, the OFT does not consider this statement to be consistent with the type of correspondence one would expect to see if the monies had been legitimately owed. The OFT questions what the reference to 'regularising the situation' could mean in the context of a legitimate debt.

IV.3694. Whilst Durkan Holdings characterised AF's involvement as merely recouping monies 'that he was told were owed to [Durkan]'⁵⁷⁸⁰, the OFT finds it difficult to reconcile this with the correspondence. AF refers in one email (prior to 31 January 2004) to a previous conversation with CP and, in a subsequent email (apparently on 4 March 2004) to an earlier meeting with CP.⁵⁷⁸¹ The OFT

⁵⁷⁷⁸ Email correspondence, OFT Document Reference B4036.

⁵⁷⁷⁹ Email correspondence, OFT Document Reference B4036.

⁵⁷⁸⁰ Written representations of Durkan Holdings and Durkan Limited, 6 February 2009, paragraph 52(c).

⁵⁷⁸¹ Email correspondence, OFT Document Reference B4036.

considers it implausible that AF could have conducted a conversation and a meeting with CP in relation to the monies owed without being made aware of the background to the payment.

IV.3695. Finally, the OFT rejects Durkan's suggestion that AF's email of 30 March 2004⁵⁷⁸² constituted a letter before action – it has none of the characteristics of such a letter (for example, it fails to state the amount owed or what the debt relates to, and does not mention court proceedings at all).

IV.3696. On balance, the OFT concludes from the evidence that AF would have been aware that the payment he was chasing was not merely monies owed for services legitimately supplied. The OFT therefore remains of the view that AF was involved in the Infringement and that his involvement is an aggravating factor relevant to the OFT's penalty calculation (see Annex C).

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from other companies – Durkan – emails, letter and invoice

IV.3697. During a section 27 inspection of Durkan's premises on 24 January 2007, a number of documents relating to this tender were produced. Emails dated 1 April and 26 April 2004⁵⁷⁸³, as discussed in paragraphs IV.3687 and IV.3688 above, were produced.

IV.3698. A letter, dated 2 April 2004, from Michael Lawlor of Durkan to CG at Mansell, was also produced during the section 27 inspection. The letter was in respect of '83 – 87 SOUTHWARK STREET, LONDON SE1' and advised 'Please find enclosed our invoice no. SL007930 for £70,500.00 for works on the above site as per your order no. ZE0056/365205 ... We look forward to receiving your payment by 9th April 2004'.⁵⁷⁸⁴

IV.3699. Two invoices were produced during the section 27 inspection: an invoice, numbered SL007930 and dated 2 April 2004, from Durkan to Mansell for 'Project: 5000 OVERHEADS' and 'FIT OUT WORK AT THE ABOVE ADDRESS AS PER YOUR ORDER NO. ZE0056/365205' for the amount of £60,000 plus VAT, totalling £70,500.00 inclusive of VAT⁵⁷⁸⁵ and another invoice, also numbered SL007930 and dated 2 April 2004, from Durkan to Mansell for 'Project: 5000 83 TO 87 SOUTHWARK STREET, SE1' and 'FIT OUT WORK AT THE ABOVE ADDRESS AS PER YOUR ORDER NO. ZE0056/365205' for the amount of £60,000 plus VAT, totalling £70,500.00 inclusive of VAT, showing an itemised breakdown of '0.00'.⁵⁷⁸⁶ These invoices are almost identical to the one produced by Mansell's legal representatives as discussed at paragraph IV.3689 above, with the first showing the same project name and the second showing the same itemised breakdown as in the invoice received by Mansell.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.3700. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, CP, when asked what his recollection of this tender was, stated '... it was a spec. and drawings job, two stage tender, which we were invited to price in competition, which we did. We went through the first stage and we were led to believe ... they would select one contractor from the first stage process to take it through [to] the second stage'.⁵⁷⁸⁷ CP explained that the job required extensive work and stated 'We went through the process and we were then told that they were going to proceed with two contractors ... But we still wished to go ahead with the job ... and then I was contacted by Durkans who were in a similar position and, they suggested to us that because of this, one or other party was going to incur costs that we couldn't recover because we weren't going to secure the job. Now this is contrary to the original intent and therefore they [Durkan] put forward the proposal that those costs were reimbursed through the other contractor. I spoke to Steve Waite [Divisional Managing Director at the time] about it, and subsequently we agreed that's what we'd do'.⁵⁷⁸⁸

IV.3701. In its response to the Statement, Mansell stated its belief that Stephen Waite ('SW') was not involved at this stage of the Infringement. Mansell stated that SW did not recall speaking to CP, or any other Mansell employee, about this tender at the time the agreement was reached with Durkan. SW did, however, recall that he was later contacted by CP (after the submission of tender bids) in order to discuss the method of making the agreed compensation payment to Durkan. Mansell did not seek to argue that SW believed the payment to be for a legitimate purpose.⁵⁷⁸⁹

IV.3702. The OFT has no evidence to confirm whether CP's or SW's version of events is correct. In any event, the timing and scope of SW's involvement is immaterial to the OFT's finding of an infringement.

IV.3703. Even if SW was not involved until after Mansell's tender was submitted (which the OFT does not necessarily accept was the case), the OFT remains of the view that SW was involved in the Infringement and that his involvement is an aggravating factor relevant to the OFT's penalty calculation (see Annex C). By Mansell's own admission, SW was involved in discussions about how to make the agreed compensation payment. At the very least, he was therefore aware of the arrangement prior to the payment to Durkan being affected, and did nothing to prevent the payment being made or otherwise to address this illegal activity.

IV.3704. When asked why a figure of £60,000 for reimbursement was agreed upon, CP stated '...I think [it was] a reasonable figure at the time for the costs you're likely to incur because this was a particularly expensive process you had to go through, for a comparatively small job'.⁵⁷⁹⁰

IV.3705. In respect of the email from AF dated 30 March 2004, CP stated 'They chased me for payment' and when asked what CG's involvement was, stated 'he managed through the payment'. CP also explained that the payment of £60,000 had been made through another project, at Southwark Street.⁵⁷⁹¹ When asked where the £60,000 would have come from, CP stated 'we would have been conscious of it when we did the tender settlement but it wouldn't necessarily have been added as a specific figure, it would have been part of an overall figure for a tender settlement' and confirmed that some of the payment would have come out of Mansell's profit on this tender.⁵⁷⁹²

IV.3706. During an interview with the OFT on 3 May 2007, CG, when asked how he became aware of this tender, stated '... I was aware of the project from an initial lead ... so when we did finally secure the job, I was involved in sorting out the terms and conditions'.⁵⁷⁹³ When asked if he was aware of the arrangement made between Mansell and Durkan, CG stated 'I was aware that the discussions were taking place and I knew there were some discussions about costs that were being incurred' and in terms of the arrangement CG stated 'I understand that an arrangement had been made ...that the successful party would pay costs to the unsuccessful party' and clarified this would be the costs of preparing the second stage tender.⁵⁷⁹⁴ CG explained what his role was in the arrangement, 'I was asked to facilitate the payment of the costs'.⁵⁷⁹⁵

IV.3707. When asked why he requested that AF raise an invoice in respect of 83 – 87 Southwark Street, CG stated 'that was what I was asked to do' and when asked who had instructed him to do so, stated 'Clive [Perceval] would have done that'.⁵⁷⁹⁶ In respect of 83 - 87 Southwark Street, CG stated 'It was another contract we had, I think we'd recently completed it' and when asked if Durkan was a competitor on that project CP stated 'No, it had nothing to do with Durkan, but there were fit-out works on that and, well, I was asked to put the payment through on that project'.⁵⁷⁹⁷ In respect of the payment of £60,000 to Durkan, CG advised it had nothing to do with 83 – 87 Southwark Street and that Durkan did no work for Mansell on that project.⁵⁷⁹⁸

Evidence from other companies – Durkan

IV.3708. The OFT wrote to Durkan on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Durkan had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Durkan admitted 'we engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with Mansell Plc. Contact: C. Percival'.⁵⁷⁹⁹

IV.3709. The OFT subsequently wrote to Durkan's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Durkan Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Durkan's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Durkan Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Durkan in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter Durkan Holdings stated 'Durkan Holdings will respect the terms of the acceptance made by Durkan Pudelek ...'.⁵⁸⁰⁰

IV.3710. In respect of this tender Durkan's solicitors have advised that Durkan did not supply fit out work to Mansell in respect of 83 – 87 Southwark Street as indicated by an invoice dated 2 April 2004, obtained on a section 27 visit to Durkan, which is detailed above. Durkan's solicitors have stated that no work was carried out as, 'There was no work to be done' and have confirmed that Durkan did receive the invoiced amount of £70,500.⁵⁸⁰¹

IV.3711. Durkan submitted in its response to the Statement that it had no agreement or understanding with Mansell that the compensation payment would be added to the tender, that it did not in fact add the compensation payment to its tender price, and that its tender was not above the competitive level.⁵⁸⁰²

IV.3713. Mansell and Durkan each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3714. Both companies submitted a tender. It appears that at the first stage both Mansell and Durkan completed the estimating process for this tender and that they each submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.3715. This was a two stage tender. Of the six companies invited to tender for the first stage, only three companies, Mansell, Durkan and Higgins City, were invited on to the shortlist for the second tender and all three companies submitted tenders at the second stage.

IV.3716. It appears that the bidders were initially informed that only one of them would go forward to a second tender process. However, Mansell advised that it was then informed that the client wanted to proceed to the second tender process with two contractors.⁵⁸⁰³ In order to prepare for the second tender process, the companies had to undertake a degree of work, which according to Mansell would have resulted in irrecoverable costs if its tender bid had been unsuccessful and which CP of Mansell considered would be a 'particularly expensive process ... for a comparatively small job'.

IV.3717. Mansell has stated that as a result, Durkan suggested that the unsuccessful tenderer should be compensated by the successful tenderer for the irrecoverable cost of work undertaken. Mansell agreed to this suggestion and an amount of £60,000 plus VAT was agreed between the parties. CP of Mansell suggested in interview that the amount of agreed compensation '...would have been part of an overall figure for a tender settlement' rather than being added as a specific figure. Durkan has also confirmed that it engaged in bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that it is not necessary for it to conclude as to whether the initial approach came from Durkan, as Mansell suggests.

IV.3718. Durkan disputed in its response to the Statement that this was a two stage tender. Rather, Durkan submitted that it started as a two stage tender, but the client then changed it into an arrangement comprising two individual tender invitations.⁵⁸⁰⁴ The OFT notes that both the client⁵⁸⁰⁵ and CP of Mansell⁵⁸⁰⁶ refer to a two stage tender but that, in any event, the OFT has described the relevant elements of the tender process at paragraphs IV.3680 to IV.3683 and IV.3713 to IV.3716 and the precise terminology used to describe the process has no bearing on the OFT's finding of an infringement.

⁵⁸⁰¹ Response from Durkan, OFT Document Reference 13379b.

⁵⁸⁰² Written representations of Durkan, 27 June 2008, paragraphs 68 to 69, 70 to 73 and 80.

⁵⁸⁰³ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 7045. The OFT notes three contractors were taken forward to the second-stage tender.

IV.3719. Durkan also submitted that, in a two stage tender process, the 'unwritten rules of engagement' are that the client will reimburse the tenderer for its 'stage two' costs if negotiations fail. Durkan argued that, in the ordinary course, Mansell and itself would have expected reimbursement in the event they were selected for stage two and subsequently not awarded the contract. Durkan therefore concluded that the compensation payment was to reflect this expectation and there was 'no intention for anyone to receive a payment that they would not have been entitled to in the ordinary course.'⁵⁸⁰⁷

IV.3720. Notwithstanding Durkan's description of standard industry practice in a two-stage tender process (which the OFT does not necessarily accept), the OFT in any event considers this justification to be without merit. First, an undertaking's subjective intent is immaterial where the object of an arrangement is anti-competitive.⁵⁸⁰⁸ Furthermore, an otherwise anti-competitive arrangement cannot be saved by virtue of its authors' intent to obtain money to which they considered they would be entitled 'in the ordinary course'. The client was entitled to conduct a tender process which required bidders to take the risk of incurring potentially irrecoverable tender costs. If a bidder did not wish to accept that risk, it could decline to participate in the tender. The ability of a buyer to play potential suppliers off against each other in order to obtain a better price or better terms forms the very essence of a competitive process. Concertation between bidders to undermine this process cannot be justified by reference to 'unwritten rules of engagement' or the level of remuneration that a supplier would expect to achieve 'in the ordinary course'.

IV.3721. CP confirmed that although the compensation sum would not be added to Mansell's tender as a 'specific sum', the person preparing the tender would be conscious of the amount of the agreed payment when putting together the tender. Durkan denied adding the compensation payment to its tender price. On the evidence available, the OFT is unable to conclude as to whether Mansell and Durkan expressly agreed that each would add the agreed £60,000 plus VAT compensation payment to their respective tender costs or whether they in fact did so, but notes in any event that it is not necessary for the OFT to make any finding that the Parties agreed to include a specific sum in their respective tender bids, or that they in fact did so, in order to find an infringement.⁵⁸⁰⁹

IV.3722. Mansell won the tender and subsequently carried out the work. Around a year later, it seems that Mansell had still not paid to Durkan the agreed amount of £60,000 plus VAT. Emails were sent from Durkan to Mansell chasing payment of this amount.

- IV.3723. Eventually, in response to an email from Durkan dated 30 March 2004, CP at Mansell expedited matters by asking CG to arrange for the payment to go through. Two days later CG sent an email to Durkan asking for a false invoice to be raised for 'fit out works' in the sum of £60,000 plus VAT at 83-87 Southwark Street, London SE1. Mansell has confirmed that Durkan was not in fact involved in that project.
- IV.3724. The following day, 2 April 2004, an invoice for £60,000 plus VAT was raised in respect of 'fit out works'. This invoice was sent from Durkan to Mansell under cover of a letter headed '83-87 SOUTHWARK STREET, LONDON SE1' on that date.
- IV.3725. The final correspondence between the parties in respect of this matter was an email from Durkan to Mansell dated 26 April 2004 stating that the request for an invoice had been complied with and repeating the request for payment of this false invoice.
- IV.3726. Subsequently, Mansell raised a payment of £60,000 to Durkan, apparently on 30 April 2004, and this amount was apparently paid to Durkan on 4 May 2004.
- IV.3727. Durkan has admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender with Mansell, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007. The OFT notes that Durkan named 'Mansell' and the contact 'C Percival'⁵⁸¹⁰, without sight of the OFT's evidence that Mansell and CP were involved in bid rigging on this tender. This provides additional corroboration of the contemporaneous evidence and Mansell's explanation of that evidence.
- IV.3728. Durkan has also confirmed that it did not supply the fit out work for which it invoiced Mansell on 2 April 2004, stating that there was no work to be done. This confirms that the invoice received by Mansell was false and further corroborates the contemporaneous evidence and Mansell's explanation of that evidence. Durkan has also confirmed that it received the invoiced amount.
- IV.3729. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and Durkan, resulting in an agreement between them that the successful tenderer would pay the unsuccessful tenderer a sum of £60,000 plus VAT. Mansell after some delay eventually made a compensation payment to Durkan which was facilitated by the production of a false invoice relating to another contract that Mansell had won.
- IV.3730. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3684 to IV.3729 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁸¹¹ In particular:
- (a) the discussion of the respective intentions to bid and provision of a compensation payment from Mansell to Durkan was not unilateral, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁸¹²
 - (b) the agreement between Mansell and Durkan that the successful tenderer would pay an agreed level of compensation of £60,000 plus ⁵⁸¹⁰ The OFT believes this to be Clive Perceval of Mansell.

⁵⁸¹¹ See paragraph III.3 and III.136 to III.157 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁸¹² See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.139 to III.140 of the Legal Background section.

VAT to the unsuccessful tenderer had the obvious consequence of restricting or distorting competition and was capable of an effect on price;⁵⁸¹³ and

- (c) each of Mansell and Durkan can be presumed to have taken account of the information they each received from each other (i.e. the agreement to pay compensation and the agreed level of compensation) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁸¹⁴

IV.3731. In response to the Statement, Durkan submitted that the contact between itself and Mansell did not infringe the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors.⁵⁸¹⁵ The OFT recalls that, in order to prove a concerted practice, it is required to demonstrate reciprocal contact between competitors leading to an alteration of their course of conduct on the market.⁵⁸¹⁶ The OFT is not required to demonstrate these elements, however, where an agreement has been concluded between competitors. In this respect, the OFT notes that Durkan does not contest that there was an agreement between itself and Mansell to make a compensation payment in relation to this tender.⁵⁸¹⁷

IV.3732. Notwithstanding Durkan's acceptance that it concluded an agreement with Mansell, the OFT considers that in any event, the evidence above proves the existence of a concerted practice between Durkan and Mansell. The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁵⁸¹⁸ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Durkan has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case.

IV.3733. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept Durkan's submission that the contact between itself and Mansell did not influence either company's desire to win the tender⁵⁸¹⁹ (which is not necessarily the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition. In any event, the OFT notes CP's evidence that the person preparing Mansell's tender would have been conscious of the amount of the agreed payment when putting together the tender.⁵⁸²⁰ The OFT concludes from this evidence that Mansell's conduct was affected, even if its desire to win the tender was not.

IV.3734. Durkan also submitted that neither itself nor Mansell disclosed the course of conduct they would be taking, or were contemplating taking, in respect of the tender. In particular, Durkan claimed that neither company knew whether the other company was going to bid for the tender.⁵⁸²¹ At the same time, however, Durkan does not contest that it entered into an agreement with Mansell whereby the winning bidder would compensate the losing bidder for its tender costs.⁵⁸²² The OFT finds it impossible to reconcile these two statements – indeed an agreement to make a compensation payment would be nonsensical unless both parties (either explicitly or implicitly) indicate to each other that they are intending to bid for the tender in question.

IV.3735. Furthermore, in addition to disclosing that they were intending to bid for the particular tender, the OFT considers that Mansell and Durkan also disclosed to each other their intended course of conduct upon award of the tender (either to make a compensation payment to the other, or to receive such a payment) and the amount of that payment.

IV.3736. Durkan also submitted that the contact between itself and Mansell did not have the object or effect of creating conditions of competition that were abnormal.⁵⁸²³ The OFT does not accept this argument. Under normal conditions of competition a tenderer will not indicate that it is intending to submit a bid to a competing tenderer, and will not enter into an agreement with a competing tenderer to make or receive a payment conditional upon its success in that tender. For the same reasons, the OFT also rejects Durkan's argument that it did not disclose any commercially sensitive information to Mansell, or receive any such information from Mansell relative to the tender.⁵⁸²⁴ The OFT considers the information described in this paragraph to be commercially sensitive.

IV.3737. Finally, Durkan argued that the compensation payment did not result in a tender price above the competitive level or otherwise influence the tender price, that it was not made at the expense of a potentially lower tender price and did not fix the price or a component of the price. Durkan asserted that the OFT had adduced no evidence to the contrary in the Statement.⁵⁸²⁵

IV.3738. The OFT refutes these arguments in their entirety. Regardless of whether there was an agreement to add the amount of the compensation payment to the tender price, or whether the amount was in fact added (in respect of which the OFT makes no finding), CP has confirmed that he would have been conscious of the payment when preparing the tender settlement, and that part of the payment would have come out of Mansell's profit on this tender (see paragraph IV.3705). As such, Mansell effectively accepted a lower profit margin on the project, but rather than applying that reduced margin to the benefit of the customer in the form of a lower price (which would be commercially rational behaviour for a tenderer competing on price), a monetary amount reflecting the reduction in margin was instead paid to its competitor, Durkan. As set out in paragraphs III.150 to III.151 such an arrangement has the obvious consequence of suppressing price competition and hence has the object of restricting or distorting competition.

IV.3739. The evidence supporting this analysis was, contrary to Durkan's assertions, included in the Statement. The OFT does not view as material the fact that the third tenderer, Higgins City, submitted a bid higher than that of Durkan or Mansell.⁵⁸²⁶

⁵⁸²² Written representations of Durkan, 27 June 2008, paragraph 56.

⁵⁸²⁶ Written representations of Durkan, 27 June 2008, paragraphs 71 to 73.

IV.3741. Mansell suggested in its response to the Statement that CP's evidence demonstrates that the compensation payment had little effect on the competitive process in this tender.⁵⁸²⁷ As the OFT has concluded, however, that the arrangement between Mansell and Durkan had the object of restricting competition, it is not required to examine the effects of the arrangement.⁵⁸²⁸

IV.3742. To the extent that Mansell and/or Durkan submit that this Infringement should not be treated as serious because no effects have been shown, this point is addressed in step 1 of Section VI (Enforcement) below.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3743. As explained in paragraphs II.1475 to II.1476 above, where the OFT would not have been aware of the bid rigging activities in relation to a particular tender but for the information provided by a leniency party, that party shall have 100 per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.3744. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 136: Pitched Roof Conversion, 1-15 Pankhurst Place, Clay Cross – 5 February 2003
Client: North East Derbyshire District Council
Parties: Derwent Valley, Admiral, Wildgoose and Milward

IV.3745. On 20 January 2003, North East Derbyshire District Council sought tenders for the conversion of a flat to pitched roof at 1-15 Pankhurst Place, Clay Cross, Derbyshire. The following seven companies were invited to tender: Derwent Valley, Milward, Allenbuild, Admiral, J S Seddon Building, Wildgoose and Baggaley & Jenkins. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 5 February 2003.⁵⁸²⁹

IV.3746. North East Derbyshire District Council received the following tender returns:⁵⁸³⁰

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Schedule

IV.3747. During the OFT's search of Derwent Valley's premises, a tender schedule containing handwritten entries was discovered. Within this tender schedule was the following entry:⁵⁸³¹

TENDER NO.	RETURN DATE	DETAILS	OPPOSITION	TENDER
09/01/03	5/2/03	PITCH ROOF CONVERSION AT 1-15 PANKHURST PLACE CLAY CROSS FOR NEDDC	Milward (C) Admiral (C) Wildgoose (C) Seddon B & Jenkins	128113	4 th (93k)

Evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.3748. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3749. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2001 to January 2005 where Derwent Valley had given a cover price to a competitor for that tender, marked as 'DVC1 List of Covers Given'. The information in the summary was based on the tender book kept by Pat Tunnicliffe ('PT'), an ex-estimator at Derwent Valley, and contained the following extract. The summary contains an error where based on the handwriting in the contemporaneous evidence, Derwent Valley listed one of the companies involved as being 'Almond' when it was actually 'Admiral'.⁵⁸³²

January 2003	Pitch roof conversion Clay Cross	Milward, Almond, Wildgoose

IV.3750. In its response to the Statement, Milward highlighted that one of the entries in this summary document was incorrect, as it indicated Milward had taken a cover in respect of another project whereas in fact Milward had been successful in obtaining the contract on that project.⁵⁸³³ The OFT notes Milward's point. On balance, however, the OFT does not consider the credibility of the other entries in the document to be undermined where, as here, those entries are underpinned by a contemporaneous tender schedule. Moreover, the summary represents Derwent Valley's assessment as to its participation in cover pricing on this tender and the OFT accordingly takes it into account when assessing the totality of the evidence.

⁵⁸³¹ Tender schedule, OFT Document Reference 1912, page 36.

IV.3751. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a 'List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices'. The name 'Milward Construction (Belper)' appears on this list with the address '30 Market Place Belper Derbyshire' and the name, 'Adrian Milward' as a contact. Also on this list is the name, 'Wildgoose Construction Ltd' with the address 'Fallgate Milltown Ashover Derbyshire' and the name, 'Paul Taylor' as a contact. There is also reference to the name 'Almond' on this list with no other details. The reason for this is outlined in the above paragraph.⁵⁸³⁴

IV.3752. In its response to the Statement, Milward stated that Adrian Milward 'does not know any of the employees of Derwent Valley and did not know of them at the time of the Alleged Infringements'.⁵⁸³⁵ However, the OFT notes the evidence of PT to the contrary; he stated in interview that '...Milward were a contractor in Belper, the same as Derwent Valley were. They went back a long way, you know, before I joined. Adrian knew that if it wasn't David it would be myself that was pricing it and he would ask for one or the other and then we would give him a call back when we had a figure for him'.⁵⁸³⁶

IV.3753. Following the issue of the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.3754. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors and an ex-employee provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3755. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with PT, who dealt with this tender. PT confirmed that he kept and maintained the tender schedule referred to in paragraph IV.309 to IV.317 above.

IV.3756. PT was asked if he recalled the tender and he referred to the tender schedule, confirmed he recalled it and said, 'It looks as though we came fourth and got beaten out of sight, because according to that we came fourth with a tender of 128,000. And I would guess that 93,000 in brackets was the amount that it was won for'.⁵⁸³⁷ PT went on to refer to Seddon and he said, 'I don't ever remember him giving or taking covers'.⁵⁸³⁸ PT commented on Baggaley & Jenkins to the effect that 'if they were pricing a job and going for it I could never get anywhere near their figures'. PT also noted that 'it looks as though Milward took a cover'.⁵⁸³⁹ PT said 'I seem to remember pricing the job so it's a good chance it could have been me that gave them the figure'.⁵⁸⁴⁰

IV.3757. PT confirmed on closer inspection of his handwriting that the name which Derwent Valley had thought was written as 'Almond' was actually the word 'Admiral' and recalled tendering against them on a couple of occasions but could not remember who he would have spoken to. He said 'I think it's my bad writing...it does say Admiral, look'.⁵⁸⁴¹ In regard to the other companies listed on the tender schedule PT was asked if he recalled who he would have dealt with when discussing prices and covers for this tender. PT said, 'No, I mean when they ring up for a cover you give them a cover. Again Milwards, it would have been Adrian, Wildgoose, I would think by then it was Graham Bennett...And Admiral, I can't remember at all'.⁵⁸⁴²

IV.3758. David Stone ('DS'), Managing Director of Derwent Valley, was also interviewed in regard to this tender. He recalled the tender, saying 'Oh I did the estimate for that, I can remember... I was the one who priced this'. DS, examining the entry for this tender in the tender schedule, said that it was in PT's handwriting and 'Milwards looks as though they took a cover, Admiral looks as though they took a cover, and Wildgoose looks as though they took a cover'. DS was asked whether, as he dealt with the tender, he would have been contacted by the other companies to give assistance and responded, 'No, it would probably come to Pat, even though I'd be pricing it, he'd know I'd be pricing it and he'd write it there'. DS could not recall whether it would have been him or PT who would have made return telephone calls to competitors.⁵⁸⁴³

IV.3759. Milward stated in its response to the Statement that PT's evidence at interview is 'very vague' and suggested that 'he cannot say with any certainty that Milward did take a cover price'.⁵⁸⁴⁴ However, as indicated below, the OFT notes PT's evidence that the inclusion of a 'C' next to an entry in the tender schedule denoted Derwent Valley's understanding that a cover had either been given or taken. PT stated in interview, *'...you don't remember people phoning up saying can you give me help [a cover], you just make a note of it in your book...'*⁵⁸⁴⁵ The OFT considers the inclusion of that entry in the tender schedule to be sufficiently specific to indicate that a cover price was given or taken.

IV.3760. Milward also noted in its response that PT and DS's evidence appears inconsistent in that both claim to recall having priced for this job. The OFT does not accept Milward's interpretation of the witness evidence and notes that only DS claimed definitely to recall it. In any event, the OFT notes that it would not have been inconsistent for both DS and PT to be involved in pricing tenders as in Infringement 120. In respect of who provided the cover prices to competitors, the witnesses are in agreement that it would have been PT. PT

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Admiral – Tender enquiry list and BT Phone Disc sheet with handwritten notes

IV.3761. During the OFT's visit to Admiral's premises, a tender enquiry list containing handwritten entries was obtained. Within this tender enquiry list was the following entry:⁵⁸⁴⁸

IV.3762. In its leniency application, Admiral provided a contemporaneous document headed 'BT Phone Disc' which is a printed page with Derwent Valley contact details and handwritten notes as outlined below:⁵⁸⁴⁹

IV.3764. Admiral also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a schedule of projects since January 2003 on which Admiral Construction were given a figure by another company to incorporate onto a tender submission or where Admiral Construction gave a figure to another company to incorporate into a tender submission. In this schedule is the following entry:⁵⁸⁵⁰

TENDER NR	TENDER DATE	2003	GIVEN	TAKEN
7/03	5/2	PITCH ROOF CONVERSION CLAY CROSS		✓DERWENT VALLEY CONSTRUCTION

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Admiral

IV.3765. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Admiral's directors provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.166 to IV.173 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3766. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with Andrew Clarkson ('AC'), Estimating Director at Admiral, who dealt with this tender. AC recalled the tender and said *'it was a job that we weren't interested in, because of the nature of the work. And that again, because we didn't want to upset the Northeast Derbyshire County Council, by sending it back and refusing to quote, I think we decided to take a cover'. AC went on to say 'It was the fact that it was all sub-contract work. There was none of our own work in it; it was the overlaying of an existing roof, and not really our cup of tea'.*⁵⁸⁵¹

IV.3767. AC said that he recalled taking a cover price from Derwent Valley and commented, *'I think, this particular scheme, we actually had trouble finding anybody else that was pricing it, or at least any tenderers, and I think we came across Derwent Valley, who again is a company that I'd never spoken to before, until this particular contract...and obviously I rang them and said are you pricing it? They said, yes, so I said, can you fix me up with a price on it?'*⁵⁸⁵²

IV.3768. AC was asked about the BT Phone Disc entry and identified the handwritten entries 'ESTIMATE No 7/03' and 'Pitch Roof, Clay Cross' as being Steve Savage's ('SS'), Managing Director of Admiral, and said that these entries were written at the time of Admiral's leniency application in order to show the tender to which this document related.⁵⁸⁵³ He said that SS had been able to identify this because the figure of £147,610 matched Admiral's bid for this tender. The remainder of the information on this contemporaneous document was, however, written at the time of the tender and was in AC's handwriting.⁵⁸⁵⁴

IV.3769. AC said the document led him to believe that 'we'd obviously contacted Derwent Valley Construction, who... we didn't know where they were, or what the phone number was, and so we needed the BT phone disc to find out where they were and what the phone number was. So, I suspect I was given the name of Derwent Valley by one of... a subcontractor, or material supplier, as someone that had approached them for a price on this particular scheme, and then I rang Derwent Valley and said, are you pricing this job, and if so can you fix me up with a price?'. AC said that he could not recall which of PT or DS he spoke to. AC commented on the writing, '£147,610 our figure' and said that 'Our figure means that is a figure that they [Derwent Valley] gave me, which I then used in our tender'.⁵⁸⁵⁵

IV.3770. SS was also interviewed in regard to this tender. SS recalled little about the tender and commented 'we may not have even had a formal meeting on that, and we would have just agreed that we were going to take a cover on it, rather than send it back, because it was North East Derbyshire District Council. We didn't want to upset them and we would just leave Andy [AC] to deal with the cover'.⁵⁸⁵⁶

IV.3771. In its response to the Statement, Admiral stated *'AC [Admiral] accepts that it has infringed the provisions of the Competition Act 1998'⁵⁸⁵⁷ and in respect of this infringement *'...this was a contract which AC did not wish to win for perfectly sound commercial reasons, namely that the job was by its nature unattractive and rather than offend an historically important client by refusing to bid AC decided to discover ... from another bidder what was the safe level to bid which was anti-competitive...'.⁵⁸⁵⁸

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Wildgoose – Tender Enquiry Register

IV.3772. During the OFT's visit to Wildgoose's premises, a Tender Enquiry Register containing handwritten entries was obtained. Within this Tender Enquiry Register was the following entry:⁵⁸⁵⁹

E No	RCVD	RTN	PROJECT	CLIENT

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Wildgoose

IV.3773. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Wildgoose's directors and former employees provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.726 to IV.742 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3774. In regard to this tender a voluntary interview was conducted with Ross Cooper ('RC'), an ex-trainee estimator at Wildgoose. RC recalled the tender and said, 'that was actually one of the first jobs that I priced, with Dave Rollinson at the time, who's one of the senior estimators. Wildgoose did price the job competitively. I believe we came second at the time. To the best of my knowledge, I'm unaware of any covers were given out'.⁵⁸⁶⁰ RC agreed that Derwent Valley was a company with which Wildgoose would have exchanged cover prices but did not recall receiving a cover price for this tender and went on to say 'Whether the director submitted it as a competitive tender I'm unaware of but I, I priced it as a competitive tender'.⁵⁸⁶¹

IV.3775. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with Wildgoose's former senior estimator, David Rollinson ('DR'). When asked if he recalled this tender, DR said, 'I remember that one, yes. We took a cover on that one'. Referring to the entry in the tender enquiry register DR went on to say 'It was quite an awkward contract and Ross was looking after it, that is Ross Cooper, with me looking over his shoulder, so to speak, guiding him. But, I think perhaps something more lucrative came in and we decided to take a cover on it'. DR said that he was 'sure' that £144,562 was a cover price given by Derwent Valley.⁵⁸⁶²

IV.3776. It was put to DR that RC recalled doing a competitive tender for this job to which DR replied 'He would have recalled doing a competitive tender because we were doing it, but I'm sure we took a cover at the end'.⁵⁸⁶³ DR was shown the Derwent Valley tender register with an entry for this tender, and was informed by the OFT that Derwent Valley had stated that it gave Wildgoose a cover price for this tender. DR was asked if he could recall any contact with Derwent Valley in relation to this tender and said 'Yeah, I think I can now, certainly. Yes I remember it now. I knew we'd taken the cover but I couldn't honestly [say] who from. I remember it now you've said Derwent Valley'. DR was unable to recall the name of anyone at Derwent Valley with whom he would have spoken. DR went on to confirm that Derwent Valley was a company with whom Wildgoose would have exchanged cover prices.⁵⁸⁶⁴

IV.3777. A voluntary interview was also conducted with Malcolm Clarke ('MC'), General Manager of Minor Works at Wildgoose. When asked if he recalled this tender, MC said that he had helped RC put together the tender and was unaware of a cover price being received from Derwent Valley and being submitted by Wildgoose. MC referring to RC said *'I gave him a hand and guided him in pricing it as well as other people'*⁵⁸⁶⁵ but also commented 'We went to a lot of trouble to price it; I'm very surprised [that a cover price was submitted], unless they thought it were last minute. It could have happened. I wouldn't know'.⁵⁸⁶⁶ When told that DR had said that Wildgoose took a cover price in respect of this tender, MC replied 'It was an awkward job, Ok, but I'm very surprised that that happened'.⁵⁸⁶⁷

IV.3778. Wildgoose stated in its response to the Statement in respect of this Infringement, *'It is accepted that Wildgoose may have accepted a cover from Derwent Valley in respect of this tender'*⁵⁸⁶⁸ and '[o]nly one of its estimators, David Rollinson, appeared to be aware that Wildgoose had taken a cover on this project'.⁵⁸⁶⁹

Evidence from other companies – Milward

IV.3779. The OFT wrote to Milward on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Milward had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Milward did not reply to this letter and subsequently on 9 May 2007 a call was made by the OFT to the Managing Director of Milward, who said the OFT would not be receiving a response as Milward 'had not done anything wrong'.⁵⁸⁷⁰

IV.3780. Milward stated in its response to the Statement that 'The works to which this tender related were mainly roofing, which Milward would sub-contract. It was therefore relatively straight-forward to price...Adrian Milward contacted Malcolm Males and requested details of Roofcraft Services' rates, which he could apply to the tender for this project. Malcolm Males provided rates and Adrian Milward prepared and submitted the tender on the basis of these proposed rates. A fully priced tender was submitted'.⁵⁸⁷¹ Milward adduced the affidavit of Adrian Milward ('AM') which stated that *'A genuine tender was submitted'*⁵⁸⁷² and the affidavit of Malcolm Males which stated that 'I specifically recall this tender as Adrian, as he often does, telephoned me to discuss rates based on the quantities which he had estimated. This was one of the larger schemes on which I have discussed rates with Adrian, and after speaking to Adrian, I drove past the site so that I could take a look at it'.⁵⁸⁷³

IV.3781. The OFT has given this evidence full and careful consideration and notes the conflicting witness evidence. Whilst the OFT does not dispute that Milward may have contacted Malcolm Males in order to obtain sub-contractor rates for the provision of roofing, the OFT notes that a decision to take a cover price may have been taken after work had begun to seek prices from sub-contractors, for example because the firm in question had won other tenders and would have been unable to take on the tendered works but did not wish to offend the client by returning the tender (see for example the evidence of DR at paragraph IV.3775), or because the sub-contractor prices or other research led the firm to conclude late in the process that the job was unattractive. It is not the OFT's case that either of these or any other particular reason for deciding to take cover applied in the case of Milward, it only notes that there are a number of plausible explanations for this scenario. This initial pricing work does not therefore prove that no cover pricing took place, although it does corroborate in some respects the evidence of AM.

IV.3782. In light of the contradictions between the evidence of AM, on the one hand, and PT and DS on the other hand, the OFT has given very careful consideration to the strength of the documentary evidence implicating Milward for this Infringement. The OFT notes that the marking '(C)' in respect of Milward in the Derwent Valley tender schedule described at paragraph IV.3747 is identical to markings by the names of Admiral and Wildgoose, both of whom have accepted that they engaged in cover pricing with Derwent Valley in respect of this Infringement, on the basis of documentary and/or witness evidence available independently of the Derwent Valley tender schedule.

IV.3783. Moreover, similar entries in the Derwent Valley tender schedule have been confirmed to accurately record the giving of a cover price by the admissions of other Parties in relation to Infringements including 68, 93, 110 and 144.

IV.3784. Therefore, on balance, the OFT remains unpersuaded that the evidence of Malcolm Males and AM is sufficient to undermine the conclusions reached by the OFT based on the contemporaneous documentary evidence and witness evidence of PT and DS, which all indicate that a cover price was taken by Milward in respect of this tender.

IV.3785. Milward stated in its response to the Statement that '...[t]he tender submitted by Milward on this contract was 10.2% greater than that submitted by Derwent Valley. If Milward's price was a cover, as alleged by the OFT, then this would seem to be exceptionally high compared with the 4 to 5% which appears, from the statements provided to the OFT, to be the "usual" percentage increase employed by those involved in the practice of cover pricing'.⁵⁸⁷⁴ The OFT is not persuaded by this submission. It is consistent with Derwent Valley providing an enhanced figure by way of cover price, and Milwards themselves enhancing it further before onward transmission to the client. Further, the OFT notes that PT observed in interview that '...I suppose he [a client] might think it was odd if something [a cover price] was exactly 5% dearer [?] or 10% dearer, but that's not to say it couldn't happen...'.⁵⁸⁷⁵ The OFT regards this as evidence that it would not be 'unusual' for a client to receive a tender that was based on a cover price and which was in the range of 10 per cent higher than the tender provided as a cover price. The OFT further notes that the cover prices provided by Derwent Valley to Admiral and Wildgoose are even higher than the price provided to Milward. Therefore the OFT cannot therefore accept Milward's assertion that a figure 10.2 per cent higher than Derwent Valley's own bid is inconsistent with a cover price, even if it is beyond the usual range used by Derwent Valley.

IV.3786. Milward in its response to the Statement questioned whether the use of a 'C' entry in the tender schedule indicated that a cover price had been given/taken, suggesting in particular that DS had only 'assumed that [the giving of a cover price] was indicated by the use of the letter 'C'' and that the 'C' may denote 'competitor' as 'it is possible for contractors to note from where their main ⁵⁸⁷⁴ Written representations of Milward, 26 June 2008, paragraph 3.4(f).

competition has arisen'.⁵⁸⁷⁶ The OFT does not consider this plausible. The witnesses from Derwent Valley did not indicate that it was a part of their practice in compiling the tender schedule to denote their competitors in this manner. Further, PT confirmed that a 'C' in brackets indicated that Derwent Valley had either given or taken a cover.⁵⁸⁷⁷

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

- IV.3787. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.
- IV.3788. Derwent Valley, Admiral, Wildgoose and Milward each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Derwent Valley completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.
- IV.3789. Admiral, Wildgoose and Milward were each unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.
- IV.3790. In respect of Admiral, Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, PT, includes reference to its competitor Admiral, with the letter 'C' in brackets next to Admiral's name. Derwent Valley confirmed that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received. In this case Derwent Valley included this tender in its list of cover prices given to competitors and confirmed that it gave a cover price to 'Almond', later corrected to Admiral by PT whose handwriting had been misinterpreted by Derwent Valley at the time of its leniency application.
- IV.3791. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover price to Admiral. This was supported in interview by DS, who also explained that the entry in the tender schedule indicated that Derwent Valley gave a cover price in respect of this tender to Admiral.
- IV.3792. Providing corroborating documentary evidence is Admiral's contemporaneous BT Phone Disc sheet with handwritten notes by the estimator dealing with this tender, including reference to competitor Derwent Valley with references to DS and PT at Derwent Valley and the note of '£147,610 our figure', which matches Admiral's bid for this tender.
- IV.3793. The OFT also notes that this document contains the printed footnote of 'Copyright British Telecommunications plc – 01/01/2003, V 4.10 – 10:06 03/02/2003', indicating that the document was printed two days prior to the tender deadline of 5 February 2003.
- IV.3794. Admiral has also admitted engaging in bid rigging activity in respect of this tender and identified the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging as Derwent

⁵⁸⁷⁶ Written representations of Milward, 26 June 2008, paragraphs 4.3 to 4.7; affidavit of Keith Holmes, 24 June 2008, paragraphs 8 to 11.

⁵⁸⁷⁷ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 14237, page 8.

Valley. This provides further independent corroboration of a cover price having been given by Derwent Valley to Admiral in respect of this tender.

IV.3795. AC at Admiral, who dealt with this tender, confirmed that Admiral had not been interested in this job because of the nature of the work, but did not want to upset the client so decided to take a cover price. He confirmed that he recalled taking a cover price from Derwent Valley because Admiral had found it difficult to locate someone else who was tendering for the contract, so used Derwent Valley, a company with whom AC had not previously spoken, to obtain a cover price. As he had not previously used Derwent Valley for cover pricing, AC used the BT phone disc facility to obtain Derwent Valley's contact details. AC said that he would probably have been alerted to the fact that Derwent Valley was tendering, by a subcontractor.

IV.3796. Both Derwent Valley and Admiral have admitted to engaging in bid rigging activity (cover pricing) in respect of this tender.

IV.3797. In respect of Wildgoose, Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, PT, includes reference to its competitor Wildgoose, with the letter 'C' in brackets next to Wildgoose's name. Derwent Valley confirmed that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received.

IV.3798. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover price to Wildgoose. This was supported in interview by DS, who also explained that the entry in the tender schedule indicated that Derwent Valley gave a cover price in respect of this tender to Wildgoose.

IV.3799. Although Wildgoose did not admit engaging in bid rigging activity in respect of this tender as part of its leniency application to the OFT, in interview DR, a senior estimator at Wildgoose who was overseeing RC (a trainee estimator dealing with the tender), specifically recalled obtaining a cover price and confirmed the party with whom Wildgoose engaged in bid rigging as being Derwent Valley. DR suggested that Wildgoose decided at the last minute to obtain a cover price as 'perhaps something more lucrative came in' and said he was 'sure' that £144,562, Wildgoose's tender figure, was a cover price given by Derwent Valley. This provides further independent corroboration of a cover price having been given by Derwent Valley to Wildgoose in respect of this tender.

IV.3800. Wildgoose has now accepted that it may have taken a cover price from Derwent Valley in respect of this tender and acknowledges that one of its estimators appeared to be aware that Wildgoose had taken a cover price on this project.

IV.3801. Both Derwent Valley and Wildgoose's former senior estimator, DR, have admitted to having engaged in bid rigging activities in respect of this tender.

IV.3802. In respect of Milward, Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, PT, includes reference to Milward, with the letter 'C' in brackets next to Milward's name. Derwent Valley confirmed that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received.

IV.3803. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover price to Milward. This was supported in interview by DS, who also explained that the entry in the tender schedule indicated that Derwent Valley gave a cover price in respect of this tender to Milward.

IV.3804. The OFT notes that of the five companies mentioned in Derwent Valley's tender schedule, only Admiral, Wildgoose and Milward have a '(C)' recorded against them. These handwritten entries show that Derwent Valley specifically made notes of cover prices being given to these three competitors. Two of those three competitors, Admiral and Wildgoose, have accepted that they received a cover price from Derwent Valley, reinforcing the interpretation of that entry in relation to the third competitor, Milward.

IV.3805. Derwent Valley also included in its list of companies who exchange cover prices, the names of Admiral, Wildgoose and Milward.

IV.3806. In addition, the OFT notes that North East Derbyshire District Council received a tendered amount of £128,113.28 from Derwent Valley, which is lower than the amounts tendered by Admiral, Wildgoose and Milward. This fits into the pattern consistent with cover prices having been given to Admiral, Wildgoose and Milward by Derwent Valley.

IV.3807. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and Admiral, between Derwent Valley and Wildgoose, and between Derwent Valley and Milward. The OFT also concludes that Derwent Valley supplied figures to each of Admiral, Wildgoose and Milward for cover bids.

IV.3808. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3747 to IV.3807 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁸⁷⁸ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Derwent Valley to Admiral, from Derwent Valley to Wildgoose and from Derwent Valley to Milward was not unilateral⁵⁸⁷⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁸⁸⁰
- (b) Admiral, Wildgoose and Milward can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Derwent Valley (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁸⁸¹ and
- (c) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Admiral, Wildgoose and Milward (i.e. that neither Admiral, Wildgoose nor Milward intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁸⁸²

between Derwent Valley and Admiral, between Derwent Valley and Wildgoose and between Derwent Valley and Milward, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, each of which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for pitched roof conversion, 1-15 Pankhurst Place, Clay Cross, tender dated 5 February 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3811. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Derwent Valley's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Derwent Valley in respect of this Infringement.

IV.3812. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Admiral's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Admiral will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Admiral will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.3813. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Wildgoose's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Wildgoose will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Wildgoose will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender. The OFT does not accept Wildgoose's assertions in its representations on the Statement, that it should receive a greater leniency percentage reduction for this tender.⁵⁸⁸³

Within this contact list, there are entries for Allenbuild at Derby and Birmingham, plus names and telephone numbers. Included amongst the contact names for Allenbuild (Derby) is an entry for Roger Hayes.⁵⁸⁸⁸

IV.3818. Thomas Vale also maintained an internal list of tenders in progress, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Thomas Vale provided a tender list referring to this tender, for the week commencing 3 February 2003, shown below:⁵⁸⁸⁹

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from Allenbuild – Tender Notification, Tender Adjudication Summary and Form of Tender

IV.3819. During the OFT’s search of Allenbuild’s premises, documentation was found for this tender, including a Tender Adjudication Summary.⁵⁸⁹⁰ Under the heading ‘KNOWN COMPETITORS’, is the following handwritten entry:

*‘Thos Vale – Chris Trickett – [...] [C] – Cover Required - £2,190, Frank Haslam Milan
Bullock
Seddon’*

IV.3820. In addition, the OFT found a Tender Notification, with the details of the tender⁵⁸⁹¹ plus a completed Form of Tender, for the amount of £2,133,092.00 dated 7 February 2003 and signed by ‘R. Hayes’.⁵⁸⁹²

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.3821. At Annex 14⁵⁸⁹³ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale’s legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 23 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2003 tenders is the following entry:⁵⁸⁹⁴

IV.3823. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁵⁸⁹⁵ and Allenbuild appears on this list.

IV.3824. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.3825. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, CKT gave a detailed explanation of the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet to record cover prices from its competitors.

IV.3826. CKT admitted that the initials 'CKT', which appear in the estimator column for this tender, were his own and that the letter 'B', which appears in the column marked 'DIV', stands for Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager.⁵⁸⁹⁶ In interview, CKT referred to the entry for this tender in the Tender Status spreadsheet as follows: 'Flat refurbishment, 110, 124 Sycamore Road, Burton-on-Trent. No approximate figure, I dealt with it. It's category B, which says it was a cover, due in the seventh of the second 2003. A figure has been put in as 2,247,366, and along the list of known competition, Allenbuild is in bold, which means to me that I got...obtained a cover from Allenbuild'.⁵⁸⁹⁷

IV.3827. CKT admitted that the handwritten entry of '[.....] [C]' on Allenbuild's Tender Adjudication matched Thomas Vale's telephone number. CKT also commented on the difference between Allenbuild's handwritten figure of '£2,190' and the figure of £2,247,366, recorded on Thomas Vale's Tender status spreadsheet and stated 'It may well be that when they rang me, they felt, well, we'd better put it up a bit, it isn't far enough away...So it may well be that that's [the figure recorded by Allenbuild] the figure they actually gave me'.⁵⁸⁹⁸ CKT could not recall the identity of the person at Allenbuild who he contacted for a cover price for this tender, but confirmed that he would have obtained a name from his contact book. He said 'I've got, Roger Hayes and Steve Wisler...I may well have spoken to either one of them'.⁵⁸⁹⁹

Evidence from other companies – Allenbuild

IV.3828. The OFT wrote to Allenbuild on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Allenbuild had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response, Allenbuild wrote to the OFT through its legal representatives on 2 May 2007⁵⁹⁰⁰ and admitted that it 'engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with Thomas Vale'.⁵⁹⁰¹

IV.3829. The OFT subsequently wrote to Allenbuild's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Renew, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on Allenbuild's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Renew jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Allenbuild in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Renew's legal representatives DLA Piper said, 'Renew is not in a position to make any comment on the agreement entered into with you by either Allenbuild or Bullock, because both businesses are and have been managed quite separately from the holding company'.⁵⁹⁰²

IV.3830. In their response to the Statement, Allenbuild and Renew stated 'Allenbuild gave a cover price to a competitor for this contract, namely Thomas Vale following a request by Christopher Trickett' in respect of this Infringement.⁵⁹⁰³

IV.3832. Thomas Vale and Allenbuild each accepted an invitation to tender for the refurbishment to flats at 110 and 124 Sycamore Road, Burton-on-Trent.

IV.3833. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicated that this was a cover price. Allenbuild completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Allenbuild being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract. It appears that Allenbuild's designated estimator for this tender was Roger Hayes.

IV.3834. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT, records three competitors who were also invited to tender, namely 'Bullock, Allenbuild [and] FHM'. Allenbuild is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated as soon as the cover price had been arranged by CKT.

IV.3835. Allenbuild's contemporaneous Tender Adjudication Summary records four known competitors who were also invited to tender, namely 'Thomas Vale, Frank Haslam Milan, Bullock [and] Seddon'. Next to the entry for Thomas Vale appear the words 'Chris Trickett – [.....] [C] – Cover Required – £2,190'. This entry corroborates the evidence from Thomas Vale that CKT sought and received a cover price from Allenbuild.

⁵⁹⁰³ Written representations of Allenbuild and Renew, 4 July 2008, paragraph 5.8.1.

- IV.3836. It is also noted that the abbreviated figure of '£2,190' on Allenbuild's Tender Adjudication Summary matches Thomas Vale's tender amount of £2,190,886, recorded by the client from Thomas Vale. Thomas Vale's own record of its bid to the client on the Tender Status spreadsheet is slightly higher at £2,247,366. The OFT considers that it is likely that the figure may have been incorrectly recorded by Thomas Vale on its Tender Status spreadsheet.
- IV.3837. Trent and Dove Housing also received a tendered amount of £2,133,092 from Allenbuild, which is lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Allenbuild to Thomas Vale.
- IV.3838. The OFT notes that although three competitors have been recorded on Thomas Vale's Tender Status spreadsheet, only one of these is highlighted in bold, i.e. Allenbuild. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate Allenbuild from the other two competitors. In addition, the fact that the tender had been allocated to CKT, who was responsible for the maintenance of the spreadsheet, means that it is likely that the entry was accurate and that CKT had personal knowledge of the decision to receive a cover price and make contact with Allenbuild at the time. It also indicates that CKT himself made contact with Allenbuild.
- IV.3839. Thomas Vale admitted that Allenbuild was one of the key competitors with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. CKT had an entry for Allenbuild in a contact book he used to telephone other contractors for the purpose of obtaining cover prices. Within this contact book, there is an entry under 'Allenbuild (Derby)' for Roger Hayes. In interview, CKT confirmed that the evidence from Thomas Vale's Tender Status spreadsheet and Allenbuild's Tender Adjudication Summary, shows that a cover price had been received by Thomas Vale from Allenbuild.
- IV.3840. Finally, both parties admit to bid rigging activities on this tender. The OFT notes that Allenbuild admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Thomas Vale, without being shown the evidence from Thomas Vale. This provides additional corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.3841. Whilst a discrepancy remains between Thomas Vale's recorded bid and the amount recorded by the client, the OFT considers it significant that Allenbuild's contemporaneous record of Thomas Vale's bid (i.e. the cover price it gave to Thomas Vale) matches that of the Thomas Vale bid received by the client and is therefore likely to be correct.
- IV.3842. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and Allenbuild. The OFT also concludes that Allenbuild supplied a figure to Thomas Vale for a cover bid.

⁵⁹⁰⁴ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Allenbuild to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁵⁹⁰⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁹⁰⁶
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Allenbuild (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁹⁰⁷ and
- (c) Allenbuild can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁹⁰⁸

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3846. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Harlow & Milner

IV.3850. On Harlow & Milner's Enquiry Record for this tender under the section headed 'Estimators Comments' is written 'Cover, Totty, Lemmeleg, Opposition, Direct Works, Wild Goose'.⁵⁹¹²

Evidence from leniency applicant Harlow & Milner

IV.3851. As part of its leniency application, Harlow & Milner provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.352 to IV.362 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3852. In Harlow & Milner's list of projects it is stated that Harlow & Milner provided cover prices to Totty Building and Lemmeleg.⁵⁹¹³

IV.3853. In its response to the Statement, Harlow & Milner confirmed that in respect of this Infringement it '...provided cover prices to Totty Building and Lemmeleg'.⁵⁹¹⁴

Witness evidence from Harlow & Milner

IV.3854. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Harlow & Milner's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.352 to IV.362 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3855. In respect of this tender in interview with the OFT, Chris Smithson ('CS'), an estimator at Harlow & Milner, said with regard to the 'Estimators Comments' on the Enquiry Record, 'Yes, we've shown that we're giving a cover price to Totty's and Lemmeleg's and as far as we know the other opposition on the contract was Sheffield Council's direct works and Wild Goose construction'.⁵⁹¹⁵

IV.3856. Also, in respect of this tender in interview with the OFT, Graham Pearce ('GP'), an ex-estimator at Harlow & Milner, said with regard to the 'Estimators

Wildgoose were pricing it and that's who we were up against'.⁵⁹¹⁶

Evidence from leniency applicant Propensity

IV.3857. As part of its leniency application, Propensity provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3858. In its response to the Statement, Propensity confirmed that it '...has admitted its involvement in the Alleged Infringements ... [and] has no comments on the OFT's descriptions or conclusions in relation of [sic] the Alleged Infringements'.⁵⁹¹⁷

IV.3859. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Propensity's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3860. In respect of this tender in interview with the OFT, Alan Loveday ('AL'), Commercial Manager at Totty Building, said that it had taken a cover price and that, 'I do remember the job in quite a bit of detail. It was I think Sheffield Direct Works Department won the job. The documentation was quite poor, incomplete and because Sheffield City Council weren't able to award more time to a proper right considered tender that was the cause of our reason to take the cover'.⁵⁹¹⁸

Evidence from other companies – Lemmeleg

IV.3861. The OFT wrote to Lemmeleg on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Lemmeleg had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Lemmeleg admitted that 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender. Although the position is not entirely clear, it appears that Lemmeleg received a cover price from Harlow & Milner Limited'.⁵⁹¹⁹

IV.3862. In its response to the Statement, Lemmeleg confirmed that it has '...acknowledged involvement in cover pricing in relation to the Relevant Infringements [including this Infringement]'.⁵⁹²⁰

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.3863. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.3864. Totty Building, Harlow & Milner and Lemmeleg each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3865. Totty Building and Lemmeleg were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.3866. In regard to Totty Building, Harlow & Milner has confirmed that it provided a cover price to Totty Building. CS and GP confirmed that the typed entry 'Cover, Totty' in the 'Estimators Comments' on the Enquiry Record, means that it gave a cover price to Totty Building.

IV.3867. Propensity has confirmed that it received a cover price on this tender. AL said that the reasons why it took a cover price on this tender were that 'The documentation was quite poor, incomplete and because Sheffield City Council weren't able to award more time'.

IV.3868. In regard to Lemmeleg, Harlow & Milner has confirmed that it provided a cover price to Lemmeleg. CS and GP confirmed that the typed entry 'Cover ...Lemmeleg' in the 'Estimators Comments' on the Enquiry Record means that it gave a cover price to Lemmeleg.

IV.3869. Lemmeleg has admitted engaging in bid rigging activities with Harlow & Milner on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007. The OFT notes that that Lemmeleg admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Harlow & Milner, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Harlow & Milner was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.3870. The OFT notes in addition that the tenders submitted by Totty Building and Lemmeleg were both higher than the tender submitted by Harlow & Milner, a pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided by Harlow & Milner.

IV.3871. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Harlow & Milner and Totty Building, and between Harlow & Milner and Lemmeleg. The OFT also concludes that Harlow & Milner supplied figures to each of Totty Building and Lemmeleg for cover bids.

IV.3872. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3850 to IV.3871 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁹²¹ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Harlow & Milner to each of Totty Building and Lemmeleg was not unilateral⁵⁹²², and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁹²³
- (b) Totty Building and Lemmeleg can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Harlow & Milner (i.e. the

- (c) Harlow & Milner can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Totty Building and Lemmeleg (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁹²⁵

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3875. Harlow & Milner informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Harlow & Milner will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.3876. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Harlow & Milner. Propensity will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Propensity will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Clegg – Internal Email and Estimating Workload Sheets

IV.3879. As part of its leniency application, Clegg provided a contemporaneous printout of an internal email with handwritten notes on it regarding this tender.⁵⁹²⁸ This email, dated 31 January 2003 from David Short ('DS') to Jonathan Mark King ('JMK') with the subject 'RE: CCL', is in reply to an email from JMK dated 30 January 2003 asking 'Did you manage to find out who is pricing this??'.

IV.3880. Typed on the reply email from DS is a list of undertakings, against which handwritten notes and markings have been made as follows:

Evidence from leniency applicant Clegg

IV.3883. As part of its leniency application, Clegg provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.274 to IV.292 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3884. In Schedule A of its leniency application, Clegg set out a summary of all tenders from March 2000 to July 2005 that were 'Definites – projects where cover pricing has taken place and evidence is available together with estimator's corroboration of evidence'.⁵⁹³¹ The information in the summary was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page two of the summary within Schedule A and within the section for 2004 tenders is the following entry extract:⁵⁹³²

IV.3886. Clegg also provided to the OFT, as part of an Executive Summary, a list of key competitors with whom Clegg exchanged information. The name 'Parkinsons Limited' appears on this list.⁵⁹³³

IV.3887. In its response to the Statement, Clegg stated '[i]t is not disputed that Clegg participated in cover pricing during the relevant period set out in the Statement.'⁵⁹³⁴

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Clegg

IV.3888. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Clegg's employees provided general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.274 to IV.292 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3889. In regard to this tender a voluntary interview was conducted with David Clarke ('DC'), an estimator at Clegg, who dealt with this tender. DC stated during interview that the handwriting on the internal email described in paragraphs IV.3879 and IV.3880 above was his. Commenting on these notes, DC said 'one to four at the bottom are where we need to fill in items on the form of tender and therefore they were bullet points for me to ask the question of the person giving me the cover, so as that if we were to submit a period of 24 weeks, and they were at 26, we could be therefore more competitive, by default.'⁵⁹³⁵

IV.3890. DC believed that Clegg did not have the resources to undertake the tender due to its workload at that time. DC had done work in the Blackpool area before and knew of F Parkinson. Referring to the list of companies on the internal email DC commented 'they [F Parkinson] were one of them out of that list that I'd heard of before, and for no other reason, spoke to them.'⁵⁹³⁶ DC confirmed he spoke

DC's comment referred, in the OFT's view, to the fact that he wanted to be careful that some of the terms and conditions of his submitted tender bid (such as contract length) did not end up being more competitive than F Parkinson's tender bid, in order to be sure that he did not accidentally win the contract.

IV.3891. Referring to the estimating workload sheets⁵⁹³⁸, DC explained the initials PD as referring to Phil Dallison, Group Manager and said that 'it could have been that PD, Phil Dallison, was going to be pulled in to price it, and subsequently other commitments, it didn't happen'. DC did not know who made the handwritten notes on the workload sheets but believed it would have been done during a directors' meeting.⁵⁹³⁹

IV.3892. Simon Blackburn ('SB'), Managing Director of Clegg, during interview recalled the tender. SB said that the architects were a company by the name of Cox Freeman who they regularly worked with on the food side of the Clegg business and commented 'it was a scheme that we'd obviously expressed some interest at some point when it came in. It is clearly out of our patch and I suspect it probably looked attractive at some point and later on didn't look so. So, we found out who was pricing it and took cover on that'.⁵⁹⁴⁰ SB said at that time the estimators worked for JMK and DS was Managing Director of food projects. SB indicated the reason Clegg knew that F Parkinson was tendering for this contract stating, 'I would infer the information came from, Cox Freeman. So David would have contacted the architect, and he's given us the name there'.⁵⁹⁴¹

IV.3893. SB recalled that a cover price was taken from F Parkinson before he was shown the email containing F Parkinson's name. He said 'I think it was Parkinson's. I only remember purely because it's a name that sticks in my memory because we didn't... it's out of our patch'.⁵⁹⁴²

IV.3894. The OFT wrote to F Parkinson on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that F Parkinson had participated in bid rigging on this tender. F Parkinson, represented by Pannone LLP, stated via emailed letter on 23 April 2007 that it was accepting this offer.⁵⁹⁴³ As part of this response F Parkinson completed an annex schedule of suspect tenders. This schedule included 'Factory and Offices Haydock', against which Colin Oakley ('CO'), a Director of F Parkinson wrote 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with Clegg'.⁵⁹⁴⁴

IV.3895. The OFT subsequently wrote to F Parkinson's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Mowbray, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on F Parkinson's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Mowbray jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by F Parkinson in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. During a telephone call in response to this letter, CO, also a Director of Mowbray, stated that he was aware of the original Fast Track letter and F Parkinson's response and fully supported the position of its subsidiary, F Parkinson.⁵⁹⁴⁵

IV.3896. In its response to the Statement, F Parkinson stated 'it is not disputed that Parkinson participated in cover pricing during the relevant period set out in the Statement.'⁵⁹⁴⁶

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.3898. Clegg and F Parkinson each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Clegg was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender due to current workload and its location.

IV.3899. Clegg's contemporaneous internal email, a document printed out and written on by hand by an estimator, DC (the estimator for the tender), records six competitors, five of whom were known to have also been invited to tender for this contract, namely John Sisk, Marshalls Limited, Russells Limited, Seddon and F Parkinson. Where F Parkinson has been written, next to it is 'T. [.....] [C]' which is the telephone number for the head office of F Parkinson as confirmed on the F Parkinson website.⁵⁹⁴⁷ Clegg has confirmed that Alan Hollick, whose name also appears here, was contacted at F Parkinson in order to obtain a cover price. Alan Hollick is or was a director of F Parkinson.⁵⁹⁴⁸ The details written at the foot of the email were those that Clegg confirmed it obtained from F Parkinson in order to complete the tender return form.

IV.3900. The OFT notes that although six competitors have been recorded on the internal email, only one of these has a price figure attributed to it, i.e. F Parkinson. This indicates that Clegg specifically recorded that an exchange of information took place with that company out of all those that submitted a tender bid. The OFT further notes that the price figure noted as 'from Parkinson' on Clegg's document is identical to the bid submitted by Clegg.

IV.3901. Although details relating to the other companies, such as names and telephone numbers, and a note of a telephone conversation with a Ken Hollingworth, were recorded on the email, the OFT does not have sufficient evidence to suggest that Clegg engaged in bid rigging with any company other than F Parkinson in respect of this tender.

IV.3902. Clegg admitted that F Parkinson was one of the competitors with whom it engaged in the exchange of information. DC had knowledge of F Parkinson and in interview SB noted they were likely to have obtained details of other tenderers from the architect. In its leniency application Clegg admitted in respect of this particular tender that the estimator recollected obtaining a cover price from F Parkinson. DC confirmed this recollection during interview.

- IV.3903. The printed estimator workload sheets have handwritten notes of 'COVER' and 'C' respectively. The OFT notes from interviews with Clegg's employees that notes such as these refer to cover prices having been exchanged when written next to references to tenders.
- IV.3904. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that F Parkinson admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Clegg, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Clegg was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.3905. In addition, the OFT notes that Interchem received a tendered amount of £1,293,264 from Clegg, which is higher than the amount tendered by F Parkinson. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been given from F Parkinson to Clegg.
- IV.3906. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Clegg and F Parkinson. The OFT also concludes that F Parkinson supplied a figure to Clegg for a cover bid.
- IV.3907. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3879 to IV.3906 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁹⁴⁹ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from F Parkinson to Clegg was not unilateral⁵⁹⁵⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁹⁵¹
 - (b) Clegg can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from F Parkinson (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁹⁵² and
 - (c) F Parkinson can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Clegg (i.e. that Clegg did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁹⁵³
- IV.3908. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Clegg and F Parkinson in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for construction of factory and offices, Haydock, date of tender 28 February 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

⁵⁹⁴⁹ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁹⁵⁰ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁵⁹⁵¹ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁵⁹⁵³ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.3910. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of two estimating workload sheets obtained during the visit under section 27 on 18 January 2006. Clegg will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Clegg will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 140: Alterations to Newhall Methodist Church, Swadlincote, Derbyshire – 3 March 2003
Client: Howitt Partnership
Parties: Herbert Baggaley, W R Bloodworth and Wiggett

IV.3911. On 23 January 2003, the Howitt Partnership ('Howitt'), on behalf of the Newhall Methodist Church, sought tenders for alterations to the chapel and meeting room block to provide disability access and toilet facilities at Newhall Methodist Church, Swadlincote, Derbyshire.⁵⁹⁵⁴ The following five companies were invited to tender: Herbert Baggaley, W R Bloodworth, Wiggett, Davlyn and Manor Construction.⁵⁹⁵⁵ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on Monday 3 March 2003.

IV.3912. Howitt received the following tender returns:⁵⁹⁵⁶

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Manor Construction	3 March 2003	£308,281.00	Yes
Davlyn	3 March 2003	£319,913.00
Herbert Baggaley	3 March 2003	£355,437.55
W R Bloodworth	3 March 2003	£373,428.00
Wiggett	3 March 2003	£381,009.00

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley – Pre-tender Quality Plan

IV.3913. Herbert Baggaley's 'Pre-tender Quality Plan'⁵⁹⁵⁷ relating to this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, has under the section headed 'Known Competitors', the following entries, all of which are handwritten:

' Bloodworth - R: Michael Campbell [.....] [C] CR - £373428
 Wiggett Bros - Paul Wiggett [.....] [C] CR - £381009'

IV.3914. The 'Pre-tender Quality Plan' states that Herbert Baggaley's tender sum was £355432.55.

IV.3922. W R Bloodworth also provided to the OFT a *'Schedule of Tender [sic] Enquiries where Cover prices Provided/Requested March 2000 to Date'*⁵⁹⁶¹, which shows under Entry 4, that W R Bloodworth did receive a cover on this tender, 'Cover taken from Baggaleys – Roger Hase'.

IV.3923. W R Bloodworth also provided to the OFT a copy of its 'Tender enquiries Register 2000 – July 2003'. On the page headed 'January 03 Continued', there is an entry in respect of this tender which was marked by W R Bloodworth following its leniency application, 'got cover think off Baggaley'.⁵⁹⁶²

IV.3924. W R Bloodworth also produced a list *'Contacts for Cover Prices'*⁵⁹⁶³ which included the following entries.

	Name of Company	Name of Contact	Telephone Number
10.	Baggaleys of Mansfield	Roger Hays Jamie Braybrook	[.....] [C]
27.	Wiggett Brothers	Paul Wiggett	[.....] [C]

IV.3925. In its response to the Statement, W R Bloodworth confirmed that *'[i]t is not disputed that Bloodworth participated in cover pricing during the relevant period set out in the Statement.'*⁵⁹⁶⁴

Witness evidence from leniency applicant – W R Bloodworth

IV.3926. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, W R Bloodworth's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.718 to IV.725 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3927. Michael Campbell ('MC'), an estimator at W R Bloodworth, was asked specifically about this tender in interview on 16 November 2006, and in particular on what W R Bloodworth had based its admission that a cover had been received from Herbert Baggaley. MC said, *'Because we went to have a look around – went to have a look at the job, decided that it wasn't for us, and found out they were pricing it – I can't remember there was something in the job that was specialist and we found out from them that they were pricing it.'*⁵⁹⁶⁵

IV.3928. When asked if he recalled contacting Herbert Baggaley, MC said, 'Yes, I rang him [Roger Hayes of Herbert Baggaley], yeah'. MC was asked if Roger Hayes gave him a cover price and he confirmed, *'Yeah ... The reason, I think the actual reasoning being was that it was nearer him than us and it's a bit too far out for us.'*⁵⁹⁶⁶

Evidence from other companies – Wiggett

IV.3929. The OFT wrote to Wiggett on 22 March 2007, offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Wiggett had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Wiggett failed to respond to the letter. On 15 May 2007 the OFT contacted Wiggett by telephone to clarify the position. Wiggett confirmed receipt of the OFT's letter and informed the OFT that it had not responded as it was rejecting the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁵⁹⁶⁷

IV.3930. In its response to the Statement, Wiggett stated in respect of this Infringement that it '...must accept that in light of the evidence ... [outlined in the Statement] that a cover price must have been taken from Herbert Baggaley.'⁵⁹⁶⁸ Wiggett also accepted '... that the practice of cover pricing does constitute an agreement or concerted practice between undertakings which may have the effect of restricting or distorting competition contrary to the prohibition contained in Chapter 2 [sic] Competition Act 1998...'⁵⁹⁶⁹

IV.3932. Herbert Baggaley, W R Bloodworth and Wiggett each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3933. W R Bloodworth and Wiggett were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.3934. With regard to W R Bloodworth, Herbert Baggaley's 'Pre-tender Quality Plan' shows that a cover was given to W R Bloodworth by Herbert Baggaley and this was confirmed by AN of Herbert Baggaley in his interview.⁵⁹⁷⁰ The 'Pre-tender Quality Plan'⁵⁹⁷¹ records 'Bloodworth - R; Michael Campbell [.....] [C] CR - £373428'. The telephone number recorded was that of W R Bloodworth and Michael Campbell was employed by W R Bloodworth⁵⁹⁷² as an estimator. W R Bloodworth's submission was £373,428, an amount identical to that recorded on Herbert Baggaley's 'Pre-tender Quality Plan'.

IV.3935. W R Bloodworth admitted that it took a cover price from Roger Hayes at Herbert Baggaley, without sight of the contemporaneous evidence from Herbert Baggaley.⁵⁹⁷³ MC of W R Bloodworth confirmed in his interview that he recalled phoning Roger Hayes for a cover price and was given one.

IV.3936. In the light of the contemporaneous evidence and Herbert Baggaley's and W R Bloodworth's admissions, the OFT considers that Herbert Baggaley supplied W R Bloodworth with a cover price for this tender.

⁵⁹⁷² Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 6347, pages 1 and 2.

⁵⁹⁷³ Schedule of Tender Enquiries, OFT Document Reference 3912.

IV.3937. With regard to Wiggett, Herbert Baggaley's 'Pre-tender Quality Plan' shows that a cover was given to Wiggett by Herbert Baggaley and this was confirmed by AN of Herbert Baggaley in his interview.⁵⁹⁷⁴ The 'Pre-tender Quality Plan' records 'Wiggett Bros – Paul Wiggett [.....] [C] CR - £381009'.⁵⁹⁷⁵ Wiggett's submission was £381,009, an amount identical to that recorded on Herbert Baggaley's 'Pre-tender Quality Plan'.

IV.3938. The telephone number recorded on Herbert Baggaley's 'Pre-tender Quality Plan' was that of Wiggett and Paul Wiggett was employed by Wiggett, corroborated by the *'Contacts for Cover Prices'*⁵⁹⁷⁶ submitted in W R Bloodworth's leniency application.

IV.3939. In the light of the contemporaneous evidence and Herbert Baggaley's admission and explanation of that evidence, the OFT considers that Herbert Baggaley gave a cover price to Wiggett for this tender.

IV.3940. The OFT also notes that both W R Bloodworth and Wiggett submitted tenders higher than that submitted by Herbert Baggaley, the pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided.

IV.3941. The OFT notes that all Parties have now admitted liability in respect of this Infringement.

IV.3942. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Herbert Baggaley and W R Bloodworth, and between Herbert Baggaley and Wiggett. The OFT also conclude that Herbert Baggaley supplied figures to both W R Bloodworth and Wiggett for their respective cover bids.

IV.3943. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3913 to IV.3942 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁵⁹⁷⁷ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Herbert Baggaley to each of W R Bloodworth and Wiggett was not unilateral⁵⁹⁷⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁵⁹⁷⁹
- (b) W R Bloodworth and Wiggett can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Herbert Baggaley (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁵⁹⁸⁰ and
- (c) Herbert Baggaley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from W R Bloodworth and Wiggett (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁵⁹⁸¹

IV.3944. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that agreements and/or concerted practices were in place

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3946. Herbert Baggaley informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Herbert Baggaley will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.3947. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of W R Bloodworth's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Herbert Baggaley. W R Bloodworth will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, W R Bloodworth will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 141: Refurbishment & Extensions to St Catherine's Cottages, London Road, Newark, Nottinghamshire – 3 March 2003
Client: Macarthy Hughes International
Parties: Bodill, Wrights (Lincoln)⁵⁹⁸² and E Taylor (trading as Carmalor)

IV.3948. On 21 January 2003, Macarthy Hughes International sought tenders on behalf of the Hospital of St Leonard's Trust for refurbishment & extensions to St Catherine's Cottages, London Road, Newark. The return date for the tender was 3 March 2003 and four companies were invited to tender: Bodill, E Taylor (trading as Carmalor)⁵⁹⁸³, J L Roberts & Son and Wrights (Lincoln).⁵⁹⁸⁴

IV.3949. Macarthy Hughes International received the following tender returns:⁵⁹⁸⁵

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender
Bodill	3 March 2003	£908,866
Carmalor [E Taylor]	3 March 2003	£971,995
J L Roberts & Son	Declined to tender
Wright's (Lincoln)	3 March 2003	£956,450

⁵⁹⁸² Wrights (Lincoln) is a subsidiary of Simons.

⁵⁹⁸³ In its description and analysis of this Infringement, for consistency with the available documentary and witness evidence, the OFT has referred to 'Carmalor' but notes that this is a trading name for E Taylor, which is accordingly the responsible legal entity.

⁵⁹⁸⁴ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 8677.

⁵⁹⁸⁵ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 8677.

IV.3950. Macarthy Hughes International abandoned this tender exercise because it considered the tenders to be over budget. The project was therefore re-tendered for Block A only, on 28 March 2003.⁵⁹⁸⁶

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.3951. In Bodill's original tender sheet, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill.⁵⁹⁸⁷

1. Bodill

2. ROBERTS (RETURNING)

£956450 ✓ 3. WRIGHTS - LINCOLN
SHEILA WOODHAM
ARTHUR FOX [...] [C]

£971990 4. CARMALOR C FROM US
STEVE FAULKS [...] [C] [...] [C]
[...] [C]'

IV.3952. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £908,866.⁵⁹⁸⁸

IV.3953. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has confirmed that the handwritten annotations 'ROBERTS (RETURNING)', '£956450 ✓', 'WRIGHTS – LINCOLN', 'SHEILA WOODHAM', 'ARTHUR FOX [.....] [C]', '£971990', 'CARMALOR C FROM US' and 'STEVE FAULKS [.....] [C]' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁵⁹⁸⁹ JR also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.3954. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3955. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁵⁹⁹⁰ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave two cover prices, to Wrights (Lincoln) and Carmalor.⁵⁹⁹¹ Bodill also stated that £40,000 profit was added to its tender figure, apparently because it did not like the client.⁵⁹⁹²

IV.3957. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Wrights (Lincoln) – invitation to tender letter from Macarthy Hughes International

IV.3958. On the invitation to tender letter sent to Wrights (Lincoln), provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, is handwritten 'EO2-01-03 Bodill'.⁵⁹⁹³

Evidence from leniency applicant Wrights (Lincoln)

IV.3959. As part of its leniency application, Wrights (Lincoln) provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.567 to IV.592 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3960. Wrights (Lincoln) and Arthur Fox ('AF'), an ex-estimator at Wrights (Lincoln), who was the estimator for this tender, have provided an explanation of the handwritten entry 'EO2-01-03 Bodill' on the invitation to tender letter. Langleys Solicitors, acting for AF, confirmed after speaking with AF that the handwriting is his, that 'EO2-01-03' was his reference and meant that this was the second tender enquiry of January 2003, and that the reference to 'Bodill' was noted by AF as he was aware that it was also pricing the job.⁵⁹⁹⁴ Eversheds, acting for Wrights (Lincoln), further confirmed that 'it seems that whoever wrote Bodill on the document was aware that Bodill was tendering for the work and ... took a cover [price] from them [Bodill]'.⁵⁹⁹⁵

IV.3961. In their response to the Statement, Simons stated 'Simons Group acknowledges the participation of...Wrights in Alleged Infringement 141'.⁵⁹⁹⁶

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Wrights (Lincoln)

IV.3962. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Wrights (Lincoln) employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.567 to IV.592 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3963. In respect of this tender Andy Rowe ('AR'), Managing Director from April 2002 to April 2003 at Wrights (Lincoln), could not recall anything about this tender other than that he signed the tender and submitted it. AR explained that AF did the calculations for the job and said 'I signed this [the tender submission], I wrote it but I didn't calculate it'.⁵⁹⁹⁷ On being shown by the OFT the Bodill tender sheet for this tender he said that in respect of the figure against Wrights (Lincoln), £956,450, 'that is a cover price yes'.⁵⁹⁹⁸

IV.3964. Although AF could not recall this tender, on being shown by the OFT the Bodill tender sheet for this tender he said, 'Sheila Woodham. She was the estimating admin lady, and there's my name there, with a telephone numberit's Wright's number, [.....] [C]'.⁵⁹⁹⁹ AF also said that, 'it looks likely that, that the company took a cover from them [Bodill], but I had no contact with this one'.⁶⁰⁰⁰ AR explained that Sheila Woodham ('SW') was AF's assistant and that 'She did a lot of the donkey work...sending out enquiries to sub contractors and chasing up sub contractors'.⁶⁰⁰¹

IV.3965. The OFT wrote to E Taylor on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that E Taylor had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, E Taylor said that after consideration it felt unable to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁶⁰⁰²

IV.3966. In its response to the Statement, E Taylor stated 'Having reviewed the relevant sections of the SO that relate to ourselves, and most particularly the 3rd party evidence referred to, we have a degree of empathy with the OFT as to why they have reached the conclusion that Carmalor were involved in cover pricing. Unfortunately, as a result of the death of [the former Managing Director]... and the departure of [former Estimating Director] Steve Fowkes... our ability to defend our position is significantly prejudiced by the fact that we have no access to contemporaneous documentary evidence. Nor can we offer any meaningful personal testimony from those allegedly involved in the practice, that would act as a legally adequate defence. Thus, we find ourselves in "no man's land" neither able to admit, nor adequately defend the allegations levelled at us.'⁶⁰⁰³

IV.3967. However, E Taylor submitted a statement from Wayne Creed ('WC'), the only person named in the Statement still employed by E Taylor, with its response to the Statement. However, WC confirmed that he was not at all involved with this particular tender.⁶⁰⁰⁴ He stated that Steve Fowkes was an estimating director for the company from 1987, and that estimating work 'was controlled entirely' by him.⁶⁰⁰⁵

IV.3968. The OFT appreciates that a company would not often keep a record of giving a cover price, and may no longer employ the persons alleged to have given that cover, and in that instance recognises the need to assess the quality of evidence implicating the accused party. The OFT also recognises that where a cover price was given by a sole employee, other employees or directors of that company may not be aware whether or not such conduct took place. It is therefore sensitive to the need to review the available evidence critically, and is satisfied that the contemporaneous documentary evidence and witness evidence set out above is sufficient to demonstrate an Infringement in relation to this tender.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.3970. Bodill, Wrights (Lincoln) and Carmalor each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.3971. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. Wrights (Lincoln) and Carmalor were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.3972. In regard to Wrights (Lincoln), Bodill's tender sheet records '£956450 ✓ 3. WRIGHTS - LINCOLN SHEILA WOODHAM ARTHUR FOX [.....] [C]' against Wrights (Lincoln). Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £956,450 against Wrights (Lincoln), a figure that was identical to the tender that Wrights (Lincoln) submitted for the work.

IV.3973. Bodill's tender sheet also recorded the names of two of the estimating staff at Wrights (Lincoln), 'Sheila Woodham' and 'Arthur Fox' and the telephone number of Wrights (Lincoln), a number confirmed as the telephone number of Wrights (Lincoln) by AF of Wrights (Lincoln), providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. Furthermore, on being shown Bodill's tender sheet, both AF and AR accepted that it was likely that Wrights (Lincoln) was provided with a cover price by Bodill.

IV.3974. In addition, the OFT notes that the word 'Bodill' is written on the invitation to tender letter provided by Wrights (Lincoln). No other competitors are mentioned on this letter and the OFT considers it most likely, given the weight of the contemporaneous evidence from Bodill and the fact that Wrights (Lincoln) has confirmed that this handwritten note was made during the tender process and that it shows that it took a cover price from Bodill, that this was Wrights (Lincoln)'s record of the company from whom it took a cover price for this tender. No other company apart from Bodill submitted a figure below Wrights (Lincoln) and it could not therefore have obtained a cover price from anyone else.

IV.3975. In regard to Carmalor, Bodill's tender sheet records '£971990 4. CARMALOR C FROM US STEVE FAULKS [.....] [C]'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £971,990, a figure that was only £5 different from the tender that Carmalor submitted for the work, which was £971,995.

IV.3976. Bodill's tender sheet also recorded the name of a Carmalor estimator, 'Steve Faulks' and the telephone number '[.....] [C]', providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. This is corroborated by information obtained from W R Bloodworth, a list of contacts for cover prices, which names 'Steve' at 'Carmalor Southwell' with a telephone contact number of '[.....] [C]'⁶⁰⁰⁶ and by the evidence of E Taylor that Steve Fowkes was an estimating director of the company from 1987 until August 2007.⁶⁰⁰⁷

IV.3977. Although E Taylor has not admitted engaging in this bid rigging activity, the OFT considers that the strong and compelling evidence in respect of the other parties involved in bid rigging activities for this tender, and both parties' admissions of engaging in bid rigging activities for this tender, support the OFT's interpretation of Bodill's tender sheet as indicating that E Taylor too was provided with a cover price

IV.3978. The OFT notes in addition that the tenders submitted by Wrights (Lincoln) and Carmalor were both higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, even though Bodill's tender had been inflated beyond a normal level of profit margin. The relative position of the submitted tenders is consistent with the pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided by Bodill.

IV.3979. Bodill's tender sheet also records 'ROBERTS (RETURNING)'. This action is confirmed by the information provided by Macarthy Hughes International, which shows that J L Roberts & Son declined to tender. The OFT notes in addition that the use of the present tense, '(RETURNING)', indicates that this annotation was made before the tender deadline.

IV.3980. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Wrights (Lincoln) and Bodill, and between Carmalor and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied figures to each of Wrights (Lincoln) and Carmalor for cover bids. The OFT notes that these were the only tenders submitted for this work for the Hospital of St Leonard's Trust, and that no genuine tenders were therefore submitted for this work. The OFT further notes that the work was subsequently re-tendered because the tenders were considered to be over budget and that Bodill, which submitted the lowest price and gave cover prices to the only other bidders, Wrights (Lincoln) and Carmalor, has admitted to adding an additional amount for profit.

IV.3981. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.3951 to IV.3980 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁰⁰⁸ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Bodill to each of Wrights (Lincoln) and Carmalor was not unilateral⁶⁰⁰⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁰¹⁰
- (b) Wrights (Lincoln) and Carmalor can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own respective conduct in the tendering process,⁶⁰¹¹ and

- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Wrights (Lincoln) and Carmalor (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁰¹²

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.3984. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.3985. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. Wrights (Lincoln) will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Wrights (Lincoln) will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 142: New Judo Hall Walsall Campus – 7 March 2003
Client: University of Wolverhampton
Parties: Sol and Galliford Construction

IV.3986. On 24 January 2003, the University of Wolverhampton ('UoW') sought tenders for the construction of a new sports hall with specialist facilities for judo, gymnasium, exterior sports changing rooms, synthetic pitch and track and improvements to the grass pitches at its Walsall Campus. The following six companies were invited to tender: Bluestone, Galliford Construction⁶⁰¹³, Linford, Mowlem, Thomas Vale and Sol. The closing date for return of tenders was 7 March 2003 by 5:00 pm.⁶⁰¹⁴

IV.3987. UoW received the following tender returns:⁶⁰¹⁵

⁶⁰¹² See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁶⁰¹³ The OFT notes that the client's response records 'Galliford Midlands' as a tendering party. It has been confirmed in the written representations of Galliford Try, 27 June 2008, paragraph 1.4 that Galliford Midland was the trading name of Galliford Try's subsidiary, Galliford Construction, at the time of the Infringement.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous evidence from leniency applicant Sol – Tender Register

IV.3988. During the OFT's visit to Sol's premises under section 27 on 18 January 2006, a copy of its Tender Register was produced. This contained the following entry for this contract:⁶⁰¹⁶

Evidence from leniency applicant Sol

IV.3989. As part of its leniency application, Sol provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.593 to IV.616 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3990. In particular, Sol provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁶⁰¹⁷ In respect of the tender for a new judo hall at Walsall Campus due 7 March 2003, Sol confirmed that it provided a cover price to 'Galliford'.

IV.3991. In its response to the Statement, Sol acknowledged that it had '... admitted engaging in the practice of cover pricing in the 7 tenders listed in the Statement of Objections.'⁶⁰¹⁸

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Sol

IV.3992. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Sol's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.593 to IV.616 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.3993. When interviewed about this tender, John Cummings ('JC'), Chief Estimator at Sol, identified the writing in the Tender Register⁶⁰¹⁹ as his, with the exception of the names in the 'Competition' column, which he identified as having been written by an estimator's assistant, Shirley Peters.⁶⁰²⁰ When asked if the Tender Sum was the figure Sol tendered for this contract he said, 'Yep'.⁶⁰²¹ This figure, £4,384,221, is the same as that in the tender reply received by UoW. When asked to explain the entry '3% 125,905' he replied 'That's the profit and overhead margin that we applied'.⁶⁰²² He further explained the entries in the 'Competition' column as being the names of Sol's competitors for the tender. JC was asked to identify the initials 'MW' in the 'Estimator' column. He said, 'That's Mike Whittington who's again left, a couple of years ago'. He confirmed that Mike Whittington had dealt with this tender on a day to day basis. JC further identified as his writing the 'C' before the entry '4,702,340' next to 'Galliford'.⁶⁰²³ When asked to explain the entry he said, 'That would mean, as far as I can remember and I'd be amazed if it wasn't, us giving a cover to Gallifords, and that's the figure that I gave them'.⁶⁰²⁴

IV.3994. JC was asked to explain the entry in the 'Tender Cover Prices Given' column of the Tender Sheet Analysis for this particular tender and especially the 'CG' in brackets next to 'Galliford'. He confirmed that this meant that Sol gave a cover price to Galliford Construction for this tender. He also confirmed that Sol was not awarded the contract.⁶⁰²⁵

Evidence from other companies – Galliford Try

IV.3995. The OFT wrote to Galliford Try on 22 March 2007, offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Galliford Try had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to the OFT's letter G P Fitzgerald, Chief Executive of Galliford Try, admitted that the company did engage in bid rigging activities on this particular tender but was unable to recall details of the other party or parties involved.⁶⁰²⁶

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.3997. Sol and Galliford Construction each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Galliford Construction was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.3998. The contemporaneous Tender Register entry for this tender shows a tender figure sum of £4,384,221, which is the same as Sol submitted to UoW. The 'C' and the '4,702,340' after 'Galliford' in the 'Competition' column indicate that Sol provided a cover price to Galliford Construction for this tender.⁶⁰²⁷

IV.3999. JC of Sol, in his interview, confirmed that he supplied a cover price to Galliford Construction as indicated by the 'C' and the '4,702,340' after 'Galliford' in the 'Competition' column of the Tender Register.⁶⁰²⁸ The OFT notes that the figure noted by Sol in its Tender Register, £4,702,340, is identical to the tender submitted by Galliford Construction in respect of this tender.

IV.4000. Sol admitted under leniency that it gave a cover price to Galliford Construction in respect of this tender.⁶⁰²⁹ In interview JC confirmed that 'CG' in parentheses after 'Galliford' in the 'Tender Prices given' column of the 'Tender Cover Price Analysis' document⁶⁰³⁰, submitted by Sol as part of its leniency submission, meant that Sol provided a cover price to Galliford Construction in respect of this tender.⁶⁰³¹

IV.4001. Galliford Try admitted in its reply to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007 that it had engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender, but was unable to recall with whom.

IV.4002. Both companies have therefore admitted to engaging in bid rigging in respect of this tender. The OFT notes that the tender figure of £4,702,340 submitted by Galliford Construction is in keeping with a cover price being sufficiently higher than the bid submitted by Sol to remain credible whilst also ensuring that the undertaking lost the tender.

IV.4003. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Sol and Galliford Construction. The OFT also concludes that Sol supplied a figure to Galliford Construction for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Sol to Galliford Construction was not unilateral⁶⁰³³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁰³⁴
- (b) Galliford Construction can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Sol (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁰³⁵ and
- (c) Sol can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Galliford Construction (i.e. that Galliford Construction did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁰³⁶

IV.4005. In its response to the Statement, Sol asserted that it ‘... provided a cover price to Galliford Try at its request and did not consider for one moment that in doing so it would be able to obtain a competitive advantage for itself. Sol refutes the OFT’s assumption that its knowledge of Galliford Try’s uncompetitive bid [affected] in anyway its tender conduct.’⁶⁰³⁷ Similarly, in its response to the Statement, Galliford Try asserted ‘[t]here is no evidence adduced in the [Statement] to indicate that any over price [sic] from Sol to Galliford Try would have had any impact on Sol’s tender amount or the client’s choice of tenderer.’⁶⁰³⁸ IV.4006. The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking takes account of information received from a competitor when determining its own conduct is a legal presumption⁶⁰³⁹, which neither Sol nor Galliford Try has adduced any evidence to rebut. To the extent that Sol and Galliford Try submit that this Infringement should not be treated as serious because no effects have been shown, this point is addressed in paragraphs VI.135 to VI.142 of Section VI (Enforcement) below.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4009. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 27 to Sol on 18 January 2006. Sol will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Sol will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Client: Allan Joyce Architects
Parties: Loach and W R Bloodworth

IV.4010. On 14 March 2003, Alan Joyce Architects sought tenders for refurbishment work and an extension to 144 Sneinton Dale, Sneinton, Nottingham. The return date for the tender was 14 April 2003 and six companies were invited to

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Loach – tender spreadsheets

IV.4012. During the OFT's search of Loach's premises on 28 June 2005, two printed spreadsheets were found. The first spreadsheet⁶⁰⁴² contained the following entry:

	Contract	Sum	Margin	%	Note	Opposition
14-Apr	Refurbishment & extension, 144 Sneinton Road, Sneinton, Nottingham				Cover	Bloodworth®/ Beaufort

IV.4013. A second spreadsheet, headed 'Small Works Tenders' and marked 2003, contained the following entry:⁶⁰⁴³

	Contract	Sum	Margin	%	Note	Winner	Var %	Job No.	Opposition
14-Apr	Refurbishment & extension, 144 Sneinton Road, Sneinton, Nottingham	149,811	20,000	13.35%					Bloodworth/ Beaufort

Evidence from leniency applicant Loach

IV.4014. As part of its leniency application, Loach's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁶⁰⁴⁴ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.453 to IV.469 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4015. In its response to the Statement, Loach confirmed that it *'...took a cover from W R Bloodworth on this tender due to a lack of estimating resources and the inability to return the tender for future marketing considerations.'*⁶⁰⁴⁵

IV.4016. In interview Andrew Arbon-Davies ('AA'), Director responsible for the estimating department of Loach, explained that John Rowe ('JR'), an estimator at Loach, dealt with all small works tenders.⁶⁰⁴⁶ AA explained why there were two separate tender spreadsheets obtained from Loach containing similar information in respect of this tender. The first spreadsheet which was headed 'CONTRACT', in respect of this tender recorded under the column 'Note' the word 'Cover' and under the column 'Opposition' records 'Bloodworth[©]'. The second spreadsheet, headed 'SMALL WORKS TENDERS', in respect of this tender recorded the price at which Loach tendered, but made no reference to cover pricing or '©'.

IV.4017. AA said that prior to the OFT's visit, he had seen the spreadsheets that JR had been compiling with the entries 'Cover' and '©' recorded and said he *'didn't think it was the right thing to do. I just didn't think we should be putting "cover" on a list. And then, as obviously the sort of panic set in when we heard about raids elsewhere I asked John to remove any "Cs" that he'd put on the forms. So that's what he did, so that's why there's one version of one and another.'*⁶⁰⁴⁷ AA confirmed that this was done under his instruction, and that *'the first instruction was to remove the covers purely because I didn't think we should be putting covers on there. The second instruction was to remove the reference to "Cs" down the side as a sort of, if you like, a panic reaction to the investigation that we heard was going on.'*⁶⁰⁴⁸

IV.4018. In interview JR confirmed that he was asked by AA to stop recording references to 'Cover' or '©' on tender spreadsheets: *'Mr Arbon-Davis said that we ought to preclude – stop doing it.....he told us you [the OFT] were due to visit us and that it would really be inappropriate if, you know, it became known that we did that practice.'*⁶⁰⁴⁹ JR confirmed that, acting on AA's instructions, he removed any references to cover pricing and produced a new tender spreadsheet.⁶⁰⁵⁰

IV.4019. In respect of this tender, AA said, *'we've definitely taken a cover on it. Whether that cover was taken from Bloodworth with the, '©' reference there or whether it was from Beaufort's and Bloodworth also took a cover, I don't know.'*⁶⁰⁵¹ On being told by the OFT that W R Bloodworth had indicated that it provided Loach with a cover price AA said *'Yes, I'd be happy to accept that. Yes.'*⁶⁰⁵²

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant W R Bloodworth – Tender register

IV.4020. During the OFT’s search of W R Bloodworth’s premises on 28 June 2005, a tender register was found. This contained the following entry in the page for March 2003.⁶⁰⁵³

Date recd	Architects	Client	Descript	Return	BEC
24th	Allan Joyce	N City Council	Alt 144 Sneinton Dale	14.04	350

Evidence from leniency applicant W R Bloodworth

IV.4021. As part of its leniency application, W R Bloodworth compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from January 2000 in respect of which W R Bloodworth had either requested or provided a cover price. At number six on the schedule is the following entry:⁶⁰⁵⁴

Date	Architects	Client	Descript	Cover
24-Mar-2003	Allan Joyce Associates ("AJA")	Nottingham City Council	144 Sneeton Dale - alterations	Cover given to Loach (John Rowe). Job won

IV.4022. W R Bloodworth also provided to the OFT a schedule listing all the companies and individuals within those companies with whom W R Bloodworth had engaged in cover pricing. The name of Loach appears on this list with John Rowe named as the contact point with the telephone number [.....] [C].⁶⁰⁵⁵

IV.4023. W R Bloodworth further provided to the OFT its tender return for this contract. The tender return states that it was for work required to be executed at 144 Sneinton Dale for Nottingham City Council. The person who signed the tender on behalf of W R Bloodworth was Michael Campbell ('MC'), an estimator at W R Bloodworth, and the amount tendered was £140,950.⁶⁰⁵⁶

IV.4024. In its response to the Statement, W R Bloodworth confirmed that '[i]t is not disputed that Bloodworth participated in cover pricing during the relevant period set out in the Statement.'⁶⁰⁵⁷

Witness evidence from leniency applicant W R Bloodworth

IV.4025. In respect of this tender, in interview MC explained that the schedule provided under leniency of tenders where W R Bloodworth had given or taken cover prices was compiled from his recollection of events. MC also had a clear recollection of JR from Loach contacting him and asking him for a cover price as it was 'too small for him [to price] and he approached us for a cover price'.

MC confirmed that JR telephoned him to request a cover price.⁶⁰⁵⁸

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4027. Loach and W R Bloodworth each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4028. Loach was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender. It appears that W R Bloodworth completed the estimating process for this contract and that it submitted a tender with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the fact that it submitted the lowest price and that it won the tender.

IV.4029. In regard to W R Bloodworth, one of Loach's contemporaneous tender spreadsheets records the word 'Cover' against this tender and a 'C' against W R Bloodworth. AA of Loach initially said that this evidence shows that both Loach and W R Bloodworth were involved in cover pricing on this tender, but not necessarily with each other. On being told by the OFT that W R Bloodworth had indicated that it provided Loach with a cover price, AA accepted that Loach did indeed approach W R Bloodworth for a cover price.

IV.4030. MC of W R Bloodworth had a clear recollection that JR of Loach approached W R Bloodworth and said that this tender was 'too small for him [to price] and he approached us for a cover price'. Additionally JR is named by W R Bloodworth in its list of contacts for cover prices as a specific contact for cover prices at Loach.

IV.4031. The OFT notes that both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. Furthermore the OFT considers it significant that Loach drew up a second version of its spreadsheet with all reference to cover pricing removed as a 'panic reaction' to the OFT's visits to other companies involved in this investigation. This demonstrates that Loach was aware that its conduct of engaging in cover pricing was wrong and that it made a decision to attempt to remove evidence that Loach was involved in such conduct.

IV.4032. The OFT also notes that the tender submitted by Loach was higher than the tender submitted by W R Bloodworth, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.4033. The OFT further notes that no other company submitted a bid lower than W R Bloodworth's bid, and that only W R Bloodworth could therefore have given Loach a cover price in respect of this tender.

IV.4034. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between W R Bloodworth and Loach. The OFT also concludes that W R Bloodworth supplied a figure to Loach for a cover bid.

⁶⁰⁵⁸ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 6347, page 12.

IV.4035. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4012 to IV.4034 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁰⁵⁹ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from W R Bloodworth to Loach was not unilateral⁶⁰⁶⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁰⁶¹
- (b) Loach can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from W R Bloodworth (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁰⁶² and
- (c) W R Bloodworth can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Loach (i.e. that Loach did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁰⁶³

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4038. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Loach's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to Loach on 28 June 2005. Loach will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Loach will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4039. In respect of this tender, the OFT also became aware of W R Bloodworth's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to Loach on 28 June 2005. W R Bloodworth will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, W R Bloodworth will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 144: Two Wheelchair Bungalows, Howden Road, Leicester – 14 April 2003
Client: Tuntum Housing Association
Parties: Derwent Valley and Dukeries

IV.4040. On 17 March 2003, Tuntum Housing Association sought tenders for the demolition of existing buildings and erection of a pair of semi-detached bungalows with provision and site access for disabled persons at Howden Road, Leicester. The following three companies were invited to tender: Derwent Valley, Dukeries and B & A. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 14 April 2003.⁶⁰⁶⁴

IV.4041. Tuntum Housing Association received the following tender returns:⁶⁰⁶⁵

Company	Date and time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Dukeries	14 April 2003 Prior to 12:00 noon	£166,957	Yes
Derwent Valley	14 April 2003 Prior to 12:00 noon	£174,620
B & A	14 April 2003 Prior to 12:00 noon	£179,594

IV.4042. EC Harris, who dealt with the tendering process on behalf of Tuntum Housing Association, stated in a report to Tuntum Housing Association dated 15 April 2003 that, even allowing for an upward adjustment to the initial budget for additional works, the lowest tender of £166,957 received from Dukeries was £8,746 or 5.47 per cent in excess of the anticipated cost of the project. Dukeries has noted in its response to the Statement that this bid included provisional sums for two items it had omitted to include in its bid.⁶⁰⁶⁶

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Schedule

IV.4043. During the OFT's search of Derwent Valley's premises, a tender schedule containing handwritten entries was discovered. Within this tender schedule was the following entry:⁶⁰⁶⁷

TENDER NO.	RETURN DATE	TENDER DETAILS	OPPOSITION	TENDER
04/03/03	14/04/03	DESIGN & BUILD 2NR WHEELCHAIR BUNGALOWS, HOWDEN ROAD LEICESTER FOR TUNTUM H.A.	Dukeries B & A	174620	Cover from Dukeries 2nd

Evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.4044. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

⁶⁰⁶⁴ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 10155.

IV.4045. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2000 to July 2004 where Derwent Valley had taken a cover price from a competitor for that tender, marked as 'DVC2 List of Covers Taken'. The information in the summary was based on the tender book kept by Pat Tunnicliffe ('PT'), an ex-estimator at Derwent Valley, and contained the following extract:⁶⁰⁶⁸

Date	Contract	Company Involved
March 2003	Design & build 2 Bungalows Leicester Tuntum Hsg Assn	Dukeries Building Services

IV.4046. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a 'List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices'. The name 'Dukeries Building Co' appears on this list with the address '21a Ratcliffe Gate Mansfield'.⁶⁰⁶⁹

IV.4047. Following the issue of the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.4048. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors and an ex-employee provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4049. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with PT, who dealt with this tender. PT confirmed that he kept and maintained the tender schedule referred to in paragraphs IV.309 to IV.317 above. PT was told the name of the tender and said 'Yeah, I think that was, again not wanting to upset a client that you wanted to work for but you didn't want to work in that area...I remember, I even went to, I think I even went to site and had a look at the site and it was not good'. PT referred to the tender schedule and said, 'according to that I found Dukeries, a B and B and A... it looks as though Derwent Valley took the cover from Dukeries and came second, so presumably Dukeries won it'.⁶⁰⁷⁰

IV.4050. PT was asked if he knew of any reason why Derwent Valley would not have been interested in this tender and responded that, 'it was geographical as much as anything. Two bungalows on the other side of Leicester didn't turn out to be as attractive as you possibly thought. If you had a contract on the north side of Leicester it was still bad enough to travel to but... no, two bungalows down there for 170 odd thousand it wasn't really worth it. But Tuntum were based in Nottingham and, you know, we wanted to work with Tuntum in

Nottingham'.⁶⁰⁷¹ PT could not recall the names of anyone at Dukeries he may have spoken with.⁶⁰⁷²

IV.4051. David Stone ('DS'), Managing Director of Derwent Valley, was also interviewed in regard to this tender and although he did not recall it, from examining the entry in the tender schedule he said 'we were second with a cover from Dukeries'.⁶⁰⁷³ DS could not recall ever dealing with anyone at Dukeries but commented that it may not have been an attractive tender to Derwent Valley due to 'it being a little bit out of our range, Leicester'.⁶⁰⁷⁴

Evidence from other companies – Dukeries

IV.4052. During the OFT's visit to Dukeries's premises, an electronic tender schedule containing an entry for this tender was obtained.⁶⁰⁷⁵

IV.4053. The OFT wrote to Dukeries on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Dukeries had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Dukeries, represented by Geldards LLP, indicated via letter on 25 April 2007 that it was willing to make admissions to involvement in cover pricing in relation to one suspect contract only.⁶⁰⁷⁶ The response included a completed suspect tender schedule and in respect of this tender Glenn Manners, Managing Director of Dukeries, made no admission of Dukeries having engaged in bid rigging activities.⁶⁰⁷⁷

IV.4054. The OFT subsequently wrote to Dukeries' ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Gavco, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Dukeries' response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Gavco jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Dukeries in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Gavco 159 Limited's legal representatives Geldards LLP said, 'Gavco has nothing to add to the previous responses made by Dukeries'.⁶⁰⁷⁸

IV.4055. However, in their response to the Statement, Dukeries and Gavco stated '...on the basis of the evidence presented by the OFT in the Statement of Objections, Dukeries admits to providing a cover price to Derwent Valley in respect of this tender'.⁶⁰⁷⁹

⁶⁰⁷⁹ Written representations of Dukeries and Gavco, 27 June 2008, paragraph 27.

- IV.4057. Derwent Valley and Dukeries each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Derwent Valley did not want to win this contract as the location of the site was outside of the area it wished to work in.
- IV.4058. It appears that Dukeries completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Dukeries being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.
- IV.4059. Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to competitor Dukeries with the entry 'Cover from Dukeries' in the final column where this tender has been entered. Derwent Valley confirmed that the word 'Cover' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken.
- IV.4060. PT, the estimator for this tender, confirmed that although he did not recall the tender, his entry in the schedule meant that he took a cover price from Dukeries.
- IV.4061. This was corroborated in interview by DS, who agreed that the entry in the tender schedule showed that Derwent Valley took a cover price in respect of this tender from Dukeries.
- IV.4062. The OFT notes Dukeries' tender figure was below that submitted by Derwent Valley, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided and accepted, and indeed that Dukeries is the only company whose figure was below that of Derwent Valley, such that the cover price received by Derwent Valley could only have been provided by Dukeries.
- IV.4063. Derwent Valley also included in its list of companies who exchange cover prices, the name of Dukeries.
- IV.4064. In addition, the OFT notes that Tuntum Housing Association received a tendered amount of £166,957.00 from Dukeries, which is lower than the amount tendered by Derwent Valley. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been given to Derwent Valley by Dukeries.
- IV.4065. Both Parties have now admitted liability in respect of this tender.
- IV.4066. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and Dukeries. The OFT also concludes that Dukeries supplied a figure to Derwent Valley for a cover bid. The OFT also notes that the price submitted by Dukeries, although the lowest tender for the project, was 5.47 per cent in excess of the anticipated cost of the project.
- IV.4067. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4043 to IV.4066 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁰⁸⁰ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Dukeries to Derwent Valley was not unilateral⁶⁰⁸¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁰⁸²

⁶⁰⁸⁰ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Dukeries (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁰⁸³ and
- (c) Dukeries can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Derwent Valley (i.e. that Derwent Valley did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁰⁸⁴

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4070. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Derwent Valley will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4082. A report prepared by Herbert Baggaley's legal representatives [Actons], sent on 18 January 2006, provided additional information with regard to 'Inter Contractor Invoicing'. Herbert Baggaley stated 'It is commonplace for Contractors to buy and sell goods and services to and from each other. *costs being incurred. Even in the provision of a cover, routine costs are incurred by HBC. On other occasions a job might initially be seen as of high interest but on review of the further details and job specifications might be discarded as of no interest and therefore worthy of a cover. If on such occasions costs had already been incurred and a third party had offered an estimator a payment to offset those, then such a payment had occasionally been accepted’.*⁶⁰⁹⁸

IV.4085. Herbert Baggaley also provided a list of ‘Third Party Contractors’. Herbert Baggaley stated that ‘*This list contains details of other Contractors with whom HBC has dealt in the use of cover pricing ... Given the lack of written records of individual covers, it is not always possible for HBC’s estimators to say for certain as to which individual within another contract[or] dealt with that cover. However, the OFT is to take it that where a Contractor is listed as being party to a cover under the Schedule of Tenders, then the individual contact listed within Document 2 [3] is to be the person involved. Where there are more than one name given for a Contractor, then the first name is to be taken as the probable contact’.*⁶⁰⁹⁹ On page five of the ‘List of Third Party Contractors’ is entered.⁶¹⁰⁰

IV.4086. As part of its leniency application, Wildgoose’s legal representatives provided witness evidence which gave a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.726 to IV.742 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4087. BB provided a witness statement to the OFT, in which he provided details in relation to this tender. BB stated, ‘*I am able to recall a further instance where we entered into discussions with a competitor about estimating costs. This was on file C257 Burton College, 4th floor lift installation and toilet refurbishment on which we won the work ... Malcolm Clarke, the Manager of our Building Services Department, completed the enquiry and submitted the tender form on 9 May 2003 in the sum on £616,669.00 ... I recall that either Baggaleys spoke to Malcolm Clarke who referred it to myself, or they spoke with me directly. I believe that initially both companies were to price the project and the loser would be paid £5,000 to cover the cost of the estimate’.*⁶¹⁰¹

‘During the tender period approval was obtained for this proposal from the executive Directors. After the tender adjudication meeting, I rang Baggaleys, with Malcolm Clarke present, possibly to give them a figure, but I am unable to recall the precise details of the conversation. I do remember that they asked if we had included the sum of money to cover their tender costs and I recall £7,000 was mentioned. I confirmed we had but that £7,000 was more than my recollection. They explained that the increase was due to the nature and size of the project. Therefore, I subsequently added £2,000 to the tender allowances. We subsequently won the project which was reduced in size. The £7,000 appears on the revised tender finance statement as "other payments". Subsequently, we received an invoice dated 23 October 2003 from Baggaleys in the sum of £6,912.00 plus VAT ostensibly for the supply of joinery.⁶¹⁰²

IV.4088. During an interview with the OFT on 1 November 2006, BB stated 'This was a job that was priced by our builders and services department, at Burton College ... Malcolm Clarke had priced it. And I believe Malcolm possibly had some contact from them, or I did ... and it's apparent ... that an agreement was struck. ... We actually won that project. And I do recall coming out of the adjudication meeting and we spoke with Baggaley's ... What I do recall specifically about the conversation was that Baggaley's said to us that the project was more involved than they thought. It was a higher value than they thought, more complex. And, 'Can you increase the cost to £7,000?' And I think on the tender form you'll see that there was the £5,000 that was added in the adjudication meeting. And then a subsequent £2,000 following our discussions with them'.⁶¹⁰³ BB confirmed that the agreement would have been made with either AN, or Roger Hayes, Chief Estimator at Herbert Baggaley.⁶¹⁰⁴ The OFT notes that RH left Herbert Baggaley's in October 2002 and it is therefore likely that BB spoke with AN.

IV.4089. BB added that his recollection was that the compensation payment for estimating costs was suggested by Herbert Baggaley, but that both parties would have agreed to it.⁶¹⁰⁵ He explained that it was '... a compensation ... a loser's prize'⁶¹⁰⁶, and that the loser would still get something out of the contract. He suggested that Herbert Baggaley and Wildgoose may have been under the impression that they were the only two parties tendering for the contract⁶¹⁰⁷ and that they would have said 'We're the last two in, let's include £5,000 for each other'.⁶¹⁰⁸ He confirmed that he would probably have personally made the subsequent decision to accept the £2,000 increase to £7,000.⁶¹⁰⁹ BB also confirmed that his signature was on the invoice for joinery works, but that someone else wrote 'OK TO PAY'.⁶¹¹⁰

IV.4090. Malcolm Clarke ('MC'), General Manager of Small Works at Wildgoose, provided a 'Witness Statement' to the OFT, in which he provided details in relation to this tender. MC stated 'I am aware that an agreement was reached between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley Limited ("Baggaleys") on the project at Burton College, 4th floor lift installation and toilet refurbishment (file C257) on which we won the work ... I am unable to recall whether myself or Bryan Bennett was first informed by Baggaleys that they were interested in pricing for the work but I understand that it was later agreed, subject to the Directors' approval, to add the amount of £5,000 estimating costs to cover the costs of the unsuccessful bidder. This would be payable if any of our tenders was *successful. The net cost estimate was prepared and I was instructed at a tender meeting with Bryan Bennett to add the amount of £5,000 as an additional cost. I believe that the other Directors had been made aware of the situation’.*⁶¹¹¹

*‘Baggaleys were then contacted by Bryan Bennett in my presence and the tender prices were exchanged and we were informed that our price was substantially lower than Baggaleys. However, as far as I am aware, Baggaleys still intended to submit the tender figure they had calculated and would add the additional sum to cover estimating costs to their tender figure too. Baggaleys then considered that the amount of £5,000 was insufficient to cover the estimating costs considering the extent of the work and time involved and I understand a further amount of £2,000 was agreed. This was indicated on the tender finance statements. ... On being successful, the amount of approximately £7,000 was invoiced by Baggaleys and paid to them at a later date’.*⁶¹¹²

IV.4091. During an interview with the OFT on 1 November 2006, MC provided additional details regarding the contact with Herbert Baggaley. MC stated *‘I can’t remember if we contacted them or they contacted us I can’t recall that at all, and I think that Bryan dealt with that section of it ... But I remember this one quite well because I thought it quite a strange scenario at that time, something I hadn’t really come across before and I prepared the tender and I’d been told to add £5,000 in estimating costs [by Bryan Bennett]. I added that in and I took all the statement, tender file and statement up to him and we sat down to look at what we wanted profit and overheads wise, and there was a call ... made to Baggaley’s either they rang up or we rang them, and Bryan actually exchanged prices with them, which I though[t] was very trusting and decided that we were the lowest by quite a substantial way ... and then the conversation went something, what I picked up was that Baggaley’s said that we’d obviously get the job at the price we was putting in and that they thought that they wanted another £2,000 for estimating fees additional to the £5,000, could that be added in because it was a very involved job and they had spent a lot of time on it’.*⁶¹¹³

IV.4092. In response to the question, ‘would it [that agreement] have worked if there were another four competitive ... tenderers?’, MC added *‘It’s a risk, isn’t it. You never know ... we were aware that there was other covers too. You were giving other covers out as well ... I don’t even know if on that lift, if such as Baggaley’s were giving covers out ... they might have intimated that they were giving covers out, but I can’t remember’.*⁶¹¹⁴

IV.4093. Eric Alan Clarke, (‘EAC’) Finance Director at Wildgoose, provided a ‘Witness Statement’ to the OFT, in which he provided details in relation to this tender. EAC stated, ‘On 24 October 2003 Baggaleys sent us a further invoice for the supply of joinery in the sum of £8,121.60 which had been authorised by Bryan Bennett for payment ... I understood that the payment to Baggaleys was in respect of settlement of tendering costs but I am unable to provide precise details ... I was aware at the time that these invoices were not for joinery

IV.4094. During an interview with the OFT on 2 November 2006, conducted in connection with Herbert Baggaley’s leniency application, AN provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4095. During the interview AN was asked if he could recall anything about this contract. AN confirmed his recollection of this tender, *‘That was down at Burton College ... started the enquiry, went down there had a look at it, it was an awkward job, and I think this is probably an instance where we tried somebody else first and they were already taking cover off of Wildgoose, and in some way we either rung Wildgoose up [Herbert Baggaley:] “are you keen for this?” [Wildgoose:] “yes” [Herbert Baggaley:], we’re not so bothered, but we’ll take help off you for paying, helping to contribute towards our costs so far’.*⁶¹¹⁶ AN stated this was because *‘We’d either got some more work to come up, but this one wasn’t for us’.*⁶¹¹⁷ AN confirmed that it would have been himself who contacted BB at Wildgoose and initiated the agreement. AN thought that BB *‘may then have put me in touch with Malcolm Clarke, because I believe it was him at their small works sort of division’.*⁶¹¹⁸ AN confirmed that he would have needed the approval of (Richard) Ian Baggaley, Director, before entering into such agreements with competitors.⁶¹¹⁹

IV.4096. During an interview on 2 November 2006, Richard Ian Baggaley (‘RIB’), Managing Director of Herbert Baggaley, was asked if he would have been aware of the arrangement of a compensation payment before any agreement had been made. RIB replied ‘... yes I probably would have, certainly have been made aware of it’. RIB explained *‘... if the opportunity had been put to them [Roger Hayes and Anton Newell], they would have a very strong judgment on the opportunity, but they would have said well ‘yes we just need to make the directors aware of that issue’.*⁶¹²⁰

IV.4098. Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4099. Herbert Baggaley explained ‘We’d either got some more work to come up, but this one wasn’t for us’, and Herbert Baggaley therefore did not want to win this tender.⁶¹²¹ It appears that Wildgoose completed the estimating process for this tender and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the facts that Wildgoose submitted the lowest tender and that it won the contract.

IV.4100. MC of Wildgoose suggested that either Wildgoose or Herbert Baggaley may have been giving cover prices to the other competitors for this tender. BB suggested that Herbert Baggaley and Wildgoose may have been under the impression that they were the only two parties tendering for the contract. However, neither BB nor MC of Wildgoose recalled giving any cover prices out to competitors in relation to this tender. Certainly, there is no documentary evidence to suggest that any cover prices were given to competitors by Wildgoose. Neither is there any documentary evidence to suggest that any cover prices were given to competitors by Herbert Baggaley. The OFT makes no finding as to whether Wildgoose and/or Herbert Baggaley gave cover prices to other competitors in respect of this tender.

IV.4101. AN of Herbert Baggaley said that he started the estimating process for this tender but found that it was an 'awkward job'. He thought that Herbert Baggaley tried to obtain a cover price from another competitor but found that the competitor was already taking a cover price from Wildgoose. AN said that he would then have contacted Wildgoose for a cover price, and given that Herbert Baggaley had already carried out some work on estimating, suggested that if Herbert Baggaley submitted a cover price then Wildgoose should compensate Herbert Baggaley for the work already carried out.

IV.4102. Wildgoose had a different recollection of the basis for the compensation agreement. It believed that 'initially both companies were to price the project and the loser would be paid £5,000 to cover the cost of the estimate'. Subsequently further contact was made with Herbert Baggaley following Wildgoose's tender adjudication meeting. MC of Wildgoose confirmed that during this call the two companies exchanged tender figures and it was established that Wildgoose intended to submit a figure much lower than Herbert Baggaley's tender figure, and it was therefore likely that Wildgoose would win the tender. Herbert Baggaley then asked for the previously agreed compensation payment, to be included in Wildgoose's tender, to be increased from £5,000 to £7,000. Wildgoose confirmed that it increased its tender bid by a further £2,000 in addition to the £5,000 already included in it.

IV.4103. Both companies agree that a compensation payment arrangement was eventually agreed upon, under which Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley agreed that, on either account at least, Wildgoose would include in its final tender bid an additional £7,000, which was to be paid to Herbert Baggaley if Wildgoose's tender was successful. The OFT notes the differences between the companies' accounts as to whether Herbert Baggaley also agreed to include an additional sum in its tender bid to be paid to Wildgoose if Herbert Baggaley's tender was successful, but considers that it is not necessary to reach any finding as to whether this was in fact agreed by them.

IV.4104. Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley both submitted that the compensation payment was intended as a genuine reimbursement of their tender costs.⁶¹²² The OFT recalls, however, that the 'object' of an agreement or concerted practice is determined by an objective analysis of its aims, and the parties' subjective intent is therefore not determinative.⁶¹²³ Nevertheless, the OFT notes that the amount of the compensation payment was initially agreed at £5,000 and Wildgoose had added this to its tender figure. It was only late in the process that Herbert Baggaley asked for this to be increased to £7,000. If £5,000 was sufficient to cover Wildgoose's tender costs, then the increase to £7,000 must have included an additional element over and above Wildgoose's tender expenses. Equally, AN of Herbert Baggaley stated in evidence that he started the estimating process but realised the job was awkward and approached a competitor for a cover price, before arranging a compensation payment with Wildgoose to compensate for the estimating work he had already carried out. This is inconsistent with Herbert Baggaley's request to Wildgoose late in the tender process that the amount of compensation be increased because Herbert Baggaley had expended a lot of time on the tender. Whilst it is not material to a finding of an infringement, the OFT does not necessarily accept, therefore, that the amount of compensation was genuinely intended to recompense for the Parties' tender costs.

IV.4105. Subsequently, Herbert Baggaley raised an invoice for 'Supply only of Joinery' for a total value of £6,912.00 plus VAT, with an invoice total of £8,121.60. Wildgoose has confirmed that this invoice was false and that no such 'Joinery Works' were carried out. Wildgoose's Finance Director has confirmed that the invoice was subsequently paid by BACS transfer.

IV.4106. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley which resulted at least in Herbert Baggaley and Wildgoose agreeing that Wildgoose would inflate its final tender price by £7,000, which amount would be paid to Herbert Baggaley if Wildgoose's bid was successful. The OFT also concludes that Wildgoose made a compensation payment to Herbert Baggaley and that this payment was facilitated by the production of a false invoice in relation to 'Supply only of Joinery'. The OFT finds that Wildgoose included in its tender bid the amounts of compensation agreed between the parties, i.e. initially £5,000 which was subsequently increased to £7,000 prior to submission of the final tender.

IV.4107. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4073 to IV.4106 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶¹²⁴ This is notwithstanding the fact that the Parties have provided different accounts of what was agreed between the Parties, namely as to whether in addition to the agreement on a compensation payment a cover price was also agreed or tender price information was also exchanged prior to final tenders being submitted. On either account, at the very least, an unlawful compensation payment agreement was reached. In particular, on the basis of the evidence provided by Wildgoose:

- (a) the exchange of information between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley on their respective tender bids prior to submission of final bids and the provision of a compensation payment from Wildgoose to Herbert Baggaley were not unilateral, and contravene the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶¹²⁵

⁶¹²³ See paragraphs III.68 to III.69 of the Legal Background section.

⁶¹²⁴ See paragraphs III.3 and III.136 to III.157 of the Legal Background section.

⁶¹²⁵ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51, and III.139 to III.140 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) the agreement between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley that at least Wildgoose would include £7,000 in its final tender bid and that the successful tenderer would pay compensation to the unsuccessful tenderer had the obvious consequence of restricting or distorting competition and was capable of an effect on price;⁶¹²⁶ and
- (c) each of Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley can be presumed to have taken account of the information they received from each other (i.e. the details of their respective tender bids, the agreement to pay compensation, and the agreed level of compensation) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process.⁶¹²⁷

IV.4108. In the alternative, on the basis of the evidence provided by Herbert Baggaley:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid, and a compensation payment from Wildgoose to Herbert Baggaley were not unilateral⁶¹²⁸, and contravene the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶¹²⁹
- (b) the agreement between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley that Wildgoose would include £7,000 in its tender bid and would pay that amount to Herbert Baggaley in return for Herbert Baggaley submitting a cover price or a tender which it knew would not be successful, had the obvious consequence of restricting or distorting competition and was capable of an effect on price;⁶¹³⁰
- (c) Wildgoose can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Herbert Baggaley (i.e. the details of Herbert Baggaley's tender bid, the agreement to pay compensation, the agreed level of compensation, and that Herbert Baggaley did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶¹³¹ and
- (d) Herbert Baggaley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Wildgoose (i.e., the cover price, the agreement to pay compensation, and the agreed level of compensation) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶¹³²

IV.4109. Wildgoose submitted that the exchange of information with Herbert Baggaley was not intended to change their behaviour on the market, and it did not take into account the information it received from Herbert Baggaley when determining its own conduct in the tender process.⁶¹³³ As noted above, the Parties subjective intent is not determinative in finding an 'object' infringement.⁶¹³⁴ Furthermore, the OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁶¹³⁵, and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Wildgoose has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. In particular, the OFT notes Wildgoose's admission that it added £7,000 to its tender price to account for the compensation payment, and considers that this completely undermines Wildgoose's assertion that its conduct in the tender process was unaffected.

IV.4110. Wildgoose also submitted that its conduct had no, or at worst only a minor, effect on competition.⁶¹³⁶ As noted above, however, the OFT considers that Wildgoose entered into an agreement or concerted practice which had the object of restricting competition. As such, the OFT is not required to demonstrate the effect of the arrangements in order to find an infringement. Furthermore, Wildgoose has accepted that its conduct constitutes an object infringement.⁶¹³⁷ To the extent that Wildgoose submits this Infringement should not be treated as serious because no effects have been shown, this point is addressed in Step 1 of Section VI (Enforcement) below.

IV.4111. Finally, Wildgoose stated that, whilst it added £7,000 to its tender price, it subsequently reduced the tender price and its tendered margin and overheads as a result of a 'value reengineering exercise' with the client's quantity surveyor.⁶¹³⁸ The OFT also recalls BB's evidence that the project was 'reduced in size' (see paragraph IV.4087). Subsequent renegotiation of the job specifications and tender price does not alter the OFT's conclusion that Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley engaged in an anti-competitive agreement and/or concerted practice. It is also irrelevant that, at £7,000, the compensation payment represented a small percentage of the tender value⁶¹³⁹ (although the OFT notes that it does not consider £7,000 to be a small amount in absolute terms).

IV.4112. Wildgoose also disputed that it gave a cover price to Herbert Baggaley, and submitted that its own version of events was more credible than Herbert Baggaley's.⁶¹⁴⁰ As noted above, the accounts of Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley differ in this respect and the OFT reaches no conclusion as to whether a cover price was given by Wildgoose to Herbert Baggaley (although the OFT notes that elsewhere in Wildgoose's representations it stated that a cover price 'may have been provided' in this tender⁶¹⁴¹).

IV.4113. Accordingly, although the OFT is not in a position to reach a conclusion on all the elements of the agreement between Herbert Baggaley and Wildgoose, on either account there is an infringement which at a minimum, was an agreement to fix part of the tender price of the successful tenderer and that the successful tenderer would pay an agreed level of compensation to the unsuccessful tenderer. The OFT therefore concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the construction of a four-storey lift tower at Burton College, tender deadline 12 May 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4115. Wildgoose informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Wildgoose will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4116. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Herbert Baggaley’s involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Wildgoose. Herbert Baggaley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Herbert Baggaley will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant P Waller – Diary Entry

IV.4119. Jane Waller ('JW'), Director and Company Secretary of P Waller, kept a diary for 2003 which was obtained during the section 28 visit to P Waller's premises on 6 July 2005 and which contains an entry for this tender on 13 May 2003 which reads, 'obtain cover from Ray Lockett at ✓ Carter Construction for 36 Clipstone Rd West for P.Hill'.⁶¹⁴⁴

Evidence from leniency applicant P Waller

IV.4120. As part of its leniency application, P Waller provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.517 to IV.526 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4121. On a list of cover prices received, provided by P Waller to the OFT as part of its leniency application, is typewritten:⁶¹⁴⁵

TITLE	DATE	CONTACT	COMPANY	WON LOST
36 Clipstone Rd West	13/05/2003	Ray Lockett	Carter Construction		Yes

IV.4122. Following the issue of the Statement, P Waller did not submit any written or oral representations.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant P Waller

IV.4123. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, P Waller's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.517 to IV.526 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4124. In response to a question about the significance of a '✓' in her diary, JW confirmed that this tick shows that an action had been achieved (i.e. in this case that Ray Lockett of G Carter had provided P Waller with a cover price).⁶¹⁴⁶

IV.4125. Philip Waller ('PW'), Managing Director of P Waller, said in respect of this tender 'A cover from Ray Locket[t] at Carter Construction. So we obtained a cover for this Clipstone Road project, from memory we do know it's a medical centre, Clipstone Road West is a postcode of NG19. The architect was Peter Hill, Jane [Waller] in her tender notes did keep a list of different contractors ...that tendered for different architects...she had a list for Peter Hill and Carter Construction is on that, that's why she would have given them a ring to ask them [for a cover price]'.⁶¹⁴⁷

IV.4126. The OFT wrote to G Carter on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that G Carter had participated in bid rigging on this tender.

IV.4127. G Carter confirmed on 19 April 2007 that Ray Lockett had worked as an estimator for G Carter but that he was no longer employed by them.⁶¹⁴⁸

IV.4128. However, the OFT did not receive a response to its offer by the date for acceptance of 26 April 2007.⁶¹⁴⁹ The OFT informed G Carter's legal representatives, Berryman Shacklock LLP, on 18 May 2007 that as a reply had not been received by the deadline the OFT would treat this as a rejection of OFT's Fast Track Offer. Berryman Shacklock LLP confirmed that it understood the situation.⁶¹⁵⁰

IV.4129. The OFT subsequently received a letter dated 2 August 2007 from Berryman Shacklock LLP which said 'Our client is well aware that the practice of "giving and taking covers/help" has been endemic in the construction industry for many years. It accepts that it is possible, if not likely that against that background, it has engaged in that activity itself.

However, having made detailed enquires as to the contracts to which you refer in the annex of your penalty offer letter, it cannot find evidence that it engaged in such activity on those specific matters and it is against that background that it did not apply for the reduction of penalty'.⁶¹⁵¹

IV.4130. Following the issue of the Statement, G Carter did not submit any written or oral representations.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4131. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4132. G Carter and P Waller each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4133. P Waller was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.4134. In regard to G Carter, JW's diary entry for this tender for 13 May 2003 records 'obtain cover from Ray Lockett at ✓ Carter Construction for 36 Clipstone Rd West for P.Hill.', which shows that P Waller was expecting that G Carter would provide it with a cover price on the day that the tender was due to be submitted. JW has confirmed that the '✓' shows that the action was successfully completed, i.e. in this case that a cover price was successfully obtained from Ray Lockett at G Carter. G Carter has confirmed that Ray Lockett was one of its estimators. Both P Waller and PW, its Managing Director, have confirmed that a cover price was obtained from G Carter for this tender.

⁶¹⁵¹ Response from G Carter, OFT Document Reference 13017.

- IV.4135. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by P Waller was higher than the tender submitted by G Carter, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided by G Carter.
- IV.4136. The OFT further notes that although G Carter has not admitted to bid rigging specifically in relation to this tender, it has accepted that it is 'probable, if not likely' that it has engaged in cover pricing activities more generally.
- IV.4137. The OFT considers that the contemporaneous evidence from P Waller, and both JW's and PW's admissions and explanations of that contemporaneous evidence, are sufficient for it to be satisfied that G Carter gave a cover price to P Waller.
- IV.4138. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between P Waller and G Carter. The OFT also concludes that G Carter supplied a figure to P Waller for a cover bid.
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from G Carter to P Waller was not unilateral⁶¹⁵³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶¹⁵⁴
 - (b) P Waller can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from G Carter (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process,⁶¹⁵⁵ and
 - (c) G Carter can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from P Waller (i.e. that P Waller did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶¹⁵⁶
- IV.4140. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between P Waller and G Carter, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for new extension and alterations to building to form a veterinary surgery, 36 Clipstone Road West, Mansfield, tender deadline 13 May 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

⁶¹⁵² See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁶¹⁵³ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁶¹⁵⁴ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁶¹⁵⁵ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁶¹⁵⁶ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.4142. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities of P Waller by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to P Waller on 6 July 2005. P Waller will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, P Waller will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 148: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 149: Ward Refurbishment, Calow – 23 June 2003
Client: Chesterfield Royal Hospital NHS Foundation Trust
Parties: Henry Boot and G G Middleton

IV.4143. On 23 May 2003 and 25 May 2003, Chesterfield Royal Hospital NHS Foundation Trust sought tenders for refurbishment of a ward.⁶¹⁵⁷ The following six companies were invited to tender: CRL Refurb, G G Middleton, Henry Boot, Marriott, P-Kay Builders and Totty. The date and time of tender return was 23 June 2003 at 12:00 noon.⁶¹⁵⁸

IV.4144. Chesterfield Royal Hospital NHS Foundation Trust received the following tender returns:⁶¹⁵⁹

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Henry Boot	23 June 2003	£642,394
P-Kay Builders	23 June 2003	£603,644	YES
Totty	23 June 2003	£670,025
CRL Refurb	23 June 2003	£687,166
G G Middleton	23 June 2003	£690,832
Marriott	23 June 2003	£712,483

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Henry Boot – ‘sheet 28’ and Estimate summary Listing

IV.4145. As part of its leniency application, Henry Boot’s legal representatives provided a ‘Sheet 28’ (tender build-up) for this tender, on which under the section headed ‘Competition’, the following handwritten entries have been made:⁶¹⁶⁰

‘MIDDLETON (C)
TOTTY
WILDGOOSE ?’

⁶¹⁵⁹ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 7357d.

⁶¹⁶⁰ Tender build-up, OFT Document Reference B1930.

IV.4146. Henry Boot's legal representatives also provided a printout headed 'Estimate Summary Listing' in respect of this tender and handwritten at the bottom is 'COVER TO MIDDLETONS. £690830 (£48436 addition)'.⁶¹⁶¹

Evidence from leniency applicant Henry Boot

IV.4147. As part of its leniency application, Henry Boot's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.363 to IV.374 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4148. Henry Boot's legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table headed 'Overall Schedule for the Main Estimating Department', which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table contains comments made by those involved with the tender which show that a cover price given was given to G G Middleton, as follows:

'I know that we did not win this tender. The competitors I would have probably obtained from a subcontractor which is the usual way, particularly with NHS tenders because they specify the subcontractors to be used, so they get everyone asking them for quotes and they don't feel obliged to stay silent about it. I would say that looking at the notes on teh [sic] Sheet 28, we were not sure whether Wildgoose actually priced it and it's as clear as day that I gave Middleton a cover price – it's in my handwriting. I don't recall it though'.⁶¹⁶²

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Henry Boot

IV.4149. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Henry Boot employees and ex-employees provided general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.363 to IV.374 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4150. During an interview with the OFT on 22 March 2007, Malcolm Welsby ('MW'), an estimator at Henry Boot, advised how he would record when Henry Boot had given a cover as detailed in paragraph IV.374 above. In relation to this tender MW confirmed that he completed the 'Sheet 28' for this tender and when asked what the '(C)' meant, stated 'That means that we have ... given a cover price to a contractor called Middleton'.⁶¹⁶³ When asked about the 'Estimate Summary Listing', MW confirmed that the handwritten note was in his handwriting and stated 'so that is an example of how we've arrived at the price to give Middleton which would mean that ... if we were first on that job for instance ... then there would've been a gap of £48,436 between ourselves and Middleton'.⁶¹⁶⁴

Evidence from other companies – G G Middleton

its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that G G Middleton had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter G G Middleton admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁶¹⁶⁵

IV.4152. In its response to the Statement, G G Middleton confirmed its position stating '...[w]e admit that we undertook cover pricing on some projects during the period of time indicated...'.⁶¹⁶⁶

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4153. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4154. Henry Boot and G G Middleton each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4155. Both companies submitted a tender. G G Middleton was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Henry Boot completed the estimating process for this tender and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.4156. Henry Boot's 'Sheet 28' for this tender records 'MIDDLETON (C)', under the heading 'Competition'. Henry Boot confirmed that this shows that it gave a cover price to the company noted. In addition, Henry Boot's Estimate Summary Listing for this tender shows 'COVER TO MIDDLETONS. £690830 (£48436 addition)' and MW has confirmed that this means that Henry Boot gave a cover price of this amount to the company noted, stating 'it's as clear as day that I gave Middleton a cover price – it's in my handwriting'.

IV.4157. In addition, G G Middleton has admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.4158. The OFT notes that the tender figure submitted by G G Middleton of £690,832 is almost identical to the cover price Henry Boot confirmed it provided to G G Middleton.

IV.4159. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by G G Middleton was higher than the tender submitted by Middleton, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.4160. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Henry Boot and G G Middleton. The OFT also concludes that Henry Boot supplied a figure to G G Middleton for a cover bid.

⁶¹⁶⁷ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Henry Boot to G G Middleton was not unilateral⁶¹⁶⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶¹⁶⁹
- (b) G G Middleton can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Henry Boot (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶¹⁷⁰ and
- (c) Henry Boot can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from G G Middleton (i.e. that G G Middleton did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶¹⁷¹

IV.4162. In its response to the Statement, Henry Boot stated in respect of this Infringement that '...the intentions of other parties taking covers was not a factor taken into account by Henry Boot in calculating its tender prices...'⁶¹⁷² and 'In this particular tender, there were six tenderers. Henry Boot had no knowledge of the actions of four of these tenderers and, therefore, clearly needed to submit a competitive bid...'⁶¹⁷³ The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁶¹⁷⁴ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Henry Boot has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept Henry Boot's assertion that the cover pricing did not affect its actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition.

IV.4163. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Henry Boot and G G Middleton in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for refurbishment of a ward, tender deadline 23 June 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4165. Henry Boot informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Henry Boot will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 150: Two Gates Primary School, Tamworth – 25 June 2003
Client: Staffordshire County Council
Parties: Thomas Vale and Interclass

IV.4166. On 29 May 2003, Staffordshire County Council ('Staffordshire CC') sought tenders for extensions and alterations at Two Gates Primary School, Tamworth. The following six companies were invited to tender: Arthur M Griffiths, Interclass, Adonis, Kendrick Construction Ltd, Thomas Vale and Wygar.⁶¹⁷⁵ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 25 June 2003.⁶¹⁷⁶

IV.4167. Staffordshire CC received the following tender returns:⁶¹⁷⁷

Thomas Vale provided four tender lists, with identical entries referring to this tender for weeks commencing 2, 9, 16 and 23 June 2003. Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.4170. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4171. At Annex 14⁶¹⁸⁰ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale's legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 21 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2003 tenders is the following entry:⁶¹⁸¹

T5390	25 June	Staffordshire CC	Two Gates Primary School, Tamworth	Taken (Interclass)	Yes (Tender Spreadsheet)

IV.4172. The Tender Spreadsheet in the last column is the Tender Status spreadsheet and the Tender List is the internal tender list referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717.

IV.4173. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁶¹⁸² and Interclass appears on this list.

IV.4174. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

- IV.4175. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, CKT gave a detailed explanation of the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet to record cover prices from its competitors.
- IV.4176. CKT said that the initials 'REP', which appear in the estimator column for this tender, were for Robin Perks, who was an estimator in Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager. Thomas Vale categorised this as a B tender which indicated that it was a cover price. CKT referred to the relevant entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet as follows: 'Category B indicates that it was a cover figure, tender return date 25th of June 2003, tender figure £1,338,677, Interclass involved indicating that the cover was received from Interclass'.⁶¹⁸³ CKT could not recall the tender but suggested 'that I probably set it up [the cover price] with Interclass...and Robin actually made the final call to them, I would guess'.⁶¹⁸⁴
- IV.4177. In interview, REP also could not recall the tender but confirmed that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet indicated that Thomas Vale had received a cover price. He said 'I would suggest that originally we were going to tender for it and he's [CKT] obviously sort of pencilled me in...to sort of do that job...and then for some reason we decided we're not...he's [again referring to CKT] called it a B...Interclass is in bold'.⁶¹⁸⁵

- IV.4178. The OFT wrote to Interclass on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Interclass had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Interclass admitted that it gave a cover price on this tender and that it 'engaged in bid rigging (cover pricing) activities on this tender, but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁶¹⁸⁶ In its response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, Interclass divided its admissions into three categories: tenders where a cover price was given; tenders where a cover price was taken; and tenders where it had no evidence available. This tender was included in the cover prices given category, indicating that Interclass's admission was based on some evidence available to it.⁶¹⁸⁷
- IV.4179. The OFT subsequently wrote to Interclass's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Interclass Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Interclass's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Interclass Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Interclass in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. The OFT spoke to a representative of

IV.4180. In their response to the Statement, Interclass and Interclass Holdings confirmed that *'Interclass has accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer and does not contest the OFT's finding of infringement'*⁶¹⁸⁹ in respect of this Infringement.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4182. Thomas Vale and Interclass each accepted an invitation to tender for extensions and alterations at Two Gates Primary School, Tamworth.

IV.4183. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicated that a cover price was sought. It appears that Interclass completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and that it wanted to win the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Interclass being the lowest received by the client, and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.4184. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT, records four competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely Kendrick, Wygar, Interclass and Adonis. Interclass is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated as soon as the cover price had been arranged by CKT. Thomas Vale's bid to the client on the Tender Status spreadsheet is recorded as £1,338,677, matching that recorded by the client.

IV.4185. The OFT notes that although four competitors have been recorded on the Tender Status spreadsheet, only one of these is highlighted in bold, i.e. Interclass. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate Interclass from the other three competitors. In addition, the fact that the tender had been allocated to the Building Division, for which CKT was the manager, means that it is likely that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet was accurate and that CKT had personal knowledge of the decision to receive a cover price from Interclass at the time. Both CKT and REP confirm that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet indicates a cover price was received from Interclass.

IV.4186. Thomas Vale admitted that Interclass was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity.

IV.4187. Interclass's own bid of £1,133,800 is lower than that tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Interclass to Thomas Vale.

⁶¹⁸⁸ File note of telephone conversation, OFT Document Reference 13997.

⁶¹⁸⁹ Written representations of Interclass and Interclass Holdings, 27 June 2008, paragraph 4.

IV.4188. Finally, both parties admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender. However, Interclass could not recall with whom it engaged in bid rigging, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.4189. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and Interclass. The OFT also concludes that Interclass supplied a figure to Thomas Vale for a cover bid.

IV.4190. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4168 to IV.4189 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶¹⁹⁰ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Interclass to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁶¹⁹¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶¹⁹²
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Interclass (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶¹⁹³ and
- (c) Interclass can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶¹⁹⁴

IV.4191. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Interclass and Thomas Vale in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for extensions and alterations at Two Gates Primary School, Tamworth, tender deadline 25 June 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4193. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 152: Demolition and Redevelopment, 57 and 59 Mayfield Street, Kirkby-In-Ashfield – 27 June 2003
Client: Ashfield District Council
Parties: Derwent Valley, Harold Adkin and Beaufort

IV.4194. On 11 June 2003, Ashfield District Council sought tenders for the demolition and redevelopment of 57 and 59 Mayfield Street, Kirkby-In-Ashfield. The following five companies were invited to tender: Derwent Valley, Beaufort, Greenwood, Harold Adkin and Peter Burton Builder & Contractor. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon on 27 June 2003.⁶¹⁹⁵

IV.4195. Ashfield District Council received the following tender returns:⁶¹⁹⁶

Company	Date and time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Beaufort	27 June 2003 10:46	£73,642.00
Greenwood	27 June 2003 11:45	£80,899.00
Harold Adkin	27 June 2003 11:49	£72,209.00
Derwent Valley	27 June 2003 10:50	£67,785.00	Yes
Peter Burton Builder & Contractor	No tender received	£ -

IV.4196. Ashfield District Council also provided a document with the contact details of each of the undertakings invited to bid for this tender. This named Darren Ailward as the contact at Beaufort, Ian Douglas as the contact at Harold Adkin and Pat Tunnicliffe as the contact at Derwent Valley.⁶¹⁹⁷

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Schedule

IV.4197. During the OFT's search of Derwent Valley's premises, a tender schedule containing handwritten entries was discovered. Within this tender schedule was the following entry:⁶¹⁹⁸

TENDER NO.	RETURN DATE	TENDER DETAILS	OPPOSITION	TENDER
05/06/03	27/06/03	DEMOLITION AND REDEVELOPMENT OF 57 & 59 MAYFIELD STREET, KIRKBY, FOR ASHFIELD DC	Adkin (C) Beaufort (C)	67785	1st

Evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.4198. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4199. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2001 to January 2005 where Derwent Valley had given a cover price to a competitor for that tender, marked as 'DVC1 List of Covers Given'. The information in the summary was based on the tender book kept by Pat Tunnicliffe ('PT'), an ex-estimator at Derwent Valley, and contained the following extract:⁶¹⁹⁹

June 2003	Demolish & redevelop at Mayfield St. Kirkby in Ashfield	Adkin, Beaufort

IV.4200. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a 'List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices'. The name 'Harold Adkin & Sons' appears on this list with the address 'Oxford Street Sutton in Ashfield'. Also on this list is the name 'Beaufort Construction (SiA) Ltd' with the address 'Beaufort House Brierley Park Close Sutton in Ashfield' and as contacts, 'Jeff Long, Darren'.⁶²⁰⁰

IV.4201. Following the issue of the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.4202. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors and an ex-employee provided a general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4203. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with PT who dealt with this tender. PT confirmed that he kept and maintained the tender schedule referred to in paragraphs IV.309 to IV.317 above. PT was asked if he recalled the tender and he referred to the tender schedule and said, 'I do... We tendered for it, we won it and we did it'. PT went on to say 'I know that the job was done and it looks as though Beaufort and Adkins took covers off us'. PT was asked if he recalled who at Beaufort or Harold Adkin he would have dealt with in regard to this tender and said, 'not specifically over the contract. Yes, I've spoken to Beaufort and Adkins in the past, obviously they wanted help, obviously they didn't fancy it, it wasn't the most tasty of contracts admittedly'. When asked if he could remember who he would have spoken to at Harold Adkin, PT said he believed it was someone by the name of Ian Douglas. When asked if he would have spoken to a 'Darren' at Beaufort, PT said he thought so.⁶²⁰¹

IV.4204. David Stone ('DS'), Managing Director of Derwent Valley, was also interviewed in regard to this tender. He recalled the tender saying 'I remember us doing the work, because I know we did this job, a nightmare of a job'. DS, examining the entry for this tender in the tender schedule where it was written

*'Adkin (C)' and 'Beaufort (C)', said, 'That would indicate that we gave covers there'.*⁶²⁰²

Evidence from other companies – Harold Adkin

IV.4205. The OFT wrote to Harold Adkin on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Harold Adkin had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Harold Adkin responded to this with an admission that it had engaged in bid rigging for this tender. This admission was signed on 24 April 2007 by Ian Douglas ('ID'), Managing Director of Harold Adkin.⁶²⁰³ The response included a further document headed 'APPENDIX B' which included an entry stating that Harold Adkin engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with Derwent Valley.⁶²⁰⁴

IV.4206. In its response to the Statement in respect of this Infringement, Harold Adkin stated *'Harold Adkin took a cover price at a late stage when they realised it was unable to rice [sic] the job in the time available for a much valued client with the sole intention of not getting the work'.*⁶²⁰⁵

IV.4207. The OFT wrote to Beaufort on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Beaufort had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Beaufort, represented by Elliot Mather LLP, indicated via letter on 18 April 2007 that it was willing to make admissions to involvement in cover pricing in relation to a number of suspect contracts.⁶²⁰⁶ The response included a completed suspect tender schedule and in respect of this tender Darren Ailward ('DA'), Director of Beaufort, admitted to Beaufort having participated in bid rigging activities and stated *'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.*⁶²⁰⁷

IV.4208. The OFT subsequently wrote to Beaufort's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Beaufort Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Beaufort's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Beaufort Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Beaufort in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Beaufort Holdings' legal representatives, Elliott Mather LLP, said *'The company confirms that it shall not be making any comments on either its subsidiary, Beaufort Construction (S-IN-A) Limited's response to the reduced penalty offer, nor your proposed actions'.*⁶²⁰⁸

IV.4209. Following the issue of the Statement, neither Beaufort nor Beaufort Holdings submitted any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4210. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4211. Derwent Valley, Harold Adkin and Beaufort each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Derwent Valley completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Derwent Valley being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.4212. Harold Adkin and Beaufort were each unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.4213. In respect of Harold Adkin, Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to competitor Harold Adkin with the letter 'C' in brackets next to it. Derwent Valley confirmed that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received.

IV.4214. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover price to Harold Adkin.

IV.4215. This was corroborated in interview by DS, who agreed that the entry in the tender schedule showed that Derwent Valley gave a cover price in respect of this tender to Harold Adkin.

IV.4216. The OFT also notes that the tender document referred to in paragraph IV.4196 identifies an individual by the name of Ian Douglas at Harold Adkin who submitted its bid for this tender. PT, the estimator at Derwent Valley recalled the name Ian Douglas as someone at Harold Adkin with whom he would have spoken.

IV.4217. Harold Adkin has also admitted engaging in bid rigging activity in respect of this tender and identified the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging as Derwent Valley. This admission was signed by ID. The OFT notes that Harold Adkin named the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging as being Derwent Valley, without sight of the OFT's evidence that Derwent Valley was involved. This provides further independent corroboration of a cover price having been given by Derwent Valley to Harold Adkin in respect of this tender.

IV.4218. In respect of Beaufort, Derwent Valley's contemporaneous tender schedule, a document completed by hand by the estimator dealing with this tender, includes reference to competitor Beaufort with the letter 'C' in brackets next to it. Derwent Valley confirmed that a letter 'C' written in such a manner refers to a cover price being taken or received.

IV.4219. PT, the estimator for this tender, said that he recalled the tender and that his entry in the schedule meant that he gave a cover price to Beaufort.

- IV.4220. This was corroborated in interview by DS, who agreed that the entry in the tender schedule showed that Derwent Valley gave a cover price in respect of this tender to Beaufort.
- IV.4221. The OFT also notes that the tender document referred to in paragraph IV.4196 identifies an individual by the name of Darren Ailward at Beaufort who submitted its bid for this tender. PT, the estimator at Derwent Valley agreed that 'Darren' may have been the person at Beaufort to whom he would have spoken.
- IV.4222. Beaufort has admitted engaging in bid rigging activity in respect of this contract and although it could not recall the identity of the other party/parties this admission was signed by DA.
- IV.4223. Derwent Valley also included in its list of companies who exchange cover prices the names of Harold Adkin and Beaufort.
- IV.4224. In addition, the OFT notes that Ashfield District Council received a tendered amount of £67,785.00 from Derwent Valley, which is lower than the amounts tendered by Harold Adkin and Beaufort. This fits into the pattern consistent with cover prices having been given to Harold Adkin and Beaufort by Derwent Valley.
- IV.4225. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and Harold Adkin, and between Derwent Valley and Beaufort. The OFT also concludes that Derwent Valley supplied figures to each of Harold Adkin and Beaufort for cover bids.
- IV.4226. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4197 to IV.4225 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶²⁰⁹ In particular:
- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Derwent Valley to Harold Adkin and from Derwent Valley to Beaufort was not unilateral⁶²¹⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶²¹¹
 - (b) Harold Adkin and Beaufort can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Derwent Valley (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁶²¹² and
 - (c) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Harold Adkin and Beaufort (i.e. that neither Harold Adkin nor Beaufort intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶²¹³

Beaufort, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, each of which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the demolition and redevelopment, 57 and 59 Mayfield Street, Kirby-In-Ashfield tender dated 27 June 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4229. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the Derwent Valley tender schedule obtained during the visit under section 28 on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Derwent Valley will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 153: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 154: Re-roofing and External Repairs, 242 – 254 Banbury Road, Oxford – 8 July 2003

Client: UK Estates Ltd

Parties: Mansell and Apollo

IV.4230. On 16 June 2003, UK Estates Ltd sought tenders for re-roofing, external repairs and decorations to 242-254 Banbury Road, Oxford.⁶²¹⁴ The following four companies were invited to tender: Apollo, Letchworth Roofing Company Ltd, Makers UK Ltd and Mansell. The date and time of tender return was 8 July 2003 at noon.⁶²¹⁵

IV.4231. UK Estates Ltd received the following tender returns:⁶²¹⁶

Apollo	By 8 July 2003 12:00	£173,574.00	YES
Mansell	By 8 July 2003 12:00	£208,755.00

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – tender spreadsheet

IV.4232. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided Barry Russ’s (‘BR’), a Mansell managing estimator, workload reports. The 2003 workload report for special projects contained the following entry:⁶²¹⁷

EST NO.	LOCATION/DESCRIPTION	OUR BID
		BID	NET	LESS PROV.	%	MARGIN
02-00063	Oxford – ReRoofing & ext. Repairs – 242-254 Banbury Road		208755	188699

OTHER BIDS			RESULT		REMARKS
LOWEST	SECOND	HIGHEST	POSN.	POSS.%
					(Apllo Roofing) – priced schedules called !

IV.4233. In its response to the Statement, Apollo suggested that Apollo being recorded on the workload reports in the Remarks column could merely be a record that it was the company that won this contract.⁶²¹⁸ However, the words ‘Apllo Roofing’ are in brackets on this document and as discussed in Mansell’s general leniency section, BR stated in interview that he used brackets to indicate a cover was received from that company.⁶²¹⁹ Furthermore, in this particular case, while that part of the entry is in brackets, the other part of the entry, ‘- priced schedules called!’ is not, indicating that Apollo’s name was put in brackets specifically to differentiate it in the manner described by BR.

IV.4234. In addition Mansell’s legal representatives provided, after interview, a price schedule for this tender attached to which is a document containing figures headed ‘APOLLO’ and ‘MANSELL’. At the bottom of the Apollo column is a figure ‘approx Apollo £175,534.00’ and at the bottom of the Mansell column is a figure ‘208,755.00’ which is the tender figure submitted by Mansell.⁶²²⁰

IV.4235. Under the heading ‘APOLLO’ is a breakdown of figures, which appears to be Apollo price schedule figures. Under the heading ‘MANSELL’ it appears the Apollo figures have been adjusted in order to arrive at the cover price figure provided to Mansell. At the bottom of the Mansell column is a box titled ‘balance to find’. This suggests that Mansell, having the cover price figure to work to, inputted this figure and then entered the breakdown figures, adjusting them until the balance to find equalled zero.

Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.4236. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁶²²¹ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4237. Mansell's legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table showing information relating to tendering activities in which a calculated competitive bid was not submitted, for the Thames Valley Region ('TVR'), which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell received a cover price from Apollo and that this cover price was taken due to 'insufficient tender period: resource' at Mansell.⁶²²²

IV.4238. In its response to the Statement, Apollo listed a number of issues with Mansell's TVR table, principally that it could not be considered a separate document because it was only restating the contents of BR's workload reports⁶²²³, and that Mansell itself had admitted that it could not be excluded that some of the tenders identified in the leniency application might not have involved cover pricing.⁶²²⁴

IV.4239. Whilst the OFT is not according the same evidential weight to Mansell's table provided under leniency as it is to contemporaneous documents and witness testimony, the OFT does consider this document to be robust where the underpinning contemporaneous documents and witness testimony indicate that a cover price was taken, and Mansell's internal investigations have yielded an assessment that confirms that indication. Although some tenders included in this table may not be supported by sufficient evidence, none of these were included in the Statement. The OFT considers that the evidence for the present Infringement does meet the strong and compelling standard as it consists of two contemporaneous documents supported by witness testimony.

IV.4240. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, BR provided further general explanation of Mansell's participation in cover pricing in the TVR. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.481 to IV.489 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4241. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, BR advised how he would record when Mansell had taken a cover as detailed in paragraphs IV.482 to IV.485 above. In relation to this tender BR stated 'Apollo Roofing, we would have gone to them, they are in brackets here, and got a figure from them. We've also got a note there that we had a price schedule called for'.⁶²²⁵ BR explained that this probably meant Mansell were one of the lowest three tenders received and therefore had been requested by the client to provide a price schedule. When asked what would have happened next BR stated *'in this particular case it's possible that we went back to Apollo and said, "look, we've got a situation here, and can you give us anything which we could submit?"'*⁶²²⁶ In its response to the Statement, Mansell clarified that BR's admission was

IV.4242. In its response to the Statement, Apollo pointed out that BR has no specific recollection of contact with Apollo for this contract, and in particular has no recollection of any individual at Apollo with whom he had contact⁶²²⁸, and that neither of the Apollo estimators working on this tender had any knowledge of BR.⁶²²⁹

IV.4243. The OFT accepts that BR's evidence does not constitute independent recollection of the events surrounding this tender. However, it does not consider that that undermines his evidence. Given the number of tenders BR dealt with, as indicated on his personal workload reports, the OFT accepts that it is unlikely that he would remember any single tender in detail, particularly one that had been pre-determined not to be of high priority and therefore on which the least possible amount of effort had been expended. This does not preclude him being able to provide an explanation of the contemporaneous documentation. The weight placed by the OFT on BR's evidence is commensurate with its explanatory nature.

IV.4244. In its response to the Statement, Apollo also suggested that it could not have given a cover to Mansell because neither BR of Mansell, nor any of the relevant estimators at Apollo, knew any employees of the other party involved in this tender. Apollo quoted Kenneth Lockwood ('KL') of Mansell as stating that Mansell's estimators knew the opposition and an estimator would know his opposite numbers by name.⁶²³⁰

IV.4245. The OFT notes that although KL stated that Mansell's estimators knew the opposition by name, it was BR's evidence (who works at a different office to KL) that he did not know estimators in other companies by name.⁶²³¹ Though it may generally have been the case that Mansell's estimators knew their opposite numbers, in this particular instance the estimator has confirmed that he did not, and there is no inconsistency therefore between his evidence and Apollo's in this regard. The OFT also notes that the workload reports that provide the contemporaneous documentary evidence for this Infringement were BR's, not KL's, and therefore in relation to this Infringement it is BR's views that should be given greater weight.

Evidence from other companies – Apollo

IV.4246. The OFT wrote to Apollo on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Apollo had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Apollo stated that it was unable to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer as it 'had not found any indication that [it] has been involved in any anti-competitive conduct in relation to the tenders identified'.⁶²³²

⁶²³¹ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 11516, page 13.

IV.4247. The OFT subsequently wrote to Apollo's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Apollo Group, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on Apollo's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Apollo Group jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Apollo in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. The OFT received a phone call in response to this letter on 6 December 2007, which confirmed that Apollo Group 'had no comments to make regarding its subsidiary's reply...'.⁶²³³

IV.4248. In its response to the Statement, Apollo made general representations as to how, as a business, it has ensured that it generally only receives appropriate invitations to tender, how it returns unsuitable tenders, and as to its prequalification success rate in invitations to tender.⁶²³⁴ The OFT notes that the present Infringement relates to the provision of a cover price, not the acceptance of one. Though the OFT has found, in paragraph IV.73 above, that a common motive for providing cover prices was reciprocity, it notes that the undertaking concerned may have other motives, such as facilitating the reduction in competitive bids for a tender which it wishes to win. Moreover, and as set out in Section III (Legal Background), the subjective motives of a party are irrelevant where an anti-competitive object is established.

IV.4249. In its response to the Statement, Apollo included a copy of its price schedule for this tender.⁶²³⁵ A consideration of the figures in this document, compared with those recorded under Apollo's name on the contemporaneous document provided by Mansell, discussed in paragraphs IV.4233 to IV.4235 above, shows that the two sets of figures are broadly comparable. Many of the figures are an exact match and the majority of the remaining figures have generally been rounded up in the document provided by Mansell, from those contained in Apollo's price schedule. Additionally, the total figure for Apollo on Mansell's document is slightly higher than that recorded on Apollo's actual pricing schedule. The OFT considers this constitutes further evidence that Mansell was provided with Apollo's price breakdown for this tender. The differences between these two documents are consistent with the general practice for a party not to disclose its actual bid price when providing a cover price, but to round it up.

IV.4250. In its response to the Statement, Apollo argued that it did not provide its price schedule for this tender to Mansell, citing the absence of any documentary record of the transfer of the price schedule⁶²³⁶, and suggesting that Mansell could have either produced a price schedule on its own⁶²³⁷ or received Apollo's price schedule from another source, such as the contracting authority or via suppliers or subcontractors.⁶²³⁸ The OFT does not consider these alternative suggestions to be credible.

IV.4251. The OFT does not consider the absence of any documentary record of the transfer to be at all indicative of whether there was a transfer or not. As the OFT has noted in particular in paragraphs IV.122 to IV.127, it was not uncommon for companies not to retain documentary records, particularly when they did not succeed in obtaining a contract. That there are now no records is not, in the OFT's view, evidence that they never existed.

IV.4252. The OFT considers it unlikely that Mansell would have composed its own price schedule. There is no evidence that Mansell conducted any such work (and particularly to compose a schedule that was so similar to Apollo's), and one might expect BR to have some recollection of the tender had he been required to do this. The OFT accepts that BR did indicate in his interview that *'we may well have priced something quickly ourselves because that's another possible scenario'*⁶²³⁹, but notes that he went on to say, in respect of this tender, that 'I would have thought, ... if we had been pressed, we would have gone back to Apollo and said can you help us out with a schedule'. The OFT therefore does not consider this a credible alternative explanation of the document in question.

IV.4253. Neither does the OFT consider it plausible that a sub-contractor or supplier might request the full details of a bidder's quotation, or that a contracting authority would disclose another competitor's price schedule prior to receiving price schedules from all parties. The OFT can see no reason why either sub-contractors, suppliers or contracting authorities, would have any incentive to do this. Apollo provided, by way of example, a copy of an email from a contracting authority to Apollo, to which the price schedules of both Apollo and its competitor were attached.⁶²⁴⁰ However, the OFT notes that in that example both parties' price schedules had already been submitted to the contracting authority before the authority forwarded them to the tenderer. This is not therefore an example of a client providing details to a competitor prior to that competitor providing its own price schedule. Further, the inclusion of both Parties' price schedules was clearly an inadvertent error rather than an authority assisting in the passing on of competitors' sensitive pricing information.

IV.4254. In its response to the Statement, Apollo provided a witness statement from Steve Dean ('SD')⁶²⁴¹, who stated in respect of this tender 'I was the estimator responsible for preparing Apollo's costs estimate...' and 'I was not approached for a cover price by any company in relation to this tender'. SD also stated 'I have never sought a cover price from a competitor, nor have I given a cover price to a competitor, on Apollo's behalf'. Similarly, Ian Timms ('IT'), Apollo's Estimating Director stated in his witness statement that he had not been approached for a cover price in relation to this tender.

IV.4255. The OFT notes the direct contradiction between this witness evidence on the one hand, and on the other hand the contemporaneous evidence and overall explanation provided by BR in respect of the workload report together with his specific explanation of the entry relating to this tender. On balance, the OFT considers the latter to be more compelling. BR's evidence is consistent with the markings on the contemporaneous workload report. Further, in relation to other Infringements described in this Decision⁶²⁴², similar markings on BR's workload reports indicating that cover prices have been obtained, have been confirmed to be correct by evidence or admissions from other Parties. The OFT further notes the possibility that the cover price may have been provided by someone at Apollo other than the estimator for the tender in question, SD, and without the knowledge of the estimating director, IT. In light of these factors, the OFT considers that the contemporaneous evidence and explanation of BR should be preferred to that of SD and IT.

IV.4256. In its response to the Statement, Apollo noted that the Statement indicated that cover prices were generally four to five per cent higher than the price submitted by the person providing the cover price and that in this tender Mansell's bid was approximately 10 per cent higher.⁶²⁴³ The OFT is unable to comment on the cover price calculation methodology of a non-leniency party, such as Apollo. In any event, although it was often the practice for companies to provide a cover price and for the recipient to add on four to five per cent, there were in fact many instances where the figure submitted on the basis of a cover price was 10 per cent or more above the figure submitted by the provider of the cover price.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4257. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4258. Mansell and Apollo each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4259. Both companies submitted a tender. Mansell was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. It appears that Apollo completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Apollo being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.4260. Mansell's 2003 workload report records '(Apollo Roofing) – priced schedules called !', in the Remarks column. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it took a cover price from the company noted. In addition, Mansell has confirmed that the lack of figures in the margin and percentage columns would also indicate a cover price had been taken.

IV.4261. It appears that Mansell created a price schedule for this job after it was called for by the client. The OFT notes that Mansell's price schedule shows a breakdown of figures for Apollo. In conjunction with the witness evidence provided, the OFT considers that the only plausible explanation for Mansell having full details of Apollo's calculations is that Apollo supplied Mansell with details of its price schedule in order that Mansell could provide the client with the requested information.

IV.4262. In its response to the Statement, Apollo provided a copy of its price schedule for this tender. The OFT notes that this schedule is broadly comparable to that provided by Mansell and considers that it provides further evidence that Mansell was given Apollo's price breakdown for this tender by Apollo.

⁶²⁴³ Written representations of Apollo, 27 June 2008, paragraphs 7.12 and 8.17(ii).

IV.4263. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Mansell was higher than the tender submitted by Apollo, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.4265. In its response to the Statement Apollo suggested that the OFT was 'attempt[ing] to rely on the competitive pricing of the Apollo bid as evidence against Apollo'.⁶²⁴⁴ The OFT notes that this analysis is not relied upon as evidence, and merely sets out that the pattern of the tender bids was consistent with a cover price having been provided by Apollo to Mansell.

IV.4266. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and Apollo. The OFT also concludes that Apollo supplied a figure to Mansell for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Apollo to Mansell was not unilateral⁶²⁴⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶²⁴⁷
- (b) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Apollo (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process,⁶²⁴⁸ and
- (c) Apollo can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell (i.e. that Mansell did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶²⁴⁹

IV.4268. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Mansell and Apollo in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for re-roofing, external repairs 242-254 Banbury Road, Oxford, tender deadline 8 July 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4270. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 155: Mount Pleasant, Greenford, External Remedial Work (Phase 2)
 – 11 July 2003
Client: London Borough of Ealing
Parties: Mansell and R Durtnell

IV.4271. On 4 June 2003, London Borough of Ealing sought tenders for housing work at Mount Pleasant, Greenford, external remedial work (Phase 2).⁶²⁵⁰ The following seven companies were invited to tender: Apollo, Chas Berger, Dray Building, Ian Williams, J. P. Kennedy, Mansell and R Durtnell, the date of tender return was 11 July 2003.⁶²⁵¹

IV.4272. London Borough of Ealing received the following tender returns:⁶²⁵²

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Chas Berger	Information not provided	£1,390,067.00
Apollo	Information not provided	£1,136,622.00
Dray Building	Information not provided	£1,257,080.00
J. P. Kennedy	Information not provided	£1,055,816.00	YES
R Durtnell	Information not provided	£1,681,426.00
Mansell	Information not provided	£1,547,111.00
Ian Williams	Information not provided	£1,258,795.40

IV.4273. London Borough of Ealing has advised that the work subject of the tender was not carried out but that it decided 'to substantially increase the scope of works'.⁶²⁵³ The work was re-tendered and the tender was awarded to Dray Building, Mansell declined to tender for the re-tender.⁶²⁵⁴

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – tender summary

IV.4274. As part of its leniency application, Mansell's legal representatives provided a tender summary sheet for this tender, which shows the tender figure Mansell submitted for this tender '1,547,111' and at the bottom is handwritten '© Durtnell £1,675,000'.⁶²⁵⁵

Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.4275. As part of its leniency application, Mansell's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁶²⁵⁶ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4276. Mansell's legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table showing information relating to tendering activities in which a calculated competitive bid was not submitted, for the Thames Valley Region ('TVR'), which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell gave a cover price to R Durnell.⁶²⁵⁷

IV.4277. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, a Mansell employee from the TVR provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.481 to IV.489 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4278. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, Barry Russ ('BR'), a Mansell managing estimator, advised what would happen when a competitor asked for a cover price from Mansell as detailed in paragraphs IV.486 to IV.488 above. In relation to this tender BR stated 'a note at the bottom there that we actually gave out a cover on that instance, to Durnell, and that would have been the figure'. BR explained that Mansell would have provided that figure or above to R Durnell.⁶²⁵⁸ In its response to the Statement, Mansell clarified that BR's admission was based on the contemporaneous evidence rather than on independent recollection of taking the cover price.⁶²⁵⁹

Evidence from other companies – R Durnell

IV.4279. The OFT wrote to R Durnell on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that R Durnell had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter R Durnell admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁶²⁶⁰ R Durnell also stated that they had 'categorised [this tender] as "covers taken" as we do not have such records [pricing notes]; indicating that the schemes were not priced'.⁶²⁶¹

IV.4280. The OFT subsequently wrote to R Durnell's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Durnell Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on R Durnell's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Durnell Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by R Durnell in respect of which the OFT ultimately

IV.4281. In its response to the Statement, R Durtnell and Durtnell Holdings stated 'Durtnell has accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer and does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement ...'.⁶²⁶³

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4283. Mansell and R Durtnell each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4284. Both companies submitted a tender. R Durtnell was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. It appears that Mansell completed the estimating process for this tender and that they submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.4285. Mansell's tender summary for this tender shows '© Durtnell £1,675,000'. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it gave a cover price to the company noted of the amount shown or higher. The OFT notes that R Durtnell's bid was close to, and higher than, this figure.

IV.4286. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by R Durtnell was higher than the tender submitted by Mansell, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.4287. In addition, R Durtnell has admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.4288. The OFT notes that R Durtnell's tender figure was the only one above that of Mansell, and that Mansell could not therefore have provided cover to anyone other than R Durtnell, for this tender.

IV.4289. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and R Durtnell. The OFT also concludes that Mansell supplied a figure to R Durtnell for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Mansell to R Durtnell was not unilateral⁶²⁶⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶²⁶⁶

⁶²⁶² Response from Durtnell Holdings, OFT Document Reference 14020.

⁶²⁶⁴ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁶²⁶⁵ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁶²⁶⁶ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) R Durtnell can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Mansell (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶²⁶⁷ and
- (c) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from R Durtnell (i.e. that R Durtnell did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶²⁶⁸

IV.4291. In its response to the Statement, Balfour Beatty / Mansell stated 'The OFT has adduced no evidence that the giving of a cover was taken into account by Balfour Beatty and Mansell when pricing its tenders nor is there any evidence that the giving of a cover had any effect on these parties' pricing of the tender'.⁶²⁶⁹ The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁶²⁷⁰ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Mansell / Balfour Beatty has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept Balfour Beatty / Mansell's assertion that the cover pricing did not affect its actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition. To the extent that Balfour Beatty Group submits that this Infringement should not be treated as serious because no effects have been shown, this point is addressed in step 1 of Section VI (Enforcement) below.

IV.4292. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Mansell and R Durtnell in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for Mount Pleasant Greenford, external remedial work (Phase 2), tender deadline 11 July 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4294. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 156: Redhill Comprehensive – New Sixth Form Block – 15 July 2003
Client: Nottinghamshire County Council
Parties: Sol and G G Middleton

IV.4295. On 16 June 2003, Nottinghamshire County Council ('NCC') sought tenders for the construction of a new, single-storey sixth form block, with links to and alteration of the existing school building at Redhill Comprehensive School. The following six companies were invited to tender: G F Tomlinson, G G Middleton, Linford, Sol, Wrights (Lincoln) and North Midland. The closing date for return of tenders was 15 July 2003 by 10:00 am.⁶²⁷¹

Evidence from leniency applicant Sol

IV.4299. As part of its leniency application, Sol provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.593 to IV.616 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4300. In particular, Sol provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000. In respect of the tender for Redhill Comprehensive School's new sixth form building, dated 15 July 2003, Sol confirmed that it received a cover price from G G Middleton because 'Project too small but Client one we did not wish to refuse work from'.⁶²⁷⁵

IV.4301. In its response to the Statement, Sol acknowledged that it had *'... admitted engaging in the practice of cover pricing in the 7 tenders listed in the Statement of Objections.'*⁶²⁷⁶

IV.4302. Also in its response to the Statement, Sol asserted that *'G G Middleton, who provided Sol with the cover price, obtained no advantage from this process as it was still involved in a competitive situation with 4 other contractors.'*⁶²⁷⁷ Whilst not accepting that GG Middleton obtained no advantage in circumstances where it knew it had fewer legitimate tenderers to compete with in the tender process, the OFT notes in any event that it is not necessary for a finding of infringement that any party received a competitive advantage, as the restriction, prevention or distortion of competition which is the object of the arrangement may arise in other ways, see the Legal Background section.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Sol

IV.4303. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Sol's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover

pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.593 to IV.616 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4304. When interviewed about this tender, John Cummings ('JC'), Chief Estimator at Sol, identified the writing in the Tender Register⁶²⁷⁸ as his, with the exception of the names relating to G G Middleton and G F Tomlinson in the 'Competition' column, which he identified as that of a clerical assistant.⁶²⁷⁹ When asked about the 'Tender Sum' he said, 'That's the, the cover I'd have got from... Middleton's. 527,648'.⁶²⁸⁰ This figure is the same as that in the tender reply received by NCC from Sol. When asked to explain the entry 'C' in the 'Estimator' box he said, 'Cover' [taken]. He further explained the entries in the 'Competition' column as the names of competing companies for the tender.⁶²⁸¹ JC further identified as his writing the entry 'John Stott' and the telephone number '[...] [C]' above the entry 'G G Middleton & Sons Ltd., Worksop'. He said he had chosen G G Middleton as the company from whom to obtain a cover price because he suspected that he knew it would be competitive.⁶²⁸²

IV.4305. When asked about the entry in the EBR dated 11 August 2003 for this tender, JC confirmed that the entry 'C' in the 'Estimator' column denoted a cover price. He also confirmed that the 'C's in the 'Estimator' columns of the contemporaneous documents showed that no estimator was allocated to this job because it was considered too small and Sol decided early on to obtain a cover price.⁶²⁸³

Evidence from other companies – G G Middleton

IV.4306. The OFT wrote to G G Middleton on 22 March 2007, offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender in return for an admission that G G Middleton had participated in bid rigging on this tender. G G Middleton replied to the OFT on 17 April 2007. Stephen Stott, Managing Director, stated that the company did engage in bid rigging activities on this particular tender but was unable to recall details of the other party or parties involved.⁶²⁸⁴

IV.4307. In its response to the Statement, G G Middleton confirmed its position stating '...[w]e admit that we undertook cover pricing on some projects during the period of time indicated...'.⁶²⁸⁵

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4309. Sol and G G Middleton each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. It appears that G G Middleton completed the estimating process for its tender and that it wanted to win the contract. This is shown by the price submitted by G G Middleton being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

- IV.4310. Sol was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.
- IV.4311. The Tender Register entry for this tender shows that Sol submitted the tender figure sum of £527,648 to NCC and entered 'C' in the 'Estimator' column of the same document. This indicates that Sol did not appoint an estimator for this tender but instead sought a cover price. The telephone number and the name 'John Stott' next to G G Middleton's name in the 'Competition' column of the document indicate that G G Middleton supplied this cover price.
- IV.4312. In connection with its application for leniency, Sol provided the OFT with a list of undertakings with whom it had exchanged cover prices. Among these was the name of Stephen Stott at G G Middleton. Stephen Stott signed G G Middleton's response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007. It should be noted that in interview JC admitted to some confusion over the name as he had entered John Stott in his Tender Register for this tender and he was unable to remember whether it was Stephen or John Stott.⁶²⁸⁶
- IV.4313. Further, the telephone number, '[.....] [C]', written next to the name 'John Stott' in Sol's Tender Register, and identified by JC as being in his handwriting, is the same number as appears next to 'Middleton' in the 'Competitors Book' found at the premises of Loach during visits made by the OFT under section 28 to their premises on 28 June 2005.⁶²⁸⁷
- IV.4314. JC, in interview, confirmed that he obtained a cover price from Mr Stott at G G Middleton as indicated by the name and telephone number next to G G Middleton's name and furthermore by the 'C' in the 'Estimator' column of the Tender Register. He said that he chose G G Middleton as the company from whom to obtain a cover price, because he suspected that it would be competitive for this tender.⁶²⁸⁸
- IV.4315. Sol's EBR for this tender shows that the figure £527,648 in the 'Tender Sum' column was the same as recorded in the 'Tender Register'. There is no entry in the 'Margin' column, and a 'C' is entered in the 'Estimator' column of the EBR. These indicate that JC reported the figure of £527,648 to the Board of Sol as its tender submission price for this tender and that this figure was a cover price. It was unnecessary, therefore, to appoint an estimator to produce any preliminary figures.
- IV.4316. JC in interview explained that the figure of £527,648 on the EBR was the cover price he obtained from G G Middleton and that as this was a cover price no estimator would have been appointed, resulting in no other figures being produced to calculate an entry for the 'Margin' column [profits and overheads].⁶²⁸⁹
- IV.4317. Sol confirmed as part of its leniency application that it obtained a cover price from G G Middleton in respect of this tender because the project was too small but it did not wish to upset the client.

⁶²⁸⁹ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 11368, pages 13 to 15.

IV.4318. G G Middleton admitted in its reply to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007 that it had engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but was unable to recall with whom or any other details. Both companies involved in this infringement have therefore admitted to bid rigging.

IV.4319. The tender figure of £527,648 submitted by Sol was higher than the tender submitted by G G Middleton, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.4320. Further, the sum of £527,648 submitted by Sol to NCC for this tender is second lowest only to that of G G Middleton, showing that Sol could not have obtained a cover price from any other of the bidders.

IV.4321. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Sol and G G Middleton. The OFT also concludes that G G Middleton supplied a figure to Sol for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from G G Middleton to Sol was not unilateral⁶²⁹¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶²⁹²
- (b) Sol can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from G G Middleton (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶²⁹³ and
- (c) G G Middleton can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Sol (i.e. that Sol did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶²⁹⁴

Immunity and leniency assessment

⁶²⁹⁰ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁶²⁹¹ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁶²⁹² See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁶²⁹³ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁶²⁹⁴ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.4325. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Sol's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit by the OFT under section 27 to Sol's premises on 18 January 2006. Sol will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Sol will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant – Irwins

IV.4329. As part of its leniency application, Irwins' legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁶²⁹⁹ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4330. In addition to its leniency application, Irwins provided to the OFT two schedules, one each for 'Covers Taken' and 'Covers Given', which detail projects/contracts identified by the company during the course of an internal investigation conducted by Ivan Peter Nelson ('IPN'), Estimating Director into potential cover prices.⁶³⁰⁰ At number 90 of the 'Covers Taken' schedule is the following entry:⁶³⁰¹

IV.4331. Irwins also provided to the OFT a schedule listing their competitors' contact details. The name of Lotus appears on the list and 'Malcolm White' is named as the contact person.⁶³⁰²

IV.4332. Following the issue of the Statement, Irwins did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Irwins

IV.4333. During an interview with the OFT on 8 March 2007, conducted in connection with Irwins' leniency application, IPN provided further general explanation of Irwins' participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4334. Also during this interview, IPN was shown the 'Tender Register'⁶³⁰³ and in particular the reference to the entry for alterations and refurbishment at Allerton Bywater Miners Welfare Centre and was asked if he could recall anything about that contract. IPN replied 'No more than what it says on there, Lotus, looks like people we dealt with on that one'.⁶³⁰⁴ IPN confirmed that the presence of a 'C' in the fourth column on the tender register shows that Irwins took a cover in relation to that contract.⁶³⁰⁵ IPN further confirmed that although other competitors were listed in the final column of the tender register he could tell who he received the cover price from by the asterisk being inserted next to Lotus, 'I'd think the little asterix really'.⁶³⁰⁶

IV.4335. The OFT wrote to Lotus on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Lotus had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Lotus admitted that 'we engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other parties involved'.⁶³⁰⁷ However, Lotus also stated that 'Despite careful internal investigation into the issue, in relation to the five tenders listed in the annex to your letter, Lotus is unable to conclude whether it did in fact participate in bid rigging activities. The present owner of Lotus is Lotus Construction (Yorkshire) Limited and it acquired Lotus in September 2006. The tenders listed in the annex to your letter all predate this acquisition and the present owners of Lotus have no knowledge of bid rigging in any form having occurred involving Lotus'.⁶³⁰⁸

IV.4336. Lotus confirmed in their response to the Statement that '...Lotus is compelled... to accept its participation in the Alleged Infringements...'.⁶³⁰⁹

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4337. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

⁶³⁰⁸ Response from Lotus, OFT Document Reference 10527.

⁶³⁰⁹ Written representations of Lotus, 26 June 2008, paragraph 7.3.

IV.4338. Irwins and Lotus each accepted an invitation to tender for the refurbishment to Allerton Bywater Miners Welfare Centre. Irwins was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.4339. Lotus appears to have completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. English Partnerships stated 'Lotus Construction Ltd pricing levels were again generally consistent and very competitive...'.⁶³¹⁰

IV.4340. Irwins' Tender Register records '*Marshalls Lemelleg Tolent Lotus', typed in the final column. IPN confirmed that the '' handwritten next to Lotus shows that the cover price was received from Lotus. Also a 'C' is typed in the type of work/ percentage difference column. IPN confirmed that the C typed in this column shows that Irwins sought a cover price in relation to this contract. Both companies have accepted that they participated in this Infringement. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Irwins and IPN's admission and explanation of that contemporaneous evidence and the admission by Lotus, that Lotus supplied Irwins with a cover price for this tender.

IV.4341. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Irwins was higher than the tender submitted by Lotus, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.4342. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Irwins and Lotus. The OFT also concludes that Lotus supplied a figure to Irwins for a cover bid.

IV.4343. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4328 to IV.4342 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶³¹¹ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Lotus to Irwins was not unilateral⁶³¹², and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶³¹³
- (b) Irwins can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Lotus (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶³¹⁴ and
- (c) Lotus can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Irwins (i.e. that Irwins did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶³¹⁵

IV.4344. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Irwins and Lotus, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the refurbishment to Allerton Bywater, Miners' Welfare Centre, tender deadline 21 July 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4346. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 21 March 2006. Irwins will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Irwins in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 158: North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion, Queen’s Park, Chesterfield – 25 and 30 July 2003
Client: Chesterfield Borough Council
Parties: Wildgoose, Greenwood and Herbert Baggaley

IV.4347. On 4 November 2002, Chesterfield Borough Council (‘Chesterfield BC’) sought tenders for the role of managing agent in relation to the re-development of Queen’s Park, a public park on the edge of Chesterfield town centre. This was a large project consisting of a number of specialised and general works contracts, including refurbishments and extensions to North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion. The task of the managing agent was to procure and oversee the execution of these works. Wildgoose was one of the companies invited to tender and was successful in its bid. As a consequence, Wildgoose was appointed as Chesterfield BC’s managing agent for Queen’s Park, pursuant to a management contract.⁶³¹⁶

IV.4348. The management contract was overseen by Wildgoose’s Commercial Manager Simon Meredith (‘SM’) and director Mike Storey. As managing agent, Wildgoose was responsible for procuring several competitive tenders for various works packages although the appraisal of these tenders was undertaken by Chesterfield BC’s appointed quantity surveyors, Sir William Baird and Partners (‘William Baird’). Wildgoose expressed an interest in carrying out the general works packages and was permitted to tender by Chesterfield BC. On 1 July 2003, SM of Wildgoose sent invitations to tender for North Lodge, Queen’s Park, Chesterfield (works contract reference WC70). Three companies were initially invited to tender: Herbert Baggaley, Allenbuild and Wildgoose. The letter of invitation for Wildgoose to tender was addressed by SM at Wildgoose for ‘the attention of Mr B. Bennett’⁶³¹⁷ at Wildgoose. Letters of invitation to tender were also sent and addressed for ‘the attention of Mr R. Hayes’⁶³¹⁸ at Allenbuild and for ‘the attention of Mr A. Newhall’⁶³¹⁹ at Herbert Baggaley. Completed tenders were to be returned to William Baird by a deadline of noon on 25 July 2003.

IV.4349. The following day, on 2 July 2003, SM and Mark Winstanley of Wildgoose attended a Queen’s Park project team meeting. The minutes from this meeting show that additional companies were required to tender for the North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion packages.⁶³²⁰ The next day, on 3 July 2003, SM sent invitations to tender for the Cricket Pavilion, Queen’s Park, Chesterfield (works contract reference WC80). Again, only three companies, namely Herbert Baggaley, Allenbuild and Wildgoose were initially invited to tender and letters of invitation were sent by SM for the attention of the same names as for the North Lodge tender above.⁶³²¹ Completed tenders for the Cricket Pavilion contract were to be returned to William Baird by a deadline of 30 July 2003. On 4 July 2003⁶³²², a further invitation to tender was sent by Wildgoose to Greenwood for both of the North Lodge⁶³²³ and Cricket Pavilion⁶³²⁴ contracts.

IV.4350. Quantity surveyors William Baird, on behalf of Chesterfield BC, received the following tender returns for North Lodge:⁶³²⁵

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Allenbuild	25 July 2003	£389,575.00
Greenwood	25 July 2003	£382,160.00
Herbert Baggaley	25 July 2003	£383,651.45
Wildgoose	25 July 2003	£378,315.00	Yes

IV.4351. William Baird also received the following tender returns for the Cricket Pavilion.⁶³²⁶

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Allenbuild	30 July 2003	£347,430.00
Greenwood	30 July 2003	£341,682.00
Herbert Baggaley	30 July 2003	£348,760.20
Wildgoose	30 July 2003	£336,310.00	Yes

IV.4352. Following receipt of the tender returns for both works packages, William Baird requested further information, in the form of priced ‘Bills of Quantities’ from the two lowest bidders, namely Wildgoose and Greenwood. These were provided to and checked by William Baird.⁶³²⁷

Evidence from leniency applicant – Wildgoose

IV.4366. As part of its leniency application, Wildgoose's legal representatives provided a report as to the circumstances surrounding the Queen's Park management contract.⁶³⁴⁴ In its report, Wildgoose stated that 'Simon Meredith approached several local builders recommended by CBC [Chesterfield BC], to ask them informally whether they would be interested in submitting tenders for the General Works Contracts. Mr Meredith recalls that none of these companies expressed any interest in tendering for the works'.⁶³⁴⁵ The report continued as follows: 'Simon Meredith recalls that he spoke briefly with Graham Barber [Wildgoose's managing director at that time] about the lack of interest in the General Works Contracts and how Wildgoose could procure the work itself. Mr Meredith recalls that he was advised by Mr Barber to speak with Bryan Bennett [Wildgoose's Chief Estimator] to obtain the names of four local contractors who may be willing to submit tenders using cover bids (to be provided by Wildgoose)'.⁶³⁴⁶ Wildgoose confirmed that Bryan Bennett ('BB'), Estimating Director of Wildgoose, then provided the names of estimators from three building contractors, namely 'K Stone' of Stone Construction Ltd, 'Roger Hays' of Allenbuild and 'Anton Newell' of Herbert Baggaley, which SM wrote on the back of a tender finance statement for another Queen's Park contract (see paragraph IV.4358 above).⁶³⁴⁷

IV.4367. In respect of the North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion contracts, Wildgoose explained that SM made telephone calls to Herbert Baggaley and Allenbuild⁶³⁴⁸ to establish whether they were interested in tendering for these contracts. Wildgoose confirmed that there was no interest from Herbert Baggaley, Allenbuild or Greenwood (a contractor recommended by Chesterfield BC and also contacted by SM) in tendering for these two contracts. Each company was therefore asked to submit cover bids for these contracts by Wildgoose.⁶³⁴⁹

IV.4368. Wildgoose stated 'In the course of discussions with Greenwood about this tender [North Lodge], Mr Meredith recalls that Ken Taylor, who was also a director of Greenwood⁶³⁵⁰, requested a sum of money to cover their "costs" of submitting the tender...Mr Meredith recalls that there was a need for one of the contractors providing a cover bid to complete a priced bill in case CBC requested this from the two lowest bidders. It is understood that Ian Redhead [employed by Wildgoose as a freelance estimator for the Queen's Park tenders] provided Greenwood with the relevant figures for the priced bill and Greenwood had to enter this onto their own documentation... On page 7 of Wildgoose's tender finance statement for the North Lodge, reference is made to an "agreed fee" of £500'.⁶³⁵¹ The Tender Finance Statement for the Cricket Pavilion has an amount of £500 allocated to Greenwood.⁶³⁵²

IV.4369. Wildgoose continued in its report as follows: 'Mr Meredith recalls that he referred this request [from Ken Taylor] to Graham Barber who subsequently indicated that he had spoken with Mr Taylor and authorised Mr Meredith to make such payments. It is Mr Barber's recollection that this payment was to be of £1000 for consultancy services relating to painting works required by Wildgoose during the course of the Management Contract, rather than payments towards tendering costs...'.⁶³⁵³ Footnote 3 of the report states, 'In the end, the payment to Mr Taylor was split into two separate payments of £500 applied to the project costs of the North Lodge and the Cricket Pavilion work packages'.⁶³⁵⁴ Wildgoose's tenders for these two tenders were successful and it was later awarded the contracts 'as all other tenderers had submitted cover bids'.⁶³⁵⁵

IV.4370. In its report, Wildgoose explained that an invoice for £1000 was received from Ken Taylor ('KT') and after reference by SM to Graham Barber ('GB') and Alan Clarke ('AC'), Wildgoose's Finance Director, an amount of £1000 was ⁶³⁴⁸ Stone Construction was not contacted by SM in respect of the North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion contracts since it had not been invited to tender for these contracts.

⁶³⁴⁹ Leniency application, OFT Document Reference 12860, page 5. In its report, Wildgoose implied that for each General Works contract, separate telephone calls were made by SM to Herbert Baggaley and Allenbuild to establish whether they were interested in tendering for the work. When interviewed by the OFT, SM explained that one telephone call was sufficient to establish that these contractors had no interest in any of the works packages and would be willing to submit a cover price, provided by Wildgoose.

⁶³⁵⁰ In interview, Greenwood's former estimator Chris Stendall stated that Ken Taylor was also the former owner of Greenwood's painting and decorating arm, Taylor Brothers. Mr Stendall understood that by the time of this tender he was no longer director of Greenwood and Taylor Brothers but employed on a consultancy basis by the new owners of Greenwood.

subsequently paid to KT who collected the cheque in person at Wildgoose's offices.⁶³⁵⁶

IV.4371. In its response to the Statement, Wildgoose submitted that it did not enter the tender process with the intention of arranging cover bids in order to win the work itself, but rather that it felt obliged to request that Greenwood and Herbert Baggaley submit cover prices due to the reluctance of contractors to tender for the project. Wildgoose stated that it wished to attract the requisite number of tenders to satisfy the client, rather than delay the tender process by identifying alternative contractors when they would also be likely to refuse to tender.⁶³⁵⁷

Evidence from leniency applicant – Herbert Baggaley

IV.4372. A report prepared by Herbert Baggaley's legal representatives to the OFT, stated the following: 'We understand from personal recollection with regard to the job tendered for Chesterfield's Queen Park for Chesterfield Borough Council (TP 03/086 or 087) that HBC [Herbert Baggaley] took a cover from Wildgoose. No benefit was received by HBC in respect of taking this cover but the Estimating Department believes that a further party, Greenwoods, had agreed to take a cover on the same job from Wildgoose on the basis that Greenwoods painting sub-Contractor, Taylor, was given work'.⁶³⁵⁸

IV.4373. Herbert Baggaley provided an interim leniency report dated 21 July 2005⁶³⁵⁹, which attached a list of tenders entitled 'Document 2'. Based on the electronic 'TENDERS SCHEDULE' referred in paragraph IV.4364 above, Herbert Baggaley highlighted all tenders from January 2000 which had been the subject of cover pricing, in red, and added comments in the words of its Estimating Department. 'Document 2' includes two consecutive entries as follows:⁶³⁶⁰

IV.4374. Herbert Baggaley provided a final leniency report⁶³⁶¹ to the OFT, in which it referred to the same list of tenders in which cover pricing featured, entitled 'Document 1'. 'Document 1' contained the same information on the tenders for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion as shown in the paragraph above.⁶³⁶²

IV.4375. Herbert Baggaley also provided a list of 'Third Party Contractors'. Herbert Baggaley stated that 'This list contains details of other Contractors with whom HBC has dealt in the use of cover pricing ... Given the lack of written records of individual covers, it is not always possible for HBC's estimators to say for certain as to which individual within another contract[or] dealt with that cover. However, the OFT is to take it that where a Contractor is listed as being party to a cover under the Schedule of Tenders, then the individual contact listed within Document 2 [3] is to be the person involved. Where there are more than one name given for a Contractor, then the first name is to be taken as the probable contact'.⁶³⁶³ On page five of the 'List of Third Party Contractors' is entered.⁶³⁶⁴

Additional Evidence from the Quantity Surveyor – William Baird

IV.4376. The OFT conducted a visit and meeting with David Simpson of William Baird on 5 June 2007 and a note of this meeting was made.⁶³⁶⁵ The minutes from the Queen’s Park project team meeting 8 dated 29 May 2003 were obtained by the OFT from the quantity surveyor William Baird. Under paragraph 3.0 of these minutes, there is the following entry:⁶³⁶⁶

‘WC70 North Lodge, WC 80 Cricket Pavilion...are being worked on at present...Tenderers for these packages have now been agreed’

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Wildgoose

IV.4377. As part of its leniency application, current and former employees/directors of Wildgoose were interviewed by the OFT. Commercial manager SM, commercial manager, BB, AC, and former Managing Director GB gave their account of the circumstances and documents raised in connection with the North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion.

IV.4378. During an interview with the OFT on 19 September 2007, SM explained that he made one set of telephone calls to senior management or chief estimators of building contractors to establish their interest in tendering for the Queen’s Park General Works contracts. These included the tenders for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion. He said ‘they weren’t interested. Several of the packages were obviously of low value, Wildgoose construction were already on site...I do recall being asked if Wildgoose construction were also priced on working, and I had to say yes, because we were...so again that was obviously a contributing factor in their decision not to price the work’.⁶³⁶⁷ SM confirmed that these approaches were made prior to the project team meeting with Chesterfield BC on 29 May 2003 which referred to the fact that ‘tenderers of these packages have now been agreed’.⁶³⁶⁸

IV.4379. SM explained that due to the problems encountered by Wildgoose in attracting companies to tender, he spoke to his managing director GB. SM said ‘his advice was to speak to Bryan [Bennett], to contact some of our competitors...He implied to me that it was for the purpose of...giving, cover prices’.⁶³⁶⁹ SM confirmed that he knew that this suggestion from GB meant that Wildgoose would face no competition and would win the contracts. SM said that he then spoke to Chief Estimator BB and ‘asked him if there was anyone who could help us’.⁶³⁷⁰ Referring to the handwritten note of names and companies on the reverse of the Tender Finance Statement⁶³⁷¹ for another contract (see paragraph IV.4358 above), SM said 'those are the names he gave me to try'.⁶³⁷²

IV.4380. SM said he then contacted the listed individuals from Herbert Baggaley and Allenbuild, and explained 'Initially, I approached them on the basis of would they be interested in pricing the scheme? I went through al [sic] the project details, the fact that we were there...Initial response back was, no we're not interested, because obviously, you know, Wildgoose would get the work. So then, I'd already got it in mind to ask them if they'd be prepared to submit a cover, and I did ask them and they said they'd be prepared to do that'.⁶³⁷³ SM explained that the telephone conversations related to all the works packages for which Herbert Baggaley and Allenbuild were subsequently invited to tender, including North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion. The tender invitations were then sent out by SM for the attention of those names he had already spoken to by telephone, 'they were the people that I'd contacted, and I wanted to make sure the package went to them and obviously no-one else in the company'.⁶³⁷⁴

IV.4381. SM recalled that Greenwood was suggested by Chesterfield BC as an additional company to approach for the North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion contracts. SM said that he spoke to KT 'who I understood to be a director of Greenwood at that time...I basically explained the situation to him, I had these packages out to tender, and I asked Greenwoods whether they'd be interested in putting a cover price in...And he said he would do that, but obviously he'd want something in return'.⁶³⁷⁵ SM referred this telephone conversation to GB who agreed to speak to KT. SM said that he was told by GB 'that it was agreed that Ken Taylor on behalf of Greenwood building contractors would submit cover prices in return for a payment of a sum of money...it would be £500 a price'.⁶³⁷⁶ SM explained that this money would be a contribution for Greenwood towards 'tendering costs'. SM added 'I recall he asked for the opportunity of being able...to price the...painting and decorating sub-contract works...I wasn't aware of this at the time but Ken Taylor also owned a painting and decorating company'.⁶³⁷⁷

IV.4382. SM confirmed that Taylor Brothers, the painting and decorating company owned by KT, was permitted to submit quotations for the painting and decorating work on the general works contracts, including North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion. In a competitive tender exercise, Taylor Brothers provided the lowest quotations and was subsequently awarded the sub-contract work.

IV.4383. SM explained that the main tenders for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion were priced by him in conjunction with freelance estimator Ian Redhead ('IR'). SM referred to the letters 'S/S' which are written on the front sheet of tender finance statements for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion as meaning 'superseded'.⁶³⁷⁸ He explained that the superseded tender finance statements showed Wildgoose's final sum to the client by the tender deadline, however,

*'following the submission of our tender, there was one or two negotiations' and the final agreed tender sum was amended.*⁶³⁷⁹

IV.4384. SM referred to the entry of the words 'agreed fee' on the tender finance statement for North Lodge⁶³⁸⁰ as follows: 'I would think that's in connection with the payment that was agreed with Greenwood building contractors'.⁶³⁸¹ SM also agreed that the entry of the words 'Greenwood £500' on the tender finance statement for Cricket Pavilion⁶³⁸² was similarly linked to the agreement made with KT of Greenwood.⁶³⁸³ SM recalled that the company providing the second lowest tender to the client would be required to submit a priced 'Bill of Quantities' and the prospect of this was discussed in SM's original telephone conversation with KT. Greenwood provided the second lowest amounts on both tenders and SM said 'I believe Ian Redhead gave them figures to work to'.⁶³⁸⁴

IV.4385. SM also referred to the handwritten annotations on the front sheet of the superseded tender finance statements, including that for North Lodge and agreed that he had conversations with Mike Storey about profit margins on the Queen's Park contracts, which were revised downwards on tender settlement. He said 'I just thought the percentage was too high. Mike obviously agreed with me cause he allowed me to reduce it'.⁶³⁸⁵ SM confirmed that he provided cover figures to Allenbuild, Herbert Baggaley and Greenwood two or three days before the tender deadline.

IV.4386. Finally, SM confirmed that an invoice was sent from KT to Wildgoose⁶³⁸⁶ and said 'That was initially put on my desk...as I recall, Graham Barber spoke to Ken Taylor...and Graham Barber asked me to authorise the invoice of payment'. SM agreed that the handwriting on the invoice was his and explained 'obviously further to Graham's conversations with Ken Taylor, I just made a note on there, that invoice is agreed between Graham Barber, myself and Ken Taylor...I would have passed it to accounts, for payment'.⁶³⁸⁷

IV.4387. Chief Estimator BB was also interviewed about his recall of these tenders. BB said he understood, given the circumstances, the reluctance of competitors to tender for the works packages and said it was quite possible that he provided names for SM to approach about cover pricing. He said 'This may be the situation we talked about earlier...while I was asked for some names of people that we'd given covers to or that we've tendered against in the past and are active in this particular area where the works were'.⁶³⁸⁸ He admitted that his handwriting appeared on the reverse of the tender finance statement listing contact names for Allenbuild, Herbert Baggaley and Stone Construction Ltd. BB also confirmed that he must have provided these names to SM to contact for cover pricing purposes. BB was not responsible for Wildgoose's tender, although towards the tender deadline, he said 'I would have gone through it just to make certain that the estimate – there wasn't any glaring errors in it'.⁶³⁸⁹ BB also confirmed he would have made suggestions as to how much profit was to be added. He confirmed that he would have known at the time that none of the competition were interested in the work and were receiving cover prices.⁶³⁹⁰

IV.4388. GB was managing director of Wildgoose at the time of the Queen's Park tender exercise in 2003 and has since retired. When interviewed, GB said that he understood why it would have been difficult for Wildgoose to attract bidders for the work packages but had no knowledge or recall of any collusion on the tenders. He also could not recall having a conversation with SM, referred to in both Wildgoose's leniency report and the OFT's interview with SM. However, GB remembered that he spoke to KT and agreed to pay him a fee of £1000. GB understood that the fee was *'to cover his tendering costs'⁶³⁹¹ but he also believed that it was to be *'a consultancy fee for his expert knowledge'⁶³⁹² GB denied any knowledge of the fee being connected with an agreement for Greenwood to submit a cover price.⁶³⁹³

IV.4389. AC was also interviewed by the OFT. With regard to the suggestion that GB asked SM to approach BB to find out the names of some competitors who might be able to provide covers, he said *'I have no recollection of that at all but it doesn't surprise me in that Graham [Barber] wouldn't know who we've got relationships with, in terms of other estimators that we could approach, whereas Brian, who at that stage was dealing with other estimators on these other things, knew who the people would be'.⁶³⁹⁴ AC said that at the time the invoice was received, he recalled that KT visited Wildgoose's office in person. AC said *'My recollection was that he was in Graham's [Barber] office with him...He gave me the invoice and I went and drew a cheque for him...I suspect the two signatures on the cheque will be Graham and myself...I was just told it was just some consultancy work done in relation to some painting of the railings that they were doing down there'.⁶³⁹⁵ AC admitted that this was unusual.

Witness evidence from Ian Redhead – freelance estimator

IV.4390. IR was interviewed on two occasions by the OFT about the circumstances of the Queen's Park tenders, including those for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion. During the first interview, IR said that he was working from home as a freelance estimator for both Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley at the time and had been employed by Wildgoose to produce both tenders. He said that he was aware that Herbert Baggaley and Greenwood were not interested in the work and submitted cover prices for the tenders, provided by Wildgoose. He also believed that an agreement had been struck between Wildgoose and Greenwood that in return for submitting a cover price, Greenwood was promised the painting and decorating sub-contract work at Queen's Park.⁶³⁹⁶

IV.4391. By the time of IR's second interview on 25 October 2007, the OFT had obtained further tender documentation and paperwork from Wildgoose, William Baird and Chesterfield BC and showed these to IR. IR agreed that the vast majority of the handwritten entries on the tender finance statements for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion were his own.⁶³⁹⁷ IR also admitted that he wrote the entry 'Agreed Fee 500.00' on the tender finance statement for North Lodge⁶³⁹⁸ and the words 'Greenwood £500' on the tender finance statement for Cricket Pavilion.⁶³⁹⁹

IV.4392. IR said that he hadn't recalled making such entries during his first interview but he was able to explain the words 'Greenwood £500' as follows: 'they're gonna pay Greenwood £500...Because it says Greenwood, and it's a 500 pound addition to the contract figure...Greenwood's had the enquiry but were never going to price it, but I always thought it was on the basis that they were gonna do the decorating works'.⁶⁴⁰⁰ Referring to the words 'Agreed fee 500', IR explained that this was 'for them not pricing the work'.⁶⁴⁰¹ IR said that he did not deal with the provision of a cover price to Greenwood or Herbert Baggaley but was aware that both companies submitted cover prices.⁶⁴⁰²

IV.4393. IR could recall, however, that he provided a copy of priced 'Bill of Quantities' for either North Lodge or Cricket Pavilion in person to KT, who visited his home address to collect the documents from him, in a brown envelope.⁶⁴⁰³ IR said 'I would have thought we would have given them Wildgoose's figures'. He added that Greenwood would 'do the recalculation to make it look like their own...If I was doing it myself I'd just adjust some of the rates by a certain amount, either up some rates and lower some rates, provided you make sure that if any of the rates duplicate you've got the same figure in. You could do it fairly quickly'.⁶⁴⁰⁴ IR said that he had not been aware that Allenbuild had also been invited to tender for these tenders.

IV.4394. During interviews with the OFT on 2 November 2006 and 19 April 2007, conducted in connection with Herbert Baggaley's leniency application, Anton Newell ('AN'), Chief Estimator for Herbert Baggaley, provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4395. During the interview dated 19 April 2007, AN was asked if he could recall anything about this contract. AN said 'This is the one where I believe Wildgoose...were project managing the scheme for Chesterfield Borough Council. And they needed to go out and get three quotes for various elements of work: the north lodge, the cricket pavilion, and we were approached to see whether we'd effectively put a dummy...price in, taking a cover off them...which we...did...It [the original approach] was certainly from them to us, and then we said, okay, we'll do that'. AN also confirmed that the appearance of the letter 'C' on Herbert Baggaley's tender schedules for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion was 'an indication of a cover'.⁶⁴⁰⁵

Witness evidence from Allenbuild

IV.4396. Roger Hayes, Chief Estimator of Allenbuild was also interviewed briefly about the Queen's Park tenders and said 'I recall Queen's Park jobs. I recall Wildgoose being some kind of client's agent. I do believe they sent us an enquiry and I do believe we sent it back saying we are not going to work for another builder'.⁶⁴⁰⁶

Witness evidence from Greenwood/Crown Point

IV.4397. Chris Stendall ('CS'), an ex-estimator at Greenwood, was interviewed by the OFT and asked about the North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion tenders. He admitted that tendering for a competitor was unusual and Greenwood 'wouldn't normally entertain it'.⁶⁴⁰⁷ He could not recall any decisions or agreements to submit a cover price on these tenders, however, he referred to the entries in Greenwood's tender register⁶⁴⁰⁸ and said that 'to be perfectly honest with you I can't imagine them being genuine but I could be wrong'.⁶⁴⁰⁹ CS said that KT used to be a director at Greenwood but sold his interest in about 2002. He continued working for Greenwood for some time in a consultant capacity.

IV.4398. KT wrote to the OFT on 9 October 2007 and declined the request for an interview.⁶⁴¹⁰ The OFT wrote again to KT in November 2007, outlining in detail the nature of the evidence collected by the OFT in relation to these contracts, including providing him with certain of the documents, and asking if he wished to provide an account of his involvement.⁶⁴¹¹ In response, in a further letter to the OFT, KT declined the opportunity to give his account of events.⁶⁴¹²

Evidence from Greenwood

IV.4399. The OFT wrote to the joint administrators of Greenwood on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Greenwood had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response, the former joint administrator stated that Greenwood was dissolved on 28 March 2007 and therefore the joint administrator would not be in a position to enter into any agreement on its behalf.⁶⁴¹³

IV.4400. The OFT subsequently wrote to Crown Point, the former parent company of Greenwood, on 5 November 2007, asking it to consider the offer made by the OFT, given that the OFT intended to hold Crown Point liable for any infringements committed by Greenwood during the period following its acquisition by Crown Point in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Crown Point stated '... the offer is not accepted by Crown Point Maintenance Group Limited'.⁶⁴¹⁴

IV.4401. In its response to the Statement, Crown Point did not dispute liability for KT's actions in respect of the cover pricing arrangement (although Crown Point did dispute liability for KT's actions in taking a payment from Wildgoose). Whilst Crown Point stated that KT was an independent contractor acting in a consulting capacity for Greenwood at the relevant time⁶⁴¹⁵, Crown Point accepted that KT was 'the managing body of Greenwood' and that: 'KT's role was akin to a de facto Director and he continued to be regarded as the Director and controlling mind of Greenwood to third parties...'⁶⁴¹⁶

IV.4402. Crown Point submitted that neither it, nor Greenwood, is liable for KT's actions in respect of the compensation payment as, on the basis of the evidence, KT 'was clearly acting on a frolic of his own'.⁶⁴¹⁷

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4404. Wildgoose won a competitive tender exercise to act as project manager for a number of general and specialised works contracts at Queen's Park, Chesterfield, on behalf of Chesterfield BC. Wildgoose was responsible for identifying potential bidders and sending tender invitations to a number of companies for (amongst others) the contracts for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion at Queen's Park. Tenders were issued by Wildgoose during the period June/July 2003 with staggered deadlines and each tender had to be returned to the allocated quantity surveyor, William Baird, for independent scrutiny. Greenwood and Herbert Baggaley each accepted an invitation to tender for the North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion contracts. Wildgoose was also permitted by the client to tender for these contracts, and did so by inviting itself to tender and then sending completed tender returns to William Baird. It is significant that in its role of project manager, Wildgoose was in a unique situation in knowing the extent of its competition for both tenders.

IV.4405. It appears that Wildgoose completed the estimating process for both North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion and submitted bids with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the facts that Wildgoose submitted the lowest tenders and that it won the contracts. Herbert Baggaley did not want to win these contracts and recorded the words 'Cover Price' on its contemporaneous manual tendering schedules against both tenders. Greenwood also did not want to win these contracts and estimator CS stated that it would not 'normally entertain' working for another builder.

IV.4406. It is clear that Wildgoose had problems in attracting interest from anyone in tendering for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion. However, as part of the procurement process, the client had to be assured that each contract was subject to a genuinely open and competitive process and it was partly Wildgoose's responsibility that this was carried out.

- IV.4407. Wildgoose stated as part of its leniency application that commercial manager SM spoke to Managing Director GB about the lack of interest from Wildgoose's competitors in the works contracts, and they discussed 'how Wildgoose could procure the work itself'.⁶⁴¹⁸ GB denied that there was any manipulation by Wildgoose of the tender process but SM recalled that he was told by GB to approach Chief Estimator BB for names of contractors who would be willing to provide cover prices. SM recalled that such a conversation with BB took place and BB agreed that it was quite possible that he furnished some names to SM.
- IV.4408. BB provided SM with a handwritten note of contact names for three companies, namely 'Stone, Alan [and] Bags' on a tender finance statement. Wildgoose confirmed that these were references to building contractors Stone Construction Ltd, Allenbuild and Herbert Baggaley.⁶⁴¹⁹ SM stated that he made telephone calls to Herbert Baggaley and Allenbuild and that they agreed to submit cover prices for the North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion contracts. Senior estimator AN of Herbert Baggaley was one of the listed contact names and he agreed in interview that he was called by Wildgoose to 'put a dummy...price in', to which he agreed. Herbert Baggaley has admitted taking cover prices from Wildgoose for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion.
- IV.4409. On 1 July 2003, tender invitations for North Lodge were sent by SM to Herbert Baggaley and Allenbuild for the attention of the individuals noted on the tender finance statement. On 2 July 2003, at a project meeting, the minutes show that Chesterfield BC told SM that additional contractors would be required to be invited to tender for both North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion. The following day, on 3 July 2003, SM again sent invitations to only two contractors, namely Herbert Baggaley and Allenbuild for the Cricket Pavilion contract. On 4 July 2003, Wildgoose complied with the request made by Chesterfield BC two days earlier and issued a further tender invitation to Greenwood for both North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion.
- IV.4410. In interview SM explained that Greenwood had been suggested by Chesterfield BC as a contractor to invite for the North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion tenders. SM said he contacted Greenwood and spoke to KT and asked him to provide a cover bid. KT agreed to do so but only in return for a sum of money and an opportunity for Taylor Brothers, (KT's painting and decorating company), to quote for the painting and decorating elements of the work to be carried out at Queen's Park. SM agreed that Taylor Brothers could quote for sub-contracting work but referred the request for money to GB. GB confirmed that he spoke to KT and a figure of £1000 was agreed 'for tendering costs'. This is corroborated by the amounts of £500 which were recorded and attributed on the respective tender finance statements for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion and the use of the words 'Agreed fee' and 'Greenwood £500'.
- IV.4411. The OFT finds that these contacts between Wildgoose and KT took place in the period between the request by Chesterfield BC for additional bidders to be invited to tender for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion on 2 July 2003 and the letters of invitation sent by SM to Greenwood on 4 July 2003.

⁶⁴¹⁹ Stone Construction Limited was not invited to tender for North Lodge or Cricket Pavilion. For the avoidance of doubt, the OFT makes no finding that Stone Construction Ltd was party to any infringement of the Act.

- IV.4412. Wildgoose's tender finance statements show that it submitted tender sums of £378,315 for North Lodge and £336,310 for Cricket Pavilion, matching the amounts recorded by the client. The client also received bids of £382,160 and £341,682 for these tenders from Greenwood, which are higher than the amounts tendered by Wildgoose. This fits into the pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided from Wildgoose to Greenwood. The client also received bids of £383,651.45 and £348,760.20 respectively from Herbert Baggaley for these tenders. Again, these figures are higher than those of Wildgoose, which is consistent with cover prices having also been provided from Wildgoose to Herbert Baggaley.
- IV.4413. The OFT notes that Taylor Brothers was allowed to quote for painting and decorating works on these contracts and from the entries in Wildgoose's sub-contract analysis, provided the lowest tenders and won the work. Wildgoose's freelance estimator IR recalled that Greenwood was promised decorating work by Wildgoose in return for submitting a cover price. Despite the fact that Taylor Brothers' quotations appear to have been added to the analysis documents at the end of the tender process, there is no evidence to suggest that there was bid rigging between Wildgoose and Greenwood in the tender for the painting and decorating works. The OFT therefore finds that an element of the arrangement between Wildgoose and KT was that in return for KT submitting a cover price on behalf of Greenwood, Wildgoose gave Taylor Brothers the opportunity to bid for the painting and decorating sub-contract (which it seems it did not otherwise have), as well as making £1,000 payment to KT.
- IV.4414. Wildgoose submitted in its response to the Statement that Chesterfield BC was not put to any greater expense as a result of Taylor Brothers being allowed to tender for the painting work, and this only served to make the process more competitive.⁶⁴²⁰ As noted above, the OFT has no evidence to suggest that the tender for the painting and decorating works was rigged, and the OFT makes no finding as to the impact on Chesterfield BC of Wildgoose allowing Taylor Brothers to tender for the work.
- IV.4415. Wildgoose included the amount of the payment to KT in Wildgoose's two tender prices, splitting the amount between the two relevant tenders.
- IV.4416. Greenwood provided the second lowest bid for both tenders and was required to submit a priced bill of quantities to the Quantity Surveyor. IR recalls that the necessary figures to enable Greenwood to do this were provided by him, acting on behalf of Wildgoose, to KT, who collected them in person from the freelance estimator's house.
- IV.4417. Subsequently, KT raised an invoice to Wildgoose 'to carry out consultancy works as agreed. January to June 04 £1000'. SM confirmed that he noted on the invoice that this was as a result of an agreement between him, GB and KT and that the £1,000 was split into two amounts each of £500 for North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion. Wildgoose confirmed that KT visited its premises in person to collect the cheque which he required to be made payable to himself, not Greenwood. Wildgoose has confirmed that this invoice was false and that no such consultancy works were carried out. AC of Wildgoose has confirmed that the invoice was subsequently paid by cheque to KT, a copy of which has been provided.

IV.4418. The OFT has provided KT with detailed disclosure of the evidence in its possession relating to these contracts and he has been given the opportunity to put his account of the circumstances surrounding them on record. However, he has declined to do so.

IV.4419. The OFT considers that, in taking cover prices from Wildgoose and submitting these in Greenwood tenders to Chesterfield BC, KT acted as agent on behalf of Greenwood and formed part of the same undertaking as Greenwood. As such, the OFT considers Greenwood to be liable for KT's actions, even if Greenwood was unaware of the cover pricing arrangement, or if Greenwood did not authorise or approve KT's actions.⁶⁴²¹ References to Greenwood in paragraphs IV.4419 to IV.4435 below, insofar as they relate to the cover pricing arrangement, are therefore in Greenwood's capacity as principal of KT, and reflect Greenwood's liability for KT's actions in this respect.

IV.4420. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Wildgoose and Greenwood and between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley. The OFT also concludes that Wildgoose supplied figures to both Greenwood and Herbert Baggaley for cover bids.

IV.4421. The OFT notes that the 'object' of an agreement and/or concerted practice is not assessed by reference to the parties' subjective intentions when they enter into it, but rather is determined by an objective analysis of its aims.⁶⁴²² Nevertheless, the OFT notes that Wildgoose's own evidence reports that SM spoke with GB about the lack of interest from tenderers and 'how Wildgoose could procure the work itself', with GB advising SM to obtain the names of contractors who might be willing to submit cover bids (see paragraph IV.4366). The OFT does not accept that Wildgoose's sole motive for entering into cover bidding arrangements was to benefit Chesterfield BC, rather than to secure the tenders itself. Moreover, having chosen not to widen its search for potential tenderers, Wildgoose's statement that others would also likely refuse to tender is supposition. Indeed, Wildgoose notes in its representations that part of its duties as managing agent was to procure competitive tenders⁶⁴²³, which it failed to do.

IV.4422. The OFT also concludes that Wildgoose made a payment of £1000 to KT in return for KT submitting cover prices on behalf of Greenwood and that this payment was facilitated by the production of a false invoice by KT in relation to 'consultancy works'. The OFT notes that Wildgoose included in its tender bids the amounts of the payments agreed with KT, i.e. £500 for each of the two tenders. The OFT also concludes that Wildgoose also agreed to enable KT's company tender for a painting and decorating sub-contract.

IV.4423. The OFT accepts Crown Point's submission that KT was acting in his own right in requesting and receiving a payment from Wildgoose. In particular, KT issued an invoice to Wildgoose in his own name and using what appears to be his own personal address and contact details. Payment was made by Wildgoose ⁶⁴²¹ See paragraphs III.28 to III.36 of the Legal Background section.

⁶⁴²² See paragraphs III.68 to III.69 of the Legal Background section.

⁶⁴²³ Written representations of Wildgoose, 3 July 2008 (amended 1 April 2009), paragraph 5.81.

in the form of a cheque which KT requested be made payable to him personally (see paragraphs IV.4360 and IV.4361), and which he collected in person from Wildgoose's premises. The OFT therefore concludes that Greenwood was not a party to a compensation payment arrangement with Wildgoose, but rather that KT was acting on his own behalf in seeking and collecting a payment from Wildgoose.

IV.4424. As noted in Section VI⁶⁴²⁴, the OFT considers that Wildgoose acted as the instigator in relation to this Infringement. In addition to the provision of cover prices to Greenwood and Herbert Baggaley, the OFT considers that Wildgoose agreed with KT that it would make a payment of £1,000 to KT, and enable KT's company Taylor Brothers to quote for the painting and decorating work at Queens Park, in return for KT submitting a cover bid on behalf of Greenwood. For the avoidance of doubt, the OFT has not taken the payment arrangement with KT into account in setting the starting point for Wildgoose's penalty in relation to this Infringement as, unlike for certain other Infringements in this Decision, the payment is not a 'compensation' arrangement between undertakings, but instead took the form of a pay-off to an individual. The starting point is therefore based on the cover pricing arrangement alone. The OFT considers, however, that the agreement to make a payment to KT is a further aggravating factor to be taken into account at step 4 of the penalty calculation for Wildgoose.

IV.4425. Wildgoose accepted in its response to the Statement that the payment to KT was inappropriate, but that the sum involved was 'miniscule' in comparison to the value of the total tender. Whilst the payment to KT may represent only a small percentage of the tender value⁶⁴²⁵, in absolute terms the OFT does not consider that £1,000 can properly be described as 'miniscule'. Moreover, any financial incentive offered and/or paid to an individual in return for the individual entering into anti-competitive arrangements on behalf of his principal/employer undertaking, must be regarded as a very serious matter, irrespective of the sums involved.

IV.4426. Wildgoose also submitted that Chesterfield BC was not overcharged for the work undertaken, highlighting its tendered margins of 6.5% and 7% on the two work packages (and achieved margin of 4.9%). By way of comparison, Wildgoose submitted that Chesterfield BC had allowed it to achieve 10% gross margin on previous projects, and that it had undertaken the work at a discount to its standard margin. Wildgoose also noted that, whilst Chesterfield BC had indicated that the costs tendered for the Cricket Pavilion were higher than the initial budget, these were 'deemed acceptable'.⁶⁴²⁶

IV.4427. The OFT considers that the client was overcharged by at least £1000 (leaving aside any potential effect on the tender prices as a result of the cover pricing), as demonstrated by the addition of £500 to each tender finance statement. Whilst the OFT does not consider profit levels to be a reliable indicator of anti-competitive behaviour, it notes that SM of Wildgoose considered that, in general, a margin of 2% to 4% would be the norm (although it would vary ⁶⁴²⁴ See paragraph VI.297 of the Enforcement section.

⁶⁴²⁵ The OFT considers the value of the tenders submitted by Wildgoose for the two work packages to total approximately £715,000 and not £3 million, as Wildgoose suggested at paragraph 5.92 of its representations.

⁶⁴²⁶ Written representations of Wildgoose, 3 July 2008 (as amended on 1 April 2009), paragraphs 5.79.4, 5.92 to 5.93, 5.94.2, 5.94.4, 5.95.4 and Annex K.

depending on the size of the job and timescales involved).⁶⁴²⁷ The OFT therefore does not necessarily accept Wildgoose's representation that it achieved a low profit margin on these tenders. Equally, the fact that the tender costs were 'deemed acceptable' by Chesterfield BC does not prove that it was not overcharged, particularly given that it also noted that the costs had come in higher than the initial budget for the works.

IV.4428. SM stated in addition that contact also took place between Wildgoose and Allenbuild on these tenders, and that Wildgoose supplied figures to Allenbuild for cover bids. However, the OFT notes that RH of Allenbuild, who was named by BB as the relevant person at this company, does not recall cover pricing on these tenders. The OFT also notes the absence of any contemporaneous documentation relating to cover pricing by Allenbuild on these tenders, and therefore the OFT makes no finding as to Allenbuild's involvement in any infringement in relation to these tenders.

IV.4429. The OFT considers that it is not possible to identify separate agreements and/or concerted practices in relation to each of the North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion tenders, but instead is dealing with these two tenders together, given that overall cover pricing arrangements were apparently made between Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley and between Wildgoose and Greenwood that covered North Lodge and Cricket Pavilion.

IV.4430. The OFT notes that Herbert Baggaley's leniency application made reference to contacts having taken place between Greenwood and Wildgoose in relation to these tenders. As the OFT has no documentary or witness evidence to suggest that Herbert Baggaley had contact with Greenwood in relation to this tender or that either Herbert Baggaley or Greenwood was aware of Wildgoose's contacts with the other Party at the time of its own contacts with Wildgoose, the OFT does not propose to find that the relevant parties were party to a multilateral agreement as opposed to a series of bilateral arrangements.

IV.4431. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4353 to IV.4430 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁴²⁸ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Wildgoose to Greenwood and the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Wildgoose to Herbert Baggaley was not unilateral⁶⁴²⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁴³⁰
- (b) Greenwood and Herbert Baggaley can each be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Wildgoose (i.e. the cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁴³¹ and
- (c) Wildgoose can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from each of Greenwood and Herbert Baggaley (i.e. that Greenwood and Herbert Baggaley did not intend to submit competitive bids) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁴³²

IV.4432. Wildgoose disputed that it had taken into account the information it received from Herbert Baggaley and Greenwood when determining its own conduct in the tender process, rather it had continued to price the projects as competitively as it could.⁶⁴³³

IV.4433. The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁶⁴³⁴ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Wildgoose has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept that Wildgoose did not increase its tender sum to account for the compensation payment, that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition. In any event, Wildgoose has accepted that its conduct amounted to an infringement and by implication, therefore, that it was a party to either an anti-competitive agreement or concerted practice.

IV.4434. To the extent that Wildgoose submits this Infringement should not be treated as serious because no effects have been shown, this point is addressed in Step 1 of Section VI (Enforcement) below.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4437. In respect of these tenders, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 14 June 2005 to Herbert Baggaley and from third parties. None of the Parties therefore will receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, both Wildgoose and Herbert Baggaley will receive their respective normal leniency percentage reduction from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of this tender.

⁶⁴³² See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁶⁴³³ Written representations of Wildgoose, 3 July 2008 (as amended on 1 April 2009), paragraph 5.94.3.

⁶⁴³⁴ See paragraph III.58 of the Legal Background section.

IV.4438. Wildgoose submitted that it should receive a higher leniency percentage reduction in respect of this Infringement because of the amount of information and assistance it provided to the OFT, and because it was the first party to inform the OFT of the compensation payment arrangement.⁶⁴³⁵

IV.4439. The OFT has applied immunity and leniency reductions in this case in line with its published guidance. Wildgoose will receive a reduction in penalty, which has been calculated taking into account the stage at which it came forward, the evidence in the OFT's possession and the evidence provided by Wildgoose. It should be noted that the award of any such reduction in penalty is within the OFT's discretion, taking into account these factors.⁶⁴³⁶

Infringement 159: Norfolk Heritage Park, Bowls Pavilion, Sheffield – 28 July 2003
Client: Sheffield City Council
Parties: Bodill, Wildgoose, Lemmeleg and Quarmby (Special Projects)

IV.4440. On 26 June 2003, Sheffield City Council ('Sheffield CC') sought tenders for the demolition of existing buildings and construction of a bowls pavilion at Norfolk Heritage Park, Sheffield. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 28 July 2003 and five companies were invited to tender: Bodill, Wildgoose, Lemmeleg, Quarmby (Special Projects) and Watfords of Wombwell Ltd.⁶⁴³⁷

IV.4441. Sheffield CC received the following tender returns by 12:00 noon on 28 July 2003:⁶⁴³⁸

Company	Date and time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender
Bodill	Prior to 12:00 noon 28 July 2003	£533,772
Lemmeleg	Prior to 12:00 noon 28 July 2003	£598,776
Quarmby (Special Projects)	Prior to 12:00 noon 28 July 2003	£579,975
Watfords of Wombwell Ltd	Prior to 12:00 noon 28 July 2003	£469,520
Wildgoose	Prior to 12:00 noon 28 July 2003	£588,120

IV.4442. Sheffield CC said that the lowest tender sum received exceeded the budget available. This scheme was revised and re-tendered at a later date.

IV.4443. Lemmeleg noted this fact in its response to the Statement asserting there was 'no impact on the eventual cost of each project and the contracting party ... was unaffected'.⁶⁴³⁹ The OFT considers that the fact the tender was not awarded is irrelevant to the finding of an infringement for the reasons set out in paragraph III.14 above. Further, and in any event, the OFT disagrees with Lemmeleg's suggestion that the client was unaffected, as it received four bids which it considered to be genuine but were in fact the subject of cover pricing and was thereby denied the opportunity to seek replacement tenderers for this tender process which may have been within its available budget.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.4444. In Bodill's original tender sheet, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill.⁶⁴⁴⁰

'	1. Bodill
£587450 ✓②	2. WILDGOOSE © ROSS COOPER

£598995 ✓③	6. LEMELEC (HUDDERSFIELD) © FROM WILDGOOSE TIM LAVIN [...] [C]'

IV.4445. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £533,772.⁶⁴⁴¹

IV.4446. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has confirmed that the handwritten annotations '£587450 ✓②, ROSS COOPER, WATFORDS – PETER WOODS NON PRICING [...] [C] (WOMBWELL BARNESLEY), DLO?, £579901 ✓①' and '£598995 ✓③ LEMELEC (HUDDERSFIELD) © FROM WILDGOOSE' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁶⁴⁴² JR also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.4447. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has confirmed that the handwritten annotations '©, © FROM MARTIN SENYK [...] [C]' and 'TIM LAVIN [...] [C]' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁶⁴⁴³ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.4448. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4449. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁶⁴⁴⁴ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave two cover prices, to Wildgoose and Quarmby (Special Projects), and that Lemmeleg 'seems to have taken a cover from Wildgoose'.⁶⁴⁴⁵

IV.4450. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.4451. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Wildgoose – Tender Enquiry Register

IV.4452. In the Tender Enquiry Register, obtained from Wildgoose during the OFT's section 27 inspection of Wildgoose's premises on 18 November 2004, is handwritten:⁶⁴⁴⁶

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Wildgoose

IV.4453. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Wildgoose employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.726 to IV.742 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4454. In respect of this tender, Ross Cooper ('RC'), an ex-trainee estimator at Wildgoose could not recall anything about this tender, but on being asked by the OFT to explain the handwritten entries in the Wildgoose Tender Enquiry Register he confirmed that the entry 'HR' under the column 'EST' shows that Wildgoose took a cover on this tender.⁶⁴⁴⁷ RC also said in respect of the entry under the column 'TENDER SUM/TENDER DELIVERY' that, 'I would believe that will be the cover price that was submitted on the form of tender. Whether the price that was received from the competitor was adjusted before it was added on the tender, I'm unaware'.⁶⁴⁴⁸

IV.4455. RC was then shown the Bodill tender sheet for this tender and in respect of the entry '£587450 ✓Ⓢ, © ROSS COOPER', he said, 'Yes, I accept that I would have spoken to Bodill's to arrange for a figure to be given for the job'.⁶⁴⁴⁹ The OFT asked RC to explain the slight difference in the cover price provided by Bodill and the actual tender figure submitted by Wildgoose. RC explained that, 'That was quite normal. Occasionally, if we felt that..... the competitor price was a bit tight, we'd add a little more money, just to make sure that we didn't pick the job up'.⁶⁴⁵⁰

IV.4456. In response to a question from the OFT asking if Wildgoose would have also given a cover price in relation to this contract, RC said 'if another company had approached us, it had been known to, to give another cover price off the, the back of the cover price that we had or to refer them back to Bodill's to speak to Bodill's'.⁶⁴⁵¹

IV.4457. As part of its leniency application, Wildgoose provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.726 to IV.742 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4458. In particular, Wildgoose provided to the OFT a 'Schedule of covers' and this tender appears on page four of the schedule.⁶⁴⁵²

IV.4459. In its response to the Statement, Wildgoose stated that 'neither the witness evidence provided by Ross Cooper nor the documentary evidence of Lemmeleg is sufficient to support the allegation that Wildgoose had provided a cover to Lemmeleg, even when considered together',⁶⁴⁵³ although they did acknowledge elsewhere in their representations that 'the evidence suggests that Wildgoose provided Lemmeleg with a cover price for this tender'.⁶⁴⁵⁴ The OFT notes that Wildgoose fails specifically to deal with the contemporaneous documentary evidence obtained from Bodill, which the OFT considers to be strong and which shows '£598995 ✓Ⓢ LEMELEC (HUDDERSFIELD) © FROM WILDGOOSE'.

Taken together with the witness explanations provided and with Lemmeleg's Fast Track admission which, without sight of the OFT's evidence, confirmed that it appeared that it had received a cover price from Bodills and/or possibly from Wildgoose (see below), the OFT considers its case that Wildgoose provided cover to Lemmeleg to be strong and compelling. The OFT further considers it possible either that Wildgoose indicated to Lemmeleg at the time of providing the cover price, that Bodill had also supplied Wildgoose with a cover price, or alternatively that Bodill may have informed Lemmeleg that it had given a cover price to Wildgoose and suggested that Lemmeleg obtain its cover price from Wildgoose.

Evidence from other companies – Lemmeleg

IV.4460. The OFT emailed Maclay Murray & Spens, legal representatives of Lemmeleg, on 12 June 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Lemmeleg had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this email, Lemmeleg admitted that, 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender. Although the position and documentation is not entirely clear, it appears that Lemmeleg received a cover price from Bodills and/or possible from Wildgoose'.⁶⁴⁵⁵

IV.4461. In their response to the Statement, Lemmeleg reiterated Lemmeleg's acceptance of the OFT's Fast Track Offer in respect of this Infringement.⁶⁴⁵⁶

Evidence from other companies – Quarmby (Special Projects)

IV.4462. The OFT wrote to Quarmby (Special Projects) on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Quarmby (Special Projects) had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT received a letter dated 1 May explaining '...we did not feel comfortable signing a declaration that we had been involved in bid rigging, when the reason contractors request cover prices, is that severe pressure of work can make it impossible to submit a tender for work where willingness had previously been expressed for inclusion on a specific tender list'.⁶⁴⁵⁷ Quarmby (Special Projects) therefore did not accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer.

IV.4463. The OFT subsequently wrote to Quarmby (Special Projects)'s ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Justgrade, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on Quarmby (Special Projects)'s response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Justgrade jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Quarmby (Special Projects) in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Justgrade confirmed the position of its subsidiary, Quarmby (Special Projects) in its rejection of the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁶⁴⁵⁸

IV.4464. In its response to the Statement, Quarmby (Special Projects) stated '...we would again confirm that your original correspondence was taken very seriously within our company structure. We also again confirm in that any conduct by our staff, that may have constituted an infringement or a breach of the Companies Act 1998 [sic] happened due to a genuine lack of knowledge and naivety of the Act. We trust you will accept our sincere apologies in this instance and we confirm that adequate steps have been taken within the company to ensure compliance with the law'.⁶⁴⁵⁹

⁶⁴⁵⁶ Written representations of Lemmeleg, 26 June 2008, paragraph 4.1.

⁶⁴⁵⁷ Response from Quarmby (Special Projects), OFT Document Reference 10768.

⁶⁴⁵⁸ Response from Justgrade, OFT Document Reference 14089.

- IV.4466. Bodill, Wildgoose, Lemmeleg and Quarmby (Special Projects) each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.4467. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.
- IV.4468. Wildgoose, Lemmeleg and Quarmby (Special Projects) were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.
- IV.4469. In regard to Wildgoose, Bodill's tender sheet records '£587450 ✓ ② WILDGOOSE © ROSS COOPER' against Wildgoose. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. The tender sheet also has the number ② recorded against Wildgoose to show that Wildgoose was the second company to be given cover by or to request cover from Bodill. Bodill has confirmed that these numbers show the order in which Bodill was approached by other companies for a cover price and that the first to approach would get the lowest price and so on. The OFT notes that Wildgoose submitted a higher tender figure than the first company to be given a cover price, Quarmby (Special Projects).
- IV.4470. In addition, in Wildgoose's tender register, 'HR' is written in the 'EST' column for this particular tender. Wildgoose provided an explanation of the use of the initials 'HR' in its Tender Enquiry Register. This evidence is set out in paragraph IV.732 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. Wildgoose explained that if it decides to take a cover, it will insert 'C' (for 'cover') or 'HR' (meaning 'Help Required') against that particular enquiry in the Tender Enquiry Register. 'HR' reflects the fact that a cover will be obtained unless the initial decision is reviewed and Wildgoose decides instead to seek assistance from a freelance estimator or possibly another department within the company.
- IV.4471. Bodill's tender sheet also recorded the name of a Wildgoose employee, 'ROSS COOPER' (RC), providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. RC confirmed in interview that Wildgoose obtained a cover price for this tender and, on being shown Bodill's tender sheet for this contract, accepted that he would have spoken with Bodill to obtain the cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure '£587450' against Wildgoose, whereas the actual figure submitted by Wildgoose was £588,120. RC explained that this slight discrepancy was quite normal and to make sure that Wildgoose did not win a job, it would sometimes add an extra figure onto a cover price provided.
- IV.4472. In regard to Lemmeleg, Bodill's tender sheet records '£598995 ✓ ③ LEMELEC (HUDDERSFIELD) © FROM WILDGOOSE TIM LAVIN [.....] [C]' against Lemmeleg. Bodill has confirmed that Lemmeleg has taken a cover price, apparently from Wildgoose. RC of Wildgoose said that if a company approached Wildgoose for a cover price, it was possible for Wildgoose to give another cover price off the back of the cover price already provided. The tender sheet also has the number ③ recorded against Lemmeleg to show that Lemmeleg was the third party to be given cover by or to request cover, whether from Bodill or from someone else, in this case Wildgoose. Bodill has confirmed that these numbers show the order in which Bodill was approached by other companies for a cover price and that the first to approach would get the lowest price and so on.

- IV.4473. The OFT notes that Lemmeleg submitted a higher tender figure than the second company to be given a cover price, Wildgoose. Furthermore, Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £598995 against Lemmeleg, a figure that was only £219 higher than the tender that Lemmeleg submitted for the work. Taken together with the witness explanations provided and with Lemmeleg's Fast Track admission which independently confirmed that it appeared that it had received a cover price from Bodills and/or possibly from Wildgoose, the OFT considers its case that Wildgoose provided cover to Lemmeleg to be strong and compelling.
- IV.4474. Bodill's tender sheet also recorded the name of a Lemmeleg employee, 'TIM LAVIN' and the telephone number '[.....] [C]', providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. This is corroborated by company information for Lemmeleg, which gives contains the telephone number [...] [C].⁶⁴⁶⁰
- IV.4475. The OFT notes that Lemmeleg has admitted that it obtained a cover price from either Bodill and/or Wildgoose on this tender.
- IV.4476. In regard to Quarmby (Special Projects), Bodill's tender sheet records '£579901 ✓① QSP CONSTRUCTION © FROM ' and 'MARTIN SENYK [.....] [C]' against Quarmby (Special Projects). Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. The tender sheet also has the number ① recorded against Quarmby (Special Projects) to show that Quarmby (Special Projects) was the first company to be given cover by or to request cover from Bodill. Bodill has confirmed that these numbers show the order in which Bodill was approached by other companies for a cover price and that the first to approach would get the lowest price and so on. The OFT notes that Quarmby (Special Projects) submitted a lower tender figure than the second company to be given a cover price, Wildgoose. Furthermore, Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure '£579901' against Quarmby (Special Projects), a figure that was only £74 lower than the tender that Quarmby (Special Projects) submitted for the work.
- IV.4477. Bodill's tender sheet also recorded the name of a Quarmby (Special Projects) employee, 'MARTIN SENYK' and the telephone number '[.....] [C]', providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. This is corroborated by company information for Quarmby (Special Projects), which gives contains the telephone number [...] [C].⁶⁴⁶¹
- IV.4478. Bodill, Wildgoose and Lemmeleg have all admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Lemmeleg admitted that it obtained a cover from either Bodill or Wildgoose, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Lemmeleg took a cover price from Wildgoose. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.4479. Although Quarmby (Special Projects) has not admitted engaging in this bid rigging activity, the OFT considers the admissions by Wildgoose and Lemmeleg of engaging in bid rigging activities for this tender, support the OFT's interpretation of Bodill's tender sheet as indicating that Quarmby (Special Projects) too was provided with a cover price.

IV.4480. The OFT notes in addition that the tenders submitted by Wildgoose, Lemmeleg and Quarmby (Special Projects) were higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided by Bodill.

IV.4481. The OFT further notes that the tender received by Sheffield CC from Watfords of Wombwell Ltd is the only tender which appears to have been a genuine bid not subject to bid rigging, and furthermore that this bid was significantly lower than the bids received from the other four tenderers who were engaging in cover pricing on this contract and were therefore likely to have been inflating their submitted prices.

IV.4482. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Wildgoose and Bodill, between Quarmby (Special Projects) and Bodill, and between Lemmeleg and Wildgoose. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied figures to each of Wildgoose and Quarmby (Special Projects) for cover bids. The OFT further concludes that Wildgoose supplied a figure to Lemmeleg for a cover bid.

IV.4483. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4444 to IV.4482 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁴⁶² In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Bodill to each of Wildgoose and Quarmby (Special Projects), and from Wildgoose to Lemmeleg, was not unilateral⁶⁴⁶³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁴⁶⁴
- (b) Wildgoose and Quarmby (Special Projects) can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own respective conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁴⁶⁵
- (c) Lemmeleg can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Wildgoose (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own respective conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁴⁶⁶
- (d) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Wildgoose and Quarmby (Special Projects) (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process; and⁶⁴⁶⁷
- (e) Wildgoose can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Lemmeleg (i.e. that Lemmeleg did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁴⁶⁸

and between Lemmeleg and Wildgoose, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, each of which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the demolition of existing buildings and construction of a bowls pavilion at Norfolk Heritage Park, Sheffield, tender deadline 28 July 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4486. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4487. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Wildgoose's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the section 27 inspection which took place at Wildgoose's premises on 18 November 2004. Wildgoose will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Wildgoose will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4488. In its response to the Statement, Wildgoose stated that 'it provided the OFT with an explanation of the meaning of the abbreviations for "HR" ... found in its Enquiry Register, which assisted the OFT with its analysis of the evidence pertaining to this Alleged Infringement and sees no rational reason why this Alleged Infringement has been singled out for different treatment'.⁶⁴⁶⁹ The OFT first became aware of this tender as a result of the entry in a document found during a section 27 visit to Wildgoose on 18 November 2004, which gave the OFT reasonable grounds to suspect cover pricing activity in respect of this tender prior to Wildgoose's leniency application being made. The OFT therefore confirms that Wildgoose is not entitled to immunity for this Infringement but instead will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 160: Refurbishments at Sneinton Corporate Properties, Nottingham City Council – 1 August 2003
Client: Nottingham City Council
Parties: Bodill and Dukeries

IV.4489. On 11 July 2003, Nottingham City Council ('Nottingham CC') sought tenders for refurbishment at Sneinton Corporate Properties. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 1 August 2003 and six companies were invited to tender: Dukeries, GPS Construction (Nottingham) Limited ('GPS'), P Waller, Bodill, Thomas Long and W R Bloodworth.⁶⁴⁷⁰

⁶⁴⁶⁹ Written representations of Wildgoose, 3 July 2008 as amended on 1 April 2009, paragraph 5.97.3.

⁶⁴⁷⁰ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 9138.

IV.4490. Nottingham CC received the following tender returns by 1 August 2003:⁶⁴⁷¹

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender
Dukeries	1 August 2003	£94,750	Yes
GPS	1 August 2003	£96,980
P Waller	1 August 2003	£98,802.58
Bodill	1 August 2003	£96,831
Thomas Long	1 August 2003	£101,929
W R Bloodworth	No tender returned

IV.4491. In their response to the Statement, Dukeries and Gavco stated *'Although Dukeries won this tender, the job did not proceed. Six months after the tender, a revised package of work which included on the properties in this tender was procured by Dukeries by negotiation with the Client.'*⁶⁴⁷²

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.4492. In Bodill's tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill:⁶⁴⁷³

1. Bodill
 2. DUKERIES BUILDING WILL RING U(S)
THURS pm
A. STOKES TEL [...] [C]'

IV.4493. The tender sheet for this tender also contains a ringed letter 'C' against the word 'ESTIMATOR', and at the foot of the sheet it states that Bodill's submitted price was £96,831.⁶⁴⁷⁴

IV.4494. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, kept a diary for 2003 which contains an entry for this tender on 1 August which reads 'PROP REFURBS NOTTMCC (C) (NOTTM)'.⁶⁴⁷⁵ JR explained in interview with the OFT that when a tender is written in his diary with a 'C' in brackets, 'It means we're looking for some help, a cover, a cover price'.⁶⁴⁷⁶ JR further confirmed that the entry on that page of the diary was for this tender.⁶⁴⁷⁷

IV.4495. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

⁶⁴⁷¹ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 9138.

IV.4496. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁶⁴⁷⁸ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it received a cover price from Dukeries and that it submitted a 'token tender'.⁶⁴⁷⁹

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.4497. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – Dukeries

IV.4498. The OFT wrote to Dukeries on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Dukeries had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Dukeries did not admit bid rigging on this tender.⁶⁴⁸⁰

IV.4499. The telephone number set out in Bodill's tender sheet, [.....] [C], is the Dukeries telephone number⁶⁴⁸¹, indicating that Bodill contacted Dukeries in respect of this tender.

IV.4500. The OFT subsequently wrote to Dukeries' ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Gavco, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Dukeries' response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Gavco jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Dukeries in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Gavco's legal representatives Geldards LLP said, 'Gavco has nothing to add to the previous responses made by Dukeries'.⁶⁴⁸²

IV.4501. In their response to the Statement, however, Dukeries and Gavco stated *'on the basis of the evidence presented by the OFT in the Statement of Objections Dukeries admits to providing a cover price to Bodill in respect of this tender'*⁶⁴⁸³ in respect of this Infringement.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4503. Bodill and Dukeries each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4504. Dukeries completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears they submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Dukeries being the lowest received and that they won the contract.

IV.4505. Bodill was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.4506. In regard to Dukeries, as well as the ringed letter 'C' against the word 'ESTIMATOR', Bodill's tender sheet shows the entry 'DUKERIES BUILDING WILL RING U(S) THURS pm A. STOKES TEL [.....] [C]'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from Dukeries. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £96,831 as the tender figure and this was the figure that Bodill submitted. Furthermore, the telephone number set out in Bodill's tender sheet, [.....] [C], is the Dukeries telephone number, indicating that Bodill contacted Dukeries in respect of this tender. The OFT also refers to the entry of a '(C)' against this tender in JR's diary for 1 August 2003 as described above, and his explanation of that entry.

IV.4507. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Bodill was higher than the tender submitted by Dukeries, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided and accepted, and indeed that Dukeries is the only company whose figure was below that of Bodill, such that the cover price received by Bodill could only have been provided by Dukeries.

IV.4508. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Dukeries and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Dukeries supplied a figure to Bodill for a cover bid.

IV.4509. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4491 to IV.4508 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁴⁸⁴ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Dukeries to Bodill was not unilateral⁶⁴⁸⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁴⁸⁶
- (b) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Dukeries (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁴⁸⁷ and
- (c) Dukeries can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bodill (i.e. that Bodill did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁴⁸⁸

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4512. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 27 to Bodill on 19 November 2004. Bodill will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Bodill will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4513. In its response to the Statement, Bodill stated that 'so far as Bodill is aware, the OFT had no knowledge of these Alleged Infringements and those contractors who had participated in them until 21 January 2005 and then only as a result of the evidence supplied by Bodill'.⁶⁴⁸⁹ The OFT first became aware of this tender as a result of the entry in a document obtained during a section 27 visit to Bodill on 19 November 2004⁶⁴⁹⁰, which gave the OFT reasonable grounds to suspect cover pricing activity in respect of this tender prior to Bodill's leniency application being made. Bodill will therefore only receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant - Strata

IV.4518. As part of its leniency application, Strata provided to the OFT a list of covers prepared by reference to its contract information sheets, the file 'Covers from Jan 2000 to Dec 2001' and 'contracts in hand' documents. This list included the following entry:⁶⁴⁹⁷

Date	Project	Strata ref no	Cover to

IV.4519. Following the issue of the Statement, Strata did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence from leniency applicant – Hobson & Porter

IV.4520. As part of its leniency application, Hobson & Porter provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.391 to IV.407 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4521. In addition to its written leniency application, Hobson & Porter provided to the OFT a Summary of Cover Pricing Activity (Major Works).⁶⁴⁹⁸ The entry for this contract states:

IV.4522. In its response to the Statement, Hobson & Porter stated that it '...does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁶⁴⁹⁹

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Strata

IV.4523. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Strata's past and present employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.617 to IV.634 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4524. During an interview conducted on 28 March 2007 in connection with its leniency application, Paul Throssell ('PT'), an estimator at Strata, was asked how covers given to competitors were generally recorded. PT explained 'The only way we would record that would be on the contract analysis sheet, the bob sheet, we would list down on that sheet the competition, and if we were giving them a cover, I would put a C against their name and a figure, that we'd given them'.⁶⁵⁰⁰

Witness evidence from leniency applicant – Hobson & Porter

IV.4525. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Hobson & Porter's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.391 to IV.407 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4526. In respect of this tender, in interview Russell Horner ('RH'), Minor Works Estimating Director at Hobson & Porter, stated that he was unable to tell which estimator priced this contract, 'On this one I cannot honestly remember – it would either have been myself or Mick [Michael Haywood, Estimator at Hobson & Porter]'.⁶⁵⁰¹ RH confirmed however, that on the basis of the documentary evidence Hobson & Porter gave cover prices to Lemmeleg and Kier Northern.⁶⁵⁰²

IV.4527. The OFT wrote to P Casey on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that P Casey had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter P

Casey admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging (cover pricing) activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁶⁵⁰³ P Casey added that 'The Company has few hard copy documents relating to the suspect tenders and does not maintain electronic tender documents. The estimator employed during the period of the suspect tenders emigrated to New Zealand in 2005 and has been unable to provide any reliable recollections of the tenders in question. For these reasons, the Company has only been able to consider incomplete records and it neither has evidence to indicate that cover pricing activity occurred nor an evidential basis upon which to challenge the allegations...'.⁶⁵⁰⁴

IV.4528. The OFT subsequently wrote to P Casey's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, The Casey Group, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on P Casey's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold The Casey Group jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by P Casey in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter The Casey Group admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging (cover pricing) activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved. We have no actual knowledge nor evidence of cover pricing having occurred in relation to this tender ...'.⁶⁵⁰⁵ The Casey Group also stated 'We also submit that all of the tenders should fall to be dealt with by The Casey Group Limited as the relevant parent company'.⁶⁵⁰⁶

IV.4529. In its response to the Statement, P Casey stated that it '...has not been able to establish any further facts concerning the alleged infringements referred to in the [Statement (including this Infringement)] and consequently can provide no additional assistance...'.⁶⁵⁰⁷

IV.4530. The OFT wrote to Lemmeleg on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Lemmeleg had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Lemmeleg stated, 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender. Although the position is not entirely clear, it appears that Lemmeleg received a cover price from Hobson & Porter'.⁶⁵⁰⁸

IV.4531. In their response to the Statement, Lemmeleg acknowledged its involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.⁶⁵⁰⁹

Evidence from other companies – Kier

IV.4532. The OFT wrote to Kier on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Kier had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Kier Group stated that it was unable to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁶⁵¹⁰

IV.4533. Kier stated in its response to the Statement that it did not wish to comment on the Infringements other than to make comments and observations which should be taken into account when calculating any penalty.⁶⁵¹¹ Such points are addressed in Section VI (Enforcement) below.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4535. Strata, Hobson & Porter, Lemmeleg, Kier Northern and P Casey each accepted an invitation to tender for a proposed nursery unit at Westfield Primary School, York.

IV.4536. All five companies submitted a tender. Lemmeleg, Kier Northern and P Casey were unable to submit a competitive tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.4537. In relation to the cover price provided to P Casey the OFT notes that, Strata's contract information sheet records '3.6588743 CASEY (C) 1202196' typed in the tender results box. PT of Strata confirmed that a '(C)' written next to a competitor's name alongside a figure shows that Strata gave a cover price to the company noted, as in this case. Strata confirmed in its leniency application that it gave a cover price to P Casey on this tender.

IV.4538. P Casey admitted that it engaged in bid rigging on this tender in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.4539. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Strata and PT's admission and explanation of that contemporaneous evidence, as well as P Casey's admission that it engaged in cover pricing, that Strata supplied P Casey with a cover figure for this tender.

IV.4540. In addition the OFT notes that the tender submitted by P Casey was higher than the tender submitted by Strata, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.4541. In relation to the cover prices provided to Lemmeleg and Kier Northern, the OFT notes that Hobson & Porter's tender information sheet shows 'LEMMELEG 'C' £1,208,000 KEIR NORTHERN 'C' £1,260,000,' typed in the competition box. Hobson & Porter has admitted that it provided cover prices to Lemmeleg and Kier Northern on this tender.

IV.4542. Lemmeleg also admitted that it engaged in bid rigging on this tender in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.4543. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Hobson & Porter and RH's admission and explanation of that contemporaneous evidence, as well as Lemmeleg's admission that it engaged in cover pricing, that Hobson & Porter supplied each of Lemmeleg and Kier Northern with cover figures for this tender.

IV.4544. In addition the OFT notes that the tender prices submitted by Lemmeleg and Kier Northern were higher than the tender submitted by Hobson & Porter, the pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided.

IV.4545. Strata, Hobson & Porter, Lemmeleg and P Casey have all admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Lemmeleg admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Hobson & Porter, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Hobson & Porter was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.4546. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Strata and P Casey, between Hobson & Porter and Lemmeleg, and between Hobson & Porter and Kier Northern. The OFT also concludes that Strata supplied a figure to P Casey for a cover bid and that Hobson & Porter supplied figures to both Kier Northern and Lemmeleg for cover bids. The OFT notes that five of the six bids for this tender were the subject of bid rigging.

IV.4547. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4516 to IV.4546 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁵¹² In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Strata to P Casey and from Hobson & Porter to each of Kier Northern and Lemmeleg was not unilateral⁶⁵¹³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁵¹⁴
- (b) P Casey can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Strata (i.e the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁵¹⁵
- (c) Lemmeleg and Kier Northern can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Hobson & Porter (i.e the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁵¹⁶
- (d) Strata can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from P Casey (i.e. that P Casey did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁵¹⁷ and
- (e) Hobson & Porter can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Lemmeleg and Kier Northern, (i.e. that neither Lemmeleg nor Kier Northern intended to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁵¹⁸

between Strata and P Casey, between Hobson & Porter and Lemmeleg, and between Hobson & Porter and Kier Northern, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for a proposed nursery unit at Westfield Primary School York, tender deadline 8 August 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4550. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during visits under section 28 on 6 and 7 July 2005 and 28 March 2006. Therefore Hobson & Porter will not receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Hobson & Porter in respect of this Infringement.

IV.4551. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during visits under section 28 on 6 and 7 July 2005 and 28 March 2006. Therefore Strata will not receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Strata in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.4554. In Bodill's original tender sheet, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill.⁶⁵²¹

1. Bodill

IV.4555. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £205,642.⁶⁵²²

IV.4556. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has confirmed that the handwritten annotations '£221880 ✓' and '£227995 ✓' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁶⁵²³ JR also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.4557. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has confirmed that the handwritten annotations '① P. WALLER © FROM US RING JANE WALLER' and '② FRUDD © FROM US RING MICK ROBINS' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁶⁵²⁴ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.4558. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4559. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁶⁵²⁵ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave two cover prices, to P Waller and Frudd.⁶⁵²⁶

IV.4560. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.4561. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant P Waller – Diary Entry

IV.4562. Jane Waller ('JW'), Director and Company Secretary of P Waller, kept a diary for 2003 which was obtained during the section 28 visit to P Waller's premises on 6 July 2005 and which contains an entry for this tender on 5 September 2003 which reads 'David Wraith, Bodills – cover for Pearmain Dr. [...] [C] tender at 12 noon. today ✓.'⁶⁵²⁷

Evidence from leniency applicant P Waller

IV.4563. As part of its leniency application, P Waller provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.517 to IV.526 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4564. On a list of cover prices received, provided by P Waller to the OFT as part of its leniency application, is typewritten:⁶⁵²⁸

⁶⁵²⁹ P Waller named 'David Wraith' of 'Bloodworths'. David Wraith was clearly working at Bodill at the time of this tender and the OFT believes that this was an error in the information provided by P Waller. W R Bloodworth was not invited to tender for this contract.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant P Waller

IV.4566. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, P Waller's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.517 to IV.526 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4567. In response to a question about the significance of a '✓' in her diary, JW confirmed that this tick shows that an action (i.e. in this case that DW of Bodill had provided P Waller with a cover price) had been achieved.⁶⁵³⁰

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Frudd – Enquiries Received Spreadsheet

IV.4568. A spreadsheet dated 26 August 2003 was obtained during the section 28 visit to Frudd's premises on 29 June 2005 and contains an entry for this tender which reads:⁶⁵³¹

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4572. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4573. Bodill, P Waller and Frudd each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4574. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. This is shown by the facts that it submitted the lowest price and that it won the tender.

IV.4575. P Waller and Frudd were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.4576. In regard to P Waller, Bodill's tender sheet records '£221880 ✓ ① P. WALLER © FROM US RING JANE WALLER' against P Waller. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. The tender sheet also has the number ① recorded against P Waller to show that P Waller was the first party to be given cover by or to request cover from Bodill. Bodill has confirmed that these numbers show the order in which Bodill was approached by other companies for a cover price and that the first to approach would get the lowest price and so on. The OFT notes that P Waller submitted a lower tender figure than the second company to be given a cover price, Frudd. Furthermore, Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £221,880 against P Waller, a figure that was identical, albeit with the addition of 42p, to the tender that P Waller submitted for the work.

IV.4577. Bodill's tender sheet records 'P WALLER © FROM US RING JANE WALLER' and the OFT notes more specifically that this shows that Bodill was to phone JW of P Waller in order to provide P Waller a cover price, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. This is further corroborated by the entry in JW's diary for this tender for 5 September 2003 which records 'David Wraith, Bodills – cover for Pearmain Dr. [.....] [C] tender at 12 noon. today ✓' which shows that P Waller was expecting that Bodill would provide it with a cover price by 12:00 noon on the day that the tender was due to be submitted. JW has confirmed that the '✓' shows that the cover price was successfully obtained from DW at Bodill.

IV.4578. In respect of the entry in JW's diary 'David Wraith, Bodills..... [.....] [C]', these details are independently corroborated by information obtained from W R Bloodworth, a list of contacts for cover prices, which names 'David Wraith' with the telephone contact number '[...] [C]' at Bodill.⁶⁵³³

IV.4579. In regard to Frudd, Bodill's tender sheet records '£227995 ✓ ② FRUDD © FROM US RING MICK ROBINS' against Frudd. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. The tender sheet also has the number ② recorded against Frudd to show that Frudd was the second company to be given cover by or to request cover from Bodill. Bodill has confirmed that these numbers show the order in which Bodill was approached by other companies for a cover price and that the first to approach would get the lowest price and so on. The OFT notes that Frudd submitted a higher tender figure than the first company to be given a cover price, P Waller. Furthermore, Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £227,995 against Frudd, a figure that was identical to the tender that Frudd submitted for the work.

IV.4580. In respect of the contemporaneous Enquiries Received spreadsheet obtained from Frudd, the OFT notes that a 'C' was entered and that no estimator was allocated for this tender. This 'C' shows that Frudd received a cover price on this tender and this is further confirmed by the fact that it had not allocated an estimator, which shows that it had decided not to complete the estimating process and that it would instead obtain a cover price on this tender. Frudd confirmed that it received a cover price on this tender but could not recall the identity of the company from whom it received the cover price. The OFT considers that the contemporaneous evidence from Bodill, together with Bodill's admission and explanation of that evidence, demonstrates that Frudd did in fact receive a cover price from Bodill on this tender.

IV.4581. Bodill's tender sheet also recorded the name of a Frudd employee, 'Mick Robins', providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. Michael Robins was one of the Frudd employees who were interviewed by the OFT as part of its investigation.⁶⁵³⁴

IV.4582. The OFT notes in addition that the tenders submitted by P Waller and Frudd were both higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided by Bodill.

IV.4583. The OFT also notes that no other company submitted a bid lower than Bodill's bid, and that only Bodill could therefore have given P Waller a cover price in respect of this tender. All three companies have admitted to engaging in bid rigging in respect of this tender.

IV.4584. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between P Waller and Bodill, and between Frudd and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied figures to each of P Waller and Frudd for cover bids.

IV.4585. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4554 to IV.4584 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁵³⁵ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Bodill to each of P Waller and Frudd was not unilateral⁶⁵³⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁵³⁷
- (b) P Waller and Frudd can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own respective conduct in the tendering process,⁶⁵³⁸ and

- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from P Waller and Frudd (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁵³⁹

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4588. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4589. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of P Waller's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. P Waller will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, P Waller will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4590. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Frudd's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. Frudd will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Frudd will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley – Tender Register

IV.4594. During the search of Derwent Valley's premises a Tender Register was found. The Tender Register contained the following entry in respect of this tender:⁶⁵⁴²

TENDER NR	RETURN DATE	DETAILS	OPPOSITION	TENDER	✓
9/9/03	22/9/03	Fire damage. Industrial Unit. Stenson Fields, Derby Andy Whyman - QS	Davlyn (C) AS Enterprise	170,252.00	2nd

Evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.4595. As part of its leniency application, Derwent Valley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4596. In its leniency application, Derwent Valley set out a summary of all tenders from April 2001 to January 2005 where Derwent Valley had given a cover price to a competitor for that tender, marked as 'DVC1 List of Covers Given'. The information in the summary contains the following extract:⁶⁵⁴³

Date	Contract	Company Involved
September 2003	Fire damage to industrial unit Stenson Fields Derby	Davlyn

IV.4597. Derwent Valley also provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application a 'List of Contractors Exchanging Cover Prices'. The name 'Davlyn Construction Ltd' appears on this list with the address 'Unit 5B Sir Francis Ley Ind Park Shaftesbury St. Derby' and a contact named, 'Dave'.⁶⁵⁴⁴

IV.4598. Following the issue of the Statement, Derwent Valley did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Derwent Valley

IV.4599. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Derwent Valley directors provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.303 to IV.325 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4600. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with Andrew Stone ('AS'), Managing Director of Derwent Valley. AS did recall the tender, and stated that 'I remember it was ... an insurance job. An industrial unit got burned down. I priced it, and the QS was Andy Whyman and we didn't get the job'.⁶⁵⁴⁵ AS confirmed that he made the entries in the Tender Register and stated that the 'C' written next to Davlyn 'would have meant cover'. He said, 'Davlyn will have approached me via the telephone and asked for a cover on this job'.⁶⁵⁴⁶

Evidence from leniency applicant Davlyn

IV.4601. As part of its leniency application, Davlyn provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.293 to IV.302 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4602. In its response to the Statement, Davlyn did not contest its involvement in this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Davlyn

IV.4603. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Davlyn's employees provided general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.293 to IV.302 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4604. In regard to this tender, a voluntary interview was conducted with David Goodhead ('DG'), estimator for Davlyn. DG confirmed that Davlyn have tendered and completed projects for Andy Whyman Architects in the past.⁶⁵⁴⁷ Although DG could not specifically recall taking a cover from Derwent Valley in relation to this contract, he did confirm that Derwent Valley was a company with whom Davlyn exchanged cover prices, and stated that it was therefore 'definitely feasible' that Davlyn did indeed take a cover price from Derwent Valley in relation to this tender.⁶⁵⁴⁸

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4605. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

- IV.4606. Derwent Valley and Davlyn each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.4607. Davlyn was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.
- IV.4608. Derwent Valley's Tender Register shows 'Davlyn (C)' handwritten in the 'Opposition' column. AS of Derwent Valley confirmed that this shows that a cover price was given to Davlyn. Also, Derwent Valley confirmed in its leniency application that it gave a cover price to Davlyn for this tender, and that Davlyn was a company with whom it exchanged cover prices more generally.
- IV.4609. Although DG of Davlyn did not recall taking a cover price in relation to this tender, he confirmed that Derwent Valley was a company with whom Davlyn had engaged in cover pricing, and stated that it was 'definitely feasible' that Davlyn took a cover price from Derwent Valley in relation to this tender. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Derwent Valley and AS's admission and explanation of the contemporaneous evidence, that it supplied Davlyn with a cover price for this tender.
- IV.4610. The OFT notes that the tender submitted by Davlyn was higher than the tender submitted by Derwent Valley, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.4611. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Derwent Valley and Davlyn. The OFT also concludes that Derwent Valley supplied a figure to Davlyn for a cover bid.
- IV.4612. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4594 to IV.4611 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁵⁴⁹ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Derwent Valley to Davlyn was not unilateral⁶⁵⁵⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁵⁵¹
 - (b) Davlyn can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Derwent Valley (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁵⁵² and
 - (c) Derwent Valley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Davlyn (i.e. that Davlyn did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁵⁵³
- IV.4613. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Derwent Valley and Davlyn in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for fire damage re-building works, Stenson Fields, Derby, tender deadline 22 September 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4615. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to Derwent Valley on 5 July 2005. Derwent Valley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Derwent Valley will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4616. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Davlyn's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Derwent Valley. Davlyn will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Davlyn will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 165: Residential Development, Stanningley Road, Leeds – 24 September 2003

Client: Grangecourt Developments Ltd
Parties: Irwins and Stainforth

IV.4617. On or around 20 August 2003, Grangecourt Developments Ltd sought tenders for a residential development, Stanningley Road, Leeds.⁶⁵⁵⁴ The following three companies were invited to tender: Stainforth⁶⁵⁵⁵, Irwins⁶⁵⁵⁶ and Mansell.⁶⁵⁵⁷ The deadline for receipt of tenders was on or before 24 September 2003.⁶⁵⁵⁸

IV.4618. Grangecourt Developments Ltd received the following tender returns:⁶⁵⁵⁹

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Stainforth	On or before 24 September 2003	£1,049,767.69	Yes ⁶⁵⁶⁰
Irwins	On or before 24 September 2003	£1,101,569.00
Mansell	On or before 24 September 2003	£1,146,949.00

⁶⁵⁵⁸ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 8178. This shows the tender return date as 1 November 2003, however, a fax from Martin Collier to Grangecourt Developments Ltd shows that all three tenders were received by 24 September 2003, OFT Document Reference 13686, page 1.

⁶⁵⁵⁹ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 8178. Irwins' price has been entered incorrectly as £1,001,569.00, however Irwins' Form of Tender shows correct price submitted as £1,101,569.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Irwins – Tender Register and Form of Tender

IV.4619. During the OFT's search of Irwins' premises a Tender Register was found.⁶⁵⁶¹
The tender register contained the following entries in respect of this tender:

Tender no and date Received	Project	Client	Type of Works, % Diff	Amount tendered

Evidence from leniency applicant – Irwins

IV.4620. As part of its leniency application, Irwins' legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁶⁵⁶³ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4621. In addition to its leniency application, Irwins provided to the OFT two schedules, one each for 'Covers Taken' and 'Covers Given', which detail projects/contracts identified by the company during the course of an internal investigation conducted by Ivan Peter Nelson ('IPN'), Estimating Director, into potential cover prices. At number 92 of the 'Covers Taken' schedule is the following entry:⁶⁵⁶⁴

⁶⁵⁶² The OFT notes the discrepancy between this date and the date of Stainforth's bid (22 September 2003) and considers that either Stainforth's bid may have been dated incorrectly or that the client may have given a week's extension for bids.

IV.4622. Irwins also provided to the OFT a schedule listing its competitors' contact details.⁶⁵⁶⁵ The name of Stainforth appears on the list and 'Alan Wrightson' and 'Danny Wilson' are named as the contacts, with a telephone number of [.....] [C].

IV.4623. Following the issue of the Statement, Irwins did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Irwins

IV.4624. During an interview with the OFT on 8 March 2007, conducted in connection with Irwins' leniency application, IPN provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.408 to IV.419 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4625. Also during this interview, IPN was shown the 'Tender Register'⁶⁵⁶⁶ and in particular the reference to the entry for a residential development at Stanningley Road, Leeds and was asked if he could recall anything about that contract. IPN replied 'I don't really, actually ... I can see why I wouldn't do it because at the time we weren't into residential developments, really, and I'm not quite sure why we had that enquiry'.⁶⁵⁶⁷ IPN confirmed that the presence of the handwritten letter 'C' in the fourth column on the tender register shows that Irwins took a cover in relation to this contract.⁶⁵⁶⁸ IPN also confirmed that the handwritten entry 'Stainforth' in the final column on the tender register shows that Irwins obtained a cover price from Stainforth.⁶⁵⁶⁹

Evidence from other companies – Stainforth

IV.4626. The OFT wrote to Stainforth on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Stainforth had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT received an email from Gordons LLP who were representing Stainforth on 26 April 2007, stating that ‘... we formally confirm that our Client will not be accepting your offer in advance of the deadline of 26 April 2007’.⁶⁵⁷⁰

IV.4627. However, in its response to the Statement, Stainforth accepted ‘... it provided a cover price to Irwins [in respect of this Infringement]’.⁶⁵⁷¹

The OFT’s analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4628. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4629. Irwins and Stainforth each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for a residential development at Stanningley Road, Leeds. Irwins was unable to submit a competitive tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.4630. Stainforth appears to have completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and came lowest in the tender process.

IV.4631. Irwins’ ‘Tender Register’ records ‘Stainforth’ handwritten in the final column. IPN confirmed that he received a cover price from Stainforth. In addition ‘C’ was handwritten in the type of work/ percentage difference column. IPN confirmed that ‘C’ handwritten in this column indicates that Irwins sought a cover price in relation to this contract. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Irwins and IPN’s admission and explanation of the contemporaneous evidence, that Stainforth supplied Irwins with a cover price for this tender.

IV.4632. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Irwins was higher than the tender submitted by Stainforth, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. Furthermore, the OFT notes that Stainforth was the only company to submit a tender bid below that of Irwins, and is therefore satisfied that Irwins could only have obtained a cover price from Stainforth in respect of this tender.

IV.4633. Both companies have now admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.

IV.4634. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Irwins and Stainforth. The OFT also concludes that Stainforth supplied a figure to Irwins for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Stainforth to Irwins was not unilateral⁶⁵⁷³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁵⁷⁴

⁶⁵⁷⁰ Response from Stainforth, OFT Document Reference 10862.

⁶⁵⁷¹ Written representations of Stainforth, 27 June 2008, paragraph 2.36(b).

⁶⁵⁷² See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁶⁵⁷³ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁶⁵⁷⁴ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) Irwins can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Stainforth (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁵⁷⁵ and
- (c) Stainforth can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Irwins (i.e. that Irwins did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁵⁷⁶

IV.4636. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Irwins and Stainforth, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for a residential development, Stanningley Road, Leeds, tender deadline on or before 24 September 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4638. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 21 March 2006. Irwins will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Irwins in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.4644. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4645. At Annex 14⁶⁵⁸⁴ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale’s legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 19 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2003 tenders is the following entry:⁶⁵⁸⁵

T5460	19 September	Kingsyard Management Ltd	Alterations and Fit-out Works, Unit 3, Waterfront Business Park, Merry Hill	Taken (Sisk)	Yes (Tender Spreadsheet; Tender List)

IV.4646. The Tender Spreadsheet in the last column is the Tender Status spreadsheet and the Tender List is the internal tender list referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717.

IV.4647. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application.⁶⁵⁸⁶ ‘Sisk’ appears on this list.

IV.4648. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.4649. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, CKT gave a detailed explanation of the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet to record cover prices from its competitors.

IV.4650. CKT admitted that the initials 'CKT', which appear in the estimator column for this tender, were his own and that the letter 'B', which appears in the column marked 'DIV', stands for Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager.⁶⁵⁸⁷ Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender which indicated that it was a cover price. Although CKT did not recall this tender, he referred to the relevant entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet as follows: 'CKT my name was the estimator, category B indicating a cover, tender return 19th of September 2003, Thomas Vale tender £2,809,886, Sisk in bold indicating that Sisk gave us a cover figure'.⁶⁵⁸⁸

Evidence from other companies – John Sisk

IV.4651. The OFT wrote to John Sisk on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that John Sisk had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response, John Sisk wrote to the OFT on 25 April 2007⁶⁵⁸⁹ and admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with Thomas Vale'.⁶⁵⁹⁰

IV.4652. The OFT subsequently wrote to John Sisk's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Sicon, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on John Sisk's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Sicon jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by John Sisk in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. The OFT spoke to a representative of Sicon on 6 December 2007 who stated that Sicon 'does not intend to make any comments at this stage regarding the second fast track letter'.⁶⁵⁹¹

IV.4653. In their response to the Statement, John Sisk and Sicon stated '[John] Sisk does not contest [...] [C]'.⁶⁵⁹²

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4654. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4655. Thomas Vale and John Sisk each accepted an invitation to tender for alterations to Unit 3, Waterfront Business Park, Merry Hill.

⁶⁵⁹² Written representations of John Sisk and Sicon, 27 June 2008, paragraph 6.

- IV.4656. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicated that a cover price was sought.
- IV.4657. John Sisk completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by John Sisk being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.
- IV.4658. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT, records that four competitors, namely 'A & H, Sisk, Mowlem [and] Weaver', were also invited to tender for this contract. 'Sisk' is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated as soon as a cover price had been arranged by CKT. Thomas Vale's bid to the client on the Tender Status spreadsheet is £2,809,886 which matches the amount recorded by the client.
- IV.4659. Kingsyard Management Ltd also received a tendered amount of £2,742,805 from John Sisk, which is lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from John Sisk to Thomas Vale.
- IV.4660. The OFT notes that although four competitors have been recorded on Thomas Vale's Tender Status spreadsheet, only one company is highlighted in bold, i.e. John Sisk. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate John Sisk from the other competitors. In addition, the fact that the tender had been allocated to the Building Division, for which CKT was the manager, means that it is likely that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet was accurate and that CKT had personal knowledge of the decision to receive a cover price from John Sisk at the time. It also indicates that CKT himself made contact with John Sisk.
- IV.4661. Thomas Vale admitted that John Sisk was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. CKT had an entry for John Sisk in a contact book he used to telephone other contractors for the purpose of obtaining cover prices. In interview, CKT admitted that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet indicated a cover price had been sought and obtained by Thomas Vale from John Sisk.
- IV.4662. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that John Sisk admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Thomas Vale, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Thomas Vale was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this Infringement.
- IV.4663. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and John Sisk. The OFT also concludes that John Sisk supplied a figure to Thomas Vale for a cover bid.

IV.4664. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4641 to IV.4663 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁵⁹³ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from John Sisk to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁶⁵⁹⁴, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁵⁹⁵
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from John Sisk (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁵⁹⁶ and
- (c) John Sisk can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁵⁹⁷

IV.4665. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Thomas Vale and John Sisk in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for the alterations to Unit 3, Waterfront Business Park, Merry Hill, tender deadline 1 October 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4667. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 167: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 168: Ashgate Hospice, Old Brampton, Chesterfield – 21 October 2003
Client: Ashgate Hospice
Parties: Clegg and Herbert Baggaley

IV.4668. On 21 August 2003, Ashgate Hospice sought tenders for the construction of a new build extension to provide additional in-patient facilities, day centre and consulting rooms. The following seven companies were invited to tender: Clegg, Herbert Baggaley, Wildgoose, T & C Williams, Sol, Hallamshire

Construction and G F Tomlinson.⁶⁵⁹⁸ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 21 October 2003.

IV.4669. Ashgate Hospice received the following tender returns:⁶⁵⁹⁹

IV.4670. The contemporaneous documentation received from Ashgate Hospice confirmed that both 'Cleggs and Baggaley visited the Hospice in October 2003' and that there were (separate) 'presentations from three of the parties tendering. Baggaley Construction Limited, Clegg Construction Limited and Sol Construction on Wednesday 22 October 2003'.⁶⁶⁰¹ Contemporaneous documentation also stated that Clegg's and Herbert Baggaley's *'two prices when compared have a number of similarities'*⁶⁶⁰² and that Clegg's winning tender was £11,291.50 in excess of the budget figure.⁶⁶⁰³ Clegg has noted in its response to the Statement that this difference was explained in the contemporaneous documentation by the 'buoyant market' that existed at the time.⁶⁶⁰⁴

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Clegg – Tender documentation

IV.4671. As part of its leniency application, Clegg provided a contemporaneous faxed bundle of documents associated with this tender.⁶⁶⁰⁵ The documents comprise copies of estimator's handwritten notes, tender summary sheets with handwritten notes and suggested qualifications. The first page of handwritten notes has a post-it note attached to it with 'Ashgate Faxed to Baggaley' written ⁶⁶⁰⁰ Although the contemporaneous documentation is not entirely clear regarding the date that Sol withdrew from the tender process, with some indications it may have been in October 2003, there is no dispute that it did so at some point prior to the client's consideration of the tender bids from Clegg and Herbert Baggaley, and there is no evidence that Sol engaged in any anticompetitive activity in relation to this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant Clegg

IV.4673. As part of its leniency application, Clegg provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is outlined in paragraphs IV.274 to IV.292 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4674. In Schedule A of its leniency application, Clegg set out a summary of all tenders from March 2000 to July 2005 that were 'Definites – projects where cover pricing has taken place and evidence is available together with estimator's corroboration of evidence'.⁶⁶⁰⁸ The information in the summary was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page two of the summary within Schedule A and within the section for 2003 tenders is the following entry extract:⁶⁶⁰⁹

IV.4676. Clegg also provided to the OFT as part of an Executive Summary a list of key competitors with whom Clegg exchanged information. The name 'Herbert Baggaley Limited' appears on this list.⁶⁶¹⁰

IV.4677. In its response to the Statement, Clegg stated in respect of this Infringement that it '...does not dispute the OFT's finding of infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Clegg

IV.4678. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Clegg's employees provided general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is outlined in paragraphs IV.274 to IV.292 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4679. David Clarke ('DC'), Senior Estimator at Clegg, was interviewed in regard to this tender. DC recalled the tender and said 'It was one that we priced competitively; we were keen to win. I live, personally I live in Chesterfield, so I know of Ashgate Hospice. And it was design and build tender. We picked up that the tender list was ourselves, Baggaley, Sol and possibly another.'⁶⁶¹¹ DC went on to say, 'We continued with that process of pricing it, and towards the end of the tender process, were approached by Baggaley for a cover price.' DC stated that it was Anton Newell ('AN'), Chief Estimator at Herbert Baggaley, who approached him.⁶⁶¹²

IV.4680. Referring to the faxed estimator notes, DC confirmed that the figures on the documents were primarily written by him and that those circled belonged to Leslie Hunt ('LH') another estimator at Clegg. DC said of LH, 'me being busy completing the tender, due in at 12 o'clock, he was then...I believe he spoke to Anton...whilst I was completing my tender. Which is why the figures are put in, in Les's writing. For him to take that piece of paper and give the figures. But in the first instance Anton had spoken to myself, I believe.' DC was asked what AN had asked for and replied 'Asked for a cover price...Purely, again, nice job, but couldn't fit it in. They've got the same work commitment problems.'⁶⁶¹³ DC explained that the tender included pricing for the main works along with other works, and that figures for each of these had to be included on a submitted Form of Tender and subsequently a summary of tender.⁶⁶¹⁴

IV.4681. LH was also interviewed in regard to this tender. LH recalled the tender, saying, 'the reason I know about that is that at some point I was asked by David [DH] to check some information.'⁶⁶¹⁵ LH identified this information as being what was written on the faxed estimator notes. LH identified the pieces of handwriting on the documents that were his and said 'these are essentially figures that David Clarke has put together but circled on the right hand side, they're my figures.'⁶⁶¹⁶

IV.4682. LH went into detail of what these figures meant and explained their purpose saying, 'I think these are the figures that he [DC] wanted me to relate to

Baggaleys. I think I may have even made the phone call on this occasion even though David...it was David's tender and he was involved in....it was a bit, this seems to indicate, it was a bit of a complex situation, various options and this, that and the other, so it wasn't just straightforward one figure and I think it was design and build and very often when you're given a cover for design and build, it's more complicated because very often you have to try and give more information other than just a single figure. Very often it is a single figure but sometimes they want a break down or something like that, option for doing this, what if we do that type of thing. So I think this falls in to that category, I'm pretty sure I may have been asked to make the call'.⁶⁶¹⁷ LH could not recall who actually sent the fax to Herbert Baggaley but when asked whom at Herbert Baggaley he would have contacted, LH replied 'It was probably Roger Hayes or Anton Newell'.⁶⁶¹⁸

IV.4683. Simon Blackburn ('SB'), Managing Director of Clegg, was also interviewed in regard to this tender. SB was asked if he recalled the tender and said 'I do. I think we gave Baggaleys a cover on that'.⁶⁶¹⁹ SB was shown the figure of '1864150' on page one of the faxed estimator notes, along with a Herbert Baggaley tender report⁶⁶²⁰ which had an entry of '£1,864,150' next to this tender. SB believed that Clegg might have made a calculation mistake and given a figure of '1,947,690' for a cover price to Herbert Baggaley.⁶⁶²¹

IV.4684. SB spoke about the decision process in relation to this tender saying that 'We were presumably asked to give a cover, to Baggaleys by them. I'm not sure by whom, which we did, and we bid the scheme, we won the scheme, and we actually carried out the scheme'. SB went on to explain the events in more detail. He said 'the amount of information we did give on that is far in excess of what we would normally give on a cover. Subsequent to us actually giving the cover and bidding it, I did find out why we had to give that information, because the client did interview Baggaleys for the scheme, and at the interview for the scheme, the client did tell me that he'd only received two prices, albeit they'd gone out to six tenderers. And on the day of the tender returns, they'd only got two prices come back in. That was with Baggaleys. So it was quite a shock to actually see, I think it was Chris Collison and their [Herbert Baggaley's] marketing guy sat in the reception outside when we left the interview. So yeah, the client told me in the interview they'd only had two tenders returned, and hence, obviously Baggaleys had asked for a fair amount of information because the client had pursued that, because they were intending to interview them and consider them for the project'.⁶⁶²²

IV.4690. As part of its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is outlined in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4691. In particular, Herbert Baggaley provided a list of tenders with commentary. On this list is an entry in respect of this tender which contains the following information:⁶⁶²⁷

DATE	PROJ NO	TENDER NO	JOB DESCRIPTION/ESTIMATORS COMMENTS	CLIENT
21/08/2003	03/117P	T03/110	Extensions to Hospice, Chesterfield MAY HAVE BEEN CLEGG	Ashgate Hospice

APPROX £000'S	A B C R	DUE	BID £000'S	RESULT
1,300	C	21/10/2003	1,864,150	Missed

IV.4692. In its response to the Statement, Herbert Baggaley stated in respect of this Infringement:

'i. The infringement only included two out of the seven companies invited to tender for the contract and although no other party did in fact bid, there is no evidence that Baggaleys (or Clegg) was aware of this and at least one party – Sol – was still involved in the tender process after Clegg's bid had been submitted – there is no information on when Baggaleys' bid was submitted.

ii. Baggaleys independently decided that it did not wish to win this tender and that the price it submitted would not be designed to win.

iii. Although the OFT refers to the fact that the winning bid was in excess of the budget price – in fact the winning bid was only £11,291.50 in excess of the budget price in relation to a tender price of £1,855,610.

iv. The agreement related to only a single tender rather than being part of any wider agreement affecting tenders generally'.⁶⁶²⁸

⁶⁶²⁷ List of Tenders, OFT Document Reference 3896, page 8.

⁶⁶²⁸ Written representations of Herbert Baggaley, 27 June 2008, paragraph 46(c).

IV.4693. The OFT notes that none of the points raised by Herbert Baggaley undermines the OFT's finding of an infringement. To the extent the points are relevant to assessing the seriousness of the Infringement, they are considered further in Section VI (Enforcement).

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley

IV.4694. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley's employees provided general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is outlined in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4695. AN was interviewed in regard to this tender. AN said that internal Herbert Baggaley documents did not indicate who else was involved, but said that 'it may have been Clegg's'.⁶⁶²⁹ Referring to the Herbert Baggaley tendering schedule, described at paragraph IV.4687 above, AN said 'Yes, with 'CP' in the position, as a shortened version of cover price'. Referring to the faxed estimator notes obtained from Clegg and described at paragraph IV.4671 above, AN said 'A summary of tender is information that we all try and get away with submitting, particularly if we've not priced the job. It looks like that would have... they would have probably sent whoever we took the cover from... Sorry, the client would have requested the contract sub analysis to be broken down, so we then would have had to ring who we took a cover from, to see whether they would furnish us with one that we could then submit, to back up our tender'.⁶⁶³⁰

IV.4696. AN also looked at the fax message confirmation report attached to this bundle, and referring to the number '[.....] [C]' he said 'That is our fax number'. Noting the date of '30-10' on the fax confirmation being beyond the tender submission date, AN said, 'Within a week afterwards they would have...the client, or the employer's agent would have asked us for a breakdown, we've gone back to whoever it was that we got that information from, and we then put it on to a copy of that and sent it off to them'. AN, upon learning that the estimator notes and fax message confirmation were documents from Clegg, said 'It was Clegg, all right'.⁶⁶³¹

IV.4698. Clegg and Herbert Baggaley each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. Herbert Baggaley was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.4699. Clegg's contemporaneous fax of estimator notes, a document completed by hand by estimators, in this case noting the estimator for the tender as being DC, with handwritten entries also by estimator LH, shows figures that were calculated, by Clegg's admission, for the sole purpose of providing a cover price to a competitor. Each of the pages of this fax has a diagonal line drawn across it with 'Baggaley' written along it.

⁶⁶³¹ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 11317, pages 32 and 33.

- IV.4700. The OFT notes that the circled figure of '1864150' on these faxed documents is almost identical to the bid for this tender recorded by Herbert Baggaley, of '£1,864,150.23'. Furthermore, the circled figures on the same fax for 'Bus drop off prelims' at '35600' and 'Add'l Prelims' at '47940' are almost identical to those figures handwritten on the Form of Tender submitted by Herbert Baggaley. The figures for each of these two items on that Form of Tender are '£35,672.00' and '£47,947.00'.
- IV.4701. The OFT notes that the figure of '1864150' on the faxed documents from Clegg also appears on a contemporaneous estimating exception report at Herbert Baggaley as the bid figure for this tender.
- IV.4702. The OFT also notes that the number on the fax message confirmation report in respect of the estimator notes was identified by AN, the estimator at Herbert Baggaley who dealt with this tender, as being a fax number for Herbert Baggaley.
- IV.4703. In addition, the OFT notes that the Estimating - Exception Report and the printed tender schedule, found at Herbert Baggaley, contain the letter 'C' next to the entries for this tender. The OFT notes from interviews with Herbert Baggaley's employees that notes such as these refer to cover prices having been exchanged when written next to references to tenders. The OFT further notes the entry 'CP' marked on the Herbert Baggaley tendering schedule in an entry for this tender was described by AN as being a shortened form of the words 'Cover Price'.
- IV.4704. The estimators at both Clegg and Herbert Baggaley described this tender as one where the bid needed to be presented then broken down into various options. AN of Herbert Baggaley explained that following receipt of the tenders, the client requested a breakdown of the figures. Since Herbert Baggaley had not calculated its own tender figure, it had to contact Clegg, from whom it had taken a cover price, in order to obtain a breakdown to back up its tender. Both parties admit to engaging in cover pricing in respect of this tender.
- IV.4705. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Clegg and Herbert Baggaley. The OFT also concludes that Clegg supplied a figure to Herbert Baggaley for a cover bid, along with tender breakdown figures that were faxed from Clegg to Herbert Baggaley. The OFT notes that the client only received two tenders for this work at a hospice, and that both tenders were the subject of bid rigging. The OFT further notes that the client's agent had noticed similarities in the tender breakdown figures and that the winning tender from Clegg was in excess of the client's budget figure.
- IV.4706. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4671 to IV.4705 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁶³² In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Clegg to Herbert Baggaley was not unilateral⁶⁶³³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors,⁶⁶³⁴

⁶⁶³² See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁶⁶³³ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

- (b) Herbert Baggaley can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Clegg (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁶³⁵ and
- (c) Clegg can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Herbert Baggaley (i.e. that Herbert Baggaley did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁶³⁶

IV.4707. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Clegg and Herbert Baggaley in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for Ashgate Hospice, Old Brampton, Chesterfield, date of tender 21 October 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4709. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 14 June 2005. Herbert Baggaley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Herbert Baggaley will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4710. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Clegg's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Herbert Baggaley. Clegg will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Clegg will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 169: Assessment Centre HMYOI Glen Parva Leicester – 28 October 2003

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley – Pre-Tender Quality Plan

IV.4713. Herbert Baggaley's 'Pre-tender Quality Plan' relating to 'HMYOI Glen Parva Assessment Centre' provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, has under the section headed 'Known Competitors', the following entries, all of which are handwritten:⁶⁶⁴⁰

*'Hallam
- Stimpsons
- Sandycroft
Carter – CR – [...] [C] – Ray Lockett - £ 272,843.00.'*

Evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley

IV.4714. As part of its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4715. Following the issue of the Statement, Herbert Baggaley did not submit any specific written or oral representations in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley

IV.4716. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4717. During interview Anton Newell ('AN'), Chief Estimator at Herbert Baggaley, was specifically asked about this tender and reference was made to the pre-tender quality plan⁶⁶⁴¹, discussed in paragraph IV.4713 above. AN said, 'Which suggests quite strongly that we gave a cover to Carter's, Ray Lockett, a figure of about £18,000 above ours. We priced the job to try and win, but I believe we were unsuccessful' and 'the competition of Hallam, Stimpson's, and

Sandycroft, and Carter's from Derby another company that we would regularly have been giving and receiving covers from'.⁶⁶⁴²

Evidence from other companies – G Carter

IV.4718. The OFT wrote to G Carter on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that G Carter had participated in bid rigging on this tender. G Carter did not respond to the OFT's offer by the date for acceptance of 26 April 2007.

IV.4719. G Carter confirmed on 19 April 2007 that Ray Lockett had worked as an estimator for G Carter but that he was no longer employed by them.⁶⁶⁴³

IV.4720. However, the OFT did not receive a response to its offer by the date for acceptance of 26 April 2007.⁶⁶⁴⁴ The OFT informed G Carter's legal representatives, Berryman Shacklock LLP, on 18 May 2007, that as a reply had not been received by the deadline the OFT would treat this as a rejection of the OFT's Fast Track Offer. Berryman Shacklock LLP confirmed that it understood the situation.⁶⁶⁴⁵

IV.4721. The OFT subsequently received a letter dated 2 August 2007 from Berryman Shacklock LLP, which said 'Our client is well aware that the practice of "giving and taking covers/help" has been endemic in the construction industry for many years. It accepts that it is possible, if not likely that against that background, it has engaged in that activity itself.

IV.4722. However, having made detailed enquires as to the contracts to which you refer in the annex of your penalty offer letter, it cannot find evidence that it engaged in such activity on those specific matters and it is against that background that it did not apply for the reduction of penalty'.⁶⁶⁴⁶

IV.4723. Following the issue of the Statement, G Carter did not submit any written or oral representations.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4724. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4725. G Carter and Herbert Baggaley each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract to carry out refurbishment and alterations to the South Area Block at HMYOI Glen Parva, Leicester.

IV.4726. AN has confirmed that Herbert Baggaley submitted a bid in the hope of winning this tender.

IV.4727. G Carter was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

⁶⁶⁴⁶ Response from G Carter, OFT Document Reference 13017.

- IV.4728. In regard to G Carter, Herbert Baggaley's 'Pre-tender Quality Plan' contains the following entry 'Carter – CR – [.....] [C] – Ray Lockett - £ 272,843.00'. The figure recorded matches that submitted by G Carter for this tender and Herbert Baggaley has confirmed that a cover price was given to G Carter.⁶⁶⁴⁷
- IV.4729. The telephone number is shown as a contact number for G Carter in the 'Contact for Cover Prices',⁶⁶⁴⁸ provided in W R Bloodworth's leniency application. Ray Lockett is referred to by P Waller as a contact at G Carter⁶⁶⁴⁹ and G Carter has confirmed that Ray Lockett worked as an estimator at that company.
- IV.4730. Herbert Baggaley subsequently confirmed its admission to engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in a letter dated 26 January 2009.⁶⁶⁵⁰
- IV.4731. The OFT notes that G Carter submitted a price of £272,843.00, a figure above that of Herbert Baggaley, the pattern consistent with a cover having been taken from Herbert Baggaley. The OFT also notes that Herbert Baggaley confirmed that 'Carter's from Derby [was] another company that we would regularly have been giving and receiving covers from'.⁶⁶⁵¹
- IV.4732. The OFT further notes that although G Carter has not admitted to bid rigging specifically in relation to this tender, it has accepted that it is 'probable, if not likely' that it has engaged in cover pricing activities more generally.
- IV.4733. The OFT considers that the contemporaneous evidence from Herbert Baggaley, and AN's admissions and explanations of that contemporaneous evidence, are sufficient for it to be satisfied that G Carter accepted a cover price from Herbert Baggaley.
- IV.4734. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Herbert Baggaley and G Carter and that Herbert Baggaley supplied G Carter with a figure for a cover bid.
- IV.4735. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraph IV.4713 to IV.4734 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter 1 prohibition.⁶⁶⁵² In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Herbert Baggaley to G Carter was not unilateral⁶⁶⁵³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁶⁵⁴
 - (b) G Carter can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Herbert Baggaley (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁶⁵⁵ and

- (c) Herbert Baggaley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from G Carter (i.e. that G Carter did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁶⁵⁶

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4738. Herbert Baggaley informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Herbert Baggaley will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 170: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 171: Alterations to Ward C31 and C32 to Form a Women's Centre, Queens Medical Centre, Nottingham – 12 November 2003

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.4741. In Bodill's original tender sheet, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill.⁶⁶⁵⁹

IV.4742. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £110,084.⁶⁶⁶⁰

IV.4743. Andrew Bodill ('AB'), an estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has confirmed that the handwritten annotations '£125971.00p' and '£122638.00p' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁶⁶⁶¹ AB also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.4744. During an inspection of AB's personal copies of the tender sheets on 26 April 2007, another copy of this tender sheet was found with the additional handwritten annotations 'Lowest £75K' and '2nd £95K' under the section headed 'Tenderers'.⁶⁶⁶²

IV.4745. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has confirmed that the handwritten annotations '② © FROM US WILL RING US WED AM' and '① © FROM US RING PAUL Tel:- [...] [C]' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁶⁶⁶³ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.4746. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4747. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁶⁶⁶⁴ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave two cover prices, to John Cawley and Wiggett.⁶⁶⁶⁵

IV.4748. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.4749. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4750. In respect of the additional handwritten annotations 'Lowest £75K' and '2nd £95K' on his own personal copy of the tender sheet, AB confirmed in interview with the OFT on 26 April 2007, 'Yeah, I've put lowest approximate... well, I might not have put approximately but I've rounded it up to £75K next to tenderer number two, which was Tomlinson and I've put second £95K next to tenderer number three, which was Fish. And that, again, would be information which we would have received after the tender had gone in, direct from the Queens Medical Centre when we've rang up chasing where that figure was'.⁶⁶⁶⁶

IV.4754. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, John Cawley's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.441 to IV.452 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4755. In respect of this tender Nicholas Greene ('NG'), Director of John Cawley, could not recall anything specifically, but on being asked by the OFT if it would be unusual for a tender to be returned, he said, 'Would have been, yes...because that's the whole idea of covers is literally so you didn't lose face with a client, nothing more, nothing less'.⁶⁶⁶⁸

IV.4756. On being shown by the OFT the Bodill tender sheet for this tender, NG said in respect of the entry '£125971.00p @ CAWLEY © FROM US WILL RING US WED AM', that 'It may be that that's the figure they were going to give us and we never phoned them or we phoned them but it was too late or, I don't know'.⁶⁶⁶⁹

IV.4757. Richard Greene ('RG'), Co-Director of John Cawley, on being shown by the OFT the Bodill tender sheet for this tender, said in respect of the entry '£125971.00p @ CAWLEY © FROM US WILL RING US WED AM', 'we obviously did get some help...maybe I couldn't find anybody until the last minute...Find anybody to give me any help to give me a cover. So, I might have decided to return it and then at the last minute found out somebody else was in'.⁶⁶⁷⁰ RG added that, '...in those days, its far preferable to put something in than send it back, because they [the client] didn't like it if you sent them back'.⁶⁶⁷¹

IV.4758. The OFT wrote to Wiggett on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Wiggett had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Wiggett did not respond to the letter. On 15 May 2007 the OFT contacted Wiggett by telephone and it said that after consideration it was rejecting the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁶⁶⁷²

IV.4759. In its response to the Statement, Wiggett stated in respect of this Infringement that it '...must accept that in light of the evidence ... [outlined in the Statement] that a cover price must have been taken from Bodill'.⁶⁶⁷³ They further stated, '[Paul]⁶⁶⁷⁴ Wiggett believes that he lacked the resources to prepare a tender for this work'.⁶⁶⁷⁵

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4760. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4761. Bodill, John Cawley and Wiggett each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4762. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.4763. John Cawley and Wiggett were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.4764. In regard to John Cawley, Bodill's tender sheet records '£125971.00p ② CAWLEY © FROM US WILL RING US WED AM' against John Cawley. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. The tender sheet also has the number '2' recorded against John Cawley to show that John Cawley was the second company to be given cover by or to request cover from Bodill. Bodill has confirmed that these numbers show the order in which Bodill was approached by other companies for a cover price and that the first to approach would get the lowest price and so on. The OFT notes that John Cawley submitted a higher tender figure than the first company to be given a cover price, Wiggett. Furthermore, Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £125,971 against John Cawley, a figure that was identical to the tender that John Cawley submitted for the work.

IV.4765. Bodill's tender sheet records 'CAWLEY © FROM US WILL RING US WED AM' and the OFT notes more specifically that this shows that John Cawley was to phone Bodill on the morning of the day for submitting the tender, in order to receive a cover price, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. Furthermore, on being shown Bodill's tender sheet, both NG and RG of John Cawley accepted that it was likely that John Cawley was provided with a cover price by Bodill.

IV.4766. In regard to Wiggett, Bodill's tender sheet records '£122638.00p ① WIGGETT © FROM US RING PAUL Tel:- [...] [C]' against Wiggett. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. The tender sheet also has the number '1' recorded against Wiggett to show that Wiggett was the first party to be given cover by or to request cover from Bodill. Bodill has confirmed that these numbers show the order in which Bodill was approached by other companies for a cover price and that the first to approach would get the lowest price and so on. The OFT notes that Wiggett submitted a lower tender figure than the second company to be given a cover price, John Cawley. Furthermore, Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £122,638 against Wiggett, a figure that was identical to the tender that Wiggett submitted for the work.

⁶⁶⁷⁴ As clarified by Wiggett in email dated 29 May 2009.

⁶⁶⁷⁵ Written representations of Wiggett, 25 June 2008, paragraph 3.10.

IV.4767. Bodill's tender sheet also recorded the name of a Wiggett employee, 'Paul' and the telephone number [...] [C], providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. This is corroborated by information obtained from W R Bloodworth, a list of contacts for cover prices, which names 'Paul Wiggett' at Wiggett with a telephone contact number of [...] [C].⁶⁶⁷⁶

IV.4768. The OFT notes in addition that the tenders submitted by John Cawley and Wiggett were both higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided by Bodill.

IV.4769. All three Parties have now admitted liability in respect of this Infringement.

IV.4770. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between John Cawley and Bodill, and between Wiggett and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied figures to each of John Cawley and Wiggett for cover bids.

IV.4771. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4741 to IV.4770 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁶⁷⁷ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Bodill to each of John Cawley and Wiggett was not unilateral⁶⁶⁷⁸, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁶⁷⁹
- (b) John Cawley and Wiggett can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own respective conduct in the tendering process,⁶⁶⁸⁰ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from John Cawley and Wiggett (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁶⁸¹

Immunity and leniency assessment

⁶⁶⁸¹ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.4774. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4775. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of John Cawley's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. John Cawley will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, John Cawley will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 172: Alterations to Building, Universal Milling Technology, Sutton Fields Industrial Estate, Hull – 5 December 2003
Client: Gowers Bell Ltd
Parties: Hobson & Porter and Hall

IV.4776. On 21 November 2003, Gowers Bell Ltd sought tenders for alterations to building, Universal Milling Technology, Sutton Fields Industrial Estate, Hull. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 5 December 2003 and four companies were invited to tender: Hobson & Porter, Geo Houlton, Hall and Robinson & Sawdon.⁶⁶⁸²

IV.4777. Gowers Bell Ltd received the following four tender returns by 12:00 noon on 5 December 2003:⁶⁶⁸³

Company	Date tender received	Time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender
Hobson & Porter	5 December 2003	Prior to Noon	£46,490.81
Geo Houlton	5 December 2003	Prior to Noon	£46,595.00
Hall	5 December 2003	Prior to Noon	£49,880.00
Robinson & Sawdon	5 December 2003	Prior to Noon	£51,786.00

IV.4778. The tender exercise did not proceed. Gowers Bell Ltd then made further enquiries of the two lowest tenderers, Hobson & Porter and Geo Houlton, with an alternative specification. Following revised tenders received from Hobson & Porter and Geo Houlton, the job was awarded to Geo Houlton.⁶⁶⁸⁴

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter – Tender Summary Sheet

IV.4779. The Minor Works Tender Summary sheet for this tender states that Hobson & Porter's submitted figure was £46,490.81 and in the known competition section is written, 'Halls @ £49,883.00'.⁶⁶⁸⁵

Evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter

IV.4780. As part of its leniency application, Hobson & Porter provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.391 to IV.407 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4781. In Hobson & Porter's Summary of Cover Pricing Activity (Minor Works) it is stated that Hobson & Porter provided a cover to Hall.⁶⁶⁸⁶

IV.4782. In its response to the Statement, Hobson & Porter stated that it '...does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁶⁶⁸⁷

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter

IV.4783. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Hobson & Porter's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.391 to IV.407 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4784. In respect of this tender, in interview Ian Gibbins ('IG'), Minor Works Director at Hobson & Porter, confirmed that this tender was priced by Andrew Scott ('AS'), an ex-employee of Hobson & Porter, who left in 2005. IG confirmed that the signature at the foot of the Minor Works Tender Summary sheet was AS's handwriting. IG confirmed that, 'almost definitely we would have given a cover price of about £3,000 more than ours'.⁶⁶⁸⁸ IG confirmed that he managed AS and that AS was involved in cover pricing, 'I would have been aware at the time he would have given a cover to Hall's yes'.⁶⁶⁸⁹

Evidence from other companies – Hall

IV.4785. The OFT wrote to Hall on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Hall had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Hall admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁶⁶⁹⁰

IV.4786. In its response to the Statement, Hall confirmed that '[i]t is not disputed that Hall participated in cover pricing during the relevant period set out in the Statement'.⁶⁶⁹¹

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

⁶⁶⁹⁰ Response from Hall, OFT Document Reference 10373, page 6.

⁶⁶⁹¹ Written representations of Hall, 24 June 2008, paragraph 53.

- IV.4788. Hobson & Porter and Hall each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.4789. Hobson & Porter completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. Hobson & Porter wanted to win the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.
- IV.4790. Hall was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.
- IV.4791. In regard to Hall, Hobson & Porter's Minor Works Tender Summary sheet records 'Halls @ £49,883.00'. Hobson & Porter has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. The OFT notes that the figure Hobson & Porter recorded on the tender sheet, £49,883.00, is identical other than the reduction of £3, to the tender price that Hall submitted, which was £49,880.00.
- IV.4792. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Hall was higher than the tender submitted by Hobson & Porter, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. Furthermore, both Hobson & Porter and Hall have admitted engaging in bid rigging on this tender.
- IV.4793. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Hall and Hobson & Porter. The OFT also concludes that Hobson & Porter supplied a figure to Hall for a cover bid.
- IV.4794. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4779 to IV.4793 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁶⁹² In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Hobson & Porter to Hall was not unilateral⁶⁶⁹³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁶⁹⁴
 - (b) Hall can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Hobson & Porter (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁶⁹⁵ and
 - (c) Hobson & Porter can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Hall (i.e. that Hall did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁶⁹⁶

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4797. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to Hobson & Porter on 28 March 2006. Hobson & Porter will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Hobson & Porter in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 173: 18-bed Ward Extension, Beynon Centre, New Cross Hospital – 11 December 2003

Client: Royal Wolverhampton Hospital NHS Trust

Parties: Thomas Vale and Shaylor

IV.4798. On 4 November 2003, The Royal Wolverhampton Hospital NHS Trust ('Royal Wolverhampton Hospital') sought tenders for an 18-bed ward extension at the Beynon Centre, New Cross Hospital. The following six companies were invited to tender: W Gough & Sons Ltd, Shaylor, Arthur M Griffiths, Thomas Vale, Weaver plc and G F Tomlinson.⁶⁶⁹⁷ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 10:00 on 11 December 2003.

IV.4799. Royal Wolverhampton Hospital received the following tender returns:⁶⁶⁹⁸

Within this contact list, there is an entry for Shaylor plus names and a telephone number.⁶⁷⁰¹

IV.4802. Thomas Vale also maintained an internal list of tenders in progress, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Thomas Vale provided three tender lists referring to this tender, for weeks commencing 10 November 2003, 24 November 2003 and 1 December 2003. They are identical except the entry for 10 November 2003 has no entry in the Category column whereas the letter 'B' appears in this column for the entries dated 24 November 2003 and 1 December 2003. Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.4803. At Annex 14⁶⁷⁰³ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale's legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands region. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page 18 of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2003 tenders is the following entry:⁶⁷⁰⁴

Tender No	Date	Client	Comments	Cover Given/Taken	Evidence

IV.4804. The Tender Spreadsheet in the last column is the Tender Status spreadsheet referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and the Tender List is the internal tender list referred to in that explanation.

IV.4805. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁶⁷⁰⁵ and Shaylor appears on this list.

IV.4806. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.4807. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, CKT gave a detailed explanation of the use of the Tender Status spreadsheet to record cover prices from its competitors.

IV.4808. CKT admitted that the initials 'CKT', which appear in the estimator column for this tender, were his own and that the letter 'B', which appears in the column marked 'DIV', stands for Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager.⁶⁷⁰⁶ In interview, CKT referred to the entry for this tender in the Tender Status spreadsheet as follows: 'CKT the estimator, category B is the cover, tender return date 11th of December 2003, Thomas Vale tender £654,983, Shaylor in bold indicating that Shaylor gave us a cover'.⁶⁷⁰⁷

Evidence from other companies – Shaylor

IV.4809. The OFT wrote to Shaylor on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Shaylor had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response, Shaylor wrote to the OFT on 27 April 2007 and admitted that it gave a cover price on this tender but 'cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁶⁷⁰⁸ In its response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, Shaylor stated it had not made admissions where it believed no cover had been given or taken or where there was a lack of information.⁶⁷⁰⁹ The OFT infers from this that where an admission was made, Shaylor had some form of information or evidential support for that admission.

IV.4810. In its response to the Statement, Shaylor stated 'Shaylor is not withdrawing any of these admissions or proposing to challenge the evidence in relation to any of the three alleged infringements'.⁶⁷¹⁰

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4812. Thomas Vale and Shaylor each accepted an invitation to tender for the 18-bed ward extension at Beynon Centre, New Cross Hospital.

IV.4813. It appears that Shaylor completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Shaylor being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.4814. Thomas Vale was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Thomas Vale categorised this as a Category B tender, which indicated that this was a cover price. Thomas Vale had not allocated the category of this tender by the week commencing 10 November 2003. However, by the week commencing 24 November 2003, the letter 'B' had been inserted into the category column. This indicates that a conscious decision was made in the time leading up to the tender deadline to register this as a tender for which Thomas Vale would not be submitting a competitive bid.

IV.4815. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, maintained in electronic format by Chief Estimator CKT, records five competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely 'Weaver, Shaylor, Tomlinson, Wm Gough [and] A M Griffiths'. Shaylor is marked in bold lettering which Thomas Vale has confirmed shows that a cover price was received from that company and that the spreadsheet would have been updated as soon as the cover price had been arranged by CKT. Thomas Vale's bid to the client on the Tender Status spreadsheet is £654,983 which matches the amount recorded by the client Royal Wolverhampton Hospital.

IV.4816. Royal Wolverhampton Hospital also received a tendered amount of £603,036.40 from Shaylor, which is lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Shaylor to Thomas Vale.

IV.4817. The OFT notes that although five competitors have been recorded on the Tender Status spreadsheet, only one of these is highlighted in bold, i.e. Shaylor. This indicates that a conscious decision was made to differentiate Shaylor from the other known competitors. In addition, the fact that the tender had been allocated to CKT, who was responsible for the maintenance of the spreadsheet, means that it is likely that the entry was accurate and that CKT had personal knowledge of the decision to receive a cover price at the time. It also indicates that CKT himself made contact with Shaylor. The OFT also notes that there is no indication or evidence that Thomas Vale received a cover price on this tender from anyone other than Shaylor.

⁶⁷¹⁰ Oral representations of Shaylor, 29 July 2008, pages 2 and 3.

IV.4818. Thomas Vale admitted that Shaylor was one of the key competitors with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity. In interview, CKT confirmed that the entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet shows that a cover price had been received by Thomas Vale from Shaylor.

IV.4819. Finally, both parties admit to bid rigging activities on this tender. In response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007, Shaylor admitted to giving a cover price on this tender, without sight of the OFT's evidence that it had given rather than received a cover price. The OFT concludes from the terms of Shaylor's admission that it was based on some form of supporting information or evidence. Having reviewed the evidence in the Statement, Shaylor also confirmed that it would not challenge that evidence or withdraw its earlier admission.

IV.4820. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Thomas Vale and Shaylor. The OFT also concludes that Shaylor supplied a figure to Thomas Vale for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Shaylor to Thomas Vale was not unilateral⁶⁷¹², and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁷¹³
- (b) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Shaylor (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁷¹⁴ and
- (c) Shaylor can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Thomas Vale (i.e. that Thomas Vale did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁷¹⁵

IV.4822. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Thomas Vale and Shaylor in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for the 18-bed ward extension at Beynon Centre, New Cross Hospital, tender deadline 11 December 2003.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4824. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4828. During the OFT's inspection of Thomas Vale's East Midlands office, a tender enquiry book for the period 2002 onwards was found.⁶⁷¹⁹ This contained the following entry:

Tender	Received	Due	Time	Client	Architect/QS/Engineer
K1072	15.12.03	22.12.03	Noon	Rhombus Properties	Coggan Assoc

EST	Comments	Result
PAK	£427,243.00	2nd

IV.4829. The Tender Status spreadsheet was maintained at Thomas Vale's head office by Christopher Keith Trickett ('CKT'), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, who kept a 'little black book'⁶⁷²⁰ of contacts, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Within this list, there is an entry for GAJ plus contact names, including that of Terry Fell and a telephone number of [...] [C].⁶⁷²¹

Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.4830. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the Tender Summary sheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4831. At Annex 13⁶⁷²² of its leniency application, Thomas Vale's legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005 in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price at the East Midlands (Leicester) office. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. At page four of the schedule under Annex 13 and within the section for 2003 tenders is the following entry:⁶⁷²³

K1072	22 December	Rhombus Properties	Refurbishment of Unit 1, Dutton Road, Aldermans Green Industrial Estate, Coventry	Given (GAJ, Terry Fell, [...] [C])	Yes (Tender Summary Sheet)

IV.4832. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁶⁷²⁴ and GAJ appears on this list.

IV.4833. Following the issue of the Statement, Thomas Vale did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.4834. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, CKT gave an explanation of the use of the Tender Summary sheet to record cover prices to its competitors.

IV.4835. In interview CKT also gave his explanation of the entry on the Tender Summary sheet. He said 'the fact that...the tender number is prefixed with a K immediately told me that it was an East Midlands tender for reasons as I've described before - Paul Kirk was the estimator over there and we just used K as a prefix...the fact that this is our QA EST6 sheet - tender summary sheet...which...the fact that is actually filled in indicates that it was a bona fide tender by Thomas Vale Construction, so we did actually price it...however, when you look at the competition at the bottom of that same sheet, there's a number two there which says GAJ with the name of Terry Fell and the telephone number...Now that says to me that we actually gave GAJ via Terry Fell a cover figure...there'd be no other reason to put GAJ's phone number on that sheet with a contact name unless we were required to make contact with them'.⁶⁷²⁵

IV.4836. Although CKT had no personal recollection of the tender he knew that Terry Fell was an estimator at GAJ and following internal enquiries made within Thomas Vale could confirm that 'Paul Kirk...was very efficient in recording and archiving information electronically' and 'K1072 was a genuine category A tender and was priced by Paul Kirk'.⁶⁷²⁶

IV.4837. Thomas Vale identified Paul Kirk ('PAK') as the estimator responsible for this tender. In interview, PAK recalled conducting a site visit to the premises and believed that Thomas Vale had submitted a genuine tender. He confirmed the amount of Thomas Vale's bid and explained that he was the only estimator for the East Midlands division at the time.⁶⁷²⁷ He said that the entry of a name and telephone number alongside GAJ showed that the giving of a cover price by Thomas Vale was 'likely' and added 'It certainly went the other way because as I say I remember doing the site visits, and I can't say why I was doing the site visit if I wasn't pricing it so I certainly feel that I priced it. Whether we gave assistance I can't say for definite but yeah, there's a chance there yeah'.⁶⁷²⁸

Evidence from other companies – GAJ

IV.4838. The OFT wrote to GAJ on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender (incorrectly dated as 22 December 2002), in return for an admission that GAJ had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, GAJ admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁶⁷²⁹ GAJ's legal representatives explained 'Generally, where 'bids' have been submitted and rejected the papers are not retained by the Company beyond a short period after the contract has been awarded to someone else'.⁶⁷³⁰

IV.4839. The OFT subsequently wrote to GAJ's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, GAJ Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on GAJ's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold GAJ Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by GAJ in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, GAJ Holdings said that it had no further comments to make.⁶⁷³¹

IV.4840. In its response to the Statement, GAJ stated that Terry Fell worked for GAJ on a freelance basis and could have been working on his own initiative.⁶⁷³² The OFT notes that GAJ has nonetheless admitted liability for its part in this Infringement and that this liability is consistent with the laws and precedent relating to agency relationships, as discussed in Section III (Legal Background) above.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4842. Thomas Vale and GAJ each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4843. Thomas Vale completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. GAJ was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.4844. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Summary sheet maintained in electronic format by estimator PAK within the East Midlands Division, records two competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely GAJ and 'Pitaway – Coventry'. The entry for GAJ has the contact name of Terry Fell and a telephone number for GAJ which matches the number recorded by CKT in his 'little black book' of contacts.

IV.4845. In interview, CKT stated that the only possible reason such an entry was made on the Tender Summary sheet was to record contact with GAJ and that it shows that a cover price was given by Thomas Vale to GAJ. Thomas Vale's designated estimator for this tender also thought that it likely that a cover price was provided to GAJ by Thomas Vale. Thomas Vale's bid to the client, as recorded in the handwritten tender enquiry book is £427,243 which matches the amount recorded by the client Rhombus Properties.

IV.4846. Rhombus Properties also received a tendered amount of £450,210 from GAJ, which is higher than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Thomas Vale to GAJ. GAJ was the only company to submit a bid above Thomas Vale's bid, and therefore Thomas Vale could not have given cover to any other company on this tender.

IV.4847. The OFT notes that although two competitors have been recorded on the Tender Summary sheet, only one of them has a contact name and telephone number, which suggests a conscious decision was made to differentiate GAJ from the other competitor. The OFT notes that Thomas Vale's designated estimator PAK was said to be very efficient in recording information electronically.

IV.4848. Thomas Vale admitted that GAJ was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity and it admits giving a cover price to GAJ on this tender.

IV.4849. Finally both companies have admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender.

IV.4850. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between GAJ and Thomas Vale and that Thomas Vale supplied a figure to GAJ in order that it could submit a bid to the client that was not intended to win the contract.

IV.4851. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4827 to IV.4850 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁷³³ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Thomas Vale to GAJ was not unilateral⁶⁷³⁴, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁷³⁵
- (b) GAJ can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Thomas Vale (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁷³⁶ and
- (c) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from GAJ (i.e. that GAJ did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁷³⁷

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4854. Thomas Vale informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Thomas Vale will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 175: Refurbishment of Silverwood Flats – 22 December 2003
Client: Doncaster Metropolitan Borough Council
Parties: Henry Boot and Connaught

IV.4855. On 17 November 2003, Doncaster Metropolitan Borough Council sought tenders for Silverwood House Flats Refurbishment.⁶⁷³⁸ The following five companies were invited to tender: Bramall, Connaught, Hall Construction Ltd, Henry Boot and Hobson & Porter. The date and time of tender return was 22 December 2003 at noon.⁶⁷³⁹

IV.4856. Doncaster Metropolitan Borough Council received the following tender returns:⁶⁷⁴⁰

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded contract
Henry Boot	22 December 2003	£1,699,652.84	YES
Connaught	22 December 2003	£1,775,170.00
Bramall	22 December 2003	£1,924,343.00
Hall Construction Ltd	22 December 2003	£1,967,613.00
Hobson & Porter	22 December 2003	£2,211,743.00

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Henry Boot – Sheet 28, Sheet 25 and handwritten notes

IV.4857. As part of its leniency application, Henry Boot's legal representatives provided a 'Sheet 28' (tender build-up) for this tender, on which under the section headed 'Competition', the following handwritten entries have been made:⁶⁷⁴¹

Evidence from leniency applicant Henry Boot

IV.4860. As part of its leniency application, Henry Boot's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.363 to IV.374 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4861. Henry Boot's legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table headed 'Overall Schedule for the Main Estimating Department', which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table contains comments made by those involved with the tender which show that a cover price was given to Connaught, as follows: 'I knew which companies were tendering for the project and someone from Connaught rang me to ask for a cover price as they were struggling due to a shortage of resource in the run up to Christmas. We did resist initially but in the end complied. To be able to give a cover price, I needed to know what my own figure was going to be so that I could ensure that the cover was higher. I cannot recall the name of the individual who called me. To my knowledge, the contact book kept by the estimating department does not contain the name, at least looking at it has not prompted my memory. The client called for a priced bill of quantities from the first and second tenderers which were HBC (UK) [Henry Boot] and Connaught. We therefore had to help them draft their priced bill because we had the information but they did not'.⁶⁷⁴⁴

IV.4862. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Henry Boot employees and ex-employees provided general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.363 to IV.374 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4863. During an interview with the OFT on 22 March 2007, Malcolm Welsby ('MW'), an estimator at Henry Boot, advised how he would record when Henry Boot had given a cover as detailed in paragraph IV.374 above. In relation to this tender MW confirmed that he completed the 'Sheet 28' for this tender and when asked what the '(C)' meant, stated 'the annotation "c" means that we have given Connaught a cover price'.⁶⁷⁴⁵ When asked about the 'Sheet 25', MW confirmed that the handwritten note was in his handwriting and stated 'we've given a 2½ % cover price to Connaught on this particular project'.⁶⁷⁴⁶ When asked who he dealt with at Connaughts MW stated 'I think Chris Jackson, who used to work for us many many years ago, I think he works for Connaught but I can't guarantee that that's the particular case, I can't specifically say who I spoke to'.⁶⁷⁴⁷

Evidence from other companies – Connaught plc

IV.4864. The OFT wrote to Connaught plc on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Connaught had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Connaught plc advised that it was unable to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁶⁷⁴⁸

IV.4865. However, in its response to the Statement, Connaught stated that it *'... does not dispute the facts alleged against it'*⁶⁷⁴⁹ in respect of this Infringement.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4866. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4867. Henry Boot and Connaught each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4868. Both companies submitted a tender. Connaught was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Henry Boot completed the estimating process for this tender and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.4869. Henry Boot's 'Sheet 28' for this tender records 'CONNAUGHT (C)', under the heading 'Competition'. Henry Boot confirmed that this shows that it gave a cover price to the company noted. In addition, Henry Boot's 'Sheet 25' for this tender shows 'Connaught figure' and a figure of '£1775170', and MW has confirmed that this means that Henry Boot gave a cover price of this amount to the company noted. MW's specific recollection included the facts that he gave a cover price to an individual at Connaught, and that subsequently he helped Connaught to draft a priced bill of quantities when it was requested by the client. In respect of the handwritten notes on a separate sheet, the numbers '[.....] [C] Fax [.....] [C]' are numbers associated with Connaught Property Services Ltd, located in Leeds.⁶⁷⁵⁰

IV.4870. The OFT notes that the tender figure submitted by Connaught of £1,775,170 is identical to the cover price Henry Boot confirmed it provided to Connaught.

IV.4871. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Connaught was higher than the tender submitted by Henry Boot, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.4872. Connaught has stated that it does not dispute the facts alleged against it, and confirmed that it 'has no material to set against the evidence obtained by the OFT'.⁶⁷⁵¹

IV.4873. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Henry Boot and Connaught. The OFT also concludes that Henry Boot supplied a figure to Connaught for a cover bid.

IV.4874. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4857 to IV.4873 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁷⁵² In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Henry Boot to Connaught was not unilateral⁶⁷⁵³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁷⁵⁴
- (b) Connaught can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Henry Boot (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁷⁵⁵ and
- (c) Henry Boot can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Connaught (i.e. that Connaught did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁷⁵⁶

IV.4875. In its response to the Statement, Henry Boot stated in respect of this Infringement that *'...the intentions of parties taking covers was not a factor taken into account by Henry Boot in calculating its tender prices...'*⁶⁷⁵⁷ and 'Henry Boot had no knowledge of the intentions of the three other tenderers to this tender. Henry Boot genuinely wanted to be awarded this tender and submitted a tender price significantly lower than any of the other tenderers with whom it had no contact during the tendering process'.⁶⁷⁵⁸ The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁶⁷⁵⁹ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Henry Boot has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept Henry Boot's assertion that the cover pricing did not affect its actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition. The OFT also notes that Henry Boot has admitted that its conduct infringed the Act and, by implication, that it was party either to an anti-competitive agreement, or to a concerted practice including taking into account information received.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4878. Henry Boot informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Henry Boot will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 176: Group Repair Scheme, Phase 29, 2 to 8 Bronte Street and 7 Beeches Road, Lawkholme, Keighley – 28 January 2004
Client: Bradford Metropolitan District Council

IV.4879. On 9 October 2003, Bradford Metropolitan District Council ('Bradford MDC') sought tenders for the Group Repair Scheme, Phase 29, 2 to 8 Bronte Street and 7 Beeches Road, Lawkholme, Keighley. The return date for the tender was 28 January 2004 and seven companies were invited to tender: In House Contractor, Butler & Hargreaves Ltd, Richardson Projects, G & J Seddon, West Yorkshire Maintenance, Torpoint Ltd and A Baldwin & Co (Builders) Ltd.

IV.4880. Bradford MDC received the following tender returns by 28 January 2004:⁶⁷⁶⁰

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from Richardson Projects – Tender Register

IV.4881. During the OFT's visit to Richardson Projects premises under section 28 on 21 March 2006, a Tender Register was obtained, and under the sections headed 'Others' and 'Price', the following entries have been made:⁶⁷⁶¹

	Others	Price
1	A Baldwin & Co
2	Seddon > 'C'	119,842.00

IV.4882. The Tender Register states that Richardson Projects' submitted figure was £115,623.⁶⁷⁶²

Evidence from Richardson Projects

IV.4883. The OFT wrote to Richardson Projects on 16 July 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Richardson Projects had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Richardson Projects admitted bid rigging on this tender and that it gave a cover price to G & J Seddon.⁶⁷⁶³

IV.4884. In its response to the Statement, Richardson Projects confirmed that '[i]t is not disputed that Richardson Projects participated in cover pricing during the period set out in the Statement.'⁶⁷⁶⁴

Evidence from Seddon

IV.4885. The OFT wrote to Seddon on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Seddon had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, G & J Seddon responded, admitting 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with Richardson Projects Limited'.⁶⁷⁶⁵

IV.4886. The OFT subsequently wrote again to G & J Seddon's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Seddon, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on G & J Seddon's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Seddon jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by G & J Seddon in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Seddon said 'We confirm that Seddon Group Limited ("SGL") support and adopt G&J Seddon Limited ("G&JS") acceptance of the reduction of penalty offer and that SGL does not intend to comment upon matters ... or to make any submissions on this case at the present time'.⁶⁷⁶⁶

IV.4887. In its response to the Statement, G & J Seddon confirmed that *'[i]t is not disputed that Seddon participated in cover pricing in respect of the alleged infringements during the period set out in the Statement.'*⁶⁷⁶⁷

IV.4889. G & J Seddon and Richardson Projects each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4890. G & J Seddon was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.4891. The contemporaneous Tender Register obtained at Richardson Projects records 'Seddon > 'C' 119,842'. Richardson Projects has confirmed that it gave G & J Seddon a cover price for this tender.

IV.4892. The OFT notes that G & J Seddon's submitted price for this tender was £129,842, exactly £10,000 above the cover price provided by Richardson Projects to G & J Seddon. The OFT considers it likely that G & J Seddon added a further £10,000 to the figure supplied by Richardson Projects in order to ensure that it did not win the contract.

IV.4893. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by G & J Seddon was higher than the tender submitted by Richardson Projects, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.4894. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that G & J Seddon admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Richardson Projects, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Richardson Projects was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.4895. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Richardson Projects and G & J Seddon. The OFT also concludes that Richardson Projects supplied a figure to G & J Seddon for a cover bid.

⁶⁷⁶⁶ Response from Seddon, OFT Document Reference 14027.

⁶⁷⁶⁷ Written representations of G & J Seddon, 27 June 2008, paragraph 51.

IV.4896. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.4881 to IV.4895 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁷⁶⁸ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Richardson Projects to G & J Seddon was not unilateral⁶⁷⁶⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁷⁷⁰
- (b) G & J Seddon can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Richardson Projects (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁷⁷¹
- (c) Richardson Projects can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from G & J Seddon (i.e. that G & J Seddon did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁷⁷²

IV.4897. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Richardson Projects and G & J Seddon, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the Group Repair Scheme, Phase 29, 2 to 8 Bronte Street and 7 Beeches Road, Lawkholme, Keighley, tender deadline 28 January 2004.

Evidence from leniency applicant Frudd

IV.4905. As part of its leniency application, Frudd provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and in particular, the use of the tender register is set out in paragraphs IV.335 to IV.351 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4906. Frudd also compiled a spreadsheet, setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2004 in respect of which Frudd had either given or taken a cover price. Under the section marked 'Cover prices given', is the following entry:⁶⁷⁷⁹

003	William Sharp	Nottm City Council	Frudd Woodhead We gave cover Allan Build [...] [C] Thomas Long no cover given Another 2 unknown pricing		?

IV.4907. Frudd also provided a contact list of competitors entitled 'MIC'S LIKELY LADS', which belonged to Michael Robins ('MR'), former Chief Estimator at Frudd. In this list, there is an entry for 'Woodhead Bilsthorpe' with a contact name of Adrian Robb and telephone number.⁶⁷⁸⁰ Robert Woodhead is based in Bilsthorpe, Nottinghamshire.

IV.4908. Following the issue of the Statement, Frudd did not submit any written or oral representations.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Frudd

IV.4909. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Frudd employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.335 to IV.351 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4910. In interview, JF referred to the post-it note found within her diary and believed that it was Paul Platts's ('PP'), an estimator at Frudd, handwriting. She said 'it says Robert Woodhead C we gave cover...I would imagine that I asked for an update on that job, and that's what I received back...I'd want to know specifically if there was a hole in the order book or if there was, or if I was looking at cash flow or I was preparing something for the bank, I might want to know...we might have been getting a bit more desperate for a job here'.⁶⁷⁸¹

IV.4911. JF confirmed that PP was the allocated estimator for the tender and referred to the Enquiries Received spreadsheet, dated 25 January 2004, as follows: 'I would imagine that we found out that Woodhead [.....] [C], weren't pricing or didn't want it, but then Woodhead's would have phoned us, we wouldn't phone them, they would have phoned us, because it's Nottingham City Council...they wouldn't want to be turfed off the tender list, so they'd

phone and say, can you give us a cover...And we would have given a cover to them'.⁶⁷⁸²

IV.4912. PP recalled the tender and confirmed that it was his handwriting on the post-it note and that he would have had first-hand knowledge at the time of the fact that Frudd had provided a cover price to Robert Woodhead. He said 'I mean we obviously gave the cover to, Woodhead's [...]

[...] [C].⁶⁷⁸³ He confirmed that either he or MR would have given a cover price to Robert Woodhead.

IV.4913. MR was also interviewed and although he could not recall the tender, he confirmed that the entry shows that a cover price was provided by Frudd to Robert Woodhead.⁶⁷⁸⁴

IV.4914. Finally, Martin Ledingham ('ML'), an ex-estimator at Frudd, gave his account of the spreadsheet entries. He said that the letters 'NP' could either indicate that companies were not pricing the tender or 'alternatively take a cover price'.⁶⁷⁸⁵

IV.4915. The OFT wrote to Robert Woodhead on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Robert Woodhead had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response, Robert Woodhead admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁶⁷⁸⁶

IV.4916. The OFT subsequently wrote to Robert Woodhead's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Woodhead Holdings, on 4 March 2008, asking it to comment on Robert Woodhead's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Woodhead Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Robert Woodhead in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Woodhead Holdings stated 'Whilst not accepting that Robert Woodhead Holdings Ltd could have any liability in this case, the company is aware of the agreement reached between Robert Woodhead Ltd and the OFT, and would adopt the same position as Robert Woodhead Ltd'.⁶⁷⁸⁷

IV.4917. In its response to the Statement, Robert Woodhead confirmed that it '...stands by the admissions made in respect of [the Infringements] in its Response ("Response") to the OFT's "Fast Track Offer"...'.⁶⁷⁸⁸

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

⁶⁷⁸² Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 13104, page 23.

⁶⁷⁸⁷ Response from Woodhead Holdings, OFT Document Reference 14442.

⁶⁷⁸⁸ Written representations of Robert Woodhead, 2 July 2008, paragraph 2.1.

- IV.4919. Frudd and Robert Woodhead each accepted an invitation to tender for William Sharp Comprehensive School, Bilborough, Nottingham.
- IV.4920. Robert Woodhead was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. Frudd completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the word 'Accept' in the decision column of Frudd's 'Enquiries Received' spreadsheets.
- IV.4921. A post-it note found inside JF's diary for 2 February 2004, records three competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely Robert Woodhead, Allenbuild and Thomas Long. The letter 'C' in brackets and the words 'We gave cover' are noted next to Robert Woodhead. Frudd has confirmed that this shows that a cover price was given to that company by Frudd.
- IV.4922. The OFT notes that although three competitors have been recorded on the post-it note, the letter 'C' in brackets is only noted alongside the entry for Robert Woodhead. PP was the author of the note and confirmed that he would have had personal knowledge of the arrangement to give cover to Robert Woodhead at the time, and may have given Robert Woodhead a cover price himself or it would have been dealt with by Chief Estimator MR. MR had an entry for Robert Woodhead in a schedule of contacts, used for the purpose of exchanging cover prices.
- IV.4923. The OFT also considers it significant that the post-it note was placed within the diary entry for 2 February 2004, just three days after the tender deadline date of 30 January 2004. Therefore, the knowledge of the cover price would have been fresh in the mind of PP who was the allocated estimator for the tender and the author of the note. JF, PP and MR, when interviewed by the OFT, confirmed that the post-it note shows that Frudd gave Robert Woodhead a cover price for this tender.
- IV.4924. The OFT notes that there is an entry of the letters 'NP' but no record of a cover price to Robert Woodhead on Frudd's Enquiries Received spreadsheet dated 25 January 2004. However, in interview, senior estimator ML explained that the letters 'NP' could indicate either that a company had taken a decision to decline to submit a bid to the client, or that it would be seeking a cover price. The OFT notes that Robert Woodhead did not decline to submit a tender. [...] [C]
- IV.4925. According to the client Nottingham City Council, Frudd submitted a bid of £631,946. Nottingham City Council also received a tendered amount of £669,753 from Robert Woodhead, which is higher than the amount tendered by Frudd. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Frudd to Robert Woodhead.
- IV.4926. Finally, Robert Woodhead has also admitted to bid rigging on this tender.
- IV.4927. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Frudd and Robert Woodhead and that Frudd supplied a figure to Robert Woodhead in order that it could submit a bid to the client that was not intended to win the contract.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Frudd to Robert Woodhead was not unilateral⁶⁷⁹⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁷⁹¹
- (b) Robert Woodhead can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Frudd (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁷⁹² and
- (c) Frudd can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Robert Woodhead (i.e. that Robert Woodhead did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁷⁹³

IV.4929. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Frudd and Robert Woodhead in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for William Sharp comprehensive school, Bilborough, Nottingham, tender deadline 30 January 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4931. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 29 June 2005. Frudd will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Frudd will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bramall

IV.4937. As part of its leniency application, Bramall provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.243 to IV.273 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4938. In particular, Bramall provided the OFT with an analysis of its tender sheets under the heading 'LIKELY COVERS TAKEN FROM THIRD PARTIES' since March 2000. This analysis included the following entry:⁶⁷⁹⁹

IV.4940. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bramall's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.243 to IV.273 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4941. When interviewed about this tender, John Pagett ('JP'), Bid Manager at Bramall, identified the writing in the Tender Register⁶⁸⁰¹ as Mike Hardwick's ('MH'), an estimator no longer with Bramall⁶⁸⁰², and confirmed that this was a tender which Bramall did not want because '...the conditions were

IV.4942. JP was shown Bramall's Leniency Document 'Likely Covers Taken From Third Parties'.⁶⁸⁰⁴ When asked to explain the document he said, 'City of Salford, Beacon Centre... tender return date, tender sum, approximate value, likely cover taken from Richardsons, personal recollection of John Pagett'.⁶⁸⁰⁵ When asked to confirm that a cover price was obtained from Richardsons he said, 'Yea. It was taken from Richardsons'.⁶⁸⁰⁶ He added, '... the reason I have personal recollection is because Mike [Hardwick] took it...and I'd discussed it with Mike and that's where the recollection came in'.⁶⁸⁰⁷ JP was asked if he or MH had sought authority to obtain a cover price from Richardson Projects. He replied, 'We sought authority from Dave [Prescott ('DP'), Managing Director] basically'.⁶⁸⁰⁸

IV.4943. JP was shown a copy of the Richardson Projects Summary of Tender.⁶⁸⁰⁹ He was specifically asked to comment on the entry in the document under the heading 'Notes', 'Bramhall 'C' £1,625,000.00'. He said this showed that '... Bramall took cover'.⁶⁸¹⁰

IV.4944. JP was asked to explain the second Richardson Projects Summary of Tender for this contract.⁶⁸¹¹ He noted that the figure in 'Notes', 'Bramhall 'C' £1,625,000.00', was different from the figure of £1,624,798 in Bramall's Tender Register entry for this tender. He said, 'Basically I would think that Richardsons said go around 1625 [£1,625,000] to...brought down the figure just to tidy it up, there's a few hundred quid knocked off there'.⁶⁸¹²

IV.4945. DP was asked about the Bramall Tender Register entry for this tender⁶⁸¹³, dated 8 December 2003. He said, 'I recall the job because I did give authority to take a cover', and regarding the entry in the Tender Register, '... booked in on the date that we received it, brief details of the client, the project, allocated a tender number which were in rotation....we'd entered the return date time, tender sum column is the amount of our offer that we bid, the contribution column is the amount of overhead and profit we would've added to it, no entry would suggest one of 3 things, we put nothing on it, unlikely; we've...we did tender it, we put contribution on it and the estimator forgot to fill the column in; or latterly it were a cover taken then entry of no contribution. Approximate value was the figure that we'd inserted when we'd received it based on probably the client's advice, competition column was who we'd list, column b or t: b would indicate that it's a budget tender which may mean that we were doing an approximate estimate or taking a cover...'.⁶⁸¹⁴

IV.4946. DP was also shown the Summary of Tender from Richardson Projects.⁶⁸¹⁵ He was asked to comment specifically on the entry 'Notes', the word 'Bramhall' and 'C' and what they meant. He replied, '... this looks like Richardson Project's tender adjudication front sheet...denoting that they've given Bramalls a cover, 1.625million, and that it was 9.93% higher than their bid level'.⁶⁸¹⁶

Evidence from other companies – Richardson Projects

IV.4947. The OFT wrote to Richardson Projects on 22 March 2007, offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Richardson Projects had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Richardson Projects replied to the OFT on 23 April 2007. Richardson Projects' Managing Director, Alan Richardson admitted that Richardson Projects had engaged in bid rigging with Bramall on this tender.

IV.4948. With its response, Richardson Projects provided the OFT with a further copy of its Summary of Tender document for this tender. This read as follows.⁶⁸¹⁷

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4950. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.4951. Bramall and Richardson Projects each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. It appears that Richardson Projects completed the estimating process for the tender and indeed won the contract. Bramall was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.4952. Bramall's Tender Register entry for this tender, in MH's handwriting, shows that Bramall submitted the tender figure sum of £1,624,798 to CSC. Bramall made no entries in the 'CONTRIBUTION' [margins & profits] column, or in the 'ARCHITECT' or 'QS' [Quantity Surveyor] columns of the document. This indicates that Bramall did not appoint anyone to calculate the figures necessary for this tender but instead sought a cover price.

- IV.4953. A contemporaneous document from Richardson Projects provides corroboration of this. It shows 'Bramhall 'C' 1,625,000.00'. The letter 'C' was commonly used in the industry to indicate that a cover price had been given or taken. The figure of £1,625,000 is similar to Bramall's submitted tender figure of £1,624,798. Again, it was sometimes the case that an approximate cover price would be given to a competitor and that the competitor would amend that figure to a less rounded figure in order to make it look more genuine. JP confirmed that this was his view of events in this case.
- IV.4954. Bramall confirmed in leniency that it obtained a cover price from Richardson Projects in respect of this tender. JP of Bramall stated in interview that this was a Design and Build project and very difficult with great business risks involved, and confirmed his personal recollection that MH of Bramall obtained a cover price from Richardson Projects, as confirmed by the entry 'Bramhall 'C'' in the 'Notes' section of Richardson Projects Summary of Tender documents.⁶⁸¹⁹ He also confirmed that DP authorised the taking of a cover price from Richardson Projects.
- IV.4955. DP of Bramall confirmed that he recalled this tender because he gave 'authority to take a cover' from Richardson Projects. He also stated that the entry 'Bramhall 'C'' in the 'Notes' section of Richardson Projects tender documents⁶⁸²⁰ showed that Bramall took a cover price for this tender from Richardson Projects.
- IV.4956. Richardson Projects has also admitted that it gave a cover price to Bramall for this tender. The OFT notes that Richardson Projects named Bramall as the competitor with whom it engaged in bid rigging, without sight of the OFT's evidence that Bramall was involved. This provides additional corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.4957. The tender figure of £1,624,798 submitted by Bramall is in keeping with a cover price being sufficiently higher than Richardson Projects' winning bid to remain credible whilst also ensuring that Bramall lost the tender.
- IV.4958. The tender figure of £1,624,798 submitted by Bramall to CSC for this tender is second lowest after that of Richardson Projects. Since the other two bidders, BAAS and William Hargreaves, did not submit bids, Bramall could not have obtained a cover price from anyone other than Richardson Projects.
- IV.4959. The OFT also notes that the only tenders received by the client for this contract were the subject of bid rigging. The OFT also notes that Richardson Projects was apparently aware that neither BAAS Construction Ltd nor William Hargreaves Ltd, intended to submit a tender.
- IV.4960. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Bramall and Richardson Projects. The OFT also concludes that Richardson Projects supplied a figure to Bramall for a cover bid.

⁶⁸¹⁹ Tender summaries, OFT Document References A0033 and A2047.

⁶⁸²⁰ Tender summaries, OFT Document References A0033 and A2047.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Richardson Projects to Bramall was not unilateral⁶⁸²², and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁸²³
- (b) Bramall can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Richardson Projects (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁸²⁴ and
- (c) Richardson Projects can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bramall (i.e. that Bramall did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁸²⁵

IV.4963. In its response to the Statement, Bramall disputed the OFT's finding that Bramall took into account the information it received from Richardson Projects when determining its conduct, asserting instead that '...[i]t is clear that the conduct of Bramall was not to win the contract, and that this decision has been made much before any possible exchange with other possible competitors. Accordingly, the OFT cannot maintain that "Bramall can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Richardson Projects (i.e. cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process"'.⁶⁸²⁶ Bramall also disputed the OFT's finding that Richardson Projects would have taken account of Bramall's receipt of its cover price when determining its conduct. Bramall asserted that '...it is very time consuming to complete a tender, and therefore one would expect a company to decide whether to estimate and submit a competitive tender to be made at an early stage. It is therefore very likely that Richardson Projects determined its own conduct in the tendering process before knowing what Bramall's intentions were.'⁶⁸²⁷

IV.4964. The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁶⁸²⁸ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Bramall has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept Bramall's assertion that the cover pricing did not affect the actual price submitted by Richardson Projects (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition. Moreover, in the case of Bramall, it submitted a bid at or around the level indicated by Richardson Projects and as such the information was clearly taken into account in this aspect of its conduct.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4966. Bramall informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bramall will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 180: Construction of a New Two-storey Medical Centre at Harborough Avenue Medical Centre, Sheffield – 9 February 2004

Client: Manor & Castle Development Trust
Parties: Admiral and T & C Williams

IV.4967. In 2004, Manor and Castle Development Trust ('Manor & Castle') sought tenders for the construction of a new two-storey Medical Centre at Harborough Avenue Medical Centre, Sheffield. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 9 February 2004 and four companies were invited to tender: Ackroyd & Abbott, Admiral, T & C Williams and Wildgoose.

IV.4968. Manor & Castle received the following tender returns by 12:00 noon on 9 February 2004:⁶⁸²⁹

Company	Time and Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the contract
Ackroyd & Abbott	12:00 noon 9 February 2004	£1,037,830
Admiral	12:00 noon 9 February 2004	£1,131,169 £1,105,494 (34 weeks)
T & C Williams	12:00 noon 9 February 2004	£1,101,432 £1,076,456 (34 weeks)
Wildgoose	12:00 noon 9 February 2004	£1,145,874 £1,119,866 (36 weeks)

IV.4969. Manor & Castle specified 28 weeks in the tender and contractors were also asked to quote their preferred times. Manor & Castle informed the OFT that it abandoned the tender exercise as the tenders quoted were over budget and value management techniques could not close the gap.

⁶⁸²⁹ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 8695.

IV.4977. Andrew Clarkson ('AC'), Estimating Director at Admiral, confirmed in interview in respect of this tender, '... I remember we didn't price, although we did submit a tender'.⁶⁸³⁵ AC also said 'So again I can only reiterate that I, I suspect we were too busy at the time it came in, and that we took a cover'.⁶⁸³⁶

IV.4978. AC confirmed that it was his handwriting on the telephone message⁶⁸³⁷ and that 'It indicates to me that we took the cover from T & C Williams'.⁶⁸³⁸ AC confirmed that, '...he [John Hardy] obviously gave me those figures, as our cover price for this particular job'.⁶⁸³⁹ AC also confirmed that JH of T & C Williams was someone with whom he engaged in cover pricing on more than one occasion.⁶⁸⁴⁰

Evidence from leniency applicant T & C Williams

IV.4979. As part of its leniency application, T & C Williams provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.635 to IV.649 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant T & C Williams

IV.4980. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, T & C Williams' employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.635 to IV.649 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.4981. In respect of this tender, in interview JH confirmed that T & C Williams tendered for this contract but the client did not proceed with this job.⁶⁸⁴¹ On being shown by the OFT the telephone message provided by Admiral as part of its leniency application he said, '....they obviously asked for a cover and I must have given them some figures. We didn't get the job; I think... we were second on the project'.⁶⁸⁴²

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.4983. T & C Williams and Admiral each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.4984. It appears that T & C Williams completed the estimating process for the tender for the contract and that it wanted to win the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.4985. Admiral was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.4986. In regard to T & C Williams, Admiral provided as part of its leniency application a copy of a telephone message received from JH at T & C Williams which records '28 WKS £1,113,169 our figure (1101)' and '37 WKS £1,105,494 our figure (1076?)'. Admiral has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from JH at T & C Williams. The figures recorded in full on the telephone message are identical to the tender figures, one for 28 weeks and the other for 36/37 weeks, which Admiral submitted for the work. The figures 1101 and 1076 match with the figures that T & C Williams submitted as its tenders, indicating that when T & C Williams gave cover prices to Admiral it also informed Admiral of the prices that it would be submitting for this contract.

IV.4987. The OFT notes that the telephone message also records the name of a T & C Williams employee, JH, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. AC of Admiral confirmed in interview that he took a cover from T & C Williams for this tender and that it was his handwriting on the telephone message note.

IV.4988. When the specific evidence from Admiral was put to JH of T & C Williams in interview, he admitted that T & C Williams supplied a cover price to Admiral, as described in paragraph IV.4981 above.

IV.4989. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Admiral was higher than the tender submitted by T & C Williams, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided by T & C Williams.

IV.4990. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Admiral and T & C Williams. The OFT also concludes that T & C Williams supplied a figure to Admiral for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from T & C Williams to Admiral was not unilateral⁶⁸⁴⁴, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁸⁴⁵
- (b) Admiral can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from T & C Williams (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁸⁴⁶ and
- (c) T & C Williams can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Admiral (i.e. that Admiral did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁸⁴⁷

IV.4992. In its response to the Statement, T & C Williams stated in respect of this Infringement '...[w]ithout knowledge or contact with the other tenderers, and given T & C Williams' undisputed desire to win the tender, it cannot be safely presumed that T & C Williams would have modified its conduct in any way on the basis of having given a cover to one other tenderer (Admiral).⁶⁸⁴⁸

IV.4993. The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁶⁸⁴⁹ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that T & C Williams has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept T & C Williams' assertion that the cover pricing did not affect its actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition. To the extent that T & C Williams submits that this Infringement should not be treated as serious because no effects have been shown, this point is addressed in Step 1 of Section VI (Enforcement).

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.4996. Admiral informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Admiral will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.4997. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of T & C Williams's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Admiral. T & C Williams will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, T & C Williams will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Client: University of Nottingham
Parties: Mansell and Willmott Dixon

IV.4998. On 19 December 2003, University of Nottingham sought tenders for a new sports centre, Jubilee Campus, Nottingham.⁶⁸⁵⁰ The following five companies were invited to tender: Loach, Mansell, Mowlem, Thomas Fish and Willmott Dixon. The date and time of tender return was 20 February 2004 at 12:00 noon.⁶⁸⁵¹

IV.4999. University of Nottingham received the following tender returns:⁶⁸⁵²

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – emails

IV.5000. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided an email dated 19 February 2004, from Paul Winson (‘PW’), a senior estimator⁶⁸⁵³ in the Nottingham office, to Mark Holland at Willmott Dixon. The subject of the email is ‘New Sports Hall, Jubilee Campus’ and states ‘Mark, Please find attached contract sum analysis for the above, as discussed the figures all need shuffling to avoid suspicion’.⁶⁸⁵⁴ Attached within the email is an Excel spreadsheet called ‘jubilee csa.xls’. This contains a breakdown of figures for various parts of the project.

IV.5001. Mansell’s legal representatives also provided the OFT with two emails in an email string dated 20 February 2004.⁶⁸⁵⁵ The bottom email in the string is from Phil George at Willmott Dixon to PW at 10:16, the subject is ‘JUBILEE CAMPUS SPORTS CENTRE’ and the email states ‘Paul, I have just been asked to double check one last thing with you – Can you please confirm that the figure you have given us of £2,164,815 includes a figure for the Design Contingency’. The reply from PW at 10:52, at the top of the string, states, ‘Phil, Yes it does’.

IV.5002. Mansell’s legal representatives also provided an email dated 2 March 2004, from Tony Osbond (‘TO’), Business Development Manager for the Eastern Region of Mansell to Tim Spencer and others at Mansell. The subject of the email is ‘Re University of Nottingham Sports Centre’ and the email states ‘Tender submission £1,989,816.00 ... put us in 2nd place behind Mowlem’.

Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.5003. As part of its leniency application, Mansell's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁶⁸⁵⁷ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5004. Mansell's legal representatives also provided to the OFT a schedule of covers for the Eastern Region, which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell gave a cover price to Willmott Dixon.⁶⁸⁵⁸ Under the heading 'Estimator Recollection' it states 'Paul Winson (Senior Estimator) recalls that MCSL [Mansell Construction Services Ltd] gave a cover price and a tender build-up to Willmot [sic] Dixon'. Under the heading 'Documentary evidence of cover' it states, in relation to the emails provided 'These documents give a strong indication that MCSL gave a cover to Willmott Dixon. [...] [C]'.

IV.5005. Further information has been provided by Mansell's legal representatives in respect of the email dated 2 March 2004. They state '... Tony Osbond stated that he would have obtained this information about other bidders from the estimating team ...'.⁶⁸⁵⁹

IV.5006. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, an employee of Mansell and an ex-employee from the Nottingham office provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5007. During an interview with the OFT on 17 April 2007, PW stated '*... while I was pricing the job, we had a call, to our chief estimator from ... Willmott Dixon, who said that basically they were doing lots of work for the client, but they can't do this one and they didn't want to lose face. Could we provide them with a cover price? Evidence from other companies – Willmott Dixon

IV.5010. The OFT wrote to Willmott Dixon on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Willmott Dixon had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Willmott Dixon stated that it was unable to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁶⁸⁶⁴

IV.5011. The OFT subsequently wrote to Willmott Dixon's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Willmott Dixon Limited, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on Willmott Dixon's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Willmott Dixon Limited jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Willmott Dixon in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Willmott Dixon Limited stated '... the decision was taken by the subsidiary, and is now confirmed by the parent, not to accept the reduction in penalty offer ...'.⁶⁸⁶⁵

IV.5012. In their response to the Statement, however, Willmott Dixon's legal representatives, McDermott Will & Emery UK LLP, stated '[we] accept that, in this case, there does appear to be evidence of the existence of cover-pricing'⁶⁸⁶⁶, 'our client does not contest that the OFT has satisfied the requisite evidentiary standard in this case'⁶⁸⁶⁷, and 'In summary, our client believes that, in this case, a cover-price was taken ...'⁶⁸⁶⁸ in respect of this Infringement. The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5014. Mansell and Willmott Dixon each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5015. Both companies submitted a tender. Willmott Dixon was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. It appears that Mansell completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.5016. Mansell's email of 19 February 2004 regarding this tender shows 'Mark, Please find attached contract sum analysis for the above, as discussed the figures all need shuffling to avoid suspicion'. Mansell confirmed that it gave Willmott Dixon a tender build-up for the tender figure it had provided.

IV.5017. Willmott Dixon's email of 20 February 2004 to Mansell regarding this tender shows 'Paul, I have just been asked to double check one last thing with you – Can you please confirm that the figure you have given us of £2,164,815 includes a figure for the Design Contingency'. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it gave a cover price to the company noted of the amount shown. The OFT notes that Willmott Dixon's bid was close to and higher than, this figure. As described in paragraphs IV.110 to IV.112 above, on occasions companies would further inflate the figures that had been given to them as cover prices.

IV.5018. Mansell's estimator for this tender, PW, confirmed specific recollection of giving a cover price and tender build-up to Willmott Dixon for this tender. Mansell's email of 2 March 2004 regarding this tender shows 'Tender submission £1,989,816.00 ... put us in 2nd place behind Mowlem. Mowlem's price is not known, other submissions from Loach, Willmott Dixon (c), SOL, Thos Fish [...] [C]'. Mansell has confirmed that '(c)' indicates that a cover price was given, [...] [C].

IV.5019. [...] [C]

IV.5020. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Willmott Dixon was higher than the tender submitted by Mansell, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5021. Both Parties have now admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.

⁶⁸⁶⁹ Written representations of Willmott Dixon, 27 June 2008, paragraph 24.

IV.5022. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and Willmott Dixon. The OFT also concludes that Mansell supplied a figure to Willmott Dixon for a cover bid, and a breakdown of that figure.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Mansell to Willmott Dixon was not unilateral⁶⁸⁷¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁸⁷²
- (b) Willmott Dixon can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Mansell (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁸⁷³ and
- (c) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Willmott Dixon (i.e. that Willmott Dixon did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁸⁷⁴

IV.5024. In its response to the Statement, Balfour Beatty stated 'The OFT has adduced no evidence that the giving of a cover was taken into account by Balfour Beatty and Mansell when pricing its tenders nor is there any evidence that the giving of a cover had any effect on these parties' pricing of the tender'.⁶⁸⁷⁵ The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁶⁸⁷⁶ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Balfour Beatty has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept Balfour Beatty's assertion that the cover pricing did not affect its actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition. To the extent that Balfour Beatty submits that this Infringement should not be treated as serious because no effects have been shown, this point is addressed in step 1 of Section VI (Enforcement) below.

IV.5025. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Mansell and Willmott Dixon in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for a new sports centre, Jubilee Campus, Nottingham, tender deadline 20 February 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5027. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 182: Apartment Development, Speculation Street, York – 25 February 2004
Client: Turner & Holman
Parties: Jack Lunn and Lindum/Lindum Group⁶⁸⁷⁷

IV.5028. On 6 January 2004, Turner & Holman sought tenders for an apartment development, Speculation St, York.⁶⁸⁷⁸ The following five companies were invited to tender: D & A Construction (York) Ltd, Jack Lunn, William Birch & Sons Ltd, Lotus and Lindum/Lindum Group.⁶⁸⁷⁹ The deadline for receipt of tenders was 12:00 noon 25 February 2004.⁶⁸⁸⁰

IV.5029. Turner & Holman received the following tender returns.⁶⁸⁸¹

⁶⁸⁷⁷ Lindum is a subsidiary of Lindum Group. The evidence is inconclusive as to whether Lindum, or its parent company Lindum Group, was the Participant Company in this Infringement (or indeed, both companies were Participant Companies). Noting the OFT's conclusion that Lindum and Lindum Group formed part of the same economic entity (see paragraph II.905) and would hence be jointly and severally liable for any infringement by either of them, the OFT does not consider it necessary to determine whether the Participant Company was Lindum or Lindum Group. Other than for replication of contemporaneous evidence, the OFT refers in the description of this Alleged Infringement to 'Lindum/Lindum Group', which should be taken to mean the undertaking comprising Lindum and Lindum Group. The OFT notes that in light of the finding that the two companies formed part of the same undertaking, it is immaterial whether the participant company was Lindum, Lindum Group or both companies, as the level of financial penalty for this infringement will be based on the consolidated turnover of Lindum Group, as parent company.

⁶⁸⁷⁸ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 10168.

⁶⁸⁷⁹ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 10168. In this document (information provided in response to the OFT's enquiries, dating from April 2007) the client states that 'Lindum Homes' (Lindum Homes Limited, a wholly owned subsidiary of Lindum Group) was invited to tender. However, the contemporaneous tender documents provided by the client show that the tender was in fact submitted by Lindum Group (OFT Document Reference 10173) and that a contract sum analysis was subsequently submitted by Lindum (OFT Document Reference 10173, page 4). The contemporaneous evidence accords with additional information provided by the client, in which it refers to the tender submission being received from Lindum Group and Lindum (OFT Document Reference 10171). Furthermore, Lindum Group has also informed the OFT that Lindum Homes was not involved in the Infringement: 'Lindum Homes is a residential property developer. It purchases and develops plots of land with its own workforce and then sells the finished properties directly to the public... In the relevant period, because of the nature of its business, Lindum Homes has never received an invitation to tender for a construction project. Accordingly Lindum Homes has never had an opportunity to submit a 'cover price'...' (Written representations of Lindum Group, 27 June 2008, paragraph (1)10). The OFT therefore concludes that it was Lindum or Lindum Group, rather than Lindum Homes, that was invited to tender, and that the non-contemporaneous tender summary provided by the client (OFT Document Reference 10168) incorrectly identified Lindum Homes. Given the contemporaneous evidence, other information provided by the client and the representations of Lindum Group, the OFT does not consider this error to be material to its case.

IV.5030. Turner & Holman provided no further information to suggest whether D & A Construction (York) Ltd submitted a bid or declined to tender.

IV.5031. Turner & Holman also provided a copy of the contract sum analysis received from Jack Lunn and Lindum⁶⁸⁸², in addition to Lindum Group's tender submission. Turner & Holman stated 'You will note that the tender submission from Lindum Construction was less extensive than that received from Jack Lunn, though some further information was provided by them at a later stage'.⁶⁸⁸³ Jack Lunn originally tendered £1,778,139.00⁶⁸⁸⁴ for this contract, but later submitted a revised tender of £1,831,007.39.⁶⁸⁸⁵ Lindum Group submitted a tender on 25 February 2004, of £1,875,436.00 for this contract.⁶⁸⁸⁶ A revised contract sum analysis was provided by Lindum for £1,975,436.00.⁶⁸⁸⁷ A handwritten note on this document states, 'Revised tender summary as received from Lindum Construction at interview'.⁶⁸⁸⁸

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Jack Lunn – Form of Tender, Fax and attached Documents.

IV.5032. During the OFT's search of Jack Lunn's premises a Form of Tender for proposed apartment development, Speculation Street, York was found. The Form of Tender stated that Jack Lunn tendered '£1,778,139.00' for the contract.⁶⁸⁸⁹ The Form of Tender was signed by Anthony Metcalf on 25 February 2004.⁶⁸⁹⁰ Included in this document was the contract sum analysis submitted by Jack Lunn.⁶⁸⁹¹

⁶⁸⁸² The tender submission was signed on behalf of Lindum Group. However, the contract sum analysis was subsequently provided to the client by Lindum.

RE: SPECULATION STREET, YORK

Dear Colin

I attach herewith the contract sum analysis for the above project for your information. This has been balanced to your tender submission figure. Please feel free to adjust any figure you may feel "unbalanced".
We will be adding to our tender about £20,000 for electrical sub mains in order to position the meters at ground floor level rather than adjacent to each flat entrance.

We will also be adding about £10,000 for NHBC which we excluded from our tender.

Should you require any other information please contact me

Yours Sincerely
For Jack Lunn (Construction) Ltd

IV.5034. In addition to the fax transmission sheet, a contract sum analysis for proposed apartment development, Speculation Street, York was included in the 10-page document. The following handwritten entry was made in the top left hand corner:⁶⁸⁹³

'Colin Burr [...] [C]
LINDUM SUGGESTION'

IV.5035. The document contained a breakdown of figures for different aspects of the tender and stated the 'AMOUNT OF CONTRACT SUM £1,875,436'.⁶⁸⁹⁴

Evidence from leniency applicant – Jack Lunn

IV.5036. As part of its leniency application, Jack Lunn's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁶⁸⁹⁵ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.431 to IV.440 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5037. In addition to its leniency application, Jack Lunn provided to the OFT a schedule ('Jack Lunn Construction Cover Summary Schedule') which detailed projects/contracts identified by the company during the course of an internal investigation conducted by Stephen Bradbury, Richard Bryan, Graham Lunn, Anthony Metcalf ('AM'), an estimator at Jack Lunn, and Keith Poskitt into potential cover prices where it was considered cover prices had either been given or taken. At JLC14 of the 'Jack Lunn Construction Cover Summary Schedule' is the following entry:⁶⁸⁹⁶

Reference Number	Date of Submission	Scheme Title	Client	Submitted tender value	Cover price Taken	Cover price given
JLC14	25-Feb-04	28 Flats Speculation Street York	K Mohan	£1,764,676		5%

Contractor and address	Person Spoken to	Jack Lunn Successful	Comments/Notes
Lindum		Yes

IV.5038. Jack Lunn also provided to the OFT a detailed explanation of the documents taken during the OFT's search of the company's office on 21 March 2006.⁶⁸⁹⁷ In relation to the fax transmission sheet and attached documents referred to above in paragraphs IV.5033 and IV.5034 Jack Lunn stated, 'These papers are copies of a FAX TRANSMISSION SHEET and the contract sum analysis sent from Tony Metcalfe, one of the estimators employed by JLC addressed to a Mr Colin Burr, an estimator at Lindum Construction, confirming that the contract sum analysis for the Speculation Street Tender is attached along with other financial information relating to the tender. This fax is a direct result of JLC providing Lindum Construction with a cover price'.⁶⁸⁹⁸

IV.5039. Jack Lunn further explained that 'The other two Contractors tender figures were higher than both JLC's figure and the Lindum figure. ... Turner and Holman asked for Contract Sum Analyses ('CSA') from both JLC and Lindum. ... At this stage Lindum had two options on how to proceed. They could inform the client that they had taken a cover price and not done any work on the tender or they could ask JLC for specific details such as JLC's contract sum analysis and quickly attempt to understand the scheme whilst providing their own higher contract sum analysis to represent the tender figure actually submitted by them, Lindum recognized that they could only adopt the second option if JLC were prepared to provide their contract sum analysis. Tony Metcalfe agreed to release this'.⁶⁸⁹⁹

IV.5040. Jack Lunn explained that the sequence of events could be summarised as follows:⁶⁹⁰⁰

'JLC gives cover price to Lindum Construction	24 February 2004
JLC submits tender figure	25 February 2004
Turner and Holman requests information and CSA	2 March 2004
JLC provides their CSA to Lindum	17 March 2004
Both JLC attends meetings with Turner and Holman/Client	22 March 2004
JLC awarded the contract	8 April 2004'

IV.5041. In its response to the Statement, Jack Lunn did not make any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Jack Lunn

IV.5042. During interviews with the OFT on 8 March 2007, conducted in connection with Jack Lunn's leniency application, Jack Lunn employees provided further general explanations of Jack Lunn's participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.431 to IV.440 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5043. In particular, during an interview with AM, he was asked what he recalled about the contract for 28 apartments, Speculation Street, York. AM replied 'We were approached by, I think it was Lindum Construction, who had also been given the tender documents, they were not able to prepare a tender and they asked us for a cover price based on that, which they were given'.⁶⁹⁰¹ AM confirmed during interview that '1875436' was the cover price that AM supplied to Lindum.⁶⁹⁰² AM was shown the fax transmission sheet.⁶⁹⁰³ AM confirmed that he sent a fax to Colin Burr, an estimator at Lindum on 17 March 2004⁶⁹⁰⁴ with a contract sum analysis attached. AM explained 'we gave them a tender figure or a cover figure and when we submitted to them a contract sum analysis, we adjusted those sums in there to come back to the cover figure that we'd given them',⁶⁹⁰⁵ essentially providing Lindum with its own contract sum analysis.⁶⁹⁰⁶

Evidence from other companies – Lindum Group

IV.5044. The OFT wrote to Lindum Group on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Lindum Group had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Lindum Group provided a statement which said 'This job was supposed to be a negotiated job, as we had done a lot of budgets for Turner & Holman, the architects. Unexpectedly, the job came out to tender and we submitted a higher price. We believe that this was the budget sqft figure of

£1.87m. An ex-employee, Neil Coote, was involved in this job and he has said that it was a budget figure and does not know of any cover'.⁶⁹⁰⁷

IV.5045. Lindum Group stated in their response to the Statement that '...with the benefit of detailed analysis of the [Statement], it is possible for Lindum Group now to see that it is likely that Infringement No. 182 took place...'⁶⁹⁰⁸ and that Lindum Group 'does not contest the fact of the infringements [including this Infringement]'.⁶⁹⁰⁹

IV.5046. Its response to the Statement further stated '...Colin Burr breached the express and implicit instructions of his employer and engaged in "cover pricing". Mr Burr left Lindum Group shortly after the OFT inspection in January 2006'.⁶⁹¹⁰

IV.5047. Lindum Group's response to the Statement also stated that after receiving a letter from the OFT on 23 March 2007 stating that there was evidence that Lindum had been involved in cover pricing, Lindum conducted a further investigation. At that time '...a further investigation [was undertaken] by Mr Chambers [Lindum Group's Chairman], which involved closely questioning each of the estimators, [during which] it became apparent that cover pricing had taken place although on a limited scale...'.⁶⁹¹¹

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5049. Jack Lunn and Lindum/Lindum Group each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for an apartment development at Speculation Street, York. Lindum/Lindum Group was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.5050. Jack Lunn completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Jack Lunn being the lowest received and the fact it won the contract.

IV.5051. AM of Jack Lunn confirmed that on 24 February 2004 he gave a cover price to Colin Burr, who he believed to be an estimator at Lindum. According to information received from Lindum Group, CB was an employee of Lindum Group at that time. The OFT does not consider that it is material to its analysis whether CB was employed by Lindum or Lindum Group. Once the tenders had been received by the client on 25 February 2004, the two lowest tenderers, Lindum/Lindum Group and Jack Lunn, were each asked by the client on 2 March 2004, to submit their contract sum analysis. At this point, according to Jack Lunn, Lindum/Lindum Group had to decide how to proceed. Lindum/Lindum Group could either inform the client that it had taken a cover price and not carried out any work for this tender, or it could ask Jack Lunn for specific information in order to complete its contract sum analysis.

⁶⁹¹⁰ Written representations of Lindum, 27 June 2008, paragraph 12.

⁶⁹¹¹ Written representations of Lindum, 27 June 2008, paragraphs 19 to 20.

- IV.5052. The OFT understands that Lindum/Lindum Group decided to seek information from Jack Lunn in order to provide the client with a contract sum analysis for the project. A fax sent by AM on 17 March 2004 to CB in response to this request stated 'I attach herewith the contract sum analysis for the above project for your information. This has been balanced to your tender submission figure. Please feel free to adjust any figure you feel "unbalanced"'. The fax also gave details of adjustments to be made by Jack Lunn to its own tendered figures.
- IV.5053. Attached to this fax was a contract sum analysis with a handwritten comment 'Colin Burr [.....] [C] LINDUM, SUGGESTION' handwritten in the top left hand corner. The 'AMOUNT OF CONTRACT SUM' recorded was '£1,875,436'. This was the original amount tendered by Lindum Group.
- IV.5054. This contemporaneous evidence shows that AM of Jack Lunn supplied Colin Burr of Lindum/Lindum Group with a contract sum analysis, with the figures adjusted to reflect the initial cover figure given by Jack Lunn to Lindum/Lindum Group. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Jack Lunn, and Jack Lunn and AM's admissions and explanations of that contemporaneous evidence, that Jack Lunn supplied Lindum/Lindum Group with a cover price for this tender and in addition provided Lindum/Lindum Group with additional pricing information in the form of a contract sum analysis.
- IV.5055. The OFT also notes that the tender submitted by Lindum/Lindum Group was higher than the tender submitted by Jack Lunn, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.5056. Lindum Group has now accepted that it is likely that cover pricing took place in respect of this Infringement and does not contest the fact of this Infringement.
- IV.5057. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Jack Lunn and Lindum/Lindum Group. The OFT also concludes that Jack Lunn supplied a figure to Lindum Group for a cover bid.
- IV.5058. The evidence is inconclusive as to whether it was Lindum and/or Lindum Group that submitted the tender and as to whether CB was employed by Lindum or Lindum Group. The OFT also notes that Lindum Group considered Lindum to be its 'main contracting arm' and that Lindum Group's trading activities were carried out by 'divisions' including Lindum, and as such the two related legal entities acted in concert. In light of this, and noting the OFT's conclusion that Lindum and Lindum Group formed part of the same economic entity (see paragraph II.905 above) and would hence be jointly and severally liable for any infringement by either of them, the OFT does not consider it necessary to determine whether the tender was submitted by Lindum or Lindum Group or whether the contact with Jack Lunn took place with Lindum or Lindum Group.

⁶⁹¹² See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Jack Lunn to Lindum/Lindum Group was not unilateral⁶⁹¹³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁹¹⁴
- (b) Lindum/Lindum Group can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Jack Lunn (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁹¹⁵ and
- (c) Jack Lunn can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Lindum/Lindum Group (i.e. that Lindum/Lindum Group did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁹¹⁶

IV.5060. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Jack Lunn and Lindum/Lindum Group, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for an apartment development, Speculation Street, York, tender deadline 25 February 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5062. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 21 March 2006. Jack Lunn will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Jack Lunn in respect of this Infringement.

Infringement 183: Conversion for Audio Visual Services, 12 Chiswick Road,

Client: University of Leicester
Parties: Phoenix and J H Hallam

IV.5063. On 11 February 2004, the University of Leicester sought tenders for the conversion for audio visual services, 12 Chiswick Road, University of Leicester. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 5 March 2004 and five companies were invited to tender: Phoenix, Brown & Shaw, Sandells Interiors, J H Hallam and B & A.⁶⁹¹⁷ paragraph IV.5066 above. J H Hallam also stated that the figure '£253.k' indicated, 'COVER ex PHOENIX CONTRACTS'.

IV.5070. J H Hallam said, 'John Hallam made the notes in boxes and drew the arrows during discussions with Mr Gill when he was assembling the information to support Hallam's leniency application. Mr Hallam did this in order to highlight what he was told by Mr Gill and to try and make things clear for the OFT. He distinctly recalls his discussion with Mr Gill concerning this particular contract'.⁶⁹²⁴

IV.5071. Also to further assist the OFT enquiry, J H Hallam provided an explanation of the annotations made on the letter dated 30 April 2004 from the University of Leicester. J H Hallam said, 'The tender was dealt with by Mr Gill. On OFT document ABR/117 Mr Gill wrote the note 'Hallams covered by Phoenix' against Hallam's tender sum of £388,264.35 in response to Richard Blount's (Commercial Director) handwritten request to Mike Coles (General Works Director), 'Mike can you let me know which was our tender''.⁶⁹²⁵

IV.5072. In its response to the Statement, J H Hallam stated 'JH Hallam does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁶⁹²⁶

Evidence from leniency applicant Phoenix

IV.5073. As part of its leniency application, Phoenix provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.527 to IV.536 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5074. In its response to the Statement, Phoenix stated that '...Phoenix has accepted that it engaged in cover pricing in breach of the Chapter I prohibition'.⁶⁹²⁷

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Phoenix

IV.5075. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Phoenix's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.527 to IV.536 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5076. In respect of this tender, in interview Michael Williamson ('MW'), Managing Director of Phoenix, confirmed that Phoenix tendered for this contract but that he could not recall any further details about the tender.⁶⁹²⁸ On being shown by the OFT the entry from SG's diary for 5 March 2004 and the letter from the University of Leicester dated 30 April 2004 with the handwritten entry 'Hallams: Covered by Phoenix', MW said, '.....it is possible [that Phoenix provided J H Hallam with a cover price], because I've said that we've done it backwards and forwards with various people....'.⁶⁹²⁹ MW also said that it was a 'fair assumption'⁶⁹³⁰ to make that any contact between Phoenix and J H Hallam about this tender would have been made by the estimator working at Phoenix at the time, Roger Grace.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5077. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5078. Phoenix and J H Hallam each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5079. Phoenix completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. Phoenix wanted to win the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.5080. J H Hallam was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.5081. In regard to J H Hallam, SG's diary entry for 5 March 2004 has the entry 'Chiswick Rd – 253.k' J H Hallam has confirmed this shows that it received a cover price from Phoenix for this tender. J H Hallam's admission is corroborated by the recollection of SG who dealt with the tender at the time. SG confirmed to John Hallam that this entry referred to cover from Phoenix.

IV.5082. The OFT also notes that SG made these handwritten entries on 5 March 2004, the return date for submission of this tender. The OFT considers that this shows that Phoenix contacted J H Hallam by telephone on the day for submitting the tender, in order to provide a cover price.

IV.5083. A second contemporaneous document found at J H Hallam, the letter from the client setting out the results of the tender, has a handwritten entry from J H Hallam's Commercial Director, Richard Blount, asking the General Works Director, Mike Coles, to inform him which of the figures was J H Hallam's. In response to this request, SG wrote on the document against J H Hallam's figure, 'Hallams: Covered by Phoenix', providing further corroboration of the cover price from Phoenix to J H Hallam for this tender.

IV.5084. Although Phoenix does not recall that it engaged in bid rigging activity on this tender, MW did confirm in interview that this was possible as Phoenix had exchanged cover prices to and from a number of competitors. The OFT considers it likely that the handwritten figure of '253.k' is likely to be a figure which was communicated to J H Hallam by Phoenix, as the approximate figure (exclusive of VAT) that Phoenix was going to submit for this tender, and that with this knowledge J H Hallam knew what figure it could submit without winning the tender.

IV.5085. Finally, the OFT notes that the tender submitted by J H Hallam was higher than the tender submitted by Phoenix, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5086. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between J H Hallam and Phoenix. The OFT also concludes that Phoenix supplied a figure to J H Hallam for a cover bid.

IV.5087. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5065 to IV.5086 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁹³¹ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Phoenix to J H Hallam was not unilateral⁶⁹³², and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁹³³
- (b) J H Hallam can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Phoenix (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁹³⁴ and
- (c) Phoenix can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from J H Hallam (i.e. that J H Hallam did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁹³⁵

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5090. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to J H Hallam on 6 July 2005. J H Hallam will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, J H Hallam will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.5091. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Phoenix's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit to J H Hallam on 6 July 2005. Phoenix will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Phoenix will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 184: Butlers Hill Infant & Nursery School, Hucknall, Nottingham – 5 March 2004
Client: The Millward Partnership
Parties: Bodill and Hill

IV.5092. On 22 January 2004, The Millward Partnership sought tenders for alterations and extensions at Butlers Hill Infant & Nursery School, Hucknall, Nottingham. This was after four earlier tender exercises were abandoned in 2003. The return date for the tender was 5 March 2004 and four companies were invited to tender: Bodill, Hill, Wiggett and C J Cutts.⁶⁹³⁶

IV.5093. The Millward Partnership received the following tender returns on the morning of 5 March 2004:⁶⁹³⁷

Company	Date tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender
Wiggett	5 March 2004	£40,851
Bodill	5 March 2004	£45,229	Yes
Hill	5 March 2004	£49,995
C J Cutts	Did not tender

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.5094. In Bodill's original tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill:⁶⁹³⁸

1. Bodill

£49995.00 2. HILL BROS. © FROM US
GEOFF WILKINSON'

IV.5095. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £45,229.⁶⁹³⁹

IV.5096. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has indicated that the handwritten annotations '£49995.00' and 'GEOFF WILKINSON'', under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁶⁹⁴⁰ JR also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.5097. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations '© FROM US' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁶⁹⁴¹ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.5098. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5099. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁶⁹⁴² In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave a cover price to Hill.⁶⁹⁴³

IV.5100. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.5101. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – Hill

IV.5102. During the OFT's visit to Hill under section 27 on 24 January 2007, no information was produced, or found, in relation to this contract.

IV.5103. The OFT wrote to Hill on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Hill had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Hill said 'We do not accept that we are guilty of any offence under the act as alleged' and declined the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁶⁹⁴⁴

IV.5104. However, in its response to the Statement, Hill stated that it had not accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer because it lacked documentary records from which to determine whether any infringement may have been committed. It submitted that this was 'part corroborated' by the fact that the OFT's inspections found no relevant documentation. Hill stated '[in] light of information now provided, Hill Bros. accepts the alleged infringements are infringements, and apologises for its wrongdoing'⁶⁹⁴⁵ and 'It is accepted that submitting a price which has not been priced, and provided by a competitor, is wrongful'⁶⁹⁴⁶ in respect of this Infringement.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5106. Bodill and Hill each accepted an invitation to tender for this tender.

⁶⁹⁴⁵ Written representations of Hill, 23 June 2008, paragraph 3.

⁶⁹⁴⁶ Written representations of Hill, 23 June 2008, paragraph 11.

IV.5107. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. Bodill wanted to win the tender for this contract and it appears they submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.5108. In regard to Hill, Bodill's tender sheet records '49995.00 2. HILL BROS. © FROM US GEOFF WILKINSON'. Bodill has confirmed that this indicates that it gave the company in question a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £49,995, a figure that was identical to the tender price that Hill submitted. It is also noted that one of the directors of Hill at that time was Eric Geoffrey Wilkinson, who is likely to be the 'Geoff' in question.⁶⁹⁴⁷

IV.5109. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Hill was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5110. Both Parties have now admitted liability in respect of this Infringement.

IV.5111. On the basis of the above the OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Hill and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied a figure to Hill for a cover bid.

IV.5112. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5094 to IV.5111 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁹⁴⁸ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Bodill to Hill was not unilateral⁶⁹⁴⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁹⁵⁰
- (b) Hill can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁹⁵¹ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Hill (i.e. that Hill did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁹⁵²

but for the information provided by a leniency party, that party shall have 100 per cent immunity from any fine that the OFT may eventually impose in respect of that tender.

IV.5115. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 185: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 186: Buswells Lodge Primary School, Beauville Drive, Beaumont Leys, Leicester – 23 March 2004
Client: Leicester City Council
Parties: J H Hallam and Galliford Construction

IV.5116. Contemporaneous documentary evidence from J H Hallam – RMB Estimating Report

IV.5118. As part of its leniency application, J H Hallam provided a contemporaneous copy of Richard Blount's Estimating Report for a board meeting on 7 April 2004.⁶⁹⁵⁵ It has the following typewritten entry in relation to this tender, with an additional handwritten entry 'WE GAVE A COVER PRICE TO GALLIFORD

IV.5119. J H Hallam also provided a copy of the contemporaneous handwritten note referred to in paragraph IV.5118 above.⁶⁹⁵⁶ The note itself is a contemporaneous document with the exception of the addition of the words 'COVER PRICE?' and an arrow pointing to the circled figure '£592,811.00'. This was added to the document as part of the J H Hallam leniency application. The document contains the following original entries relevant to this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant J H Hallam

IV.5120. As part of its leniency application, J H Hallam provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing.⁶⁹⁵⁷ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.420 to IV.430 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5121. In particular, J H Hallam provided to the OFT a schedule of projects involving cover pricing March 2000 – June 2005. Examination of the entry relevant to this tender shows that J H Hallam provided a cover price of £592,814 to Nick Cleaver at 'Galliford', with a telephone number of [...] [C].⁶⁹⁵⁸

IV.5123. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, J H Hallam's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.420 to IV.430 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5124. Additional evidence in relation to this tender comes from the interview of Spencer Robinson ('SR'), the estimator for J H Hallam. His responses to questions concerning this tender were as follows:⁶⁹⁶⁰

R. '.....Buswells Lodge Primary School OFT document 5110, which is the incoming tender which doesn't actually – it shows you as the estimator but it doesn't actually show anything about cover.

B. We did – I'm sure we did – we did the job.

A. No, we did it. We did the contract.

Q. If you look at 5111 for me for a second you'll see halfway down I've highlighted 'Gallifords Cover'

A. Oh, we gave – we did this contract. We gave a cover out to Galliford's.

Q. So you gave a cover to Galliford's on that one.

A. Yeah.

Q. Yeah, cover to Galliford.

A. Yeah. Yeah, that's what it was, we –

Q. it was, yeah, it's £592,814

A. .....Yeah, I remember that. We spent ages trying to get the, you know, to come up with the list of savings and – no, we did that contract.....'

Evidence from other companies – Galliford Try

IV.5125. The OFT wrote to Galliford Try on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Galliford Try had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In a letter dated 3 May 2007 received from lawyers Pinsent Masons acting on behalf of Galliford Try the following admission was made: 'We are writing to confirm that our client is accepting the offer contained in the FT's letter in respect of suspect tenders numbered 1 to 16 in the Annex to the OFT's letter'.⁶⁹⁶¹

IV.5126. Buswells Lodge Primary School is entry No.14 on that annex in which Galliford Try admits engaging in bid rigging activity in relation to this tender. In the admissions section of the annex it states: 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'. The annex was signed by G P Fitzgerald, Chief Executive of Galliford Try, on 3 May 2007.⁶⁹⁶²

IV.5127. Following the issue of the Statement, Galliford Try did not submit any written or oral representations in respect of this Infringement.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5128. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5129. J H Hallam and Galliford Construction each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5130. J H Hallam appears to have completed the estimating process for the tender, and submitted a bid with the intention of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by J H Hallam being the lowest recorded, and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.5131. Galliford Construction was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.5132. In the handwritten notes referred to in paragraph IV.5119 above, 'Bushwell' is a mis-spelling of the tender name Buswells. 'Nick Cleaver' was the estimator for Galliford Construction in relation to this tender. '[.....] [C]<---' is a contact telephone number for Nick Cleaver. The figure '£592,811 – 00' is the exact amount submitted by Galliford Construction in relation to this tender. The document clearly shows the word 'Cover' in conjunction with the word 'Gallifords'.

IV.5133. Nick Cleaver is identified as a contact at 'Galliford', in the contact book⁶⁹⁶³ of Christopher Keith Trickett, Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, provided to the OFT as part of the leniency application of Thomas Vale.

IV.5134. J H Hallam has confirmed that it gave a cover price to Galliford Construction and that Spencer Robinson was the estimator allocated to this tender. He has confirmed in interview that he provided a cover price to Galliford Construction.

IV.5135. Galliford Construction has also admitted to cover pricing in respect of this tender.

IV.5136. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Galliford Construction was higher than the tender submitted by J H Hallam, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been received.

IV.5137. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between J H Hallam and Galliford Construction. The OFT also concludes that J H Hallam supplied a figure to Galliford Construction a cover bid.

⁶⁹⁶³ Contact list, OFT Document Reference 11086, page 9.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from J H Hallam to Galliford Construction was not unilateral⁶⁹⁶⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁹⁶⁶
- (b) Galliford Construction can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from J H Hallam (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁶⁹⁶⁷ and
- (c) J H Hallam can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Galliford Construction (i.e. that Galliford Construction did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁹⁶⁸

IV.5139. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between J H Hallam and Galliford Construction, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for classroom replacements at Buswells Lodge Primary School, date of tender 23 March 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5141. J H Hallam informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. J H Hallam will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

confirmed it was his handwriting, stating 'again mine except the ... competition ... box which is, for reasons I've already said, Shirley Peters [admin assistant at Sol]'. When asked about the value in the tender sum column, JC stated 'That is the cover price that we received from Middleton's'.⁶⁹⁷⁹ JC confirmed that the 'C' in the estimator box meant cover and in respect of the results and comments box, stated 'the first two names are contact names at Middleton's and, second, I should imagine, it meant that ... we were second' and 'That must have been Middleton's phone number ... From looking at the code'.⁶⁹⁸⁰

IV.5151. When asked if he had made contact with both Mr Stott and Mr Horner, JC stated 'Honestly, I can't remember' and 'Maybe Stott's ... I mean, Stott's the sort of main guy there, I think. He may have said I'm on holiday that week ... therefore you need, or he [Horner] will speak to you'. JC confirmed that he got the cover price from Mr Horner, stating 'Yeah, as far as I can remember'.⁶⁹⁸¹

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – Meeting minutes

IV.5152. As part of its leniency application, Mansell provided contemporaneous meeting minutes⁶⁹⁸² dated 5 April 2004 with an entry for this tender which shows 'NCC Portland/Hartland School refurb Tender now launched (£1.0m project). This is to be covered'.

Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.5153. As part of its leniency application, Mansell's legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁶⁹⁸³ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5154. Mansell's legal representatives also provided to the OFT a schedule of covers for the Eastern Region, which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell received a cover price.⁶⁹⁸⁴ Under the heading 'Documentary evidence of cover' it states 'Minutes of the Senior Managers' Meeting dated 5 April 2004 ... state "This is to be covered" next to this job. Incomplete tender documentation. These documents give a strong indication that MCSL took a cover on this job'.

IV.5155. Following the issue of the Statement, Mansell did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.5156. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, an employee of Mansell and an ex-employee from the Nottingham office provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is that G F Tomlinson had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter G F Tomlinson admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁶⁹⁸⁹

IV.5161. The OFT subsequently wrote to G F Tomlinson's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, G F Tomlinson Group, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on G F Tomlinson's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold G F Tomlinson Group jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by G F Tomlinson in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, G F Tomlinson Group stated that it did not wish to make any further comment.⁶⁹⁹⁰

IV.5162. In their response to the Statement, G F Tomlinson and G F Tomlinson Group stated that 'Tomlinson...does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁶⁹⁹¹

Evidence from other companies – G G Middleton

IV.5163. The OFT wrote to G G Middleton on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that G G Middleton had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter G G Middleton admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁶⁹⁹²

IV.5164. In its response to the Statement, G G Middleton stated 'We admit that we undertook cover pricing on some projects during the period of time indicated'.⁶⁹⁹³

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5165. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5166. Sol, Mansell, G F Tomlinson and G G Middleton each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5167. All four companies submitted a tender. It appears that G G Middleton completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by G G Middleton being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.5168. Sol, Mansell and G F Tomlinson were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.5169. In regard to Sol, its tender register and EBR show 'C' next to this tender. Sol confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price. Sol has also confirmed that it received the cover price from G G Middleton and that the contact details shown in the tender register, 'S. STOTT R. HORNED. [sic Horner] [...] [C]' relate to G G Middleton.

IV.5170. The OFT notes that G G Middleton's response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007 was signed by Stephen Stott and the telephone number [...] [C] was G G Middleton's telephone number.⁶⁹⁹⁴

IV.5171. In regard to Mansell, its meeting minutes of 5 April 2004 show 'NCC Portland/Hartland School refurb Tender now launched (£1.0m project). This is to be covered'. Mansell has confirmed that this, combined with the fact that the tender documentation was incomplete, provides a strong indication that it received a cover price on this tender.

IV.5172. In regard to G F Tomlinson, entries in a 2004 diary belonging to an employee of G F Tomlinson show: 'Cover' on 30 March, and 'Obtain Cover' on 31 March. Also erased entries for 14 and 15 April both show 'Cover Middleton'. In addition, G F Tomlinson has admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.5173. In addition, G G Middleton has admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007. All four companies have therefore admitted to engaging in bid rigging activities in respect of this tender.

IV.5174. The OFT further notes that the tenders submitted by Sol, Mansell and G F Tomlinson were all higher than the tender submitted by G G Middleton, the pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided.

IV.5175. In addition the OFT notes that G G Middleton's tender figure is the only figure below Mansell's tender figure, and the OFT is therefore satisfied that Mansell could only have received a cover figure from G G Middleton.

IV.5176. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between G G Middleton and Sol, between G G Middleton and Mansell, and between G G Middleton and G F Tomlinson. The OFT also concludes that G G Middleton supplied figures to each of Sol, Mansell and G F Tomlinson for cover bids.

IV.5177. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5144 to IV.5176 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁶⁹⁹⁵ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from G G Middleton to each of Sol, Mansell and G F Tomlinson was not unilateral⁶⁹⁹⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁶⁹⁹⁷
- (b) Sol, Mansell and G F Tomlinson can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from G G Middleton (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process,⁶⁹⁹⁸ and ⁶⁹⁹⁸ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

- (c) G G Middleton can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Sol, Mansell and G F Tomlinson (i.e. that none of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁶⁹⁹⁹

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5180. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Sol's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during a section 27 visit to Sol on 18 January 2006. Sol will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Sol will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.5181. The OFT became aware of Mansell's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by leniency party Mansell. As the OFT was not previously aware of this from any other source, Mansell will receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 188: Willington Down Farm, Didcot – 16 April 2004
Client: University of Reading Parties: Mansell and A H Willis

IV.5182. On 17 March 2004, the University of Reading sought tenders for the refurbishment of Willington Down Farmhouse and Brick Cottage, Didcot.⁷⁰⁰⁰ The following four companies were invited to tender: A A Beaver, A H Willis, Cavendish Construction and Mansell. The date and time of tender return was 16 April 2004 at 12:00 noon.⁷⁰⁰¹

IV.5183. The University of Reading received the following tender returns:⁷⁰⁰²

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – tender spreadsheet

IV.5184. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided the workload reports of Barry Russ (‘BR’), a Mansell managing estimator. The 2004 workload report for special projects contained the following entry:⁷⁰⁰³

EST NO.	LOCATION/DESCRIPTION	OUR BID
		BI	NET	LESS PROV.	%	MARGIN
02-00186	Didcot - Willington Down Farm		105378

OTHER BIDS			RESULT		REMARKS
LOWEST	SECOND	HIGHEST	POSN.	POSS.%
89892	100752	116108			(A H Willis)

IV.5185. In its response to the Statement, A H Willis submitted that the workload reports were unreliable because, based on BR’s explanation of his record keeping practices, i.e. that the entry might have been made weeks in advance⁷⁰⁰⁴, it was possible that an entry was made prior to obtaining cover and then not corrected if a cover was actually received from a company other than that indicated in the workload report.⁷⁰⁰⁵

IV.5186. The OFT notes that the accuracy of the workload reports has been corroborated in respect of other Infringements.⁷⁰⁰⁶ In particular, the OFT notes that A H Willis has itself effectively corroborated the accuracy of the workload reports in respect of Infringement 224, where it has admitted that Cyril Elbourn, the estimator for A H Willis on Infringement 224, gave a cover price to Mansell in respect of that tender as indicated in the workload report. The OFT does not, therefore, see any reason to doubt the inference it has drawn in respect of this Infringement, namely that the workload report is an accurate reflection of the source of the cover price obtained by Mansell.

Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.5187. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁷⁰⁰⁷ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

⁷⁰⁰⁷ Leniency application, OFT Document Reference B0734.

IV.5188. Mansell's legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table showing information relating to tendering activities in which a calculated competitive bid was not submitted, for the Thames Valley Region ('TVR'), which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell received a cover price from A H Willis and that this cover price was taken due to 'insufficient tender period: resource' at Mansell.⁷⁰⁰⁸

IV.5189. In its response to the Statement, A H Willis proposed that this table could not be relied upon as evidence as it 'appears to have been based on the workload report rather than any other evidence'.⁷⁰⁰⁹ While the OFT is not according the same evidential weight to Mansell's table provided under leniency as it is to contemporaneous documents and witness testimony, the OFT considers this document to be robust as it resulted from extensive investigation by Mansell prior to its creation (as described in Mansell's leniency application⁷⁰¹⁰). This table provides evidence of Mansell's position as to its engagement in cover pricing on this tender, and as such constitutes evidence additional to the available contemporaneous records and witness evidence.

IV.5190. Following the issue of the Statement, Mansell did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.5191. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, BR provided further general explanation of Mansell's participation in cover pricing in TVR. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.481 to IV.489 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5192. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, BR advised how he would record when Mansell had taken a cover as detailed in paragraphs IV.482 to IV.485 above. In relation to this tender BR, when asked if Mansell took a cover price from A H Willis, stated 'Yes' and also stated '...I think the pressure would have been on to have got a cover, rather than send that one back'.⁷⁰¹¹ BR also confirmed that A H Willis is 'a contractor who do ... a fair bit of work in that area'.⁷⁰¹²

IV.5193. In its response to the Statement, A H Willis suggested that BR's witness evidence could not be relied upon as evidence because 'it is apparent that Mr Russ has no direct personal recollection of the tenders in question, but is instead proceeding on the basis of his workbook entries'.⁷⁰¹³ The OFT notes that the weight it places on BR's evidence is commensurate with its explanatory nature, accepting that it may not constitute independent recollection of the events surrounding this tender. Nonetheless, such explanation is of evidential value. Though BR may not recall the details of the exchange of cover pricing, BR provides an explanation of the document he used to record cover prices taken, which the OFT relies upon in support of the contemporaneous evidence.

Evidence from other companies – A H Willis

IV.5194. The OFT wrote to A H Willis on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that A H Willis had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter A H Willis stated that, in respect of this tender, there was 'no evidence of bid rigging and the allegation is therefore denied'.⁷⁰¹⁴

IV.5195. In its response to the Statement, A H Willis suggested that the strength of the evidence in relation to this Infringement falls below that found in relation to Infringement 158 with regard to Allenbuild and Wildgoose, where the OFT had made no preliminary finding of infringement in relation to those parties, and therefore considered that this Infringement should not be pursued.⁷⁰¹⁵ The OFT does not find this argument persuasive, as in the case of Allenbuild and Wildgoose there was an absence of contemporaneous documentation, whereas in this Infringement there is a contemporaneous document supported by witness testimony.

IV.5196. Additionally, in its response to the Statement, A H Willis suggested *'it is apparent that the only evidence of AH Willis being involved in providing a cover price to Mansell is in fact the entry in Mr Russ' workbook.'*⁷⁰¹⁶ As the CAT stated in Claymore Dairies, cartels by their nature are hidden and secret, and that a single item of evidence may be sufficient to meet the required standard.⁷⁰¹⁷ For this particular Infringement, the OFT relies not only on the contemporaneous workload report, but also supporting witness testimony which taken together the OFT considers provide strong and compelling evidence that A H Willis gave a cover price to Mansell.

IV.5197. A H Willis also suggested that *'the OFT needs to show that if a cover price was provided it was by an individual in respect of whose actions AH Willis is legally responsible'*⁷⁰¹⁸ as opposed to a third party contractor without authority to enter into agreements on behalf of A H Willis. As discussed in III.28 to III.36, and in Infringement 224, a company is legally responsible for an agent acting on its behalf, in particular where that agent has ostensible authority to do so. Furthermore, nothing in the evidence available in respect of this Infringement suggests that Mansell received a cover price from a third party contractor. Nor is the OFT required to ascertain individual participants in an arrangement in order to establish an infringement between undertakings.

IV.5198. A H Willis further suggested that the OFT did not provide sufficient information to allow it to effectively defend itself.⁷⁰¹⁹ The OFT considers that the information as set out in the Statement together with the evidence from the OFT's file provided with the Statement was sufficient for A H Willis to review its records and locate the necessary information for its own defence. It appears that to the extent that A H Willis is not able to adduce evidence in its defence this is a product of it not having kept records in respect of this tender, rather than the OFT's case being insufficient. The OFT has no reason to doubt A H Willis' statement that it is unable to find any records relating to this particular infringement. However, the absence of documentary records cannot of itself exculpate A H Willis from an infringement where other evidence is available which the OFT considers implicates it, and indeed is sufficient to substantiate its involvement.

IV.5199. In its response to the Statement, A H Willis stated the OFT would 'need to show that Mansell informed AH Willis that it would not be submitting a competitive bid before AH Willis submitted its own bid'⁷⁰²⁰, in essence arguing that it should not be presumed to have acted in the market on the basis of the information that Mansell would not be submitting a competitive bid.⁷⁰²¹

IV.5200. The OFT notes that, as stated in paragraphs III.53 to III.54 above, the mere receipt of information that Mansell would not be bidding competitively may be sufficient to establish a concerted practice.⁷⁰²² Further, as stated in paragraph III.58, the ECJ has held that 'subject to proof to the contrary, which it is for the economic operators concerned to adduce, there must be a presumption that the undertakings participating in concerting arrangements and remaining active on the market take account of the information exchanged with their competitors when determining their conduct on the market...'⁷⁰²³

IV.5201. On that basis, the OFT does not need to show that A H Willis inflated its bid (or otherwise altered its conduct) in response to the knowledge that Mansell had accepted a cover price in order to establish that there has been an infringement of the Chapter I prohibition. It is entitled to rely on a presumption that A H Willis has acted on the information received.

IV.5202. The OFT notes that although Mansell's general practice was to receive the actual cover the day before or the morning the tender was due, it usually arranged for the exchange of cover within a few days after receiving the tender.⁷⁰²⁴ The OFT also notes that A H Willis submitted its tender on the morning of the tender return date (see paragraph IV.5183) and it is therefore unlikely that Mansell could have requested a cover price from A H Willis after the latter's bid had been submitted. The OFT does not therefore accept that A H Willis has satisfactorily rebutted the legal presumption that it acted upon the knowledge that Mansell had accepted a cover price.

IV.5203. Moreover, an undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept A H Willis's assertion that the cover pricing did not affect its actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5204. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5205. Mansell and A H Willis each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5206. Both companies submitted a tender. Mansell was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.5207. Mansell's 2004 workload report records '(AH Willis)' in the Remarks column. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it took a cover price from the company noted. In addition, Mansell has confirmed that the lack of figures in the margin and percentage columns would also indicate a cover price had been taken.

IV.5208. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Mansell was higher than the tender submitted by A H Willis, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5209. In its response to the Statement, A H Willis stated 'While Mansell's bid was higher than that prepared by AH Willis, this provides no evidence that Mansell obtained a cover price from AH Willis...'.⁷⁰²⁵ The OFT notes that this analysis is not relied upon in evidence and merely sets out that the pattern of the tender bids was consistent with a cover price having been provided by A H Willis to Mansell.

IV.5210. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and A H Willis. The OFT also concludes that A H Willis supplied a figure to Mansell for a cover bid.

IV.5211. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5184 to IV.5210 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁷⁰²⁶ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from A H Willis to Mansell was not unilateral⁷⁰²⁷, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷⁰²⁸
- (b) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from A H Willis (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷⁰²⁹ and
- (c) A H Willis can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell (i.e. that Mansell did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷⁰³⁰

IV.5212. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Mansell and A H Willis in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for Willington Down Farm, Didcot, tender deadline 16 April 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5214. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Strata – Contract Information Sheet (BOB sheet)

IV.5217. During the OFT’s search of Strata’s premises a contract information sheet, or BOB sheet, was found. The BOB sheet contained the following entries typed in the tender results box:⁷⁰³⁵

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from Lindum – Invitation and Form of Tender

IV.5218. During a section 27 visit of Lindum’s premises an enquiry assessment form was produced. The enquiry assessment form contained the following entry handwritten under the comments heading:⁷⁰³⁶

‘We need this like a’

IV.5219. On the day of the OFT’s visit David Chambers (‘DC’), Chairman of Lindum, explained that this was a comment he wrote on the document based on previous experience working for the Salvation Army. DC said the comments suggest Lindum was not keen to tender for the contract and would have either binned it, returned the tender documents or entered an inflated tender price. DC did not think a price was submitted for this contract.⁷⁰³⁷ In addition, in his witness statement, DC explained that the handwritten comment ‘...was to

However the ultimate decision on this job would be for the Division Managing Director. I was merely relaying my concerns and my knowledge of similar jobs for this client in the past'.⁷⁰³⁸

IV.5220. The Form of Tender for this contract was also found during the OFT's visit. The Form of Tender states that Lindum submitted a tender price of £1,701,086.00 for this contract on 26 April 2004.⁷⁰³⁹ A signed 'Certificate of Bona Fide Tender' was also found in the bundle of documents, signed on 26 April 2004.⁷⁰⁴⁰

Evidence from leniency applicant - Strata

IV.5221. As part of its leniency application, Strata provided to the OFT a list of covers prepared by reference to its contract information sheets, the file 'Covers from Jan 2000 – Dec 2001' and 'contracts in hand' documents. This list contained the following entry:⁷⁰⁴¹

Date	Project	Strata ref no
27/04/2004	Salvation Army Halls, Doncaster	T23/04

Cover to	Cover from	Company Name	Company Address	Contract Secured
✓		Lindum Construction	Lincoln

IV.5222. Following the issue of the Statement, Strata did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant - Strata

IV.5223. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Strata's past and present employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.617 to IV.634 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Evidence from other companies – Lindum

IV.5224. The OFT wrote to Lindum Group on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Lindum Group had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Lindum Group admitted 'Yes, we cannot recall full details'.⁷⁰⁴² Lindum Group also provided a statement which said 'Yes, we did take a cover. It was a bill of quantities. We were invited and we did accept. It should not have happened. YES, COVER RECEIVED'.⁷⁰⁴³

IV.5225. In its response to the Statement, Lindum Group confirmed that it *'...does not contest the fact of the infringements [including this Infringement] ... [f]ollowing the OFT's inspections at the premises of the Lindum companies on 26 January 2006, Lindum Group conducted internal investigations into the alleged conduct and admitted to the OFT, so far as possible, infringements of the Chapter I prohibition...'*⁷⁰⁴⁴

IV.5227. Strata and Lindum each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for Doncaster Citadel Salvation Army Hall.

IV.5228. Both companies submitted a tender. Strata completed the estimating process and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. Lindum did not want to win this contract.

IV.5229. Strata's contract information sheet records '3.6597744 LINDUM (C) 1701086' typed in the tender results box. Paul Throssell ('PT'), an estimator at Strata, confirmed that a '(C)' written next to a competitor's name alongside a figure and a percentage difference shows that Strata gave a cover price to the company noted, as in this case. The OFT also notes that the figure recorded as the cover price given to Lindum '£1,701,086' is the exact figure submitted by Lindum on its Form of Tender. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Strata, PT's explanation of how covers given were recorded and Lindum's admission that it received a cover price, that Strata supplied Lindum with a cover price for this tender.

IV.5230. In addition the OFT notes that the tender submitted by Lindum was higher than the tender submitted by Strata, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5231. The OFT notes that both Parties have admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement.

IV.5232. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Strata and Lindum. The OFT also concludes that Strata supplied a figure to Lindum for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Strata to Lindum was not unilateral⁷⁰⁴⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷⁰⁴⁷

⁷⁰⁴⁴ Written representations of Lindum Group, 27 June 2008, paragraph 3.

⁷⁰⁴⁵ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁷⁰⁴⁶ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁷⁰⁴⁷ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) Lindum can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Strata (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷⁰⁴⁸ and
- (c) Strata can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Lindum (i.e. that Lindum did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷⁰⁴⁹

IV.5234. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Lindum and Strata, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the contract for Doncaster Citadel Salvation Army Hall, tender deadline 27 April 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5236. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit to Strata under section 28 on 6 and 7 July 2005. Strata will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Strata in respect of this infringement.

Infringement 190: Civil Works for Aldwarke Primary Mill, Rotherham Works – 4 May 2004
Client: Corus Engineering Steels
Suspect Parties: Admiral and North Midland

IV.5237. On 6 April 2004, Corus Engineering Steels sought tenders for civil works for Aldwarke Primary Mill, Rotherham Works. The return date for the tender was 28 April 2004, extended to 4 May 2004 and four companies were invited to tender: Britcon, North Midland, Clugstons and Admiral.⁷⁰⁵⁰

Evidence from leniency applicant Admiral

IV.5240. As part of its leniency application, Admiral provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.166 to IV.173 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5241. In particular, Admiral provided to the OFT an analysis of its projects since January 2000 and in respect of this tender, Admiral confirmed that it received a cover price from North Midland.⁷⁰⁵³ Furthermore, Admiral provided a schedule which listed names and companies that it contacted regarding tenders. This schedule included 'Mr M Shorthouse' at North Midland.⁷⁰⁵⁴

IV.5242. Following the issue of the Statement, Admiral did not contest its participation in this infringement.⁷⁰⁵⁵

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Admiral

IV.5243. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Admiral's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.166 to IV.173 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

⁷⁰⁵³ Schedule of projects, OFT Document Reference 5189, page 6.

⁷⁰⁵⁴ Schedule of companies in contact, OFT Document Reference 5190.

⁷⁰⁵⁵ Written representations of Admiral, 26 June 2008, paragraph 21.1.

- IV.5244. AC confirmed in interview that it was his handwriting on the handwritten document and that, 'it was the back of a telephone pad, by the look of it, that I took a message on, from Martin Shorthouse, who I suspect had given me a ring to tell me what our figure was on that particular contract'.⁷⁰⁵⁶ AC also confirmed in respect of Martin Shorthouse ('MS') at North Midland, 'Yes, he's the guy that I always spoke to'.⁷⁰⁵⁷ AC confirmed that 'NMC' on the document stood for 'North Midland Construction'.⁷⁰⁵⁸
- IV.5245. In its response to the Statement, North Midland, and MS in particular, denied that MS knew anyone at Admiral, including AC.⁷⁰⁵⁹ However, the OFT notes AC's specific confirmation at interview that it was MS who he always spoke to. In view of that confirmation, accompanied by MS's name on a contemporaneous document, the OFT is not persuaded by MS's evidence to the contrary.
- IV.5246. AC said in respect of this tender that, 'We decided to take a cover on this particular contract, because again we didn't want to upset Corus, who were a regular client and who, over the years we'd done a lot of work with. I obviously contacted North Midland Construction and asked them if they were pricing it. They obviously said yes, and they gave us the cover figure'.⁷⁰⁶⁰ In respect of the handwritten note '£300K from last weeks Amendment', AC explained 'The 300K that he mentions, from last week's amendment ... that's in my handwriting, that explains why we were given an extension of time, because during the tender period they obviously came out with some amendments to the tender. There was additional work in it, and so to enable contractors to have time to price it, they obviously gave them a week's extension, and that's why he's [Martin Shorthouse] given me that other figure'.⁷⁰⁶¹
- IV.5247. In its response to the Statement, North Midland suggested that *'Mr Clarkson at Admiral is not able to say that a cover price was given by North Midland'*⁷⁰⁶², and that the allegation '...is no more than an ex post factor [sic] "rationalisation" of a 4 year old documentation with a view to boosting Admiral's leniency application'.⁷⁰⁶³ North Midland noted that when describing this exchange, AC used the word 'obviously', for example *'I obviously contacted North Midland...'*⁷⁰⁶⁴, which in its view connoted that he did not recall the events he was describing but was explaining the document in front of him.
- IV.5248. The OFT does not consider these assertions to be supported by the evidence, considered as a whole and in its proper context. It is clear from AC's interview that he had a specific recollection of this tender, and indeed stated when asked if he was sure it was North Midland who provided the cover, 'I'm 99% certain it was'. His near-certainty in respect of this tender may be contrasted with the other tenders about which he was questioned where he did not have such a specific recollection. Throughout his interview, where he did not have any specific recollection, he would answer accordingly.⁷⁰⁶⁵ For example, when asked what he recalled about another tender, he stated 'Ah, very little, to be honest'.⁷⁰⁶⁶

IV.5249. The OFT also notes that AC volunteered the name North Midland before he was referred to the contemporaneous document. The OFT therefore considers that the strength of his recollection of this tender, and of having taken a cover from North Midland, may be relied upon. Moreover, the OFT considers that in the absence of a reason to doubt the accuracy of the contemporaneous document (which, for reasons set out below the OFT does not consider there to be) AC's explanation of that document would still be valid explanatory evidence, even absent a specific recollection.

Evidence from other companies – North Midland

IV.5250. The OFT wrote to North Midland on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that North Midland had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, North Midland did not admit bid rigging on this tender.⁷⁰⁶⁷

IV.5251. In its response to the Statement, North Midland suggested that the contemporaneous document described in paragraph IV.5239 did not constitute sufficient evidence that North Midland had provided a cover price to Admiral because it 'does not provide any substantive evidence that covers were given or taken'.⁷⁰⁶⁸ Rather, it suggested, it may be a record of post tender information gathering.⁷⁰⁶⁹

IV.5252. The OFT does not consider this alternative explanation plausible. Admiral recorded in this note only a rounded down version of its own bid. It bears no relation to any other company's tender. Instead, it is consistent with a figure having been given by way of cover price being recorded, and that cover price being amended to a slightly different figure for submission to the client.⁷⁰⁷⁰ The OFT considers that, taken together with AC's explanation of this note (see paragraph IV.5244 above) and absent any plausible alternative explanation, this contemporaneous note does provide strong and compelling evidence that North Midland provided a cover to Admiral.

IV.5253. North Midland also suggested that the portion of the handwritten note referring to MS appeared to be a different style of handwriting to the rest of the contemporaneous note and more consistent with the writing on another, non-contemporaneous document.⁷⁰⁷¹ The OFT does not accept this suggestion as AC confirmed in interview that all of the handwriting on the note, including the reference to MS, was his.⁷⁰⁷²

⁷⁰⁶⁵ See, for example, interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 13299, pages 9, 20, 25, and 29.

⁷⁰⁷² Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 13299, pages 39 to 40.

- IV.5254. In its response to the Statement, North Midland suggested that MS could not have given a cover to AC at Admiral because he was not in any way involved in the estimating of this tender, and because he was at Kenilworth on the day when the cover was meant to be exchanged.⁷⁰⁷³ The OFT does not accept that either his presence in Kenilworth, or his lack of involvement in the preparation of this tender, precluded him from providing a cover price. MS could, through any number of avenues (the OFT does not consider it needs to speculate as to which), have been aware of the price that North Midland was submitting, or have found it out, and based on that information provided that a cover price to AC by telephone.
- IV.5255. North Midland provided a number of statements from its employees, including the Chief Executive, Directors, and a number of estimators, including MS, and Rod Walker, the estimator for this tender, all of whom asserted that North Midland did not engage in cover pricing.⁷⁰⁷⁴ The OFT accepts that North Midland may have had a policy against cover pricing; that does not, however, preclude that cover prices were given/taken by individuals in breach of that policy. Additionally, even if the OFT accepts Rod Walker's evidence that he did not provide Admiral with a cover price, this would not affect the OFT's case which is not that Rod Walker provided a cover price but only that a cover price was provided by MS.
- IV.5256. Regarding the statement from MS, as discussed above, the witness evidence from Admiral that he was a regular contact of AC (see paragraph IV.5244) contradicts his statement that he did not know anyone from Admiral. MS's name is also recorded on a contemporaneous document produced by AC. The OFT considers this calls into question the credibility of MS's statement. In any event, the OFT does not consider his statement to be sufficient evidence to undermine the contemporaneous documentary and witness evidence in relation to this Infringement.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and provisional finding

- IV.5257. From the evidence presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.
- IV.5258. Admiral and North Midland each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.5259. Admiral was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.
- IV.5260. In regard to North Midland, Admiral has confirmed that it received a cover price from North Midland. AC's handwritten note of the telephone call with North Midland records 'Martin Shorthouse' and 'NMC', providing evidence that contact was made between the two parties. AC also made a note of the cover price provided by North Midland, 'OUR figure £2,122,000', a figure that was identical other than the addition of £660, to the tender figure that Admiral submitted, which was £2,122,660.

- IV.5261. Admiral also provided a schedule which listed names and companies that it contacted about tenders. This schedule included MS at North Midland, providing further corroboration that Admiral contacted MS at North Midland about cover pricing in respect of tenders. Moreover, AC of Admiral stated in interview that MS was his regular contact at North Midland.
- IV.5262. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Admiral was higher than the tender submitted by North Midland, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.5263. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between North Midland and Admiral. The OFT also concludes that North Midland supplied a figure to Admiral for a cover bid.
- IV.5264. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5239 to IV.5263 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁷⁰⁷⁵ In particular:
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from North Midland to Admiral was not unilateral⁷⁰⁷⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷⁰⁷⁷
 - (b) Admiral can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from North Midland (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷⁰⁷⁸ and
 - (c) North Midland can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Admiral (i.e. that Admiral did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷⁰⁷⁹
- IV.5265. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Admiral and North Midland, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for civil works for Aldwarke Primary Mill, Rotherham Works, tender deadline 4 May 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

- IV.5267. Admiral informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Admiral will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant Propensity

IV.5271. As part of its leniency application, Propensity provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5272. In particular, Propensity provided to the OFT an analysis of Jackson's tender book since 4 January 2000 and in respect of this tender, Propensity confirmed that it received a cover price from R Durtnell.⁷⁰⁸⁴

IV.5273. In its response to the Statement, Propensity stated '...Propensity Group has made admissions in relation to all instances of cover pricing it uncovered as part of its leniency application'.⁷⁰⁸⁵

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Propensity

IV.5274. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Propensity's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5275. John Rhodes ('JR'), Pre-Contracts Manager at Jackson, confirmed in interview that it is his handwriting in the tender book⁷⁰⁸⁶ and that in most instances it would be himself that arranged the cover price.⁷⁰⁸⁷ JR said in respect of the entry in the tender book, 'I'm almost certain that's my writing and my record of the figure that was submitted'.⁷⁰⁸⁸ JR also confirmed that the figure recorded in the tender book and submitted by Jackson for this tender was most likely the figure given by R Durtnell.⁷⁰⁸⁹

Evidence from other companies – R Durtnell

IV.5276. The OFT wrote to R Durtnell on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that R Durtnell had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, R Durtnell admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party / parties involved'.⁷⁰⁹⁰ Furthermore, R Durtnell in respect of this tender confirmed that it gave a cover price.⁷⁰⁹¹

IV.5277. The OFT subsequently wrote to R Durtnell's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Durtnell Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on R Durtnell's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Durtnell Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by R Durtnell in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Durtnell

IV.5278. In its response to the Statement, R Durtnell stated 'Durtnell has accepted the OFT's Fast Track Offer and does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement by occasional cover pricing'.⁷⁰⁹³

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5279. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5280. Jackson and R Durtnell each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5281. R Durtnell completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the fact that R Durtnell won the contract.

IV.5282. Jackson was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.5283. In regard to R Durtnell, Jackson's tender book contains the entry 'Cover from Durtnells'. Propensity has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from R Durtnell. Jackson recorded in the tender book the figure £5,145,000, as the tender figure and this was the figure that Jackson submitted.

IV.5284. Both Parties have admitted their involvement in cover pricing in respect of this Infringement. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Jackson was higher than the tender submitted by R Durtnell, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5285. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between R Durtnell and Jackson. The OFT also concludes that R Durtnell supplied a figure to Jackson for a cover bid.

IV.5286. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5270 to IV.5285 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁷⁰⁹⁴ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from R Durtnell to Jackson was not unilateral⁷⁰⁹⁵, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷⁰⁹⁶
- (b) Jackson can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from R Durtnell (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷⁰⁹⁷ and
- (c) R Durtnell can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Jackson (i.e. that Jackson did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷⁰⁹⁸

IV.5287. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Jackson and R Durnell, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for The Orchard Development, The Grovelands, Bedales School, Church Road, Petersfield, Hampshire, tender deadline 14 May 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5289. Propensity informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Propensity will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 192: New Lift Shaft, Coniston House, Willerby – 14 May 2004
Client: Hull and East Riding Community Health NHS Trust
Parties: Hobson & Porter and Robinson & Sawdon

IV.5290. On 30 April 2004, Hull and East Riding Community Health NHS Trust ('Hull and East Riding NHS'), now known as Humber Mental Health Teaching NHS Trust, sought tenders for a new lift shaft, Coniston House, Willerby. The return date for the tender was 12:00 noon on 14 May 2004 and five companies were invited to tender: Quibell and Son Ltd ('Quibell'), Geo Houlton, Robinson & Sawdon, Hobson & Porter, and Wright (Hull).⁷⁰⁹⁹

IV.5291. Hull and East Riding NHS received the following tender returns on 14 May 2004:⁷¹⁰⁰

Company	Date tender received	Time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender
Quibell	14 May 2004	Between 11:00 and 11:50	£60,147
Geo Houlton	14 May 2004	Between 11:00 and 11:50	£54,680	Yes
Robinson & Sawdon	14 May 2004	Between 11:00 and 11:50	£57,964
Hobson & Porter	14 May 2004	Between 11:00 and 11:50	£62,643

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter

IV.5292. The invitation to tender letter from Hull and East Riding NHS has been annotated with the handwriting 'cover due from Dave @ R & S'.⁷¹⁰¹

IV.5293. The Minor Works Tender Summary sheet for this tender has been crossed with a banner containing the words 'VERBALLY DECLINED'.⁷¹⁰²

Evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter

IV.5294. As part of its leniency application, Hobson & Porter provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.391 to IV.407 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5295. In Hobson & Porter's Summary of Cover Pricing Activity (Minor Works), provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, it is stated that Hobson & Porter received a cover from Robinson & Sawdon and that the individual contact at Robinson & Sawdon was Bob Sawdon.⁷¹⁰³

IV.5296. In its response to the Statement, Hobson & Porter stated that it '...does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁷¹⁰⁴

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter

IV.5297. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Hobson & Porter's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.391 to IV.407 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5298. In respect of this tender, in interview Ian Gibbins ('IG'), Minor Works Director at Hobson & Porter, confirmed that the handwriting, 'cover due from Dave @ R & S', on the invitation to tender letter from Hull and East Riding NHS was Andrew Scott's.⁷¹⁰⁵ IG said that Andrew Scott ('AS'), an ex-employee of Hobson & Porter, left approximately two years ago. IG confirmed that he managed AS and that AS was involved in cover pricing.⁷¹⁰⁶

IV.5299. IG in interview stated that he would have been aware that AS was taking a cover price from Robinson & Sawdon on this tender.⁷¹⁰⁷ IG said that the 'Dave', referred to in AS's handwriting on the invitation to tender letter from Hull and East Riding NHS 'would almost certainly be Dave Marshall'.⁷¹⁰⁸

IV.5300. IG said that the words 'VERBALLY DECLINED', annotated on the Minor Works Tender Summary sheet,⁷¹⁰⁹ also mean that Hobson & Porter took a cover on this tender. At the time of this tender, IG explained that his department operated a document recording system in accordance with British Standard 5750, which meant that details of tenders received were required to be completed on the tender summary sheets. IG explained that writing 'VERBALLY DECLINED', on the tender summary sheet, was a way to get around this requirement where there were no tender details available.⁷¹¹⁰

Evidence from other companies – Robinson & Sawdon

IV.5301. The OFT wrote to Robinson & Sawdon on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Robinson & Sawdon had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Robinson & Sawdon admitted participating in bid rigging activities on this tender with Hobson & Porter.⁷¹¹¹

IV.5302. In the response, James Deacon ('JD'), the Managing Director of Robinson & Sawdon, said that the business of Robinson & Sawdon was sold by its owners, Bob Sawdon ('BS'), Michael Sawdon ('MS') and Charles Robinson ('CR'), to its current owners in October 2006. BS retired on 27 August 2004, MS retired on 2 August 2006 and CR resigned as a director (though remained an employee) in October 2006. David Marshall ('DM') remained employed as Contracts Manager.⁷¹¹²

IV.5303. JD explained that he had conducted an internal investigation into the tendering process at Robinson & Sawdon. As part of this investigation CR was interviewed and confirmed that Robinson & Sawdon engaged in cover pricing.⁷¹¹³ Also, as part of this investigation DM completed a questionnaire about the tendering process. DM was Estimating Manager during the period under investigation. In the questionnaire, DM confirmed that Robinson & Sawdon was involved in the practice of cover pricing and that this was done with the knowledge of the directors of the company named at paragraph IV.5302 above.⁷¹¹⁴ DM separately confirmed that any cover price provided by him, would have been on the basis of being instructed to do so by either BS or MS up to August 2004 and CR afterwards. At the time of this tender, BS was primarily responsible for the provision of prices at Robinson & Sawdon. For this tender, DM recalled that if there had been any discussion in relation to providing a cover price that it would have been with Hobson & Porter.⁷¹¹⁵

IV.5304. Following the issue of the Statement, Robinson & Sawdon did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

- IV.5306. Hobson & Porter and Robinson & Sawdon each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.
- IV.5307. Hobson & Porter was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.
- IV.5308. In regard to Robinson & Sawdon, Hobson & Porter's copy of the tender invitation letter from Hull and East Riding NHS has been annotated with the handwriting 'cover due from Dave @ R & S'. Hobson & Porter has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price for this tender from DM at Robinson & Sawdon. DM of Robinson & Sawdon recalls that if there had been any discussion in relation to providing a cover price for this tender that it would have been with Hobson & Porter.
- IV.5309. Hobson & Porter submitted a tender figure of £62,643 and Robinson & Sawdon submitted a tender figure of £57,964. The OFT notes that the tender submitted by Hobson & Porter was higher than the tender submitted by Robinson & Sawdon, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.
- IV.5310. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Robinson & Sawdon admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Hobson & Porter without being shown the OFT's evidence that Hobson & Porter was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.
- IV.5311. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Robinson & Sawdon and Hobson & Porter. The OFT also concludes that Robinson & Sawdon supplied a figure to Hobson & Porter for a cover bid.
- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Robinson & Sawdon to Hobson & Porter was not unilateral⁷¹¹⁷, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷¹¹⁸
 - (b) Hobson & Porter can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Robinson & Sawdon (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷¹¹⁹ and
 - (c) Robinson & Sawdon can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Hobson & Porter (i.e. that Hobson & Porter did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷¹²⁰

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5315. Hobson & Porter informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Hobson & Porter will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.5319. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted figure was £141,571.⁷¹²⁴

IV.5320. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has indicated that the handwritten annotation '£149850', under the section headed 'Tenderers' was made by him.⁷¹²⁵ JR also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.5321. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations '© FROM US RING PAUL FRI AM'' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁷¹²⁶ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.5322. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5323. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁷¹²⁷ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave a cover price to Wiggett.⁷¹²⁸

IV.5324. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence from other companies – Wiggett

Wiggett had participated in bid rigging on this tender. Wiggett did not respond to the letter. On 15 May 2007, the OFT contacted Wiggett by telephone and it said that after consideration it was rejecting the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁷¹²⁹

IV.5327. In its response to the Statement, however, Wiggett stated in respect of this Infringement that it '...must accept that in light of the evidence ... a cover price must have been taken from Bodill'⁷¹³⁰ in respect of this Infringement.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5329. Bodill and Wiggett each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5330. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract. Bodill wanted to win the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.5331. In regard to Wiggett, Bodill's tender sheet records '149850 4. WIGGETT BROS. © FROM US RING PAUL FRI AM'. Bodill has confirmed that this indicates that it gave the company in question a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £149,850, a figure that was identical to the tender price that Wiggett submitted. Bodill has confirmed that this figure was written prior to the date of tender submission. Information obtained from W R Bloodworth, a list of contacts for cover prices, names Paul Wiggett at Wiggett with a telephone contact number.⁷¹³¹

IV.5332. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Wiggett was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5333. Both Parties have now admitted liability in respect of this Infringement.

IV.5334. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Wiggett and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied a figure to Wiggett for a cover bid.

IV.5335. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5318 to IV.5334 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁷¹³² In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Bodill to Wiggett was not unilateral⁷¹³³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷¹³⁴
- (b) Wiggett can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷¹³⁵ and

- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Wiggett (i.e. that Wiggett did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷¹³⁶

IV.5336. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Wiggett and Bodill, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for refurbishment of Sure Start, St Anne's Metrazone, Ransom Road, Nottingham, tender deadline 28 May 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5338. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter – Tender Information sheet

IV.5341. The Tender Information sheet for this tender states that Hobson & Porter's submitted figure was £3,024,106 and in the competition section is written, 'Wright C 3,169,113', 'Houlton C 3,148,867'. Two other competitors are written in this section, 'Totty' and 'Irwin', but they do not have any markings or figures against them.⁷¹³⁹

Evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter

IV.5342. As part of its leniency application, Hobson & Porter provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.391 to IV.407 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5343. In Hobson & Porter's Summary of Cover Pricing Activity (Major Works) it is stated that Hobson & Porter provided a cover to Wright (Hull), and that the individual contact at Wright (Hull) was Chris Davis. It is also stated that Hobson & Porter provided a cover to Geo Houlton.⁷¹⁴⁰

IV.5344. In its response to the Statement, Hobson & Porter stated that it '...does not contest the OFT's findings of infringement'.⁷¹⁴¹

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Hobson & Porter

IV.5345. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Hobson & Porter's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.391 to IV.407 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5346. In respect of this tender, in interview Russell Horner, ('RH'), Minor Works Estimating Director at Hobson & Porter, recalls that the handwritten prices next to 'Wright' and 'Houlton' on the Tender Information sheet were written by him, that these figures would have been entered on 'the morning that the tender went in'⁷¹⁴² and that he would have made the telephone calls giving the cover prices to Wright (Hull) and Geo Houlton on the same morning.

Evidence from other companies – Geo Houlton

IV.5347. The OFT wrote to Geo Houlton on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Geo Houlton had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this

An individual contact name of Jamie Phillipson is also mentioned, but Geo Houlton has stated that 'at no material time' did it have an employee of that or similar name (written representations of Geo Houlton, 25 June 2008, paragraph 64).

letter, Geo Houlton admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁷¹⁴³

IV.5348. The OFT subsequently wrote to Geo Houlton's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Geo Houlton Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Geo Houlton's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Geo Houlton Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Geo Houlton in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Geo Houlton Holdings said it had no comments to make.⁷¹⁴⁴

IV.5349. In its response to the Statement, Geo Houlton stated '[i]t is not disputed that Houlton participated in cover pricing during the relevant period set out in the Statement'.⁷¹⁴⁵

Evidence from other companies – Wright (Hull)

IV.5350. The OFT wrote to Wright (Hull) on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Wright (Hull) had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Wright (Hull) admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁷¹⁴⁶

IV.5351. The OFT subsequently wrote to Wright (Hull)'s ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, T Wright Holdings, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Wright (Hull)'s response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold T Wright Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Wright (Hull) in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, T Wright Holdings said 'We have been made fully aware of the situation by our subsidiary and at this stage have no further comment to make'.⁷¹⁴⁷

IV.5352. In its response to the Statement, Wright (Hull) confirmed that it '...has admitted to engaging in "cover pricing" on this tender, but cannot recall details of the other party/parties involved'.⁷¹⁴⁸

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5353. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5354. Hobson & Porter, Geo Houlton and Wright (Hull) each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5355. Hobson & Porter completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears they submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

⁷¹⁴⁸ Written representations of Wright (Hull), 27 June 2008, paragraph 42.

- IV.5356. Geo Houlton and Wright (Hull) were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.
- IV.5357. In regard to Geo Houlton, Hobson & Porter's Tender Information sheet records 'Houlton C 3,148,867'. RH of Hobson & Porter has confirmed that this is his handwriting and that it indicates that he gave Geo Houlton a cover price. RH also confirms that he would have made the telephone call to Geo Houlton providing the cover price on the morning the tender was due. Furthermore, Hobson & Porter recorded on the tender sheet the figure £3,148,867 against Geo Houlton, a figure that was identical to the tender that Geo Houlton submitted for the work.
- IV.5358. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Geo Houlton was higher than the tender submitted by Hobson & Porter, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. Furthermore, Geo Houlton admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.
- IV.5359. In regard to Wright (Hull), Hobson & Porter's Tender Information sheet records 'Wright C 3,169,113'. RH of Hobson & Porter has confirmed that this is his handwriting and that it indicates that he gave Wright (Hull) a cover price. RH also confirms that he would have made the telephone call to Wright (Hull) providing the cover price on the morning the tender was due. Furthermore, Hobson & Porter recorded on the tender sheet the figure £3,169,113 against Wright (Hull), a figure that was identical to the tender that Wright (Hull) submitted for the work.
- IV.5360. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Wright (Hull) was higher than the tender submitted by Hobson & Porter, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. Furthermore, Wright (Hull) admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.
- IV.5361. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Geo Houlton and Hobson & Porter, and between Wright (Hull) and Hobson & Porter. The OFT also concludes that Hobson & Porter supplied figures to each of Geo Houlton and Wright (Hull) for cover bids.
- IV.5362. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5341 to IV.5361 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁷¹⁴⁹ In particular:
- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Hobson & Porter to each of Geo Houlton and Wright (Hull) was not unilateral⁷¹⁵⁰, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷¹⁵¹
 - (b) Geo Houlton and Wright (Hull) can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Hobson & Porter (i.e. the ⁷¹⁴⁹ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

- respective cover prices) when determining their own respective conduct in the tendering process;⁷¹⁵² and
- (c) Hobson & Porter can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Geo Houlton and Wright (Hull) (i.e. that neither of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷¹⁵³

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5365. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of the bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 to Hobson & Porter on 28 March 2006. Hobson & Porter will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Hobson & Porter in respect of this Infringement.

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Strata – Contract Information Sheet (BOB sheet)

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant York House – Form of Tender

IV.5370. As part of its leniency application, York House provided to the OFT a copy of its Form of Tender this contract.⁷¹⁵⁸ The Form of Tender shows that it was completed by Arthur Richardson ('AR'), Chief Estimator at York House, on 14 June 2004. It also shows that York House tendered '£2,398,640' for this contract.⁷¹⁵⁹

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from non-lenieny applicant Stainforth – Record of Tenders 2005

IV.5372. As part of its leniency application, Strata provided to the OFT a list of covers prepared by reference to its contract information sheets, the file 'OFT COVER INFORMATION Section 2; 2002 - 2004' and 'contracts in hand' document. This list contained the following entry:⁷¹⁶¹

Evidence from leniency applicant – York House

IV.5374. As part of its leniency application, York House provided a schedule detailing 'projects identified during the course of an internal investigation where cover pricing has occurred'.⁷¹⁶² York House stated this 'schedule is as complete as records and relevant individual recollections permit. The company has tried to provide as clear and accurate a review as is possible in all the circumstances and whilst the company is confident that the list is comprehensive, the possibility exists of inadvertent omission or inaccuracy due to the passage of time/absence of detailed records during the period under investigation'.⁷¹⁶³ The list contains the following entry:⁷¹⁶⁴

Witness evidence from leniency applicant - Strata

IV.5376. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Strata's past and present employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.617 to IV.634 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant – York House

IV.5377. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, York House's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.743 to IV.751 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5378. During an interview on 6 March 2007 in connection with its leniency application, AR was shown Strata's contract information sheet, or BOB sheet, in relation to this tender. AR stated that *'It is likely that we have taken that [cover price] from Strata because they've got that within their documents I'm not going to refute that ...'*⁷¹⁶⁵ AR confirmed that on the basis of the documentary evidence he accepted that York House took a cover from Strata in relation to this contract.⁷¹⁶⁶

IV.5379. During an interview on 6 March 2007 in connection with its leniency application, Robert Andrew Bruce ('RAB'), Managing Director of York House, was shown Strata's contract information sheet, or BOB sheet, in relation to this tender. RAB confirmed that on the basis of the documentary evidence he accepted that York House took a cover from Strata in relation to this contract.⁷¹⁶⁷ The OFT asked whether York House would give a cover on a tender on which it received a cover, RAB replied 'That's probably quite unusual that you'd actually give somebody cover if you've got cover. Very, very unusual'.⁷¹⁶⁸

IV.5380. The OFT wrote to Stainforth on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Stainforth had participated in bid rigging on this tender. The OFT received an email Gordons LLP who were representing Stainforth on 26 April 2007, stating that '... we formally confirm that our Client will not be accepting your offer in advance of the deadline of 26 April 2007'.⁷¹⁶⁹

IV.5381. However, in its response to the Statement, Stainforth accepted that 'it did not wish to win the tender because it was a complicated job that Stainforth's estimator considered "frightening"' and that as a result '...it requested and was *provided with a cover price from Strata. It did not know that York House had also requested and been provided with a cover price from Strata.*⁷¹⁷⁰

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5382. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5383. Strata, York House and Stainforth each accepted an invitation to tender for the contract for the design and build of 54-bed accommodation, The Old Vicarage, St Marks Road, Leeds.

IV.5384. Strata appears to have completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract, and came lowest in the tender process.

IV.5385. Both Stainforth and York House were unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.5386. With regard to York House, Strata's contract information sheet records 'YORK HOUSE (C) 2398640' typed in the tender results box. Paul Throssell ('PT'), an estimator at Strata, confirmed that a '(C)' written next to a competitor's name alongside a figure and in some cases, a percentage difference shows that Strata gave a cover price to the company noted, as in this case.

IV.5387. York House identified this tender as being one on which it had taken a cover price, before being shown the evidence obtained from Strata by the OFT.

IV.5388. During interview AR and RAB of York House accepted on the basis of the contemporaneous documentary evidence from Strata, that York House received its cover price from Strata. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from Strata and both companies' admissions, that Strata supplied York House with a cover price for this tender.

IV.5389. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by York House was higher than the tender submitted by Strata, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. Strata was the only company to submit a bid below that of York House, therefore York House could not have obtained a cover price from any other company in relation to this tender.

IV.5390. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Strata and York House. The OFT also concludes that Strata supplied a figure to York House for a cover bid.

IV.5391. With regard to Stainforth, Strata's contract information sheet records 'STAINFORTH (C) 2425000' typed in the tender results box. Paul Throssell ('PT'), an estimator at Strata, confirmed that a '(C)' written next to a competitor's name alongside a figure and in some cases, a percentage difference shows that Strata gave a cover price to the company noted, as in this case.

IV.5392. Also, providing corroborating contemporaneous documentary evidence is 'Stainforth Construction Ltd, RECORD OF TENDERS 2005', found at the premises of Stainforth. Recorded on this sheet is the figure '£2,424,767.69' under the heading 'Cover', entered in relation to this tender. Although the figures in the two documents differ, the OFT understands that in some cases an approximate tender price is given to a competitor as a cover price and that the competitor may then change the amount of the cover price in order to make it look more genuine. In this case Strata recorded a cover price of £2,425,000 and Stainforth submitted a tender bid of £2,424,767.69.

⁷¹⁷⁰ Written representations of Stainforth, 27 June 2008, paragraphs 2.37(b) and 2.37(d).

IV.5393. The OFT also notes that although the evidence found at Stainforth shows that it took a cover price, the documentary evidence does not show from which competitor. However, the OFT does find it significant that the only other tenderer besides Strata that could have provided a cover price is York House who in fact took a cover price from Strata themselves, and who stated in interview that, 'probably quite unusual that you'd give somebody cover if you've got cover. Very, very unusual'.

IV.5394. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence from both Strata and Stainforth, and PT's explanation of how covers given were recorded, that Strata supplied Stainforth with a cover price for this tender. The OFT considers that the evidence and admissions relating to the giving of a cover price by Strata to York House reinforce the backdrop of collusion on this tender and give added weight to the evidence that Strata also gave a cover price to Stainforth for this tender.

IV.5395. In addition the OFT notes that the tender submitted by Stainforth was higher than the tender submitted by Strata, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided. Stainforth now accepts that it requested and was provided with a cover price from Strata for this tender. All three companies have therefore now admitted to engaging in bid rigging in respect of this tender.

IV.5396. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Strata and Stainforth. The OFT also concludes that Strata supplied a figure to Stainforth for a cover bid.

IV.5397. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5369 to IV.5396 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁷¹⁷¹ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Strata to Stainforth and from Strata to York House was not unilateral⁷¹⁷², and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷¹⁷³
- (b) Stainforth and York House can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Strata (i.e the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁷¹⁷⁴ and
- (c) Strata can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Stainforth and York House (i.e. that neither Stainforth nor York House intended to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷¹⁷⁵

⁷¹⁷¹ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁷¹⁷² See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁷¹⁷³ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁷¹⁷⁵ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5400. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Strata’s involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 28 on 6 and 7 July 2005. Strata will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, in accordance with paragraph VI.386 of Section VI (Enforcement), the OFT is not imposing any financial penalty on Strata in respect of this Infringement.

IV.5401. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of York House’s involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit to Strata. York House will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, York House will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 196: Retail Fish Shop & Print Workshop, Whaley Thorns, Worksop – 30 June 2004

IV.5402. On 4 June 2004, Kent Porter Warren Architects sought tenders for a Retail Fish Shop & Print Workshop, Whaley Thorns, Worksop. The return date for the tender was 30 June 2004 and four companies were invited to tender: Newlife Construction, Harold Adkin, Bodill and Carmalor.⁷¹⁷⁶

IV.5403. Kent Porter Warren Architects received the following tender returns by 30 June 2004:⁷¹⁷⁷

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.5404. In Bodill's tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed 'Tenderers', the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill:⁷¹⁷⁸

1. Bodill

*2. ADKIN IAN WILL RING US MONDAY A.M.

IV.5405. The tender sheet for this tender also contains a ringed letter 'C' against the word 'ESTIMATOR', and at the foot of the sheet it states that Bodill's submitted price was £259,424.00.⁷¹⁷⁹

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.5406. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5407. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁷¹⁸⁰ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it received a cover price from Harold Adkin⁷¹⁸¹ and that it submitted a token tender.⁷¹⁸²

IV.5408. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, kept a diary for 2004 which contains the direct telephone number for David Wraithe, whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, which is given as '[.....] [C]'.⁷¹⁸³

IV.5409. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.5410. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from Harold Adkin – Form of Tender

IV.5411. During the OFT's search of Harold Adkin's premises on 28 June 2005, a Form of Tender for this contract was found.⁷¹⁸⁴ On page three of the Form of Tender is handwritten 'BODILL £259,424 DAVID [W]RAITH [...] [C]'.

Evidence from Harold Adkin

IV.5412. The OFT wrote to Harold Adkin on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Harold Adkin had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, Harold Adkin admitted that, 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with the following: Bodill'.⁷¹⁸⁵

IV.5413. The name 'IAN' against the word 'ADKIN' set out in Bodill's tender sheet⁷¹⁸⁶, would appear to be that of Ian Barrington Douglas, Managing Director of Harold Adkin, who submitted the Harold Adkin tender⁷¹⁸⁷ and who signed the annex when accepting the OFT's Fast Track Offer⁷¹⁸⁸, providing further corroboration that Bodill contacted Harold Adkin in respect of this tender.

IV.5414. In its response to the Statement, Harold Adkin confirmed its acceptance of the OFT's Fast Track Offer.⁷¹⁸⁹

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5415. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5416. Bodill and Harold Adkin each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5417. Harold Adkin completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.5418. Bodill was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.5419. In regard to Harold Adkin, as well as the ringed letter 'C' against the word 'ESTIMATOR', Bodill's tender sheet records 'ADKIN IAN WILL RING US MONDAY A.M.' Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from Harold Adkin. The OFT considers that this also more specifically indicates that Harold Adkin was to phone Bodill on the morning of the day for submitting the tender, in order to provide Bodill with a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £259,424.00 as the tender figure and this was the figure that Bodill submitted on the form of tender. Furthermore, it appears that the reference to 'IAN' on the Bodill tender sheet is Ian Barrington Douglas, the Managing Director of Harold Adkin, providing further corroboration that Bodill contacted Harold Adkin in respect of this tender.

IV.5420. Furthermore, on page three of Harold Adkin's Form of Tender for this contract is handwritten 'BODILL £259,424 DAVID [W]RAITH [.....] [C]', providing additional contemporaneous corroboration that Harold Adkin contacted David Wraith at Bodill in order to provide Bodill with a cover price. Harold Adkin recorded the figure of £259,424 as Bodill's tender figure and this was the figure that Bodill submitted, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. Furthermore, the handwritten telephone number set out in Harold Adkin's Form of Tender, [.....] [C], is the direct dial number for David Wraithe at Bodill, providing additional corroboration that Harold Adkin contacted Bodill in order to provide a cover price in respect of this tender.

IV.5421. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Bodill was higher than the tender submitted by Harold Adkin, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5422. Both companies have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender. The OFT notes that Harold Adkin admitted that the party with whom it engaged in bid rigging was Bodill, without being shown the OFT's evidence that Bodill was involved. This provides additional independent corroboration of the OFT's evidence in respect of this tender.

IV.5423. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Harold Adkin and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Harold Adkin supplied a figure to Bodill for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Harold Adkin to Bodill was not unilateral⁷¹⁹¹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷¹⁹²
- (b) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Harold Adkin (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷¹⁹³ and
- (c) Harold Adkin can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Bodill (i.e. that Bodill did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷¹⁹⁴

IV.5425. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Bodill and Harold Adkin, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for a Retail Fish Shop & Print Workshop, Whaley Thorns, Worksop, tender deadline 30 June 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

⁷¹⁹⁰ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁷¹⁹¹ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁷¹⁹² See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁷¹⁹³ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁷¹⁹⁴ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.5427. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 197: Extension, Sutton Coldfield Police Station – 7 July 2004
Client: West Midlands Police Authority
Parties: Thomas Vale and William Sapcote

IV.5428. On 9 June 2004, West Midlands Police Authority sought tenders for an extension to Sutton Coldfield Police Station, Lichfield Road, Sutton Coldfield. The following six companies were invited to tender: Greswolde, Allenbuild, Pettifer Construction Ltd, John Sisk, Thomas Vale and William Sapcote.⁷¹⁹⁵ The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 7 July 2004 at 12:00 noon.⁷¹⁹⁶

IV.5429. West Midland Police Authority received the following tender returns:⁷¹⁹⁷

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale – Tender summary, Tender Status spreadsheet and Tender Lists

IV.5430. During the OFT's inspection at Thomas Vale's head office, a Tender Summary sheet (also known as the QA EST6 form) was obtained.⁷¹⁹⁸ Under the section headed 'COMPETITION' is the following entry:

*'Allenbuild
Pettifer
Greswolde 3,289,619
John Sisk 3,679,000
Sapcote (C) £3,876,218 (73W)'*

IV.5431. The names of the competitors are in typed manuscript but the entry of the letter 'C' plus amounts are handwritten.

IV.5432. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a contemporaneous Tender Status spreadsheet, which contained the following entry:⁷¹⁹⁹

⁷¹⁹⁵ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 9959.

⁷¹⁹⁶ Information from client, OFT Document Reference 9959. The OFT notes that this was incorrectly recorded by the client as 4 October 2004.

The Tender Status spreadsheet was maintained at Thomas Vale's head office by Christopher Keith Trickett ('CKT'), Chief Estimator at Thomas Vale, who kept a *'little black book'*⁷²⁰⁰ of contacts, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Within this list, there is an entry for 'Sapcote' plus contact names and telephone numbers.⁷²⁰¹

IV.5434. Thomas Vale also maintained an internal list of tenders in progress, the use of which is referred to in the general explanation of cover pricing at paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above. Thomas Vale provided three identical tender lists referring to this tender, for weeks commencing 14 June, 21 June and 28 June 2004. Evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.5435. As part of its leniency application, Thomas Vale provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence and, in particular, the use of the Tender Summary sheet is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5436. At Annex 14⁷²⁰³ of its leniency application, Thomas Vale's legal representatives compiled a schedule setting out all tenders from 2000 to 2005

in respect of which Thomas Vale had either given or taken a cover price in the West Midlands. The information on the schedule was based on all available tender and miscellaneous documentation indicating cover prices had been given or received, plus the recollections of staff. Thomas Vale explained that tenders within the schedule 'highlighted in bold are those of which the OFT was already aware; based on documentation removed during its on-site investigation on 24 January 2006'.⁷²⁰⁴ At page nine of the schedule under Annex 14 and within the section for 2004 tenders is the following entry:⁷²⁰⁵

Tender No	Date	Client	Comments	Cover Given/Taken	Evidence
T5641	7 July	West Midlands Police Authority	Four Storey Extension to Sutton Coldfield Police Station, Lichfield Road, Sutton Coldfield	Given (Sapcote - £3,876,218; [...] [C])	Yes (Tender Summary Sheet)

IV.5437. Thomas Vale also provided to the OFT a schedule listing key competitors with whom Thomas Vale frequently dealt in relation to cover pricing at Annex 5 of its leniency application⁷²⁰⁶ and William Sapcote appears on this list.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Thomas Vale

IV.5438. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Thomas Vale's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in and recording of cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.689 to IV.717 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender. In particular, CKT gave an explanation of the use of the Tender Summary sheet to record cover prices given to its competitors.

IV.5439. In interview CKT confirmed that this tender was allocated to estimator Ian Skyrn ('IFS'), who worked within the Building Division (also known as Traditional), for which CKT was the estimating manager. CKT referred to the relevant entry in the Tender Status spreadsheet as follows: 'Well that indicates to me that we actually priced it, but we picked up some names of Greswolde, Pettifer, Allenbuild, Sisk and Sapcote, as also being competitors'.⁷²⁰⁷

IV.5440. CKT also referred to the Tender Summary sheet and admitted that he made the handwritten annotations on the document and that these entries show that he agreed and provided a figure of £3,876,218 as a cover price to William Sapcote with a suggested contract period of 73 weeks. CKT said 'I would suggest that I rang Peter Perry at Sapcotes, and gave him that figure'. CKT explained that the handwritten figures for Greswolde and John Sisk were obtained from the quantity surveyors after the tender deadline 'but certainly, under no circumstances, were they two covered'. CKT added that he would have contacted Peter Perry, who was Estimating Director at William Sapcote, because he had a 'special relationship' with him.⁷²⁰⁸

IV.5441. Estimator IFS was also interviewed and he recalled pricing the tender and that 'then we were asked for assistance by Sapcote's...part way through the tender period I would think'. He confirmed that the handwritten annotations on the Tender Summary sheet were made by CKT and that it was 'more than likely' that CKT would have dealt with the contact from William Sapcote.⁷²⁰⁹

IV.5442. The OFT wrote to William Sapcote on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that William Sapcote had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, William Sapcote admitted participating in bid rigging activity and stated 'We may have engaged in cover pricing activities on this tender but cannot recall details of other parties'.⁷²¹⁰

IV.5443. The OFT subsequently wrote to William Sapcote's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Sapcote Holdings, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on William Sapcote's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Sapcote Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by William Sapcote in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. Sapcote Holdings did not respond with any substantive comments.⁷²¹¹

IV.5444. Following the issue of the Statement, William Sapcote did not submit any written or oral representations.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5446. Thomas Vale and William Sapcote each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5447. Thomas Vale completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the fact that the tender was categorised by the letter 'A' which indicates that a genuine competitive bid was submitted to the client. William Sapcote was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract.

IV.5448. Thomas Vale's contemporaneous Tender Summary sheet maintained in electronic format by estimator IFS, within the Building Division, records five competitors who were also invited to tender for this contract, namely 'Allenbuild, Pettifer, Greswolde, John Sisk [and] Sapcote' Beside the entry for 'Sapcote' is a handwritten letter 'C' in brackets, an amount and the letters

'73W', also in brackets. In interview, CKT confirmed that he made these handwritten entries, which show that a cover price was given by Thomas Vale to William Sapcote. CKT admitted that he made the entries at the time and that he would have dealt with the request for a cover price from William Sapcote himself. IFS was also interviewed and recalled that Thomas Vale submitted a genuine bid to the client and 'were asked for assistance by Sapcote's'. The handwritten figure on the Tender Summary sheet of £3,876,218 is almost identical to William Sapcote's tender amount of £3,876,240, recorded by the client West Midlands Police Authority.

IV.5449. West Midlands Police Authority also received a tendered amount of £3,737,507 from Thomas Vale, which is lower than the amount tendered by William Sapcote. This fits into the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided from Thomas Vale to William Sapcote. The OFT notes that William Sapcote is the only company whose figure is above that of Thomas Vale and so Thomas Vale could only have given cover to William Sapcote.

IV.5450. The OFT notes that although five competitors have been recorded on the Tender Summary sheet, only one of them has the handwritten letter 'C' and tender amount, which suggests a conscious decision was made to differentiate William Sapcote from the other competitors. The letter 'C' was commonly used within the industry to indicate a cover price. [...]

[...] [C] CKT has since explained in interview that the handwritten amounts for John Sisk and Greswolde were made by him after the tender deadline and were not cover prices. In any event, both these figures were lower than the amount tendered by Thomas Vale and could not have been cover prices provided by Thomas Vale. The OFT therefore concludes that Thomas Vale did not engage in bid rigging activities with either John Sisk or Greswolde on this tender.

IV.5451. Thomas Vale admitted that William Sapcote was one of the 'key competitors' with whom it engaged in cover pricing activity.

IV.5452. Finally, William Sapcote also admitted engaging in bid rigging activities on this tender, in response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007.

IV.5453. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between William Sapcote and Thomas Vale and that Thomas Vale supplied a figure to William Sapcote in order that it could submit a bid to the client that was not intended to win the contract.

IV.5454. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5430 to IV.5453 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁷²¹² In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Thomas Vale to William Sapcote was not unilateral⁷²¹³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷²¹⁴

⁷²¹² See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁷²¹³ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁷²¹⁴ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

- (b) William Sapcote can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Thomas Vale (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷²¹⁵ and
- (c) Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from William Sapcote (i.e. that William Sapcote did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁷²¹⁶

IV.5455. In its response to the Statement, Thomas Vale stated that 'The OFT's assertion that "Thomas Vale can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from William Sapcote (i.e. that William Sapcote did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process" is inaccurate. The documentation shows that Thomas Vale was unaware of the Allenbuild or Pettifer Construction tenders'.⁷²¹⁷

IV.5456. The OFT does not accept that the fact that other bidders competed for the tender provides sufficient evidence that Thomas Vale did not take into account the information it received from William Sapcote. The OFT notes that the presumption that an undertaking involved in an exchange of information with a competitor and who acts on the market, for example by submitting a tender, is a legal presumption⁷²¹⁸ and that therefore the OFT is not required to adduce evidence in support of this. The OFT does not consider that Thomas Vale has rebutted the application of the presumption in this case. An undertaking may 'take account' of the information it receives from a competitor in a number of ways when determining its conduct in relation to this or future tenders, so even if the OFT were to accept Thomas Vale's assertion that the cover pricing did not affect its actual price submitted (which is not the case), that would be insufficient to demonstrate that the conduct fell short of an agreement and/or concerted practice in breach of the Chapter I prohibition. To the extent that Thomas Vale submits that this infringement should not be treated as serious because no effects have been shown, this point is addressed Step 1 of Section VI (Enforcement) below.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5459. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 27 on 24

⁷²¹⁵ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

January 2006. Thomas Vale will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Thomas Vale will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.5464. Andrew Bodill ('AB'), an estimator at Bodill, priced this tender and has indicated that the handwritten annotations '£272911.00p.' and 'WALLER', under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁷²²³ AB also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

IV.5465. David Wraith ('DW'), whose role is to provide estimating support at Bodill, has indicated that the handwritten annotations '© FROM US ROGER [.....] [C]' under the section headed 'Tenderers' were made by him.⁷²²⁴ DW also confirmed that these annotations were made before Bodill's tender was submitted, as explained in paragraphs IV.233 to IV.234 above.

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.5466. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5467. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000.⁷²²⁵ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it gave a cover price to Phoenix.⁷²²⁶

IV.5468. Following the issue of the Statement, Bodill did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.5469. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Bodill's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from other companies – G F Tomlinson

IV.5470. During a visit under section 28 to the premises of G F Tomlinson on 14 June 2005, the OFT obtained a copy of the diary of John Bishop ('JB'), an estimator at G F Tomlinson. Handwritten on the page for the date 21 June 2004 is the entry:⁷²²⁷

Evidence from leniency applicant Phoenix

IV.5471. As part of its leniency application, Phoenix provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.527 to IV.536 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5472. In its response to the Statement, Phoenix stated that *'...Phoenix has accepted that it engaged in cover pricing in breach of the Chapter I prohibition.'*⁷²²⁸

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Phoenix

IV.5473. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Phoenix's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.527 to IV.536 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5474. In respect of this tender Michael Williamson ('MW'), Managing Director of Phoenix, said that it had no record of tendering for this job. On being shown by the OFT the Bodill tender sheet for this tender, MW confirmed that the telephone number '[.....] [C]' next to 'ROGER' was Phoenix's number⁷²²⁹ and that, *'I mean I can only conclude what you'd conclude [that Phoenix took a cover price] on that...'*⁷²³⁰

IV.5475. MW, on being shown by the OFT the handwritten entry for 21 June 2004 from the diary of JB at G F Tomlinson, said that, *'I mean it doesn't mean anything, but yes, that's definitely our number and it's Roger Grace's name.'*⁷²³¹

IV.5477. Bodill and Phoenix each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5478. Bodill completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and it appears that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Bodill being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.5479. In regard to Phoenix, Bodill's tender sheet records '£272911.00p. PHOENIX CONTRACTORS @ FROM US ROGER [.....] [C]'. Bodill has confirmed that this shows that it gave the company in question a cover price. Bodill recorded on the tender sheet the figure £272,911 against Phoenix, a figure that was £9685 lower than the tender price that Phoenix submitted. The cover price given is usually the minimum price that would be submitted, but on occasion a company that is taking a cover price, will add an amount to the cover price given, to make sure that it does not win the contract, as explained in paragraphs IV.110 to IV.112 of the General section on cover pricing above.

⁷²³¹ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 11328, page 17.

IV.5480. Bodill's tender sheet also records the name of 'ROGER' and the telephone number '[.....] [C]' against Phoenix. MW of Phoenix has confirmed that this is Roger Grace, an estimator who was working at Phoenix at the time and that the telephone number is Phoenix's, providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. MW also stated that he could only agree with the OFT's conclusion in respect of this tender (i.e. that Bodill gave a cover price to Phoenix).

IV.5481. Both Parties have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender.

IV.5482. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Phoenix was higher than the tender submitted by Bodill, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5483. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Phoenix and Bodill. The OFT also concludes that Bodill supplied a figure to Phoenix for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Bodill to Phoenix was not unilateral⁷²³³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷²³⁴
- (b) Phoenix can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Bodill (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷²³⁵ and
- (c) Bodill can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Phoenix (i.e. that Phoenix did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷²³⁶

IV.5485. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Phoenix and Bodill, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for alterations and refurbishment of D Floor Labs, Phase 3, Queens Medical Centre, Nottingham, tender deadline 8 July 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

⁷²³² See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁷²³³ See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

⁷²³⁴ See paragraphs III.48 to III.51 and III.93 to III.94 of the Legal Background section.

⁷²³⁵ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

⁷²³⁶ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.5487. Bodill informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Bodill will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.5488. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Phoenix's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information provided by Bodill. Phoenix will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Phoenix will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 199: External Refurbishment, Sutton Court Shops, Hillingdon – 8 July 2004

Client: Hillingdon Homes Ltd

Parties: Mansell and Apollo

IV.5489. On 11 June 2004, Hillingdon Homes Ltd sought tenders for external refurbishment, Sutton Court Road shops.⁷²³⁷ The following six companies were invited to tender: Apollo, Borrás Construction Ltd, Botes Building Ltd, Frencon Construction Ltd, Mansell and Mucalley & Co Ltd. The date and time of tender return was 8 July 2004 at 12:00 noon.⁷²³⁸

IV.5490. Hillingdon Homes Ltd received the following tender returns:⁷²³⁹

IV.5492. In its response to the Statement, Apollo suggested that the recording of the name ‘Apollo’ on the workload reports in the Remarks column could merely have been a record of the company that won the bid for this contract.⁷²⁴¹ However, the word ‘Apollo’ is in brackets on this document and as discussed in Mansell’s general leniency section, BR stated in interview that he used brackets specifically to indicate that a cover was received from that company.⁷²⁴² Further, in relation to other Infringements described in this Decision⁷²⁴³, similar markings on BR’s workload reports indicating that cover prices have been obtained have been confirmed to be correct by evidence or admissions from other Parties.

Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.5493. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁷²⁴⁴ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5494. Mansell’s legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table showing information relating to tendering activities in which a calculated competitive bid was not submitted, for the Thames Valley Region (‘TVR’), which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell received a cover price from Apollo and that this cover price was taken due to ‘insufficient tender period: resource’ at Mansell.⁷²⁴⁵

IV.5495. In its response to the Statement, Apollo listed a number of issues with Mansell’s TVR table, principally that it could not be considered a separate document because it was only restating BR’s workload reports⁷²⁴⁶, and that Mansell itself admitted that it could not be excluded that some of the tenders identified in the leniency application might not have involved cover pricing.⁷²⁴⁷

IV.5496. Whilst the OFT is not according the same evidential weight to Mansell’s table provided under leniency as it is to contemporaneous documents and witness testimony, the OFT does consider this document to be robust where the underpinning contemporaneous documents and explanatory witness testimony indicate that a cover price was taken, and Mansell’s internal investigations have yielded an assessment that confirms that indication. Although some tenders included in this table may not be supported by sufficient evidence, none of these were included in the Statement. The OFT considers that the evidence for the present Infringement does meet the strong and compelling standard as it consists of a contemporaneous document supported by witness testimony.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

- IV.5497. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, BR provided further general explanation of Mansell's participation in cover pricing in the TVR. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.481 to IV.489 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.
- IV.5498. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, BR advised how he would record when Mansell had taken a cover as detailed in paragraphs IV.482 to IV.485 above. In relation to this tender BR stated '...we took a, a cover from Apollo again, a specialist in that sort of external refurbishment work'.⁷²⁴⁸ In its response to the Statement, Mansell clarified that BR's admission was based on the contemporaneous evidence rather than on independent recollection of taking the cover price.⁷²⁴⁹
- IV.5499. In its response to the Statement, Apollo pointed out that BR had no specific recollection of contact with Apollo for this contract.⁷²⁵⁰ The OFT accepts that BR's evidence does not constitute independent recollection of the events surrounding this tender. However, it does not consider that that undermines the credibility of his evidence. Given the number of tenders BR dealt with, as indicated on his personal workload reports, the OFT accepts that it is unlikely that he would remember every single tender in detail, particularly one that had been pre-determined not to be of high priority and therefore on which the least possible amount of effort had been expended. This does not preclude him providing an explanation of the contemporaneous documentation. The weight placed by the OFT on BR's evidence is commensurate with its explanatory nature.
- IV.5500. In its response to the Statement, Apollo also suggested that it could not have given cover to Mansell because neither BR of Mansell nor any of the relevant estimators at Apollo knew any employees of the other party involved in this tender. Apollo quoted Kenneth Lockwood ('KL') of Mansell as stating that Mansell's estimators knew the opposition and an estimator would know his opposite numbers by name.⁷²⁵¹
- IV.5501. The OFT notes that although KL stated that Mansell's estimators knew the opposition by name, it was BR's evidence (who works at a different office to KL) that he did not know estimators in other companies by name.⁷²⁵² Though it may generally have been the case that Mansell's estimators knew their opposite numbers, in this particular instance the estimator has confirmed that he did not, and there is no inconsistency therefore between his evidence and Apollo's in this regard. The OFT also notes that the workload reports that provide the contemporaneous documentary evidence for this Infringement were BR's, not

KL's, and therefore in relation to this Infringement it is BR's views that should be given greater weight.

Evidence from other companies – Apollo

IV.5502. The OFT wrote to Apollo on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Apollo had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Apollo stated that it was unable to accept the OFT's offer as it 'had not found any indication that [it] has been involved in any anti-competitive conduct in relation to the tenders identified'.⁷²⁵³

IV.5503. The OFT subsequently wrote to Apollo's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Apollo Group on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on Apollo's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Apollo Group jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Apollo in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. The OFT received a phone call in response to this letter on 6 December 2007, which confirmed that Apollo Group *'had no comments to make regarding its subsidiary's reply...'*⁷²⁵⁴

IV.5504. In its response to the Statement, Apollo made general representations as to how, as a business, it has ensured that it generally only receives appropriate invitations to tender, how it returns unsuitable tenders, and as to its prequalification success rate in invitations to tender.⁷²⁵⁵ The OFT accepts that the evidence currently available suggests that Apollo tends to price tenders properly. However, the present Infringement relates to the provision of a cover price, not the acceptance of one. Though the OFT has found, in paragraph IV.73 above, that a common motive for providing cover prices was reciprocity, it notes that the undertaking concerned may have other motives, such as facilitating the reduction in competitive bids for a tender which it wishes to win. Moreover, and as set out in Section III (Legal Background), the subjective motives of a party are irrelevant where an anti-competitive object is established.

IV.5505. In its response to the Statement, Apollo also noted the absence of any documentary record of the contact for this tender.⁷²⁵⁶ The OFT does not consider the absence of any documentary record of the contact to be indicative of whether there was contact or not. Most cover price exchanges took place over the telephone, such that it would not be inconsistent with contact having taken place if no document had ever existed. Moreover, even if documentary records of the contact were made, as the OFT has noted in particular in paragraphs IV.122 to IV.127, it was not uncommon for companies not to retain documentary records, particularly when they did not succeed in obtaining a contract.

IV.5506. In its response to the Statement, Apollo provided a witness statement from Dean Wincott ('DW')⁷²⁵⁷, who stated in respect of this tender, 'I was the estimator responsible for preparing Apollo's costs estimate...' and 'I was not approached for a cover price by any company in relation to this tender'. DW also stated 'I have never sought a cover price from a competitor, nor have I given a cover price to a competitor, on Apollo's behalf'. Similarly, Ian Timms ('IT'), Apollo's estimating director stated in his witness statement that he had not been approached for a cover price in relation to this tender.

IV.5507. The OFT notes the direct contradiction between this witness evidence and the contemporaneous evidence and overall explanation of BR in respect of the workload report and his specific explanation of the entry relating to this tender. On balance, the OFT considers the latter to be more compelling. BR's evidence is consistent with the markings on the contemporaneous tender register. Further, in relation to other Infringements described in this Decision⁷²⁵⁸, similar markings on BR's workload reports indicating that cover prices have been obtained have been confirmed to be correct by evidence or admissions from other Parties. The OFT further notes the possibility that the cover price may have been provided by someone at Apollo other than the estimator for the tender in question, DW, and without the knowledge of the estimating director, IT. In light of those factors, the OFT considers that the contemporaneous documentary evidence and explanation of BR should be preferred to the evidence of DW and IT.

IV.5508. In its response to the Statement, Apollo noted that the Statement indicated that cover prices were generally four to five per cent higher than the price submitted by the person providing the cover price and that in this tender Mansell's bid was approximately 10 per cent higher.⁷²⁵⁹ The OFT is unable to comment on the cover price calculation methodology of a non-leniency party, such as Apollo. In any event, although it was often the practice for companies to provide a cover price and for the recipient to add on four to five per cent, there were in fact many instances where the figure submitted on the basis of a cover price was 10 per cent or more above the figure submitted by the provider of the cover price. Accordingly, the OFT does not consider a difference of approximately 10 per cent to be indicative that cover pricing did not take place.

IV.5509. In its response to the Statement, Apollo also noted that Mansell could have obtained a cover price from three other tenderers therefore there is no reason to assume that it was Apollo that provided the cover price.⁷²⁶⁰ The OFT considers that the fact that no other competitors' name appears on the contemporaneous evidence, taken together with BR's explanation of the significance of Apollo's name on the document, as sufficient evidence to indicate that Mansell received a cover price from Apollo rather than any other competitor.

IV.5510. Apollo also asserted that as a large part of this tender was to be subcontracted to named sub-contractors, an experienced bidder could have made a realistic estimate by contacting those subcontractors thereby not requiring a cover price.⁷²⁶¹ The OFT considers it implausible that Mansell would have undertaken such a task, which amounts in essence to pricing the job, given the resource issues it has cited above. In any event, any suggestion that Mansell did undertake such a task, though not inherently implausible, is contradicted by the contemporaneous documentary evidence containing the entry 'Apollo', and the witness explanation thereof as indicating a cover price having been taken from Apollo. In view of the available evidence, the OFT does not consider this suggestion can be accepted.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5511. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5512. Mansell and Apollo each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5513. Both companies submitted a tender. Mansell was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. It appears that Apollo completed the estimating process for this tender and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Apollo being the lowest received and the fact that it won the contract.

IV.5514. Mansell's 2003 workload report records 'Apollo', in the Remarks column. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it took a cover price from the company noted. In addition, Mansell has confirmed that the lack of figures in the margin and percentage columns would also indicate a cover price had been taken.

IV.5515. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Mansell was higher than the tender submitted by Apollo, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5516. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and Apollo. The OFT also concludes that Apollo supplied a figure to Mansell for a cover bid.

IV.5517. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5491 to IV.5516 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁷²⁶² In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Apollo to Mansell was not unilateral⁷²⁶³, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷²⁶⁴
- (b) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Apollo (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷²⁶⁵ and
- (c) Apollo can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell (i.e. that Mansell did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷²⁶⁶

⁷²⁶⁶ See paragraphs III.58, III.95 to III.96, and III.125 of the Legal Background section.

IV.5518. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Mansell and Apollo in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for Sutton Court shops, external refurbishment, tender deadline 8 July 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5520. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Alleged Infringement 200: Not included in the Decision

Infringement 201: E-Centre Office Development – Sherwood Energy Village, Ollerton – 30 July 2004
Client: Sherwood Energy Village
Parties: Herbert Baggaley and G F Tomlinson

IV.5521. On 7 June 2004, Sherwood Energy Village ('Sherwood Energy') sought tenders for the construction of new office accommodation and bistro at The E-Centre, Darwin Drive, Sherwood Energy Village, New Ollerton, Nottinghamshire. The following six companies were invited to tender: Herbert Baggaley, G F Tomlinson, Clegg, Robert Woodhead, Galliford Try and Bluestone. The deadline for the receipt of tenders was 30 July 2004.

IV.5522. Sherwood Energy received the following tender returns:⁷²⁶⁷

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley – Pre-Tender Quality Plan

IV.5523. Herbert Baggaley's 'Pre-Tender Quality Plan' relating to this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, has under the section headed 'Known Competitors', the following entries, all of which are handwritten:⁷²⁶⁸

*' Clegg
Bluestone
Woodhead
Tomlinson. (pr) - £ 3884182.00
Galliford*

IV.5524. The 'Pre-Tender Quality Plan' states that Herbert Baggaley's submitted figure was £3,695,766.29.

Evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley

IV.5525. As part of its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5526. Following the issue of the Statement, Herbert Baggaley did not submit any specific written or oral representations in respect of this infringement.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley

IV.5527. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5528. During interview Anton Newell ('AN'), Chief Estimator at Herbert Baggaley, was specifically asked about this tender and reference was made to the 'Pre-Tender Quality Plan',⁷²⁶⁹ discussed in paragraph IV.5523 above. AN said, 'it would appear from that that we gave Tomlinson's a cover price some 100...175...£180,000 higher than ours'.⁷²⁷⁰ He was then asked about the meaning of '(pr)' recorded next to Tomlinson's name and he said, 'Yeah, price'.⁷²⁷¹

Evidence from other companies - G F Tomlinson

IV.5531. The OFT wrote to G F Tomlinson on 22 March 2007, offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that G F Tomlinson had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter, G F Tomlinson replied, by letter dated 23 April 2007, confirming its involvement in bid rigging activities in general and accepting the offered reduction.⁷²⁷⁵ In relation to this specific tender, G F Tomlinson stated 'We

IV.5532. The OFT subsequently wrote to G F Tomlinson's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, G F Tomlinson Group, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on G F Tomlinson's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold G F Tomlinson Group jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by G F Tomlinson in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, G F Tomlinson Group said it did not wish to comment on the response from its subsidiary G F Tomlinson.⁷²⁷⁷

IV.5551. Herbert Baggaley and G F Tomlinson each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract. G F Tomlinson was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender. It appears that Herbert Baggaley completed the estimating process for this contract and submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

IV.5552. With regard to G F Tomlinson, Herbert Baggaley's contemporaneous 'Pre-Tender Quality Plan' shows that a cover was given to G F Tomlinson in respect of this tender: 'Tomlinson. (pr) - £3684182.00'. This was confirmed by AN of Herbert Baggaley during interview, 'it would appear from that that we gave Tomlinson's a cover price some 100...175...£180.000 higher than ours'. AN was asked about the meaning of '(pr)' recorded next to Tomlinson's name and he said, 'Yeah, price'.

IV.5553. Corroborating contemporaneous evidence was found at G F Tomlinson during the OFT's visit. An estimator's diary contained entries including: 'Cover – Baggs' on 19 July 2004, 'Baggerley (Anton) Ring few days before to confirm' on 20 July 2004, 'Ring Anton @ Baggs to Confirm 'E' Centre. (After 3pm)' on 28 July 2004, 'Ring Anton After 3pm – 'E' Centre' on 29 July 2004, and ''E' Centre (3/8/04) 1. tender Analysis to Architect – Anton to provide' on 30 July 2004. There were also erased entries including: 'Obtain Cover' on 6 July 2004, and 'Cover Figure - Baggs [.....] [C]' on 28 July 2004. The telephone number, [...] [C], is Herbert Baggaley's telephone number.

IV.5554. The diary entry for 14 July 2004 shows what appears to be a list of contractors who G F Tomlinson believed were tendering for this tender. The OFT has no evidence that G F Tomlinson sought a cover price from either Clegg or Galliford Try, either instead of or as well as Herbert Baggaley. As is shown by the other diary entries, Herbert Baggaley was named consistently in G F Tomlinson's diary throughout the tender period, and as Galliford Try's tender price was higher than that submitted by G F Tomlinson it could not have provided a cover price to G F Tomlinson.

IV.5555. Both G F Tomlinson and Herbert Baggaley have admitted to bid rigging in respect of this tender. In response to the OFT's letter of 22 March 2007, G F Tomlinson admitted 'We engaged in bid rigging activities on this tender with Herbert Baggaley Construction Limited'. The OFT considers in the light of the contemporaneous evidence, the explanations of that evidence, and the admissions by both G F Tomlinson and Herbert Baggaley, that Herbert Baggaley gave a cover price to G F Tomlinson in respect of this tender.

IV.5556. [...] [C]

⁷²⁹⁴ [...] [C]

[...] [C]

IV.5557. [...] [C]

IV.5558. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Herbert Baggaley and G F Tomlinson. The OFT also concludes that Herbert Baggaley supplied a figure to G F Tomlinson for a cover bid.

IV.5559. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5523 to IV.5558 above amount in law to an agreement and/or concerted practice contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁷²⁹⁵ In particular:

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Herbert Baggaley to G F Tomlinson was not unilateral⁷²⁹⁶, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷²⁹⁷
- (b) G F Tomlinson can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Herbert Baggaley (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷²⁹⁸ and
- (c) Herbert Baggaley can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from G F Tomlinson (i.e. that G F Tomlinson did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process.⁷²⁹⁹

IV.5560. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Herbert Baggaley and G F Tomlinson, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for the construction of new office accommodation and bistro at The E Centre, Darwin Drive, Sherwood Energy Village, New Ollerton, Nottinghamshire, tender deadline 30 July 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5562. Herbert Baggaley informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Herbert Baggaley will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 202: Alterations and Extension to Norwich Cinema City, St Andrews Street, Norwich – 27 August 2004
Client: Norfolk and Norwich Film Theatre Limited
Parties: Jackson⁷³⁰⁰ and R G Carter

IV.5563. On 27 July 2004, Norfolk and Norwich Film Theatre Limited sought tenders for alterations and extension to Norwich Cinema City, St Andrews Street, Norwich. The return date for the tender was 27 August 2004 and three companies were invited to tender: Jackson, R G Carter and Bluestone.⁷³⁰¹

IV.5564. Norfolk and Norwich Film Theatre Limited received the following tender returns before noon on 27 August 2004:⁷³⁰²

Company	Date and time tender received	Amount of tender	Awarded the tender
Bluestone	Before Noon on 27 August 2004	£2,391,032	Yes
R G Carter	Before Noon on 27 August 2004	£2,506,995
Jackson	Before Noon on 27 August 2004	£2,678,252

IV.5565. Norfolk and Norwich Film Theatre Limited stated in its 'Preliminary Tender Report' that 'Jackson Building Services did not submit any supporting documentation with their tender return. It has therefore not been possible to analyse the elemental breakdown of the Jacksons tender'.⁷³⁰³

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Propensity – Jackson tender book and Tender Sheet

IV.5566. In Jackson's tender book provided by Propensity to the OFT as part of its leniency application, in respect of this tender, the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten:⁷³⁰⁴

Enquiry Number	Date Received	Employer	Location	Description of Works
E3871	30.7.04	Norfolk & Norwich Film Theatre Ltd	Norwich	Norwich Cinema City

IV.5567. On the tender sheet for this tender is handwritten in the section under 'Known Competition', 'Bluestone ✓' and 'R G Carters ✓'. The estimator is shown as 'John Harvey'.⁷³⁰⁵

IV.5568. In its response to the Statement, R G Carter stated '[c]learly the tender book does not constitute "contemporaneous" evidence. According to John Rhodes' statement, the relevant details might have been added a month after the bid was submitted.'⁷³⁰⁶ The OFT does not accept R G Carter's assertion that the tender book was not completed contemporaneously. The interview transcript with John Rhodes ('JR'), Pre-Contracts Manager at Jackson, confirms the contemporaneous nature of the tender book:

JR. Sometimes the person giving the cover may have said around this price, at other times they would have given a specific figure. I wouldn't normally question that figure, I would, that figure would be entered on the formal tender and that would be what was returned. And then I would record the information in the estimate book.

KB. But you would get the cover price on the day or the day before the tender?

JR. That is correct.

KB. But you wouldn't necessarily write that price and the fact you received a cover, you wouldn't necessarily write that on the same day as the tender deadline, it might be on the day, it might be a day or two afterwards or it might be a week afterwards?

*JR. That is correct.*⁷³⁰⁷

IV.5569. The interview evidence clearly shows that the tender book was completed in the normal course of business at or around the time the tenders it recorded were submitted.

IV.5570. In its response to the Statement, R G Carter stated '[t]he page extracted from the Jackson tender book that has a reference to Norwich Cinema City is not completed as regards the columns for Jackson's position, lowest tender or, indeed, Jackson's price. Those columns appear to be completed in respect of other tenders in the book. The information does not appear to be complete and its reliability must be questioned.'⁷³⁰⁸

IV.5571. The OFT does not accept R G Carter's assertion that because the cover price used by Jackson in respect of this Infringement was not recorded in the tender book the reliability of the evidence in respect of this tender must be questioned. The OFT notes that there are several entries in the tender book which indicate the taking of a cover price but do not record the cover price in the Jackson's position column. In any event, the absence of information from certain columns does not undermine the information that is recorded in other columns of the tender book. The OFT has not sought to rely on the tender book evidence to ascertain the actual cover price given by R G Carter to Jackson in respect of this Infringement and therefore considers the absence of the actual cover price from the tender book as being immaterial to the Infringement.

IV.5572. With regard to the information on the tender sheet, R G Carter stated '[i]n this case the other contractors would have found R G Carter already on site under the enabling contract and would have realised that R G Carter would be among the contractors invited to tender. John Harvey confirms this in his interview, saying "I remember going and doing a site visit on that one because there was another company doing some enabling works. And while we were there we bumped into some people from that company...". There is no indication at all that this information, added in handwriting on the Tender Sheet, was obtained by Jackson through direct contact between Jackson and R G Carter.⁷³⁰⁹

IV.5573. The OFT has not alleged that Jackson obtained the names of the other contractors in the tender process through direct contact with R G Carter. The OFT does however note, as R G Carter also points out, that there was direct contact between R G Carter and Jackson prior to the submission of the tender and that JH was a former employee of R G Carter at the time of the Infringement and has since resumed employment with R G Carter.⁷³¹⁰

IV.5574. As part of its leniency application, Propensity provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5575. In particular, Propensity provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender book since 4 January 2000 and in respect of this tender, Propensity confirmed that it received a cover price from R G Carter.⁷³¹¹

IV.5576. In its response to the Statement, Propensity stated '...Propensity Group has made admissions in relation to all instances of cover pricing it uncovered as part of its leniency application'.⁷³¹²

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Propensity

IV.5577. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Propensity's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.537 to IV.566 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5578. JR confirmed in interview that it is his handwriting in the tender book⁷³¹³ and that in most instances he would have arranged the cover price.⁷³¹⁴ JR said in respect of the entry in the tender book, for this tender, 'it was a competitive tender, it was due to be submitted on 27 August 2004. Jackson's sought some assistance from Carters, the estimator involved would have been John Harvey.⁷³¹⁵ JR also explained that the 'C' stood for 'competitive tender'.⁷³¹⁶

IV.5579. In its response to the Statement, R G Carter stated 'When referring back to the relevant page in the Jackson tender book during his interview with the OFT ... John Rhodes is merely stating what he thought the phrase "Cover from Carters" meant; he is not stating that he actually remembers that a cover was taken.'⁷³¹⁷ The OFT does not consider it necessary for JR to remember the obtaining of the cover price from R G Carter, it is sufficient that he has confirmed that the phrase 'Cover from Carters' in the General Notes column of the tender book was a contemporaneous record of a cover price having been taken from that company.

IV.5580. John Harvey ('JH'), a senior estimator at Jackson at the time of this Infringement, confirmed in interview that he started to price the job and recalled that, 'I remember it because I'd obviously started pricing it because I went to the site'.⁷³¹⁸ JH confirmed that during the estimating period that it was decided that Jackson would take a cover. JH said, 'I guess John [Rhodes] would have told me, stop pricing it, and that was it'.⁷³¹⁹

IV.5581. In its response to the Statement, R G Carter stated '...at no time in the interview with John Harvey does he state that it was decided that Jackson would take a cover on the Norwich Cinema City tender.'⁷³²⁰ The OFT does not accept this assertion. On the contrary, when the following question was put in interview to JH: 'At some stage in the process John Rhodes and the board decided that they weren't going to price it up, that they'd take a cover price and at that stage it was taken away from you', he responded with 'That's right'.⁷³²¹

Evidence from other companies – R G Carter

IV.5582. The OFT wrote to R G Carter's immediate parent company R G Construction Limited ('R G Construction') on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that R G Construction had participated in bid rigging on this tender.⁷³²² In response to this letter, R G Construction was unable to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer and said that 'Our investigations have not disclosed any evidence of conduct to which you refer'.⁷³²³

⁷³²¹ Interview transcript, OFT Document Reference 11346, page 9.

⁷³²² The OFT made the Fast Track Offer to R G Construction on the basis of information available to it at the relevant time. As R G Carter is a wholly owned subsidiary of R G Construction, the OFT does not consider it material that the Fast Track Offer was not addressed to R G Building itself. In any event, the companies in the R G Carter Group made joint representations in response to the Statement, and stated that no evidence had been found to suggest that a cover price had been provided to a competitor. The OFT concludes that none of the companies making up the R G Carter Group were willing to admit participation in bid rigging activities in relation to this tender.

⁷³²³ Response from R G Carter, OFT Document Reference 10784.

- IV.5583. The OFT subsequently wrote to R G Carter's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, R G Holdings, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on R G Construction's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold R G Holdings jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by its subsidiaries in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, R G Holdings said it had '...nothing further to add'.⁷³²⁴
- IV.5584. In its response to the Statement, R G Carter stated '[t]he entry "Cover from Carters" in the extract from the Jackson tender book does not mean that Jackson actually contacted R G Carter for a cover price or that a cover price was actually given ... Jackson and all other bidders had been given information about R G Carter's original second stage offer and the phrase "Cover from Carters" is likely merely to reflect that fact'.⁷³²⁵
- IV.5585. R G Carter's explanation for the entry 'Cover from Carters' stems from the fact that the July 2004 tender process described above was a re-tendering exercise, following an earlier two-stage tender process conducted in early 2004, in which R G Carter had participated and submitted a bid of £2.63 million following negotiations with the client. The contract was not awarded at that time, leading to the re-tendering exercise in July. R G Carter asserted that as part of the re-tendering exercise, its original, unsuccessful tender price became known to the other bidders, and that Jackson would therefore have been able to submit a 'cover' price based on R G Carter's original bid, without the need for any direct contact with R G Carter.
- IV.5586. In support of this explanation, R G Carter provided a note that it had created of a meeting on 25 June 2008 with the client's quantity surveyor, Burke Hunter Adams, stating that Burke Hunter Adams had 'briefed the contractors that Carters' second stage negotiated price (£2.63M)... was higher than the Clients budget (£2.2-2.3M) ...'.⁷³²⁶
- IV.5587. In its response to the Statement, R G Carter stated '[t]he tender submitted by Jackson was in the sum of £2,678,252.00 (some £118,524 in excess of the publicised amount of the Arts Council England grant and some £48,252 higher than the level of R G Carter's original bid, as communicated to all bidders by the client's consultants) with a construction period of 65 weeks. The construction period is exactly the same as in R G Carter's original second stage offer. R G Carter had itself managed to improve its construction period to 63 weeks in its re-tender bid. It is clear that Jackson knew about the level of R G Carter's original second stage bid and it did not, therefore, need to contact R G Carter or any other bidder to put in an unsuccessful bid at this level' (emphasis added).⁷³²⁷
- IV.5588. While the OFT accepts that the quantity surveyors may have briefed the contractors to the effect that R G Carter's bid in the original tender exercise had exceeded the client's budget, R G Carter has been unable to provide any evidence that Jackson was made aware of R G Carter's precise bid by the quantity surveyors. The OFT's own enquiries into the information made available to bidders in the re-tendering exercise have found no support for R G Carter's alternative explanation that Jackson calculated an unsuccessful bid in the knowledge of R G Carter's precise previous bid. Moreover, this alternative explanation of events does not explain why the term 'Cover from', a term widely understood in the construction industry to mean obtaining an uncompetitive tender price from another bidder in the tender process, was recorded in the tender book against the name 'Carters'.

⁷³²⁵ Written representations of R G Carter, 27 June 2008, paragraph 2.37.

IV.5589. Similarly, the possibility that Jackson formulated an unsuccessful bid based on public information or a briefing from surveyors as to the client's budget would not explain the use of the term 'Cover from Carters' in Jackson's tender book, or JR's confirmation in interview that 'Jackson's sought some assistance from Carters' in respect of this tender.

IV.5590. In its response to the Statement, R G Carter stated '[t]he client's consultant's tender report on the Cinema City tender... indicates the fact that R G Carter made qualifications of this type [changes to the proposed amendments to the JCT Standard Form Building Contract, the performance bond and Parent Company Guarantee] in its tender for this project. Any contractor seeking a cover price from R G Carter would be at risk of being awarded the contract, even though only the second lowest price bidder, if R G Carter was unable to agree terms. R G Carter's approach to contract terms and risk is well known in the market place and probably acts as a disincentive for other contractors to approach R G Carter for cover prices'.⁷³²⁸

IV.5591. Even if R G Carter's qualifications on this job reflected an approach to risk which was 'well known in the market place' (which the OFT does not necessarily accept), the OFT does not accept that this precludes the possibility of a competitor approaching it for a cover price. Where, as in the case of this Infringement, the OFT has clear documentary and witness evidence which together indicate the giving of a cover price, the fact that certain factors may have made the initial approach less attractive are insufficient to rebut that evidence.

IV.5592. R G Carter also submitted witness statements in response to the Statement from three individuals involved in this tender: Alan Marshall Clark, senior estimator, Brian Norman, Estimating Director and Roy Burton, Director and General Manager. Each denied involvement in cover pricing in relation to this tender and stated that they did not recall any contact with or knowledge of JR of Jackson. The OFT notes that the Jackson estimator for the tender was JH, not JR.

IV.5593. Although he worked for Jackson at the time of this Infringement, it is notable that during his interview with the OFT, JH confirmed that he had worked for R G Carter between 2000 and 2004 and at the time of the interview in April 2007 was once again working for R G Carter. The OFT also notes JH's comment, when asked if he himself was involved in the taking of the cover from R G Carter, 'I can't remember ringing them. I mean, I may have said to him, well, you need to speak to so and so because obviously I knew the people involved. But whether he rang them or I did I honestly can't remember at the time' (emphasis added).⁷³²⁹

IV.5594. The OFT notes that each of the three R G Carter witnesses failed to address the fact that they knew Jackson's estimator for this tender, calling into question remarks such as that of Roy Burton asserting that 'There was no history at all of any contact between Jacksons and R G Carter – we had no contact at all with the management there'.⁷³³⁰

IV.5595. The OFT notes the direct contradiction between the witness evidence referred to in paragraph IV.5592 and the contemporaneous evidence and overall explanation provided by JR and JH. On balance, the OFT considers the latter to be more compelling. The Jackson witness evidence is consistent with the contemporaneous contents of the tender book. Further, in relation to Infringements 103, 119, 191, and 232 in this Decision, the contents of the Jackson tender book indicating that cover prices were taken have been confirmed to be correct by evidence from other Parties.

IV.5596. In light of these factors, the OFT considers that the documentary and witness evidence from Jackson is to be preferred to that of the three R G Carter witnesses.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5597. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5598. Jackson and R G Carter each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5599. Jackson was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this tender.

IV.5600. In regard to R G Carter, Jackson's tender book states, 'Cover from Carters'. Propensity has confirmed that this shows that it received a cover price from R G Carter.

IV.5601. The OFT notes in addition that the tender submitted by Jackson was higher than the tender submitted by R G Carter, a pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5602. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between R G Carter and Jackson. The OFT also concludes that R G Carter supplied a figure to Jackson for a cover bid.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from R G Carter to Jackson was not unilateral⁷³³², and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷³³³

⁷³³¹ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

⁷³³² See paragraph IV.73 of the General comments on cover pricing section.

- (b) Jackson can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from R G Carter (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷³³⁴ and
- (c) R G Carter can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Jackson (i.e. that Jackson did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷³³⁵

IV.5604. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Jackson and R G Carter, in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for alterations and extension to Norwich Cinema City, St Andrews Street, Norwich, tender deadline 27 August 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5606. Propensity informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Propensity will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Infringement 203: Mount Pleasant, Phase 4, Window Replacement, External Redecorations, Internal Improvements, Bracknell – 9 September 2004
Client: Southern Housing Group
Parties: Mansell and Apollo

IV.5607. On 16 July 2004, Southern Housing Group sought tenders for Mount Pleasant, Phase 4, window replacement, external redecorations, internal improvements, Bracknell.⁷³³⁶ The following six companies were invited to tender: Apollo, Breyer Group plc, Diamond Build plc, Mansell, R Durtnell and T H Kenyon & Sons plc, the date and time of tender return was 9 September 2004 at 12:00 noon.⁷³³⁷

IV.5608. Southern Housing Group received the following tender returns:⁷³³⁸

Evidence of agreement and/or concerted practice

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Mansell – tender spreadsheet

IV.5609. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided Barry Russ’s (‘BR’), a managing estimator, workload reports. The 2004 workload report for special projects contained the following entry:⁷³³⁹

EST NO.	LOCATION/DESCRIPTION	OUR BID
		BID	NET	LESS PROV.	%	MARGIN
01-00349	Bracknell – Mount Pleasant Ph. 4 – Window Replacement, Ext. Redecs, Int. Improvmnts		675850	675850

OTHER BIDS			RESULT		REMARKS
LOWEST	SECOND	HIGHEST	POSN.	POSS.%
			2/5		(Apollo) – Priced schedule called

IV.5610. In its response to the Statement, Apollo suggested that the record of its name on the workload reports in the Remarks column could merely have been a record of the company that won the tender for this contract.⁷³⁴⁰ However, the word ‘Apollo’ is in brackets on this document and as discussed in Mansell’s general leniency section, BR stated in interview that he used brackets to show that a cover was received from that company.⁷³⁴¹ Further, in relation to other Infringements described in this Decision⁷³⁴², similar markings on BR’s workload reports indicating that cover prices have been obtained have been confirmed to be correct by evidence or admissions from other Parties.

IV.5611. Mansell’s legal representatives also provided two price schedules for this tender, one of which appears to be Apollo’s price schedule.⁷³⁴³ Mansell’s legal representatives have also advised in relation to this document ‘The first tab (10 pages) on the excel sheet marked “Apollo” shows the items from a priced schedule of work ... The figures shown in the first column were obtained from Apollo and appear to have been adjusted by Apollo to arrive at the MCSL’s tendered figure of £675,850 ... The second tab headed “Mansell” represents

*MCSL adjustments to the figures obtained from Apollo but still arriving at the submitted total of £675,850’.*⁷³⁴⁴

IV.5612. In its response to the Statement, Apollo argued that it did not provide its price schedule for this tender to Mansell.⁷³⁴⁵ Apollo provided a copy of the price schedule in respect of this tender from its own files.⁷³⁴⁶ There are some similarities (in particular, certain figures are identical figures) between this document and the price schedule marked ‘Apollo’ provided by Mansell referred to above. The OFT accepts that there are also some key differences between the two documents.

IV.5613. The OFT notes that the evidence from Mansell set out in paragraph IV.5611 indicates that ‘The figures... were obtained from Apollo’ and that BR only stated in interview that he would ‘assume’ that Apollo was approached for their price schedule.⁷³⁴⁷ However, he also confirmed that the situation in respect of this tender would be the same as that in relation to Infringement 154, i.e. in his interview that ‘I would have thought, ... if we had been pressed, we would have gone back to Apollo and said can you help us out with a schedule’ applied equally in respect of this tender.⁷³⁴⁸

IV.5614. Considering this evidence in the round, the OFT accepts that there is insufficient evidence on which to conclude that Apollo provided Mansell with its own price schedule, but considers that at least on the balance of probabilities, the information in the Mansell sheet marked Apollo was generated in whole or in part from information requested and received from Apollo. These figures were in turn amended by Mansell before being submitted to the client.

IV.5615. In any event, however, regardless of whether, how and to what extent details of Apollo’s price schedule were transferred to Mansell in order for Mansell to be able to respond to a post-tender request from the client for further pricing detail, this does not in any way undermine the evidence and in respect of Apollo having provided a cover price to Mansell in respect of this tender.

Evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.5616. As part of its leniency application, Mansell’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its part in the process of cover pricing.⁷³⁴⁹ This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.470 to IV.502 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5617. Mansell’s legal representatives also provided to the OFT a table showing information relating to tendering activities in which a calculated competitive bid was not submitted, for the Thames Valley Region (‘TVR’), which includes this tender. In respect of this tender the table shows that Mansell received a cover price from Apollo and that this cover price was taken due to ‘insufficient tender period: resource’ at Mansell.⁷³⁵⁰

⁷³⁴⁹ Leniency application, OFT Document Reference B0734.

IV.5618. In its response to the Statement, Apollo listed a number of issues with Mansell's TVR table, principally that it could not be considered a separate document because it was only restating BR's workload reports⁷³⁵¹, and that Mansell itself admitted that it could not be excluded that some of the tenders identified in the leniency application might not have involved cover pricing.⁷³⁵²

IV.5619. While the OFT is not according the same evidential weight to Mansell's table provided under leniency as it is to contemporaneous documents and witness testimony, the OFT does consider this document to be robust where the underpinning contemporaneous documents and witness testimony indicate that a cover price was taken, and Mansell's internal investigations have yielded an assessment that confirms that indication. Although some tenders included in this table may not be supported by sufficient evidence, none of these were included in the Statement. The OFT considers that the evidence for the present Infringement does meet the strong and compelling standard as it consists of two contemporaneous documents supported by witness testimony.

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Mansell

IV.5620. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, BR provided further general explanation of Mansell's participation in cover pricing in the TVR. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.481 to IV.489 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5621. During an interview with the OFT on 1 May 2007, BR advised how he would record when Mansell had taken a cover as detailed in paragraphs IV.482 to IV.485 above. In relation to this tender BR stated 'a cover was taken ... again with that type of work Apollo were on the list and obviously we approached them and got a cover from them'.⁷³⁵³ BR further stated 'Apollo were very, very keen on that one and we ended up with a second spot price ... even on a cover. So again it's got price schedule called for, so I, I can only assume we approached Apollo again for some assistance on that'.⁷³⁵⁴ BR had explained earlier in interview that the note 'Priced schedule called' would mean 'that we were probably in the lowest three tenders received. Or they were asking, because some clients, or quantity surveyors will call for all price schedules'.⁷³⁵⁵ BR advised that in this situation they would contact the contractor who provided the cover and stated 'some contractors will say no, others would say, yes, we'll help you out, but you know, obviously if that situation is reversed we would expect you to do the same'.⁷³⁵⁶ In its response to the Statement, Mansell clarified that BR's admission was based on the contemporaneous evidence rather than on independent recollection of taking the cover price.⁷³⁵⁷

IV.5622. In its response to the Statement, Apollo pointed out that BR had no specific recollection of contact with Apollo for this contract, including no recollection of any individual at Apollo with whom he had contact⁷³⁵⁸ and that neither of the Apollo estimators working on this tender had any knowledge of BR.⁷³⁵⁹

IV.5623. The OFT accepts that BR's evidence does not constitute independent recollection of the events surrounding this tender. However, it does not consider that that undermines the credibility of his evidence. Given the number of tenders BR dealt with, as indicated on his personal workload reports, the OFT accepts that it is unlikely that he would remember every single tender in detail, particularly one that had been pre-determined not to be of high priority and therefore on which the least possible amount of effort had been expended. This does not preclude that he is able to provide an explanation of the contemporaneous documentation. The weight placed by the OFT on BR's evidence is commensurate with its explanatory nature.

IV.5624. In its response to the Statement, Apollo also suggested that it could not have given cover to Mansell because neither BR of Mansell nor any of the relevant estimators at Apollo knew any employees of the other party involved in this tender. Apollo quoted Kenneth Lockwood ('KL') of Mansell as stating that Mansell's estimators knew the opposition and an estimator would know his opposite numbers by name.⁷³⁶⁰

IV.5625. The OFT notes that although KL stated that Mansell's estimators knew the opposition by name, it was BR's evidence (who works at a different office to KL) that he did not know estimators in other companies by name.⁷³⁶¹ Though it may generally have been the case that Mansell's estimators knew their opposite numbers, in this particular instance the estimator has confirmed that he did not, and there is no inconsistency therefore between his evidence and Apollo's in this regard. The OFT also notes that the workload reports that provide the contemporaneous documentary evidence for this Infringement were BR's, not KL's, and therefore in relation to this Infringement it is BR's views that should be given greater weight.

Evidence from other companies – Apollo

IV.5626. The OFT wrote to Apollo on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Apollo had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Apollo stated that it was unable to accept the OFT's Fast Track Offer as it 'had not found any indication that [it] has been involved in any anti-competitive conduct in relation to the tenders identified'.⁷³⁶²

IV.5627. The OFT subsequently wrote to Apollo's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Apollo Group, on 6 November 2007, asking it to comment on Apollo's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Apollo Group jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Apollo in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. The OFT received a phone call in response to this letter on 6

December 2007, which confirmed that Apollo Group *'had no comments to make regarding its subsidiary's reply...'*⁷³⁶³

IV.5628. In its response to the Statement, Apollo made general representations as to how, as a business, it has ensured that it generally only receives appropriate invitations to tender, how it returns unsuitable tenders, and as to its prequalification success rate in invitations to tender.⁷³⁶⁴ The OFT accepts that the evidence currently available suggests that Apollo tend to price tenders properly. However, the present Infringement relates to the provision of a cover price, not the acceptance of one. Though the OFT has found, in paragraph IV.73 above, that a common motive for providing cover prices was reciprocity, it notes that the undertaking concerned may have other motives, such as facilitating the reduction in competitive bids for a tender which it wishes to win. Moreover, and as set out in Section III (Legal Background), the subjective motives of a party are irrelevant where an anti-competitive object is established.

IV.5629. In its response to the Statement, Apollo provided a witness statement from Simon Jones ('SJ')⁷³⁶⁵, who stated in respect of this tender 'I was the estimator responsible for preparing Apollo's costs estimate...' and 'I was not approached for a cover price by any company in relation to this tender'. SJ also stated 'I have never sought a cover price from a competitor, nor have I given a cover price to a competitor, on Apollo's behalf'. Similarly, Ian Timms ('IT'), Apollo's estimating director stated in his witness statement that he had not been approached for a cover price in relation to this tender.

IV.5630. The OFT notes the direct contradiction between this witness evidence and the contemporaneous evidence and overall explanation of BR in respect of the workload report and his specific explanation of the entry relating to this tender. On balance, the OFT considers the latter to be more compelling. BR's evidence is consistent with the markings on the contemporaneous tender register. Further, in relation to other Infringements described in this Decision⁷³⁶⁶, similar markings on BR's workload reports indicating that cover prices have been obtained have been confirmed to be correct by evidence or admissions from other Parties. The OFT further notes the possibility that the cover price may have been provided by someone at Apollo other than the estimator for the tender in question, SJ, and without the knowledge of the estimating director, IT. In light of those factors, the OFT considers that the contemporaneous documentary evidence and explanation of BR should be preferred to the evidence of SJ and IT.

IV.5631. In its response to the Statement, Apollo noted that the Statement indicated that cover prices were generally four to five per cent higher than the price submitted by the person providing the cover price and that in this tender Mansell's bid was approximately 12 per cent higher.⁷³⁶⁷ The OFT is unable to comment on the cover price calculation methodology of a non-leniency party, such as Apollo. In any event, although it was often the practice for companies to provide a cover and for the recipient to add on four to five per cent, there were in fact many instances where the figure submitted on the basis of a cover was 10 per cent or more above the figure submitted by the provider of the cover price. Accordingly, the OFT does not consider a difference of approximately 12 per cent to be indicative that cover pricing did not take place.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5632. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5633. Mansell and Apollo each accepted an invitation to tender for this contract.

IV.5634. Both companies submitted a tender. Mansell was unable to submit a tender by the return date and/or did not want to win this contract. It appears that Apollo completed the estimating process for this tender and that they submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work. This is shown by the price submitted by Apollo being the lowest received and that they won the contract.

IV.5635. Mansell's 2003 workload report records '(Apollo) – Priced schedule called', in the Remarks column. Mansell confirmed that this shows that it took a cover price from the company noted. In addition, Mansell has confirmed that the lack of figures in the margin and percentage columns would also indicate a cover price had been taken.

IV.5636. The OFT further notes that the tender submitted by Mansell was higher than the tender submitted by Apollo, the pattern consistent with a cover price having been provided.

IV.5638. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Mansell and Apollo. The OFT also concludes that Apollo supplied a figure to Mansell for a cover bid.

IV.5639. On coming second in the tender process, Mansell was requested by the client to provide a price schedule, as indicated by the note on Mansell's workload report to the effect that a 'Priced schedule [was] called'. As a result, Mansell in turn requested further information from Apollo. Whilst the OFT concludes that Apollo supplied Mansell with details of its price schedule in order that Mansell could provide the client with the requested information, it also notes that this conclusion is not a necessary element of its finding as to whether a cover price was requested and provided and therefore as to whether Mansell and Apollo infringed the Chapter I prohibition in relation to this tender.

⁷³⁶⁸ See paragraphs III.3 and III.89 to III.126 of the Legal Background section.

- (a) the provision of a figure for a cover bid from Apollo to Mansell was not unilateral⁷³⁶⁹, and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷³⁷⁰
- (b) Mansell can be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Apollo (i.e. the cover price) when determining its own conduct in the tendering process;⁷³⁷¹ and
- (c) Apollo can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from Mansell (i.e. that Mansell did not intend to submit a competitive bid) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷³⁷²

IV.5641. Accordingly, the OFT concludes that the totality of the evidence as set out above establishes that an agreement and/or concerted practice was in place between Mansell and Apollo in breach of the Chapter I prohibition, which had the object of bid rigging in relation to the tender for Mount Pleasant, Phase 4, window replacement, external redecorations, internal improvements, Bracknell, tender deadline 9 September 2004.

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5643. Mansell informed the OFT of the bid rigging activities in respect of this tender before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Mansell will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Evidence from Allenbuild

*comment on the agreement entered into with you by either Allenbuild or Bullock, because both businesses are and have been managed quite separately from the holding company’.*⁷³⁷⁹

IV.5652. In its response to the Statement, Allenbuild stated in respect of this infringement that *‘Allenbuild gave a cover price to Herbert Baggaley, William Woodsend and Bodill because it was asked to do so by these three competitors’.*⁷³⁸⁰

IV.5653. Allenbuild also suggested that if it had not given cover prices to these three competitors, the outcome of the tender would have been unchanged *‘because they would have placed bids at prices reflecting their willingness to do the work, i.e. at higher margins’.*⁷³⁸¹ Whilst noting that cover bidding is an infringement by 'object' and as such whether or not an effect on competition can be demonstrated is irrelevant, the OFT does not accept Allenbuild's assertion that the outcome of the tender 'would have been unchanged'. In particular, without cover prices, Allenbuild's competitors may have returned the tenders, giving the client the option of seeking replacement tenders. Alternatively, a competitor seeking to price itself out of the work might nonetheless have submitted a bid lower than Allenbuild's, whether due to misjudgement in pricing the project or due to greater efficiencies.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Bodill – tender sheet

IV.5654. In Bodill's tender sheet for this tender, provided to the OFT as part of its leniency application, under the section headed ‘Tenderers’, the following entries have been made, all of which are handwritten except the entry for Bodill:⁷³⁸²

- 1. Bodill © ALLENBUILD
- 2. WOODSEND
- 3. BAGGALEY
- * 4. ALLENBUILD- STEVE WILLSHIRE
- 5. ?’

IV.5655. The tender sheet states that Bodill's submitted price was £459,990.00.⁷³⁸³

IV.5656. Juris Rozentals ('JR'), Chief Estimator at Bodill, kept a diary for 2004 which contains an entry for this tender on 21 October which reads *‘10.00 SOUTH GLADE PK PH. 2 (C) (NOTTM)’.*⁷³⁸⁴ JR explained in interview with the OFT that when a tender is written in his diary with a 'C' in brackets, *‘It means that we're looking for some help, a cover, a cover price’.*⁷³⁸⁵

Evidence from leniency applicant Bodill

IV.5657. As part of its leniency application, Bodill provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.229 to IV.242 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5658. In particular, Bodill provided to the OFT an analysis of its tender sheets since March 2000 and explained that when a ‘*’ is written against a contractor's name it means that it gave Bodill a cover price.⁷³⁸⁶ In respect of this tender, Bodill confirmed that it received a cover price from Allenbuild⁷³⁸⁷ and that it submitted a token tender.⁷³⁸⁸

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley – List of Tenders and Estimate sheet

IV.5659. In a contemporaneous list of tenders, provided by Herbert Baggaley to the OFT as part of its leniency application, the following is written:⁷³⁸⁹

DATE	PROJ NO	TENDER NO	CONTRACT NO	JOB DESCRIPTION/ESTIMATOR'S COMMENTS
28/09/2004	04/178P	EO4-05/053		4 Business Units, Glade Business Park, Bestwood, Nottingham ALLENBUILD

CLIENT	APPROX £0000'S	A B C R	DUE	BID £0000'S	RESULT
Nottingham City Council	250	C C	14/10/2004	431,276	Missed

IV.5660. On the internal estimate sheet for this tender provided to the OFT by Herbert Baggaley as part of its leniency application, ‘Allenbuild’ is handwritten.⁷³⁹⁰ Herbert Baggaley has confirmed that this annotation was Anton Newell's (‘AN’), Chief Estimator at Herbert Baggaley, and that it was made either when AN believed Allenbuild had won the contract or when this document was produced by Herbert Baggaley as part of its leniency application.⁷³⁹¹

Evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley

IV.5661. As part of its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5662. In their response to the Statement, Herbert Baggaley stated 'Baggaleys recognises the OFT's analysis of its involvement in each of the alleged infringements identified in the Statement of Objections in respect of which Baggaleys is alleged to have participated'.⁷³⁹²

Witness evidence from leniency applicant Herbert Baggaley

IV.5663. During interviews conducted in connection with its leniency application, Herbert Baggaley's employees provided further general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.375 to IV.390 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5664. In respect of this tender, AN said in respect of Herbert Baggaley's internal estimate sheet for this tender, that 'All I've got here is our internal estimate sheet with the formal tender attached to the back of it, with a note, a scribbled note on the front, suggesting that we took help from Allenbuild on that one'.⁷³⁹³

IV.5665. AN also confirmed that on the list of tenders, a 'C' and 'Allenbuild' was indicated against this tender.⁷³⁹⁴ In interview AN confirmed that use of a 'C' in the list of tenders would normally coincide with Herbert Baggaley receiving a cover price.⁷³⁹⁵

IV.5666. The OFT wrote to William Woodsend on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that William Woodsend had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter on 27 April 2007, William Woodsend stated, 'we have not been able to discover sufficient evidence to make any admissions at this stage'.⁷³⁹⁶

IV.5667. In its response to the Statement, William Woodsend denied liability for this Infringement on the basis that Allenbuild did not explicitly confirm the meaning of the annotation '©' on the tender adjudication summary or explain the basis of its admission under Fast Track that it provided a cover price to William Woodsend.⁷³⁹⁷ William Woodsend's legal representatives further stated '... only the author of that document can confirm what meaning he intended to attach to the symbol and he has not done so'.⁷³⁹⁸

IV.5668. The OFT considers it can reasonably infer from the evidence available in respect of this Infringement that the annotation '©' on Allenbuild's tender adjudication summary indicates a cover price having been given to the party to whose name the said annotation is attached. Both Bodill and Herbert Baggaley provided contemporaneous documentary evidence (along with supporting admissions and witness evidence) which strongly supports the OFT's conclusion that the annotation '©' on Allenbuild's tender adjudication summary meant 'cover given'. It is not a plausible alternative explanation of this document to suggest that the author of the annotations attached a different meaning to the letter '©' when writing it next to William Woodsend's name, from the meaning attached when '©' was written next to the names of Bodill and Herbert Baggaley. Nor has William Woodsend attempted to provide any such reasonable alternative meaning.

IV.5669. With regard to Allenbuild's naming of William Woodsend (along with Bodill and Herbert Baggaley) in its Fast Track response, William Woodsend has suggested that this may have been for reasons unconnected with the tender adjudication summary document in the OFT's possession. It is suggested that the admission therefore does not corroborate the OFT's inference that the annotation '©' indicates a cover price having been given.⁷³⁹⁹ The OFT does not accept this suggestion. Allenbuild knew that this document had been seized by the OFT during its inspection of Allenbuild's premises one year prior to the OFT's Fast Track Offer being made, and is likely to have considered its decision to admit this Infringement by reference to the evidence which it knew the OFT already had in its possession, as well as any other relevant information available to it. Allenbuild's decision, and the naming of these three companies, is therefore likely to have been based, at least in part, on this document. In any event, if to the contrary these three companies were named on the basis of other information, then that would in fact provide further corroboration of the already strong and compelling evidence existing in respect of this Infringement. William Woodsend suggests by way of alternative explanation that Allenbuild might have named Bodill and Herbert Baggaley because it knew they were leniency applicants, rather than because of the information recorded in its tender adjudication summary.⁷⁴⁰⁰ The OFT does not accept this suggestion either. The identity of leniency applicants was not publicly available at the time the OFT's Fast Track Offer was made, and in any event this would not explain why Allenbuild also named William Woodsend in its response to that offer, since William Woodsend is not a leniency applicant.

IV.5670. On the above basis, the OFT concludes that its interpretation of Allenbuild's tender adjudication summary to be correct, namely that it shows William Woodsend did accept a cover price from Allenbuild in respect of this tender.

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5671. From the evidence and arguments presented above, and having taken into account the representations made by the Parties, the OFT draws the following conclusions.

IV.5672. Allenbuild, Bodill, Herbert Baggaley and William Woodsend each accepted an invitation to tender for this tender.

IV.5673. It appears that Allenbuild completed the estimating process for the tender for this contract and that it submitted a bid with the hope of winning the work.

⁷³⁹⁹ Written representations of William Woodsend, 27 June 2008, page 13 to 14.

⁷⁴⁰⁰ Written representations of William Woodsend, 27 June 2008, page 14.

This is shown by the price submitted by Allenbuild being the lowest received by the client, and the fact that Allenbuild won the contract.

- IV.5674. In regard to Bodill, Allenbuild's tender adjudication summary states, 'Bodill ©' and Allenbuild has confirmed that it gave Bodill a cover price for this tender.
- IV.5675. The OFT notes that JR of Bodill has an entry in his diary on the date for submitting the tender, which includes a 'C' in brackets, which JR has confirmed shows that Bodill was looking for a cover price for this tender.
- IV.5676. In addition, Bodill's tender sheet records '© ALLENBUILD' and '' marked against '4. ALLENBUILD' and Bodill has confirmed that these annotations show that it received a cover price from Allenbuild.
- IV.5677. Bodill's tender sheet also recorded the name of an Allenbuild employee, 'STEVE WILLSHIRE', providing further evidence that contact was made between the two parties. This is corroborated by tender documentation obtained from Allenbuild, where the form of tender is signed by 'S. WISHER (Estimator)'. Although the surname has a slightly different spelling in the Bodill tender sheet, the OFT considers that Bodill was to make contact with Steve Wisher to obtain a cover price.
- IV.5678. The OFT notes that both Bodill and Allenbuild have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender.
- IV.5679. In regard to Herbert Baggaley, Allenbuild's tender adjudication summary states, 'Baggaley ©' and Allenbuild has confirmed that it gave Herbert Baggaley a cover price for this tender.
- IV.5680. Herbert Baggaley's list of tenders records 'ALLENBUILD' and a 'C' against this tender and on the front of the internal estimate sheet for this tender is handwritten 'Allenbuild'. AN of Herbert Baggaley has confirmed that this suggests that Herbert Baggaley received a cover price from Allenbuild for this tender.
- IV.5681. The OFT notes that both Allenbuild and Herbert Baggaley have admitted to bid rigging in relation to this tender.
- IV.5682. In regard to William Woodsend, Allenbuild's tender adjudication summary states, 'Woodsend ©' and Allenbuild has confirmed that it gave William Woodsend a cover price for this tender.
- IV.5683. The OFT considers that the only reasonable interpretation of the annotation 'Woodsend ©' in Allenbuild's tender adjudication summary to be that a cover price was provided to William Woodsend. This interpretation is not drawn from the fact that cover prices were provided to Bodill and Herbert Baggaley per se, but from the fact that cover prices were provided and this particular annotation is used to signify that fact in this document. It is also the meaning which Allenbuild have indicated should be attached. On that basis, and in view of the fact that this document was obtained by the OFT following an unannounced search, the OFT considers this to be good contemporaneous documentary evidence that a cover price was provided by Allenbuild to William Woodsend in connection with this tender.

IV.5684. Although William Woodsend has not admitted engaging in this bid rigging activity, the OFT considers that the similarities between the evidence in respect of the other Parties involved in bid rigging activities for this tender, all of whom admit to those activities, serves to confirm the OFT's interpretation of that evidence in relation to William Woodsend.

IV.5685. The OFT notes in addition that the each of the tenders submitted by Bodill, Herbert Baggaley and William Woodsend were higher than the tender submitted by Allenbuild, a pattern consistent with cover prices having been provided.

IV.5686. The OFT therefore concludes that contact took place between Bodill and Allenbuild, between Herbert Baggaley and Allenbuild, and between William Woodsend and Allenbuild. The OFT also concludes that Allenbuild supplied figures to each of Bodill, Herbert Baggaley and William Woodsend for cover bids. The OFT notes that all four of the tenderers for this contract engaged in bid rigging, and that no genuine tenders were therefore received by the client.

IV.5687. The OFT is satisfied that the facts set out in paragraphs IV.5647 to IV.5686 above amount in law to agreements and/or concerted practices contrary to the Chapter I prohibition.⁷⁴⁰¹ In particular:

- (a) the provision of figures for cover bids from Allenbuild to each of Bodill, Herbert Baggaley and William Woodsend was not unilateral⁷⁴⁰², and contravenes the principle against direct or indirect contact between competitors;⁷⁴⁰³
- (b) Bodill, Herbert Baggaley and William Woodsend can each be presumed to have taken account of the information received from Allenbuild (i.e. the respective cover prices) when determining their own conduct in the tendering process;⁷⁴⁰⁴ and
- (c) Allenbuild can be presumed to have taken account of the information it received from each of Bodill, Herbert Baggaley and William Woodsend (i.e. that none of them intended to submit competitive bids) when determining its conduct in the tendering process.⁷⁴⁰⁵

Immunity and leniency assessment

IV.5690. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Herbert Baggaley's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of information provided by Herbert Baggaley, before the OFT became aware of these activities from any other source. Herbert Baggaley will therefore receive 100 per cent immunity from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.5691. In respect of this tender, the OFT became aware of Bodill's involvement in bid rigging activities by virtue of the information obtained during the visit under section 27 to Bodill on 19 November 2004. Bodill will not therefore receive 100 per cent immunity in respect of this tender. However, Bodill will receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

IV.5692. In its response to the Statement, Bodill stated that 'so far as Bodill is aware, the OFT had no knowledge of these Alleged Infringements and those contractors who had participated in them until 21 January 2005 and then only as a result of the evidence supplied by Bodill'.⁷⁴⁰⁶ The OFT first became aware of this tender as a result of the entry in a document obtained during a section 27 visit to Bodill on 19 November 2004⁷⁴⁰⁷, which gave the OFT reasonable grounds to suspect cover pricing activity in respect of this tender prior to Bodill's leniency application being made, Bodill will therefore only receive its normal leniency percentage reduction from the fine that the OFT is imposing in respect of this tender.

Contemporaneous documentary evidence from leniency applicant Jack Lunn – Email and attached Tender Summary

IV.5695. During the OFT’s search of the electronic data forensically imaged from the computers at Jack Lunn’s premises, an email was found. The email contained the following information:⁷⁴¹¹

Subject: Napier Street
From: Martin Miller
Date: 01/11/2004 15:07:21
To: Anthony Metcalfe

Message Body

Attached CSA, PRELIM BREAKDOWN, PROGRAMME

IV.5696. The email was sent by Martin Miller (‘MM’), an estimator at Caddick, to Anthony Metcalfe (‘AM’), an estimator at Jack Lunn. Attached to this email was a Tender Summary. The Tender Summary shows a breakdown of a bid for the tender prepared by Caddick, and includes at the foot of the first page (the Tender Summary page), the tender figure submitted by Jack Lunn, ‘6,169,422’.⁷⁴¹²

Evidence from leniency applicant – Jack Lunn

IV.5697. As part of its leniency application, Jack Lunn’s legal representatives provided a general explanation of its participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.431 to IV.440 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5698. In addition to its leniency application, Jack Lunn provided to the OFT a schedule entitled ‘Jack Lunn Construction Cover Summary Schedule’, which detailed projects/contracts identified by the company during the course of an internal investigation conducted by Stephen Bradbury (‘SB’), Richard Bryan (‘RB’), Graham Lunn (‘GL’), AM and Keith Poskitt (‘KP’) into potential cover prices where it was considered cover prices had either been given or taken. IV.5699. Following the issue of the Statement, Jack Lunn did not submit any written or oral representations specifically in respect of this Infringement.

IV.5700. During an interview with the OFT on 8 March 2007, conducted in connection with Jack Lunn’s leniency application, SB, AM and KP provided further general explanation of Jack Lunn’s participation in cover pricing. This evidence is set out in paragraphs IV.431 to IV.440 above and is relied upon by the OFT in relation to this tender.

IV.5701. Also, during a second interview with AM on 25 April 2007, AM was shown the email and attachment referred to above and asked what he recalled about this tender. AM replied ‘Well, this would infer that the document would be sent to myself, although I don’t remember it to be quite honest with you’.⁷⁴¹⁴ However, AM confirmed that it appears that MM sent him an email and an attachment relating to Napier Street on 1 November 2004.⁷⁴¹⁵ AM stated ‘the attachment appears to be their build-up to the figure of £6,169,422’, which is the figure that Jack Lunn submitted.⁷⁴¹⁶ AM explained that ‘to me this is the figures that they have given to us for the purpose of our tender submission on the contract’.⁷⁴¹⁷ AM confirmed that he would have obtained a cover price from MM at Caddick ‘probably on the same day as the tender was due in’, but that he had no specific recollection.⁷⁴¹⁸ The OFT asked AM if it was usual for one competitor to supply a tender summary to another competitor. AM replied ‘The usual method is for, if we approached anyone for a cover, they would just give us a figure, a tender figure and they wouldn’t give us the build-up part of it’. AM stated that the decision to take a cover on this tender would have been a ‘management decision; at this stage, probably Stephen Bradbury’.⁷⁴¹⁹

IV.5702. On 8 March 2007, during an interview with the OFT, SB stated in respect of this tender, '...there was two individuals involved in this from Jack Lunn's. That was myself and a gentleman called David Barber. David Barber worked for us for a short while as estimating manager. So he actually managed Keith Poskitt and Tony Metcalf for a short while. ... he would occasionally, if we were really busy, also act as an estimator. This particular scheme, we were very interested in it once we became aware of it from a marketing point of view. So we approached the client ... asking if he would consider us to go on the tender list. ... We were interviewed by the client. ... Myself and David Barber attended that interview and we, I can only say impressed the client sufficiently enough for him to put us on the tender list and we received the tender documents... However when we received the tender documents it was extremely onerous, difficult method of construction and a very expensive method of construction. We'd never worked with the architect before, we'd never worked with the structural engineer before, and as a result of other opportunities coming into the estimating department, we decided very early on, despite us pushing for it, it wasn't really a job for ourselves. That was decided both by myself and David Barber'.⁷⁴²⁰

IV.5703. SB stated '...David Barber informed me that Caddicks were pricing it and that Caddicks were happy to provide us with a cover price. It was decided very early on therefore, by myself and David Barber, that we would take a cover off Caddicks'.⁷⁴²¹ SB explained, 'It was done over the telephone and it was as simple as that. At the eleventh hour ... Caddicks simply gave us a figure over the telephone and we put that figure in'.⁷⁴²²

IV.5704. SB continued, '... there was a limited number of contractors on the list and we were second in price ... and the client wanted to talk to both the lowest contractor and the second contractor. So the client started to involve ourselves in lots of discussions and meetings ... But because we'd decided early on to take a cover, we'd done no work on the scheme at all. We'd no contract sum analysis produced. So we were very much in the hands of Caddick Construction. We had to get further help off Caddicks to make it appear to the client that we had actually created a bona fide tender'.⁷⁴²³

IV.5705. In relation to the email SB stated, *'... I wasn't remotely aware of that document. But it appears that, I think it was Martin Miller from Caddicks, in order to help us, actually gave us their contract sum analysis, to Tony Metcalf ...'*⁷⁴²⁴

IV.5706. SB confirmed that the figure provided by Caddick as a cover figure was £6,169,422.⁷⁴²⁵ SB also stated that the initial agreement was made with David Emsell at Caddick, 'David handed it over to Martin Miller. David Emsell is estimating manager at Caddicks. Martin Miller was an estimator dealing with him'.⁷⁴²⁶

Evidence from other companies – Caddick

IV.5707. The OFT wrote to Caddick on 22 March 2007 offering this party a 25 per cent reduction of any financial penalty the OFT might impose in respect of its alleged participation in bid rigging on this tender, in return for an admission that Caddick had participated in bid rigging on this tender. In response to this letter Caddick admitted that, 'We engaged in bid rigging (cover pricing) activities on this tender with J Lunn'.⁷⁴²⁷

IV.5708. The OFT subsequently wrote to Caddick's ultimate parent company at the time of this Infringement, Caddick Group, on 5 November 2007, asking it to comment on Caddick's response to the OFT's Fast Track Offer, given that the OFT intended to hold Caddick Group jointly and severally liable for any infringements committed by Caddick in respect of which the OFT ultimately decided to impose financial penalties. In response to this letter, Caddick Group stated in a telephone call to the OFT on 6 December 2007 that it had no issues to raise.⁷⁴²⁸

IV.5709. Caddick stated in their response to the Statement in respect of this Infringement, *'...CCL [Caddick Construction Limited] admits that it provided a cover because it reacted to a request by Jack Lunn.'*⁷⁴²⁹

The OFT's analysis of the evidence and finding

IV.5710. From the evidence presented above, the OFT draws the following conclusions.
